REXBURG, IDAHO.

RESOURCES OF FREMONT CO. Its Growth and Development - Opportunities for Homeseekers. Special Correspondence.

Rexburg, Fremont Co., Idaho, Feb. 5. Rexburg was the first place settled in the upper Snake River country by any organized effort to colonize, and prepare the way for the blessings now enjoyed by our people here. Rexburg now has a population of 1,100, while St Rexburg Anthony, the next largest town, has between 400 and 500. Fremont county is 60 by 100 miles in extent, and has 12. 000 inhabitants, and it is expected that this number will be increased this present year by at least one-third. In the year 1899 Prest, Ricks and his counselors called the people together and it was agreed that an effort should be made to induce the Oregon Short Line railroad to build us a branch through the heart of our county. They came and looked over our country and were sat We got our railroad, which isfied. seems to be doing a splendid business, Sheepmen and cattlemen have flocked in with immense flocks and herds. hay is all bought up at a good price, and the stockmen are making money. A great many of our people own too much land, more than they can properly cultivate, and so are cutting up their farms into smaller proportion and home-seekers from all over th over the country are flocking in and buying. In the census report for Idaho it was shown that Fremont county had the largest growth of any part of the State. Here in Rexburg we have a Stake academy, Prof. Douglas M. Todd being academy, Prof. Douglas M. Todd being The child of Mr. Jas. Smith, and the principal thereof. He is aided by a con of Mr. K. Sellars, who have been good corps of assistants. The enroll-ment is about 150. The Rexburg district school has a large and comodious school building with pleasant grounds and surroundings, and an enrollment of 400. We are now hard at work on an academy building which will cost us about $40,000 when completed.

We have a light sandstone within two miles of Rexburg which is excellent for building, it is easily quarried, easily hewn, and hardens with expo-sure to the atmosphere. We make a splendid quality of brick within the town limits. Have timber and wood within 12 miles of town. The best of lumber costs from $13 to $15 per thousand. South and east of Rexburg stretches a bench ten miles wide by twenty-five miles in length of the best land in our State (100,000 acres) nearly all open for settlement. This land so far has been without water so far as irrigation is concerned. A few have dry farmed very successfully these bench lands, enough to demonstrate the fact that it is as good a dry farm country as any in Utah. Last year was the most drouthy year we ever had in this section, but good paying crops were produced without irrigation. Your correspondent raised 200 bushels large potatoes of excellent quality, back on that bench without water and withut much cultivation. James Gillespie

Albert Luthey and others raised good crops of wheat. Knowing that a great many people in Utah are expecting to come and locate among us in the spring we would advise them to come early and get the advantage of the season's

Still Quarantined for Smallpox Sad Bereavements - Births.

Special Correspondence. Huntsville, Weber Co., Feb. 8 .- The Huntsville, weber Co., Feb. 8.—The little two-year-old daughter of Hans Andersen, who has been sick for some time with pneumonia, died and was buried Tuesday, Feb. 5. In each of the homes of A. J. Andersen and John Halls, a new son has appeared. STILL QUARANTINED.

The homes of Amon Allen and Soren Nielson have been guarantined for smallpox. The homes of W. G. Smith and Christen Wansgard, who last week were to have had the flags taken down, are still under quarantine, owing to new cases breaking out in the their families.

As Joseph Bingham was driving to Ogden today with a load of hay his horses became frightened at the fallhorses became frightened at the fall-ing water from the pipe line and jumped sideways, turning his load over in the river, some fifteen feet below. Killing young Thomas Adkinson from Liberty, who was riding with him. How much longer is our patience to be tried with this falling water? It is hoped that our commissioners will do something ere long so that more lives will not be jeopardized.

Following is an editorial in the New York Freeman's Journal by Father Lambert, the noted Catholic divine whose "Notes on Ingersoll" will be remembered by many Utah people:

Dr. Leverson, in an interview reported in the Sun, says some things about vaccination that deserve the careful attention of people of all classes. He is uncompromisingly opposed to vaccination under all circumstances as a medical practice that has done and is doing more harm than the disease of which it is, according to him, erroneously supposed to be a preventive. He is no fanatic on the subject. He has studied the question thoroughly and shows himself master of it in all its details. The following are his four main points, and all that he says is in devel-opment and proof of them. First-Smallpox is a light disorder and only becomes serious by injudicious treatment. Second-Vaccination prov absolutely no immunity from smallpox. Third-Vaccination-is one of the most dangerous forms of blood poisoning known. Fourth-Through the medium of vaccination other very serious dis-cases are introduced into the system, such as cowpox, scarlet fever, syphilis consumption, cancer, We pass the first point, as smallpox, whether a light or severe disease, is one that all want to avoid if they can do so without resorting to mean liable to produce greater evils than the disease itself produces. 2. The second point-that vaccination is not a prophylactic or preventive of smallpox-may also be passed, for If a preventive, even if certain, is more dangerous and productive of greater evils than is the disease it prevents, it is better to risk the disease than re-sort to the preventive. Decapitation is a sure preventive or cure for the headache, but the medical faculty does not recommend it as a prophylactic. It will be the same with vaccination if the public becomes convinced that it is productive of more serious diseases than smallpox, such as syphilis, consumption and cancer. The smallpox is certainly to be preferred to these, and if it were a preventive of them the victim of consumption, syphills or cancer would welcome an attack of smallpox as a blessing, even though in pustu-lous disguise.

