

WANTON ATTACK ON TWO WORKMEN

Kansas City Ironworkers Set
Upon by Mob of Union Men.

LURED FROM THEIR ROOMS.

Telephone Message Used as a Decoy
To Put Them in the Hands
Of the Sluggers.

A wanton, brutal attack made upon two strikebreakers by over 20 men, supposed to have been union men and their sympathizers, on Saturday night marked what was presumed to have been an amicable settlement of the difficulties between the local union of structural ironworkers and the Minneapolis Steel & Machinery company.

The victims of the assault were Earl S. Garling and Albert Peck, both of Kansas City, and who were brought here by the steel company to work on the Commercial club building.

After being lured from their rooms at the Savoy hotel about 10 o'clock at night by means of a decoy telephone message, asking them to go to the Dooly block, they were set upon at the corner of West Temple and Second South streets by a crowd of upwards of 20 men. Clubs, stones, brass knuckles and other weapons were used by the assailants, their number being so great that the victims had no chance for defending themselves, and they were beaten unmercifully and left in an almost unconscious condition. The police were notified, and the injured men were removed to the Emergency hospital, where Dr. F. B. Steele dressed the wounds.

MOB QUICKLY RUNS AWAY.

Before the police arrived in response to the call the mob had taken to their heels and scattered. A squad was sent out later in a search for the members of the gang, but failed to identify any of them.

The assault, which was premeditated, was of such a brutal, cowardly nature as to call out severe condemnation. Garling and Peck had been brought from Kansas City by the Minneapolis Steel & Machinery company to work on the Commercial club building, but when the labor differences on that building were settled Saturday by the withdrawal of the steel company and the recognition of the union, the two, with the other imported workers, were discharged and were to return to Kansas City.

This fact was used by their assailants, who decoyed them by use of the telephone message. When Garling was called to the telephone he was told that it was P. Chas. King, of the company speaking, and he was asked to bring Peck with him to the company's offices in the Dooly building. The men presumed that it was in regard to their transportation to Kansas City, and had no hesitation in answering the summons.

Lottie King, Whose Deafness Handicapped Her, Is Run Down by Car.

In a street car accident subordinated with unusually pathetic incident, 14-year-old Lottie King, daughter of Mortimer O. P. King, of No. 825 Roberts avenue, received injuries Saturday night that necessitated the amputation of her left foot.

The victim of the accident is totally deaf. On Saturday evening she had been going to the store near by in company with two companions, walking on the car tracks. Owing to her deafness, hearing, she was unaware of the approach of car 361 of the Sugar House line, and before her playmates could make her understand her danger, she was struck by the car, rolling towards the rails so that the rear trucks passed over the left foot. She was removed to the Groves L. D. S. hospital, where an amputation was performed with satisfactory results.

It was not until Mr. King was sent to relieve Joseph Nelson, the motorman on the car at the time of the accident, that he learned that it had been his daughter who had been the victim. He himself had to obtain a substitute before he could go to the hospital where his girl lay.

WARM COMMUNICATION ON RAILROAD RATES

Col. F. M. Sterrett Receives a Decidedly Tropical Letter from California
G. A. R. Commander.

Col. F. M. Sterrett, executive director of the forty-third G. A. R. encampment, to be held in this city next August, has received a communication in regard to railroad rates to the encampment from California. The communication is dated at Los Angeles, Cal., June 13, 1909, and is as follows:

