DAILY COLORADO TRIBUNE AND "STEBBINS."

THE Denver Tribune believes "in giving the devil his due under all circumstances," so it says. It must be very interesting to the public to know that it is so punctilious in its payments; probably it has strong reasons for keeping in its Satan's Majesty's good graces. "A friend at Court" has been found useful before now, and we should advise the Tribune to stick to its practice. It may be placed in the future where a warm friend can be made available.

It "finds the paper terming" it says, "with accounts of Mormon cruelties to the Gentiles, and a recital of incidents claimed to have come under the immediate notice of the writer. Most of these," it adds, "we presume are true, for it is well known that we have no particularly warm feelings for things in Utah, and are not apt to think they are better than reported."

We suppose, from this statement of the Tribune's, that whatever may be said—regardless of its truth or falsity—about a person or people for whom it has no warm feelings, must, of course, be presumptively true. Is that the reason that it so often presumes that gross slanders and falsehoods are true which are told about the people of Utah? As these are presumed to be true, because it has "no warm feelings for things in Utah," what a pity we cannot change its feelings, so that when it hears unfavorable statements about us it would presume that they were false.

But we do not wish to find too much fault with the Tribune, for it has met with a letter which is even too flaky for it to swallow entire. It appears in a Buffalo paper, signed by one Henry Stebbins, who says he was formerly Chief of Police in Salt Lake City. The Tribune says he makes several interesting statements of Mormon doings, which it would presume to be true only that he tells one which it knows is not. What a pity "Stebbins" did not know what a nice dish he spoiled for the Tribune by that misstatement, the most insignificant of the compilation of lies which he framed. "Stebbins" tells of the arbitrary arrest of a young man from Denver named George Floyd, and he says Floyd's father now lives in Denver and is a member of the firm of Floyd, Nesbitt & Co. Reluctantly the Tribune is compelled to admit there is no such firm in Denver, nor ever was, so far as it knows; though there may be such a firm, it says, in other parts of Colorado.

Though there never was such a man as "Stebbins" who held any position in Salt Lake City, and though the letter which is purported to be written by him is utterly false from beginning to end, if the Tribune can derive any interest or comfort from its statements of "Mormon doings," we trust it will not discard it altogether, because it does not know George Floyd, or his father. Perhaps, by instituting inquiries, it may find Floyd, Nesbitt & Co. in some other part of Colorado; or falling in that, the Tribune might write to "Stebbins" to substitute some other name in place of Floyd's. A man of "Stebbins'" fertility of invention will have no difficulty in removing the Tribune's little scruple about the truth of his former letter. It is so willing to "presume" that everything it hears about "Mormon doings" is true, that we feel quite assured that "Stebbins" can satisfy it. When the Tribune finds George Floyd, son of Floyd, Nesbitt & Co., will it be so kind as to advise us, so we shall be interested in learning the result of its inquiries?

ELDER BRIGHAM YOUNG, JR., INTERVIEWED.

It has become exceedingly fashionable of late, whenever a man of note visits an eastern city, for newspaper reporters to seek an interview with him, draw him out in conversation, and publish the account for the delectation of their readers. So common is it now to give reports of interviews, in which there is a dialogue between the reporter and the notable personage "interviewed," very frequently well constructed and made pleasant reading—that it is said that many of these reported conversations are wholly imaginary.

A case in point is that of Father Hyacinthe, the French Roman Catholic priest, who recently landed at New York. His fame as a preacher is very great, and to this is now added his recent recantancy. Of course he was a good subject for the reporters; but he was difficult of access. He evaded those ubiquitous individuals, the Bohemians, and shut himself up in his hotel. Not to be foiled in this manner, however, they hung around the lobbies of the hotel, peeped through the key-holes, waylaid the waiters, and obtained some dark passages upon the chambermaid. From the servants they got what descriptions they could of the gentleman's looks, gait and appetite. The New York Tribune, while boasting that its reporter was the only one who had a really good opportunity of conversing with the distinguished priest, tells a story about the dodge adopted by the reporter of the World to obtain a sight of him. Not to be beaten, he bribed a waiter, it is said, to change clothes with him, and got access to the room under the pretext of a pitcher of ice-water; but he did not understand French, the result of his attempt was not the most favorable. The next day five or six of the New York city papers had long reports of conversations with him, and each one of the reporters boasted that he and he alone had access to the stranger, and wormed his opinions out of him. Father Hyacinthe, upon seeing these reports, must have been astonished. He denies having held any conversation with any of them, though he had answered one or two questions, and the "interviews" were built on the very few words he spoke to them; but they put sentiments into his mouth which he never uttered.

