PROJECTING STOVEPIPES.

THE attention of the public is called to the following extracts from "An ordinance establishing Fire Limits, and for the prevention of Fires," passed November 30th, 1875—

SEC. 8. "The owners of all buildings within the limits of this city wherein fire is kept are hereby required to build flues or chimneys of brick or adobie in said buildings; and from and after the passage of this ordinance it shall be unlawful to project any stovepipe through through the roof or out of the side of any building; and on or before the FIRST DAY OF MARCH, A. D. 1876, ALL STOVEPIPES NOW IN USE PROJECTING THROUGH THE ROOF OR OUT OF THE SIDE OF ANY BUILDING SHALL BE REMOVED BY THE OWNER THEREOF."

* * * * *

SEC. 10. Any person violating or failing to comply with any of the provisions of the last three sections (7th, 8th and 9th) of this ordinance, shall be liable to a fine not to exceed fifty dollars, and a further sum of five dollars for every day that any stovepipe is permitted to remain through the roof or out of the side of any building, after the first day of March, A. D., 1876.

EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday, - February 28, 1876.

Local and Other Matters.

THERMOMETER 39 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p.m. to-day. Snowing slightly.

Will He?—Will March come in like a lion?

Stormy.—Snowing smartly this morning, and continuing lightly the larger part of the day.

The Day.—This is leap year day, the only day of the kind for four years to come. Of course the girls will govern themselves accordingly, if they take the whole year for it.

A Four Handed Fight.—Utah now has two republican parties and two democratic parties, all snarling and growling at and "pitching into" each other, while the people stand by and look on, as in a scene of their fight.

The Crossing Sweeper.—With the existing spell of slushy weather the diligence of James Dixon, the crossing-sweeper, increases, and it is to be hoped the pedestrian public keep him in sufficient remembrance to cause a corresponding increase in his finances.

Sentiment and Mirth.—We are requested to announce that F. Lee Chauvin, Esq., will give a selection of readings from the poets, closing with a short lecture on elocution, at the Tenth Ward meeting-house, under the auspices of the Y. M. M. I. A. on Thursday evening. Admission free.

Conforming to the Law.—There is considerable demand for bricks just now, small piles of which can be seen in every part of the city, and there is considerable of a harvest for chimney builders. Cause—the people generally are conforming to the ordinance in relation to flues, which will be in force on and after to-morrow.

RETURNED.

Returned.—General George C. Bates, who has been on a visit to some portions of Michigan and to Chicago, returned to the City on Saturday. He reports a very discouraging stagnation of business in the "Queen City," the unemployed poor running up into the thousands, with an apparently dreary prospect ahead.

Theatre.—With anything like favorable weather there is likely to be a well filled house at the Theatre to-morrow night. The bill is a good one, liberal in quality, extent and variety. The chief piece is the tragedy of "Jack Cade," in which Messrs. Lindsay and P. Margetts appear. Then comes a song by Mr. P. Margetts, jr. Messrs. Harris and Bowring follow with their redoubtable "Mulligan Guards." The "Bashful Bachelor," with Mr. Graham as "Hector Timid," brings up the rear of the performance with an irresistibility of fun.

The Coal Question.—A few days ago considerable consternation was caused among the Weber coal mine owners, and others interested in that direction, by the reception of intelligence from U. P. R. R. officials that no more cars would be left at Echo for the transportation of Weber coal, the reason assigned for this being that all the cars were wanted at Almy for the freighting of coal from mines owned by the Union Pacific Railroad Company. We are pleased to learn that the company have somewhat relented from their determination and are beginning to supply a few cars at Echo, so that the coal difficulty is in a fair way for at least a partial, if not a complete, solution.

Shrove Tuesday.—This is Shrove Tuesday, or Shrove Tide, the day before Lent, otherwise commonly known as Pancake Tuesday. In olden times, when Roman Catholicism was the prevailing religion of England, it was customary on this day for the people of that country to make confession to their various parish priests, and afterwards to have a general ringing of bells, and other amusements, and to engage in the demolition of pyramids of pancakes, or fritters, but flesh was to be abstained from. We believe the eating part of the observance is the only one at all generally attended to in that country now a-days.

