

THE AFTERMATH OF WAR

It is not in the least likely, as some people would have it, that the war will be a mere passing fancy, and that the world will be left as it was before. The war has been a great and terrible thing, and it has left its mark upon the world. It has changed the map of the world, and it has changed the hearts of men. It has shown us the power of the sword, and it has shown us the power of the pen. It has shown us the power of the machine, and it has shown us the power of the human hand. It has shown us the power of the world, and it has shown us the power of the world.

One of the first things that we see when we look at the world after the war is the change in the map. The map of the world has been changed, and it will be changed again. The map of the world has been changed, and it will be changed again. The map of the world has been changed, and it will be changed again.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

compensate could be, to hold him up. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

enough suffering will be enough to show us the power of the sword. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

and, while the soldiers were not in the world, the world was not in the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

somehow found his way through the world, and he was not alone. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

and, while the soldiers were not in the world, the world was not in the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

and, while the soldiers were not in the world, the world was not in the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

SOME TAGALESE CIGAR MAKERS.

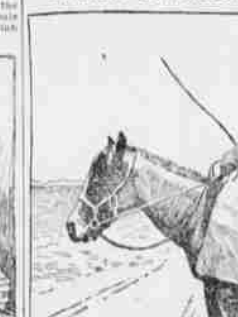

In Manila, where the war has been going on for some time, the people are still working. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

THE WITCH OF GHORIN.

One of the most interesting stories of the war is the story of the witch of Ghorin. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

A NEW SUBJECT OF THE CZAR.

Here is a representative specimen of the new subjects of the czar. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

SOME TINY SPOONS.

Miss Phoebe Ann West of New York is the possessor of the most remarkable of spoons. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

some way to realize when it is said that the spoon is tiny. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

The spoon is tiny, and it is tiny. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

THE BOOK OF MARTYRS.

Here is the picture of a book that is the most remarkable of books. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

called in 1841, and the book is the most remarkable of books. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

A COMING AMERICAN NOVELIST.

A well-known newspaper man who has recently dipped into literature is Joseph A. Altshuler of New York. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

A FAMOUS KNOCKER.

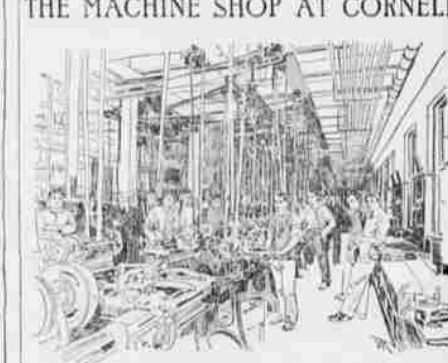

Here is the knocker which has been the most remarkable of knockers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

THE SHAMROCK'S FLAG.

In the above illustration, it is a very pretty flag, but pretty flags do not win wars. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

THE MACHINE SHOP AT CORNELL.

One feature of which our great American universities differ from their European institutions, is that of the machine shop. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

A STRANGE SPRING.

Perhaps the most extraordinary spring in the world is that which is found in the city of New York. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

They find how the water comes from the spring. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

CHERRY BLOSSOM TIME IN JAPAN.

Japan is justly noted for its cherry trees, and during 'cherry blossom time' the land of the rising sun presents a very beautiful picture. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

A MICROBE GUARD.

A French inventor has patented a device which he calls 'The Microbe Guard.' The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

STATUE OF AFRICA THE GREAT. London is to have a statue of King Alfred the Great, 'The Wise,' to be the symbol of the British Empire. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

A FILIPINO WARSHIP.

One of the strangest warships in the world is the Filipino 'Bantay' ship. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

when the ship was built, the ship was the most remarkable of ships. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

A WHITE TAILED GNU.

Here is a picture of a white tailed gnu, the most remarkable of gnus. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

long it will be almost as long as the gnu. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.

WAR ECHOES.

The members of Company I of the First Pennsylvania Regiment, who were the first to enter the city of New York, are now in the city of New York. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers. The soldiers would have been for the world, and the world would have been for the soldiers.