A reporter of the Philadelphia Post of the 29th ult., learned, he says, that Elder Brigham Young, Jr., was in Philadelphia, and made up his mind to "interview" him. He accordingly repaired to the residence of the gentleman whose guest he was, and sent in his name. During the few moments which he spent in waiting he says, his feelings and thoughts were something similar to those of a country pumpkin on his first visit to a theatre, prior to the raising of the curtain. He had heard so much about the Youngs—father and sons—he says, that for a time he was at sea as to what he should expect. He did not know but that he should see something other than a mere man, and he had serious doubts as to whether he should not catch a glimpse of the "cloven foot" so often spoken of. "But," he adds, "also for human expectations, he had appeared before us was nothing more than a plain, blunt man, made in God's own image and likeness, and in no way dissimilar from the majority of human beings."

After describing him he says "the whole appearance reminded us more of a country gentleman farmer rather than anything else, and was plain evidence to us that so far as healthfulness is concerned, there is no 'discounting' the climate of Utah. From the first moment we judged him to be what he afterwards proved, a thorough highly educated and cultivated gentleman." He had objections to being "interviewed" or placed before the public; but upon the reporter stating that he was seeking after genuine information, he entered into conversation. Then follows a report of the conversation, nearly two columns in length, which, whether real or imaginary, is very favorable to affairs here, and is free from any of the flings so often indulged in by writers when commenting upon Utah and her affairs. Such "interviews," reported as this has been, do no harm; on the contrary, they make many people familiar with the views of the people of Utah, who, drawing their opinions from the many misrepresentations and slanders which go the rounds of the press, might entertain gross misconceptions of their real character.

THE RAILROAD CO. AND THE MISSIONARIES.—Further inquiry into the subject of the accommodations furnished by the railroad company to our missionaries, allusion to which was made in the communication of Dr. Crookwell in last evening's News, has given us the reasons for some of the inconveniences complained of. A list of the names of those who were going was made up in the city and sent to the agent at Utah, and it was supposed that no one would go without entering his name; but it appears that a number went whose names were not on the list, and as they were not expected, and no preparations had been made for them, they crowded the car and made it inconvenient for themselves and those who had sent their names up. It was a question for a while, as their names were not on the list, whether they would be permitted to go; but as they had their certificates as Elders, the agent, Mr. Nichols, concluded that they were of the party and they passed on. As already published in the columns of the News, in a letter from David O. Calder, Esq., no one should leave here without first giving his name to Bro. David McKennan, at the President's office, for him to insert in the list. This will prevent trouble and confusion. The company which started out on Monday last were differently situated from those who went previously. The carriages were of a better class, the party had plenty of room, and the accommodations altogether were somewhat better. A report has been made that the missionaries who took their wives with them were required to pay full rates, the ladies not being permitted to travel under the same arrangement as the gentlemen. We have it in our power to state that the report is wholly untrue; all whose names were on the list went through at the price arranged for. In alluding to this subject, Mr. Nichols says:

"I have made every effort I could to have the arrangement returned to carry out pleasantly and have your people go away feeling kindly towards the Railroad Company as well as myself."

ANOTHER INDIAN RAID.—By telegram per Deseret Telegraph Line, we learn that the Indians made another raid on the homes and families belonging to the citizens of Parowan, on Tuesday evening, taking about fifteen head. The trail of the thieves was discovered near up Summit Creek Canyon, and a party of men was sent in pursuit.

Another dispatch, sent at 9:40 this morning per Deseret Telegraph Line, to Hatch, W. V. says:

"Our first company of boys that went after horses, taken by Indians, returned at this morning, and brought thirty-three head of horses, belonging to Harmony, Ind. and the Deseret Telegraph Line. The boys were taken from Cedar and Harmon, and twenty-five horses and mules were taken together from this place, Cedar, Harmony and Hamilton."

