THE EVENING NEWS

Tuesday, - - October 8, 1872.

Suicide of an American Girl in London.

It was stated a day or two ago that the body of the young woman who drowned herself at Waterloo Bridge a few evenings since had been identified. Her name it appears was Alice Blanche Oswald, and she was within a few days of completing her twentieth year. At the inquest last night before Mr. Langham, the following letter was put in and read:

178 HIGH STREET, SHADWELL,
London, September 3, 1872.

The crime that I am about to commit and what I must suffer hereafter is nothing compared to my present misery. Alone in London, not a penny or a friend to advise or lend a helping hand, tired and weary with looking for something to do, falling in every way, footsore and heartweary, I prefer death to the dawning of another wretched morning. I have only been in Britain nine weeks. I came as nursery governess with a lady from America to Wick, in Scotland, where she discharged me, refusing to pay my passage back, giving me my wages, £3 10s. After my expenses to London I found myself in this great city with only 6s. What was I to do? I sold my watch. The paltry sum I obtained for that soon went in paying for my board and in looking for a situation. Now I am destitute every day is a misery to me. No friend, no hope, no money; what is left? O, God of Heaven, have mercy on a poor, helpless sinner, thou knowest how I have striven against this, but fate is against me. I cannot tread the path of sin, for my dead mother will be watching me. Fatherless, motherless, home I have none. Oh, for the rarity of Christian hearts. I am now mad; for days I have foreseen that this would be the end. May all who hear of my death forgive me, and may God almighty do so, before whose bar I must soon appear. Farewell to all, to this beautiful and yet wretched world.
ALICE BLANCHE ISWALD. I am twenty years of age the 14th of this month.

The jury returned a verdict of "suicide while in a state of temporary insanity."
—Pall Mall Gazette, September 10.

How to Grow Plump.

Dio Lewis gives the following advice. Go to bed at half-past eight or nine o'clock, and don't be in a hurry about getting up in the morning. On going to bed and on getting up in the morning, drink as much cold water as you can swallow. Soon you will learn to drink two tumblers; and some persons may learn to drink still more. Spend a good deal of your time in the open air without hard exercise, but exposed to the sun. If practicable, ride in a carriage some hours every day. Remain out enough to give you a good appetite, but do not work hard enough to produce excessive perspiration. Eat a great deal of oat meal porridge, cracked wheat, Graham mush, baked sweet apples, roasted and boiled beef, though the vegetable part is more fattening than the animal part. Lie down an hour in the middle of the day, just before you take your dinner, to rest, and if possible, take a little nap. Cultivate jolly people. "Laugh and grow fat" rests upon a sound physiological basis. A pleasant flow of the social spirit is a great promoter of digestion. Keep your skin clean, sleep in a room where the sun shines, keep everything sweet and clean and fresh about your bed, sleep nine, if possible ten hours in the twenty-four, eat as I have told you, cultivate the jolly spirit, and in six months you will be as plump as you could wish.

Declaration of Homestead.

It is not generally known that a wife alone can make a homestead of the property which she and her husband own, and on which they reside. The husband's consent is not requisite, the law stating that the homestead and house, not exceeding in value $5,000, can be selected by the husband and wife or either of them. A case illustrative of the power of the wife in this respect lately occurred here. A husband, who was a hopeless drunkard, after running through all his personal property, was preparing to sell the homestead in which he, his wife and family lived, without the consent of his wife. Fortunately she heard of it, and quietly went and registered the property as a homestead. The buyer, when searching the title, butted up against her declaration, which made it impossible for the husband to sell the property. All wives in like position should follow this example. If a husband will not provide for his wife and children, it is the duty of the wife to protect both by taking advantage of the homestead law. The law not only legally makes the wife half owner of the homestead, but also exempts it from sale for subsequent debt, execution or liability.—Real Estate Circular.

The Jews.

The Jewish Messenger, of New York city announcing that the Fast of Ab, the "back fast" in Jewish calendar, would be celebrated recently, observed:

While not observed in this country as generally as formerly, yet it forms a prominent ceremonial, and with many of our readers will be rigorously kept this year. While it commemorates other events in our history, its special feature is in remembrance of the destruction of Jerusalem and the subversion of our nationality, and there are not a few in Israel who mourn over these historical events and pray for a restoration.

For such the fast retains its olden influence, and from night to night the conformist refrains from food and drink, and spends hours in chanting lamentations, and uttering the liturgical prayers composed for the occasion. To them the fast has a solemn significance, and the aspirations for a return to Palestine and a revival of the Hebrew kingdom are sincere and undying. The average American Israelite views the fast in another light, and regards little its claims on his attention.

Twenty years ago the dissenters were few in the land. The ninth of Ab was solemnized as a strict fast with hardly an exception, and it almost equalled in importance the great day of Atonement. Now how comparatively rare are the instances of its strict observance!

So runs the world. Our modern Jew thinks little of Palestine and its ancient glory; and, as for our restoration, the thought never enters his head. America is his Palestine. The future must take care of itself.