"Dear Colonel:—It would have given me great satisfaction to have aided you in adding to the success of this, probably the last national encampment west of the Mississippi river, by bringing a large contingent from southern California to swell the attendance, but the extortion practiced by the Salt Lake railway (S. P. L. A. & S. L. Ry.) has rendered $30,000, has rendered all interest among the several thousand veterans here that you cannot depend on any representation without mentioning your last letter to me, stating that the effort would have to come from the department west of California and Nevada. I have turned over to W. S. Daubenspeck and urged him to communicate with J. B. Stubbs, vice president and traffic manager of the Southern Pacific lines, whose office is in Chicago, and stated to Daubenspeck that I had reliable information that if he gave the word, the Salt Lake people would make an equally low rate with the Denver & Rio Grande, which is but 47.75, and only 40 miles less than from Los Angeles, and that the Salt Lake had the power to do this under the interstate commerce law by filing the rate made within 30 days of the date of the rate, but I am informed today that the department instead of going to Stubbs went again to the Salt Lake road and was again turned down; they even refused to make a less rate than $30 to the Veterans Five and Drum corps, and this very attractive feature of this department, consisting of 17 veterans of the Civil war, and the great honor of commander and his adjutant-general take their departure for the encampment. Had I been department commander, I would have at least made a rate of $10 to the veterans, and if I held up there, would have publicly placed the Salt Lake & Southern Pacific combination on record before the people of the country that we made possible to exist. The great honor of R. R. octopus intends to throttle the very life out of freedom, but the Grand Army of the Republic should be the very last to surrender the rights and liberties they fought to perpetuate and personally, I would rather be called an anarchist than to meekly wear the collar of modern commercialism. Nearly two months yet remain, and yet I do not hope for any results being attained at this end of the line, but you might reach Stubbs with effect.

Wishing you the success you so richly deserve, I remain yours very truly
F. C. & L.
JOHN Q. A. WALKER.

KIMBALL FAMILY

HONORS GREAT MAN

Today the descendants of Heber C. Kimball are observing the birthday anniversary of their distinguished ancestor. One hundred and eight years ago Heber Chase Kimball was born, at Sheldon, Franklin county, Vermont. He was the son of Solomon F. Kimball, who came of old revolutionary stock. Young Heber moved with his father's family to West Bloomfield, Ontario county, New York, in 1811. When he was six years old he began to attend school, continuing until he was about 14 years of age. After passing through many experiences incident to the settlement of a new country, he pursued the potter's trade for some time, after moving to Mendon, Monroe county. In early life he received many invitations to join different religious sects, but did not unite himself with any until a revival in the neighborhood led him to ally himself with the Baptists. Soon after this occurrence, however, he heard the elders of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints preach the gospel, and finally accepted it, and was baptized with his household.

The history of Heber C. Kimball follows the early history of the Church, and he was prominently connected with all phases of it. He performed wonderful missionary work in Europe, passed through the persecutions in the eastern and central states, and was one of the historic company of 148 who entered this valley in 1847. In 1847, when Brigham Young was sustained as president of the Church, Heber C. Kimball was named as his first counselor, sustaining this position with marked ability until his death which occurred in 1883. The posterity of Heber C. Kimball is legion, and the members of the Church unite with them today in honoring the memory of that great pioneer and empire builder, Heber C. Kimball.

BISHOP TUTTLE HEARD IN ST. MARK'S PULPIT

Well Known Churchman, Formerly of This City, Preaches at Two Sunday Services.

Bishop Tuttle, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church, preached at both services yesterday in St. Mark's cathedral. In the morning he spoke from the text, "That the Traditions," in connection with which he said that Christian Science teaches wholesome truths in saying they are not of God, but only by His permission. The preacher suggested that this teaching of Christian Science is only taking us back to one of our first principles, the power and protection and loving care of the fatherhood of God. Crookedness and wrongs come from human sin and selfishness and that Christian people, while they must be a hand in correcting and ameliorating the wrongs, must not lose heart because they cannot stop these wrongs. God, the Holy Spirit himself, can work a stop to human sin and selfishness until human wills permit him to do so.

Therefore Christians cheerfully and vigorously stand up for justice and the fair, must not be discouraged if in spite of all their efforts, wrongs go on. They have simply to hold and promote belief in the power of the fatherhood of God, and then must to a certain degree, leave the mysteries of free will to work themselves. Bishop Tuttle's evening sermon was on missionary work, the text being, "Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and in all that I say unto you, even unto the end of the canon world."