GENERAL.

New York, 3.—The World says the Democratic State ticket has been elected by a majority of at least 10,000; from nearly every county are reports of radical loss when compared with the vote for Grant. Gen. Seigel's total vote probably exceeds that cast for Greeley or any other candidate on the radical ticket, at this writing, 3 a.m. The Democrats appear to have secured a majority in each branch of the State legislature, though full returns may record a majority in the State for the Radicals.

The Herald says the returns indicate the success of the State Democratic ticket, but the Republicans have a working majority in the legislature. The Democrats lose heavily in the city, but the Republicans lose heavily throughout the State. The election has gone by default on a short vote, after the fashion of the late October elections in this city. The vote compared with last year, shows a Democratic loss of over twenty-five thousand, the deficiency in the aggregate vote is nearly forty thousand, but the sum up of the general result in the State will signify practically little or nothing without a change in the legislature, which, according to the latest returns, appears to be more strongly Republican on the joint ballot, than the last. The Tribune says the shameless and cunning frauds against defeated Republicans in the general vote, and in the State vote, polled here and there, by the reports cannot have fallen below 20,000, and while we have a handsome majority in the assembly we fear the Senate has been lost by a fraudulent vote and unworthy wrangles among the Republicans in certain localities.

The Times says the Republicans have gained twenty thousand in the city, but the Republican counties return badly, and the Democratic State ticket is probably carried entire. The movements of the Democratic leaders appear to have been chiefly directed to reversing the central State vote for the Senate, and the election of a majority of the assemblymen, but more especially the former, with the purpose of bringing the Senate in accord with Governor Hoffman.

Chicago.—The citizens' ticket in the city and county are elected entire, the Tribune claims by seven thousand majority; the Republican thinks the majority will not exceed 5,000. Four Republicans and three Democrats have been elected to the Constitutional convention. The returns indicate that the Republicans have a majority in the convention. The vote is generally light everywhere.

The Indian summer weather is most delightful. Cincinnati, 3.—The books have been opened for subscription by the Stock Exchange Building Association for the erection of an edifice for a chamber of Commerce.

Five hundred and sixty-one thousand three hundred and eighty-eight gallons of whiskey were removed from the distilleries in the second District during October, for consumption.

Wheeling, 3.—Full returns from twenty-nine counties show that fifteen Republicans, nine Liberal Republicans and twenty-one Democrats have been elected to the House of Delegates. There are eleven counties to be heard from yet, which the Democrats estimate will send three Republicans, four Liberal Republicans and four Democrats. The Liberals include such Republicans as favor the repealing of the test-oath.

Newark.—The State Senate stands: Thirteen Democrats and eight Republicans.

New York.—The latest returns indicate a Democratic majority in the State of between seven and ten thousand. The Senate stands: Seventeen Democrats and fifteen Republicans. The Democrats have apparently lost four and gained two.

Washington.—The delegates appointed by the Louisville Convention waited on the President to-day. General Walbridge addressed the President, speaking very complimentary of his Administration thus far. The President replied, expressing his pleasure at receiving the delegation, and also his gratification at the good fellowship in which it was inaugurated at Louisville, and thought that within a year or two the South would be more prosperous.

Steven M. Vall of New York, has been appointed Minister to Bavaria. The original copy of Miller's "National Medalion," executed by order of Secretary Horie, for presentation to Mrs. Grant, was hung in the Green Room of the Executive Mansion to-day.

Leavenworth, Kansas.—The entire Democratic ticket, with one exception, is elected, by 600 majority.

Boston.—The returns from 224 towns give Claffin a majority of 9,225 over both Adams, Democrat, and Chamberlain, Workingmen's candidate, and indicate a majority of about 12,000 in the State. The Legislature stands 41 Republicans, 19 Labor Reformers, 49 Democrats; Senate 30 Republicans, 9 Democrats and 1 Labor Reformer; the Assembly, 75 Republicans and 123 license men.