This day is known as Fast-Nacht (fast eve), by the Germans, and Mardi Gras (fat Tuesday) by the French.

Ash-Wednesday.—To-morrow is Ash-Wednesday, the first day of Lent. The fathers called it caput jejunii (the beginning of the fast), or dies cinerum (ash day), in allusion to the custom of sprinkling the head with ashes on that day. This day is the commencement of the forty days of penitential mourning (Lent), following the carnival) and Roman Catholics, during Lent, they eat no meat, fish excepted. On this day the Catholic priest makes the sign of the cross with ashes on the foreheads of the people, repeating a few words. In the Church of England the maledictions against impenitent sinners are read, and the clerk and the people respond "Amen."

Lent is the forty week-days of fast and penitence, immediately preceding Easter, not an absolute but a partial fast, animal flesh being excluded, except when specially allowed by the Catholic bishops. One meal a day is the usual allowance, with a slight refection in the morning, and another in the evening, the latter being the largest. Lent is supposed to be in part a memorial of the forty days that in the wilderness by the Savior.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 29, 1876.

Editor Evening News:

I noticed in your paper of Saturday, that Wednesday next, the 1st of March, is the last day of grace given by the City Ordinance respecting stovepipes peering through roofs or sides of buildings, etc. Allow me to make a few suggestions in regard to this matter. I am glad the City Fathers see the necessity of abolishing such dangerous and temporary flues, but there are many things besides stovepipes, in the construction of buildings, that should be attended to more strictly than they have been. We frequently hear of fires occasioned through careless or incautious builders, and there are some who profess to be builders who are incompetent. Such would just as soon place timbers through the sides of flues as otherwise, as is too frequently the case, and, in many instances, flues are too small, or are not properly protected. In towns or cities of any magnitude, in the "old countries," especially, the city authorities appoint and pay men to inspect all buildings while being erected, whether they be small or large, to see that the builders are constructing the flues and trimming the joists, etc., according to law; and there is but a small chance for them to escape the scrutinizing eye of such supervision, for they are generally men of experience. I think there is great necessity of such an office, invested with proper authority, in this city, and that he be made consistently responsible.

Yours respectfully, P.

SENATE.

Morton Explains.

WASHINGTON, 29.—Morton rose to a personal explanation, and read the published testimony of J. L. Lyon before the House committee on foreign affairs, yesterday, in regard to the Emma mine. Morton said the report of the testimony would lead to the impression that he had accepted a fee of twenty thousand dollars in the case referred to, and had participated in an effort to have Judge McKean removed, in which there was not one syllable of truth. He was on his way home from the Senate in 1871, when Senator Stewart came to him on the train near Pittsburg, and made a statement as to the lawsuit in Utah, and said he desired to have him, Merton, retained as assistant counsel, stating that if they were successful a large fee would be paid him. He introduced a gentleman named Lyon to him then. He Morton, supposed at first that it was legitimate professional employment; and he told Stewart that he must take it under consideration and meet him in Salt Lake. He afterward became satisfied that it was not a case in which he as a senator could properly take part. He afterwards received a telegram from Mr. Stewart to meet him in Salt Lake, but he did not meet him, and never had any further conversation with him on the subject, and he, Morton, never had anything to do with the Emma mine. He now felt satisfied that the object was to secure his political influence, though he did not mean to say such was Stewart's motive, for the removal of Judge McKean, but he had nothing to do with it. He, Morton, went before the House committee of foreign affairs this morning, and met Lyon there and made his statement to the committee, which Lyon said was correct.

EASTERN.

Methodist Sunday Schools—Meeting of Legal Tender Club.

NEW YORK, 29.—The Methodist Preachers' Meeting, yesterday, was devoted to Sunday schools, introduced by an essay of the Rev. Mr. Hippinotte, of New Jersey. The speaker denounced the means taken at present to support Sunday schools by fairs, bazaars, picnics and comic lectures, as thoroughly demoralizing. The statistics of 1875 show that there are 1,406,168 scholars enrolled, and 207,182 superintendents and teachers. Of this number 87,700 were converted to God. He proposed that the quarterly conference control Sunday schools the same as other church matters. After discussing, a committee was appointed to memorialize the General Conference as to further legislation on the subject.