The speaker said in part: "I suppose all of you have read that book which became famous through the English speaking world as 'The Tradition,' entitled, 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.' We are all Dr. Jekylls and Mr. Hydes, the Dr. Jekyll in our nature struggling for the preeminence and the good, and the Mr. Hyde in our nature, the selfishness, and the Mr. Hyde fighting for the meanness in our nature. To do the greatest missionary work in the world we must first conquer ourselves and seek to enlarge the unselfish parts of our nature. Our first missionary work should be with ourselves and when we have conquered along these lines there will follow an opening for the missionary work in the family. First let the missionary work begin in your hearts, then in the home, afterward it will spread to the parish, to be carried from there wherever the flag flies and finally into every part of the world."

Bishop Tuttle was formerly missionary bishop of Montana, Idaho and Utah, traveling over 43,000 miles in stage coaches, driving attending to the wants of the church.

FALL FROM WAGON FATAL.

Harold Brooks Killed When Jarred From His Seat.

Harold Brooks, the six-year-old son of John Brooks, a blacksmith residing in the rear of 643 west Third North street, met almost instant death Saturday evening by being jarred from a wagon loaded with sand.

The wagon was being driven by the little fellow's cousin, Henry Brooks, to the father's blacksmith shop, 15 north Second West street. While in Third North between Fifth and Sixth West streets, Harold was sitting on top of the load. The wheels, dropping into a depression, the wagon lurched and the boy was thrown from his seat on the sand. Before the driver could clutch him, the lad had struck the ground, his head striking a pile of sand. He was unconscious and died before he could be taken into a house and a doctor summoned.

INTEREST IN RED CROSS.

President Taft Writes to Governor
Spry Offering Co-operative Effort.

Governor William Spry received a letter from President Taft Saturday calling attention to the facilities provided by the American Red Cross society of which he is president. The letter called attention particularly to the work of Ernest P. Bickwell, who devotes his entire time to the affairs of the society without charge. If Mr. Bickwell is wanted in Utah to confer with the local or state authorities, he is on call at any time. In a statement appended to the letter it shows that the American Red Cross society expended $4,472,893.60 between Jan. 1, 1905, and May 31, 1909. The receipts of the sales of Red Cross Christmas stamps for the benefit of anti-tuberculosis work amounted to $138,000. The expenses of the society during the publishing of the Red Cross Bulletin have only been $30,195.

JUST ONE DAY

How the Coffee Drinker Compromises
His Health.

Some people say: "Coffee don't hurt me," and then add: "Anyway I only drink one cup a day." If coffee really don't hurt why not drink more? There is but one answer and that is coffee does hurt them and they know it. When they drink it once a day they compromise with their health. There are people who one cup of coffee a day will put in bed, if the habit is continued.

"Although warned by physicians to let coffee alone I have always been fond of it that I continued to use it," confesses an Ohio lady. "I compromised with myself and drank just one cup every morning until about six weeks ago."

"All the time I was drinking coffee I had heart trouble that grew steadily worse and finally I had such alarming sensations in my head (sometimes causing me to fall down) that I at last took my doctor's advice and quit coffee and began to use Postum in its place. The results have been such that the doctor hoped for I have not only lost my craving for coffee and enjoy my good Postum just as well, but my heart trouble has ceased and I have no more dizzy spells in my head. I feel better in every way and consider myself a very fortunate woman to have found the truth about Postum."

Look in pkgs. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville." There's a reason.

Ever read the above letter. A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

First Presidency Subscribes Sum of $500 and Bishop C. W. Nibley
Donates $307.78.

There is no further occasion to worry about the Y. M. C. A. relief fund of $15,000. It has been raised and the institution is planning for the coming year and many good things are promised to members and to those who are benefited by the good work of the organization.

There was a meeting of the committee at which a careful audit of the accounts was made and it was found that the fund was short just $367.78. Treasurer C. W. Nibley asked that his name be put down for that amount, and that the committee be authorized on Friday, Chairman P. J. Moran read the following letter from the First Presidency of the Church:

"Dear Mr. Stephen: Referring to calls made on us this morning by your self and other gentlemen in the interest of the Young Men's Christian Association of Utah, we take great pleasure in again saying that we fully appreciate the kindly feelings and sentiments expressed by you, and we reciprocate the same and assure you that we fully appreciate the work of moral uplift of the youth of our city in which you are so zealously engaged."

