

WHAT SHALL THE "MORMON" CHURCH DO?

We recently noticed at some length an article in the Omaha Herald requesting the "Mormons" to put polygamy in abeyance.

"The people of Utah know how sincere and kind, and how genuinely uninfluenced the Omaha Herald has always been by popular clamor against them in the past, and we are glad to perceive that the Herald is discussing our appeals to them with a full appreciation of our continued good will towards them.

There is one point made by the News that calls for prompt and emphatic answer, which is strongly put in the following:

"And we would like to ask the Herald what use are made of the money which has always been by popular clamor against them in the past, and we are glad to perceive that the Herald is discussing our appeals to them with a full appreciation of our continued good will towards them.

The answer is, ten thousand times no, with a big N. The Omaha Herald would have no polygamy in Utah who is the head of polygamous families do any such thing. Nor is there any need of such crucifixion either upon the innocent or conscientiously married people.

NEW YORK, 6.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Ex-Governor Fenelon, now here on business connected with the Bimetallic Commission, says the outlook for the adoption of a bimetallic standard is much more promising than when the commission was organized.

Lamar is preparing a speech for delivery in Vicksburg, next week, as the key note of the Mississippi campaign. It is reported to entirely approve Buchanan's course, and says if the people of the north understood the situation, they would also approve it.

The Republicans have derived great hope from the California election, and now claim that Maine next week will undoubtedly go republican. The Democratic journal here declare that the republicans are using money without stint.

The shipmaster Heston, which is due from Liverpool on Monday next, has among her steerage passengers 50 English farmers, who intend to settle in Texas. These persons are from Kentucky and are said to be industrious and of good and steady habits.