Brooks is elected to Congress in the 9th district by 300 majority.

New Haven.—Mr. Herman Range, many years presiding Elder in the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died yesterday in the 86th year of his age.

Corinne, Utah.—A large schooner arrived to-day from Stockton, Utah, loaded with 80 tons of freight, consisting of lumber, silver ore, machinery, &c., for Corinne and San Francisco; this is considered the inauguration of navigation on Salt Lake and Bear River, between Corinne and the towns on the Southern shore.

Baltimore.—The American Colonization Society's ship Goconda cleared yesterday for Africa, with a large cargo.

Boston.—Returns indicate so far, that Claffin leads Adams by 21,000.

Cincinnati.—McCooles arrived here to-day, and was bound over in $5,000 not to engage in any prize fight.

St. Louis.—A petition was filed in Court to-day by a lady named Lucy Sanford, for a divorce from Benjamin C. Sanford, a wealthy young man of this city, who is married to the daughter of one of the first families in the country. The woman claims that she was married to Sanford in Indiana, in 1885, not knowing at the time that he was a married man, and that the children are the result of the union. Sanford's friends assert that it is a case of black mail, while others believe the woman's statement.

Washington.—General B. F. Butler is acting as attorney for the officers and sailors of Faragut's fleet who were engaged in the capture of New Orleans, and is about to commence proceedings in the District Court of Columbia, to recover the prize money due to his clients for the captures they made.

The Albany Argus claims the election by a Democratic State ticket by 24,000 majority, with eighteen Democratic Senators, and seventy members of the Assembly, giving the Democrats the entire control of the State Government.

New York.—The returns to-day show that the State has gone Democratic by not over 10,000 majority.

Chicago.—A special to the Republic, from New York, says the Tribune says it is feared that the State Legislature is Democratic.

San Francisco, November 3.—Deposits in the branch mint, in October, amounted to 89,000 ounces of gold; 57,000 ounces of the latter were received from Japan for re-coining. One million and six hundred and seventy thousand were coined during the same period.

Gov. Haight has designated November 18th as Thanksgiving day.

Clisco was destroyed by fire yesterday.

FOREIGN.

Madrid.—General Prim to-day presented to the Cortes the members of the reconstructed ministry, and explained that the question of royal candidature was the cause of the ministerial crisis, and added that the attitude of the Unionists hindered the solution of the question. He declared that the Government would remain faithful to Republican principles.

New York.—A special dispatch from Paris intimates that Napoleon will propose a plan for general disarmament in his speech at the opening of the session of the French Legislature, and that the idea is likely to become general, it is said, indeed, that Lord Clarendon has conveyed assurances of England's approval of such a course to his Majesty. It is also said that it will be agreeable to Russia. The tendency of Napoleon's policy in the Government is said to be objectively, for the embarrassment of Prussia.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, U. T.,
October 25, 1899.

Editor Deseret News.—Sir.—The people of this ward have enjoyed an unusual degree of health during the past summer.

The wheat crop was light in proportion to the breadth of land sown, in consequence of the ravages of the grasshoppers. The corn crop has not met our expectation; it has been injured by the worms. We shall probably lose one-third or more of the crop. The cotton crop will be light. Our crops of peaches and grapes were large, and a medium crop of apples and a few bearing fig trees. It has been a most excellent time for drying fruit. The summer has been very hot and dry. A good spirit prevails amongst the people.

The first annual meeting of the Female Relief Society for Washington was held on Thursday, Oct. 14th, 1899. The meeting was well attended and an excellent spirit prevailed. There was quite a number of the brethren present. The financial and statistical reports of the Society were read and accepted. The meeting was addressed by the Presidentess, Mrs. B. A. Gould, and her counselors, Mrs. E. Mathews and M. J. Whitehead, who made some very appropriate remarks and expressed their determination to build a hall. Elders H. Herriman, R. F. Gould, N. Sorenson and S. E. Pace, returned missionaries, addressed the meeting on the occasion, making short but appropriate speeches. The officers of the Society are a vigorous, full of enterprise and ambition. The rock and other necessary materials are already on the ground to lay the foundation of the hall.

Yours, etc.,
R. F. GOULD.
