IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC. It is the duty of all persons before starting on a journey to ascertain by what route they can reach their destination with the least trouble, and if there are two or more roads leading to the same point to decide which is the safest and pleasantest to travel.

We take pleasure in stating, that the CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY is the oldest, and several miles the shortest, route between Omaha and Chicago. Within the past two years the road has been put in admirable condition, and almost the entire line has been re-laid with steel rails.

The Depot in Chicago is centrally located, and as their trains arrive there thirty minutes in advance of all other lines, passengers can always be sure of making Eastern connections.

Close connections are made at Chicago with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, Kankakee Line and Pan Handle Routes, for all points EAST and SOUTH-EAST.

Wagon are going to Chicago, or East, you should, by all means, purchase your tickets on the Old Pioneer Route—

The Chicago and North-Western. You will find on all through trains Pullman Sleepers, new and magnificent Day Coaches, and the best Smoking and Second Class Cars now on any road in the United States.

Particular information with maps, time tables, etc., may be had at any of the Through Ticket Offices in the West, or upon personal or written application to J. W. Irons, Ticket Agent, Salt Lake City, A. H. Earl, Ticket Agent at Ogden, or to J. H. Mountain, Western Traveling Agent, Omaha, Neb., or to W. H. Stenpet, General Passenger Agent, Chicago. d24

REAL Paisley shawls at $13.00 worth $25.00 at Blumenthal Bros. d24

Some Throat, Cough, Cold, and similar troubles, if suffered to progress, result in serious pulmonary affections, oftentimes incurable. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" reach directly to the seat of the disease, and give almost instant relief.

REAL hair switches at $2.00 worth $5.00 at Blumenthal Bros. d24

WILLS.—I am prepared to make out Wills in a legal manner, in copper-plate style, and on very reasonable terms, at George A. Smith's residence, joining Historical Society's Office. A. PRATT.

EVENING NEWS. Monday, December 20, 1875.

Local and Other Matters.

THEMOMETER 30 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p.m. to-day. Cloudy.

Utah Evening Mail is the name of a new daily, published in this city.

The U. S. vs. George Reynolds.—The passing of judgment on the defendant in this case was, this morning, deferred by the court for the present.

IA Change.—Last week was the foggy week, and rather chilly. Yesterday the fog lifted a little, and this morning there were two or three inches of snow.

Christmas Eve Ball.—Before us is an invitation to a Christmas Eve ball, at the 16th District school house, on Friday evening. Committee—Theo. McKean, Jr., Henry Heyward and William G. Robson.

In Minnesota.—Elder B. P. Wolfenstein writes from Ianti, Minnesota, that he is holding a great many meetings and preaching to the people in that locality, and desires to state, for the benefit of his friends that he is in excellent health.

The Tennessee Jubilee Singers will give the first of four performances at the Theatre this evening, and on Thursday a matinee at 1.30 p.m., when they can be heard in their popular slave cabin concert and "De Camp Meeting Down in de Wilderness."

Theatre.—The performance by the Salt Lake Dramatic Amateurs, at the Theatre on Saturday evening, was a very creditable effort, and is considered highly promising for the young aspirants for histrionic honors.

The Jubilee singers are there tonight.

Personal.—To-day we were called upon by Mr. D. W. Pratt, who has come to this City as the representative of the McCormick Reaper Company. The people who enter into business relations with Mr. P. will find him a very pleasant gentleman.

Departed.—It will be seen by an obituary in another column that Elder William Ashman, Counselor to Bishop Adam Spiers, of the 10th Ward, departed this life yesterday morning. This will be undoubtedly intelligence to the numerous friends of Bro. Ashman, who held him in much esteem, as an unostentatious and amiable gentleman. He was for a number of years, until recently, employed in Z. C. M. I., in the shoe department.

Belligerent.—On Saturday a man named Adams visited the store of Louis Reggel to make some purchases, when, the customer and proprietor disagreeing on some point, Adams went out and called upon Mr. Reggel to follow and fight. The latter followed, but was not fighting inclined, when his opponent used some disparaging epithets towards him. Mr. Reggel's son took the matter up on the part of his father, when Adams knocked him down, and seconded that motion by knocking the father, Mr. Reggel, down also. The pugilistic Adams was arrested, and this morning Justice Poyer assessed a fine of $10 against him for each of the knocks down.

A Veteran Gone.—Yesterday Father John Snyder, of the 17th Ward, a well known and much respected member of this community, appeared to be in his usual health during the fore part of the day, and ate his dinner as usual about noon. At two o'clock he was seized with a sudden illness, which terminated fatally in about two hours, he expiring about four in the afternoon. He attended his work on the Davis, Howe & Co. building, up till Saturday night.

Deceased was a veteran in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, having been connected with it in the days of the Prophet Joseph Smith and ever since. He was a man much respected, being true to his convictions of right. He was born in the year 1800, and consequently was about 75 years old.

The funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. to-morrow (Tuesday), at late residence of deceased.

Demand the Money.—On Saturday night two miners purchased a couple of tickets of admission to one of the circles of the Theatre, and after going there and sitting a while they got a couple of checks from the doorman, which one of the two took to the ticket office and demanded that the money be immediately returned to him. Mr. Campbell, the ticket seller, said if the party would take the checks to the doorman, get the tickets from him and bring them along, the money would be forthcoming.