If, therefore, Dr. Leverson convinces the public of his third and fourth theses, vaccination will pass into inno-cuous desuctude. We will pass to the third and fourth points. Vaccinia-the disease produced by vaccination-is one of the most dangerous forms of blood poisoning known. We subjoin Dr. Leverson's proofs of this proposition in his own words. Before doing so, however, it may be well to state by way of preface, for the benefit of some readers, the nature of vaccination. 'The name comes from "vac-ca," a cow, and it signifies the artificial production, in the human body, of a disease known as the cowpox. This dis-ease is communicated to the person This disvaccinated by inserting under the skin matter taken from sores on the teats and udders of cows having the disease, This is the rotten and poisonous stuff that physicians inject into your arm and into the flesh of clean blooded children and delicate infants. By this means the recipient of the stuff is made to take the cow's disease, and having taken if, the patient is supposed to be free from the possibility of taking the smallpox. With this explanation we quote from Dr. Leverson:

Now let us look at some of the evil effects of vaccination. Tuberculosis is one of the gravest, and vaccination may produce it in the patient in several ways. In the first place the cow itself is predisposed to tuberculosis, and this brings us to one of the most absurd travesties on science that the folly of man has ever conceived, the so-called test for tuberculosis in cows designed to be used for vaccine purposes. They first take a cow and inoculate it with tuberculinum. If the cow 'reacts' up to tuberculinum. If the cow 'reacts' up to for any one who might wish to chai-a certain point they call that proof that lenge his assertions."

the cow is tuberculous. If it doesn't 'react' up to that point they say it is not tuberculous and proceed to inoculate it either with variolous matter or cowpox matter. What their tuberculo-sis test really does is to introduce tuber. culosis into the cow's system if it is not there. In some manufactories of accine matter they don't adopt this absurd process, but there remains the risk that the cow may be tuberculous. "Again, the person vaccinated may have latent in him a tendency to tuber. culous degeneration, which, however, might never spring into activity, But the insertion of pure glycerinated calf lymph,' by disturbing the normal conditions of the physical health, may at orce set up the fires and develop this latent tendency. "Let us take cowpex. The lactiferous condition is often attended with some fever and cracks are apt to appear upon he udder. If, as often happens, the cow down in filth and then the milker irritates the udder by traction, a sore is produced which by constant traction becomes a phagadenic, or cowpox. Or the milker may have been attending a greasy horse and then handled the cow's abrased nipples without washing his hands. He is almost certain to carry a disease to the animal which will take the form of cowpex.

"Cancer has been enormously increased since the introduction of, and, as I believe, by vaccination. My theory is that every particle of the fluids of every animal is impregnated with the ife principles of that animal, including its diseases. Cander means excessive cellular growth at some particular part of the body. The bovine race matures in about five years, the human race in about twenty, and when you inoculate bovine fluid into a human being you put into the human being a tendency to the rapid cellular growth of the be vine race. In a few instances this will show itself at some future time by rapid cellular growth at some particular point, and if excited into activity by a bruise these cells are apt to take on the cancerous form. Hence the enormous extension of cancer above mentione

"This theory of mine is strengthened by the fact that only since the preva-lence of vaccination has the disease called osteomegalatia been known. This disease is an abnormal enlargement of the bones until the patient finally dies in great misery. A case in the Monte-flore Home-and nothing of the kind had ever happened in the patient's family before-began to develop one year after the patient was vaccinated on entering the United States, under the orders of the New York board of "These are merely a few of the po sible sequence of vaccination I could go on and give you a volume of cases, each one supported by evidence which no reasonable mind could doubt. Dr. W. Scott Tebb, who, in his work, 'A Cen-tury of Vaccination and What It teaches,' brings the story of vaccination down to 1898, has shown that leprosy. syphilis, erysipelas, consumption, te-tanus, eczema, roseola, glandular inflammation and other diseases and disturbances have been induced by vaccination Here is a long list of most loathsome and fatal diseases, any of which the recipient of disease-generating matter from a sick cow is liable to take. And yet physicians, as industrious and per-sistent as mosquitoes, keep jabbing this pestiferous poison, nolens volens, into every man, woman and child in good health that they can lay their hands on; and they get laws made to give them the privilege of thus attacking their victims and squirting polson into

In prefacing his statements Dr. Lev-erson said, "that the opinions and assertions he made were not those of one man who might be laughed down, but the conclusions drawn from voluminous evidence collected in the course of years by medical men of unquestioned standing all over the world. Second, that although it was impracticable in an interview to adduce proofs of everything he said he stood ready with such proofs