"As we have already told you, our own financial condition is strained because of the unusual efforts now being put forth by us in the erection of buildings for Church, school and other purposes, including the costly gymnasium, but as an earnest of our good faith, as well as a token of appreciation of the work you and the gentlemen connected with the Y. M. C. A. are doing along educational and moral lines, we enclose our check for $500, and trust you will accept our very best wishes and kindest personal regards. Yours respectfully,
JOSEPH F. SMITH,
JOHN R. WINDER,
ANTHONY H. LUND,
"First Presidency."

Special committee $9,857.78
Boys' committee 137.25

Grand total $150,000.00

WIFE FAILED TO APPEAR.

Although She Secured His Arrest in Idaho, She Was Not in Court.

When John A. Peterson, aged, gray-haired citizen of Salt Lake for more than 40 years, appeared in Judge Bowman's court this morning, it was found that his wife was not ready to prosecute the charge which she had made against him and which had been the cause of his being brought back from Montpelier, Ida., in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Emery.

Peterson, a kindly, upright, staid-looking old man, is the father of minor children, and is charged by his wife with having failed to support or provide for them. Whether or not the charge is true, the fact that he has been gone into because of the plea of not guilty entered by the defendant, yet the few simple statements made by Peterson, the fact that neither he nor her witnesses were present and the views of the prosecution itself favored Mr. Peterson to the extent that although Asst. County Atty. Bowman suggested that the bond might be fixed at $200, the defendant was released on his own recognizance until his hearing set for June 22.

Short as it was, the case had its peculiar features this morning. Peterson who is aged about 65 years is an itinerant tailor, traveling about Utah and Idaho, doing the real business of teaching tailoring. He was arrested at Montpelier, Ida., last week and brought back to Salt Lake on complaint filed by his wife charging him with failure to support his five minor children, the oldest of whom is 16 years. This morning Asst. County Atty. Bowman, after Peterson had been arraigned and pleaded not guilty, informed the court that Mr. Peterson had shown him a list of figures that, if true, proved that Peterson had not heretofore failed to support his children. It was more than amply provided for his family. It was also suggested to the court by Mr. Bowman that the $200 bond which Peterson had been at least 41 years, and that he owns a home here which is occupied by his family. In performance of his duty, Asst. County Atty. Bowman asked a bond of $200 but when Judge Bowman after learning that the earliest date for hearing would be June 22 and stating that if the defendant's story was true he would not like to confine him to jail in default of bond for that length of time, the prosecutor made no objection to Peterson being released on his own recognizance.

BUSINESS AND REALTY

Today's local bank clearings amounted to $1,525,120.83, as compared with $523,345.74 for the corresponding day of last year.

Four building permits were issued this morning calling for $10,500.

Although the contract for the erection of the $100,000 addition to Z. C. M. I. has not been signed by the company, it is known that the contracting firm making the lowest bid is A. & J. McDonald.

DEATH OF JUANITA COLLETT.

Young Utah Girl Kills Herself in Butte.

Word has been received of the suicide of Juanita Collett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Collett, formerly of Smithfield, Utah, at Butte, Montana. She was to have been married to a young man of Butte, and preparations for the wedding had all been made, when in her room, on Sunday, June 13, she committed suicide. The reason Miss Collett stated the event would have to be postponed a day. This announcement was made on her return from shopping with her sister Pearl, in the afternoon, when she seemed to be in excellent spirits. She then went out again presumably to telegraph the expectant bridegroom who was in Helena. She returned and about 9 o'clock in the evening rushed out from her room into the kitchen, stating that she had killed herself and falling heavily on the floor. Medical aid was called, but the young woman expired a few hours later. An investigation revealed a half filled bottle of carbolic acid in her room, and it is thought that when she went out presumably to telegraph to Helena, she purchased the poison. No further explanation for the act is assigned.