The belligerent miner then got on his high horse and considerably, and put his hand behind him as if to draw a pistol for the purpose of performing Mr. Campbell's physical, and making several other insults of the office fell slightly uncomfortable. Manager Harris, who happened to be there at the time, told Mr. Campbell not to allow himself to be shot for a dollar, and the money was given to the unreasonable miner, who was subsequently arrested for an assault on Mr. Campbell, and this morning Justice Poyer fined him $15.

Down on Potatoes.—It is acknowledged, we believe, that the potatoes raised in Utah cannot be excelled in the world, and much has been said in their favor. Now hear what Mrs. Adolph Jane has to say about potatoes on general principles, as expressed by that lady the first of a proposed course of three lectures at College Hall, Cincinnati, a short time since.

"Her subject was 'The Potatoe: Its History and Influence upon Civilization.' After giving a brief account of the discovery of the potato and the history of its introduction in different countries, she spoke of its influence on the character of the people where it is used, almost exclusively for food. For instance, in Ireland, where it is the chief article of food, she said the people are disposed to be lazy and of a spirit ill-calculated to shake off the slavery resting on them. It might be asked: Why didn't they emigrate? but they hadn't the courage to emigrate. The potato was the cheap food which could be raised in abundance there, and yet the Irishman earned only cheap wages and proved himself to be worthy only of such. Temperance people and societies, the lecturer said, were saying much and trying hard to abolish the use of strong drink, but they would accomplish more by introducing more nourishing food among the people most addicted to drunkenness. Whiskey and potatoes were necessary twin evils so long as there was nothing provided as food to satisfy an appetite for stimulant. People may fasten themselves as cattle and only as cattle on potatoes, though they are very good food if mixed with meat and eggs. It was a mistake to suppose that, while there might be produced greater bulk, more nourishment in the way of potatoes than of corn, could be raised from the same space of land. Some physicians had stated that scrofula was produced by a steady diet of potatoes, and this disease appeared to certain countries after the introduction of potatoes. The lecture was illustrated with drawings.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Patrons of Husbandry. CLYDE, N. Y., December 19, 1875.

Editor Deseret News:

Having an opportunity of informing myself somewhat concerning the order of the Patrons of Husbandry, perhaps a communication to the NEWS on the subject might be of interest to its readers.

The tendencies of the age are toward aggregations of power for protecting the interests of those concerned, and often to further the interests by aggressions on the defenseless.

Civilized society is rapidly becoming a system of organized antagonisms for the accomplishment of important issues. History furnishes no parallel for its present condition, final results must remain matters of conjecture only so far as inspiration opens up the future.

The Granges appear to have originated in the efforts of a few men of broad and liberal views to harmonize the feelings of North and South by organizing the tillers of the soil for the furtherance of their mutual interests.

These men met in Washington, D. C., on the 4th of December, 1867, and formed the nucleus of the present national organization. There are now thirty-five state and territorial organizations, 24,390 subordinate granges, with a paying membership of 785,333 persons, within the limits of the United States. During the current year the business of the National Grange has been removed to Louisville, Ky., as more central and convenient.

It is emphatically a class organization, and doubtless takes the lead of modern institutions, having for their object a combination of financial and social interests, in rapidity of growth and strength of material.

As to the objects of the organization I would prefer to let it speak for itself. The following extracts from the "Declaration of Purpose of the National Grange" summarize their leading principles: "To develop a higher manhood and a more united people, to enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes, and strengthen our attachments to our country, to foster mutual understanding and co-operation. To reduce our expenses, both individual and corporate. To buy less and produce more, in order to make our farms self-sustaining."

To systematize our work, and calculate intelligently on probabilities. To discountenance the credit system, the mortgage system, the fashion system, and every other system tending to profligacy and bankruptcy.

We desire to bring producers and consumers, farmers and manufacturers into the most direct and friendly relations possible. Hence we must dispense with a surplus of middle men, not that we are unfriendly to them but we do not need them. We are not the enemies of capital and labor, but of the monopolies. We long to see the antagonisms between capital and labor removed by common consent, and by an enlightened state-manship.

"We are opposed to excessive salaries, high rates of interest, and exorbitant prices for the necessities of life. We emphatically and sincerely assert the oft-repeated truth taught in our organic law, that the Grange, National, State, or Local, shall not be a political or party organization. No Grange, if true to its obligations, can discuss political or religious questions, nor call political conventions, nor nominate candidates, nor even discuss their merits in its meetings."

The office should seek the man and not the man the office.

There is a general effort to confine membership to farmers, horticulturists, and stock raisers, or those who have a direct interest in the soil. They evidently mean business. The organization is rapidly increasing in numbers and in concentration of effort for the protection of their common interests.

They pay cash for what they buy, unless where a direct interchange of commodities is convenient. They endeavor to deal directly with manufacturers in wholesale quantities and at wholesale prices.

The Granges manifestly comprise a large proportion of the conservative element of the country, who have a direct interest in the permanent improvement of the soil, the stability of its institutions, and are extending the social intercourse of the tillers of the soil and teaching them to think and act together.

If they can keep themselves free from a spirit of speculation and from political intrigues, they will doubtless accomplish much good for themselves and the country.

Class combinations must eventually lead to a combination of classes. These are but steps in the future progress of mankind. It makes this progress, there will doubtless be many revolutions, some gradual and quiet, others sudden and violent to purify the social elements and fit them for improved conditions.