A meeting was held last night under the auspices of the Legal Tender Club in the 2nd Assembly District in this city. The president of the Painters' Union was chairman, and the president of the Brick-layers' Society was one of the speakers. The resolutions adopted demand that the policy of the construction of the currency and the forced resumption of specie payments be abandoned, leaving the restoration of legal tenders to par gold to be brought about by promoting the industries of the people and not by destroying them; also demanding that all national bank currency promptly and permanently retire, and that legal tenders be issued in its place by and upon the faith of the national government.

The Broken Cable Found.

The steamship Faraday arrived at the fracture of the direct cable yesterday, and picked up and buoyed both ends close together, and it is now awaiting favorable weather to splice.

CHICAGO, 29.—The Times Washington special says that the labors of the Texas border committee are about ended, and they will report in favor of three regiments of cavalry being stationed on the border; the report is delayed by a desire of the committee to have their proceedings printed to lay before the House with their report.

A Calamity Not Anticipated.

BOSTON, 29.—A party of New York young men left this city last night for Arizona, the advance guard of the colony forming here, to settle Chiquito valley.

The Emma Mine Investigation.

WASHINGTON, 29.—The committee on foreign affairs, this morning, resumed the investigation of the Emma Mine speculation.

Senator Morton appeared and swore, at his own request. He said that he had seen in the report of the testimony of J. L. Lyon to him self, and the Chronicle published, to state that some five or six years ago, in 1871, on his way home after the adjournment of Congress, Senator Stewart came to him and spoke about a case then pending in the court of Utah. Stewart said perhaps the parties might wish to employ him as counsel, and he brought in a gentleman whom he presumed to be Mr. Lyon, the witness now present. Stewart informed him that if he should engage in the case he would receive a large fee if successful. Senator Morton thought it was for desired professional service, and of such a character as he could accept. Stewart wanted to meet Morton at Salt Lake City, and Morton informed him that he would meet him there if Stewart would notify him as to the time. Afterward, from what Stewart said, he enabled Morton to assist in having Judge McKean removed rather than to render professional services. Morton saw, in a Salt Lake paper, a statement that he and others had united in a request for the removal of Judge McKean, but Morton said that he had nothing whatever to do with that subject.

Lyon, in response to a question by Morton, said he did not meet Morton at Salt Lake, and Morton never had any connection with the matter under consideration.

Arrested for Embezzlement—$32,000 Fire.

ST. LOUIS, 29.—F. B. Curtis, who has been managing a large retail clothing house here for two or three years past, for a Syracuse, N. Y., manufactory, was arrested yesterday for the alleged embezzlement of $19,000, and admitted to bail in $5,000.

The large flouring mill of Goodrich & Nevins, at Jerseyville, Ills., was burned last night; loss about $32,000, insurance $14,000.

WESTERN.

$300,000 Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, 29.—The fire at the State penitentiary is less disastrous than at first reported. The flames were confined to the main workshop, in which they originated, by the exertions of the convicts, who behaved well. Detachments from the fire department, and the police and military of this city, on their arrival at the prison, found that their services were not required, as the fire was subdued and the prisoners locked up. A dispatch this morning reports that there were no escapes. The loss is probably $300,000, one-third of which falls on the California Furniture Manufacturing Company, and Porter, Blum and Sleminger, who were conducting the furniture and shoe contracts.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Terrible Sufferings by Floods.

LONDON, 29.—A special says that the account of the devastation from inundations in Hungary are heartrending. A hundred manufactories and fifty other buildings at New Pesth have been undermined and fallen. It is feared that when the waters retire a vast number of houses in Buda and other places along the river will fall. Twelve thousand out of 18,000 inhabitants of Althover are homeless.

FRANCE.

General Amnesty Measure, &c.

PARIS, 28.—At a meeting of the Left, to day it was decided that a motion for a general amnesty, to take immediate effect, should be introduced on the 8th of March, the first day of the session, by Victor Hugo, in the Senate, and by M. Madier de Montjau in the Chamber of Deputies; also that proposals be introduced for the immediate raising of the state of siege and the repeal of the law on the appointment of mayors.
