

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

LAKETOWN, Rich county, Utah, Sept. 5.—Mrs. Harriet S. Kimball, widow of the late President Heber C. Kimball, died at 7 a.m. today at her home in Meadowville, Rich county, Utah. JOSEPH IRWIN.

PARIS, Ida., Sept. 3.—Andrew McIlwain, tried and convicted of murder in the second degree was yesterday sentenced by Judge Standrod to twenty years in the state penitentiary.

James Austin and Howard Perkins, convicted of grand larceny were sentenced to one year each.

About 8 o'clock Monday evening the large barn belonging to George Crimmon situated west of the penitentiary was totally destroyed by fire. The barn has a 200 horse capacity but fortunately it contained no stock or hay at the time of the conflagration. Owing to the remote location of the building the fire department did not respond to the call. It is not known how the fire originated.

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, Sept. 1, 1896.

The week ending Monday, Aug. 31st, gave very warm days and cool nights, with occasional light showers in many parts of the state. No severe frosts have occurred as yet. Harvesting is progressing rapidly and much of the wheat crop has been threshed. Potatoes are in promising condition both as to quantity and quality. Vegetables and fruits are coming along nicely. D. P. McCALLUM, Section Director.

Orson P. Miles, an old and well known Unionist, died at his residence, 881 Second street, Monday evening at the age of 62 years.

The deceased for many years was associated with the business firm of Kimball & Lawrence and later with Cunningham & Company, with whom he was identified until stricken down with the illness that resulted in his death. He was a man of many good qualities and had a wide circle of friends who will deeply regret his demise. He leaves a wife, who is a sister of Hon. Henry W. Lawrence and Mrs. Julia Kimball, three sons, James L., Henry W. and Milton M., and two daughters, Mrs. John Sharp and Dr. Luella Miles.

Several accidents have occurred during the past few days. At Smithfield a runaway team struck a buggy being driven by Mrs. Langton, who was thrown out and badly bruised. Two grandchildren riding with her escaped injury.

Cifford Pullman of Logan stooped to pick up a line by one of his horses' heels, and was severely kicked. His nose, right collar bone and one finger were broken, and he sustained concussion of the brain.

A four-year-old son of James Smith of Smithfield struck a horse with a bridle, and was kicked just above the left eye. A large gash was cut and his skull was fractured, but it is believed he will recover.

Mrs. Senaub of the Fifth ward was jerked and thrown to the ground by a cow she was leading, dislocating her left shoulder.

BINGHAM Sept. 7.—Joseph Crosby of Salt Lake was killed here this evening by being thrown from his wagon and run over. He was engaged in hauling ore from the New Discovery mine to the sampling works when his wagon pitched into a chuck hole with a good deal of force. Crosby went out over the front end gate, down into the timber trees and under the feet of one of the horses which immediately commenced to kick. The wagon was soon drawn against his body and he vainly endeavored to extricate himself from his perilous position. Gradually the wheels crowded harder and harder, upon him and finally he was absolutely pinioned beneath them with the result that his head was crushed and he was killed almost instantly. His body was pushed along the ground for a distance of fifteen to twenty yards. The wagon had about two tons of ore on it at the time.

Crosby was thirty-six years of age, the father of five children, the keeper of a corral store on West Temple street in Salt Lake and a brother-in-law of C. E. Johnson of the Johnson-Pratt Drug company. The latter has been notified of the sad affair and will make arrangements for taking the body home.

In a letter just received from Prof. E. E. Alvord, chief of the Dairy division of the bureau of animal industry, department of agriculture, Washington, D. C. I learn that he will be in Salt Lake City on September 12th, and will be pleased to see as many of those interested in dairying as can make it convenient to be present.

Prof. Alvord is a dairyman of wide experience and has charge of the dairy division which was recently organized, and has for its object the investigation of problems etc., in relation to dairying. He is also one of the oldest experimenters in the United States, and was one of those who took an active part in securing the grant of $15,000 for the experiment stations of the various states and has been closely associated with experimental work since that time.

It will well repay our dairymen to meet Prof. Alvord and to learn from his experience and also to learn of the work that he is doing, and intends to do, for the dairy interests of the country. Don't forget the date, Sept. 12th, 1896, in the city and county building, Salt Lake City; time, 2 p. m.

F. B. LINFIELD, Dairy and animal husbandry, Agricultural College of Utah.

From an accident which occurred at the Franklin school house, Michael J. Walsh whose home is at 147 North Seventh West, died Wednesday afternoon. Walsh was at work on a new smoke stack, and was standing inside the stack bolting rock and brick to the top by means of a pulley, and was of necessity in a standing position most of the time.

The man at the top of the stack had just received the capstone and was using a heavy wooden mallet, weighing about ten pounds, in adjusting the rock in its place. By some unaccountable means the mallet was knocked from the stack and went crashing downward on its death-dealing mission, striking Walsh on the top of the head, felling him to the ground. He was carried to the nearest house, and aid immediately summoned, Drs. Niles and Beers answering the call.

There were no outward indications of injury, with the exception of a large bruise. He was taken to the Holy Cross hospital for treatment. Arriving there, the skull was laid open and it was found that the injury was much more serious than was anticipated. It was found that the brain cells were flattened and portions of brain matter oozed out when the surgeon's knife exposed the injury. Walsh died at 2:30 p. m., one hour and a half after he was removed to the hospital.

The eleventh academic year of this institution will open on Monday, Sept. 14; entrance examinations being held on Monday and Tuesday. The public opening exercises will be held at the Seventeenth ward assembly room, on First North between West Temple and First West streets, on Tuesday at 1 p. m. All are cordially invited. The building last named has been secured by the College for the High School, College, and music departments in place of the Eighteenth Ward Seminary building which is announced in the catalogue. This change will be a great convenience from the fact that the two buildings occupied by the institution are within two minutes walk of each other, the commercial department being held as before advertised in the building 233 west First North street.

The college is fully equipped with all facilities necessary for the prosecution of its work along the lines named above. All students who intend entering the College should apply at the office of the president in the Seventeenth ward school house, between Monday, September 14th, at 9 a. m., and Tuesday at 1 p. m., to present credentials or pass examination. Circulars containing full information may be had on application to the undersigned. WILLARD DONE, President.

The Fourth Ward Sunday School has for several years been held in the Brigham Young Academy, the students of the academy being members of the school. It has been thought advisable to change this, and Sunday, a Sunday school was organized in the ward, with the following officers: R.
