

Resolved, That with deep and heartfelt sympathy for the afflicted wife, parents, brothers and sisters, we express our earnest hope that even so great a bereavement may be overruled for the highest good, that they with him may have a glorious resurrection with the just.

Respectfully,

JOHN M. DUNNING.

CANNONVILLE, Garfield county, Utah.

Inter-Mountain Mining Review: Utah's new woman is not quite so new as many people would have us believe. She dates back some thirty odd years on the records of Recorder Quinn of the West Mountain district. The following is a copy of a notice of location recorded April 12, 1864, and the locators, a majority of whom were wives of the officers then stationed at Fort Douglas, declared their intention to go mining without assistance from the lords of creation:

NOTICE—WOMAN'S LODE.

We the undersigned "strong-minded women," do hereby determine and make manifest our intention and right to take up "feet," or anything else, in our own names, and to work the same, independent of any other man. We do, therefore, take up and claim in our own right (200) two hundred feet each and (200) two hundred feet for discovery on this "Woman's lode," commencing at this notice, and running in a northeast 7 deg. direction (1,000) one thousand feet, and in a southwest 7 deg. direction from the same (1,000) one thousand feet, with all its dips, spurs and angles and formations, and whatever other rights and privileges the laws or guns of this district give to lodes so taken up.

Names.	Feet.
Mrs. Gen. P. Edward Connor.....	200
Mrs. Col. R. Pollock.....	200
Mrs. Col. W. Jones.....	200
Mrs. Capt. Ketcham.....	200
Mrs. Capt. Ewing.....	200
Mrs. Capt. Hempstead.....	200
Mrs. B. Kirkpatrick.....	200
Mrs. Nevitt.....	200
Mrs. E. W. Farnham.....	200
Mrs. S. B. Kirby.....	200

Location, April 12, 1864.

JAMES S. WARREN,
Deputy Recorder.

Mrs. Emily S. Richards, wife of Hon. F. S. Richards, returned home from Washington Monday afternoon whither she went on January 19th last to attend the twenty-eighth annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association which began on January 23rd and continued up to and including the 28th.

Utah had five delegates in this convention which was a most notable and interesting gathering. They were Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Boyer, (both of whom had gone to the capital for the purpose), Mrs. F. J. Cannon, Mrs. C. E. Allen and Mrs. Mary E. Gilmer. All the states of the Union were represented, and during the whole of the proceedings Utah and her work in the great cause of equal suffrage received marked attention. A flag presented to Miss Anthony by the Wyoming delegation contained three stars representing that state, Colorado and Utah as having conferred upon woman the rights of equal suffrage.

At a meeting specially set apart for commemorating the work in Utah, Miss Anthony delivered an eloquent speech of welcome. Responses were made by Senator Cannon, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Boyer and Mrs. Richards. Mrs. Richards made a very tellious and telling speech. That of Mrs. Richards will probably appear in the News at a later date. Of all the sessions the one devoted to Utah was most largely attended, the hall being filled to overflowing.

A changed feeling towards Utah women as compared with that shown to them at a similar meeting in 1888 was very observable. At that time it was extremely difficult to secure recognition. On this occasion every courtesy possible was extended. Before the convention adjourned Miss Anthony piloted a delegation of women to the judiciary committee rooms of the House of Representatives while Miss Shaw headed a similar delegation before the Senate judiciary committee where arguments in favor of equal suffrage were made. Mrs. Richards was one of the speakers before the House committee. A reception was tendered to the leaders of the cause by Mrs. Cleveland just before the departure of the delegates for their homes.

NEWS NOTES.

The steamer Topeka, which sailed on Sunday from Tacoma, Wash., took north nearly 100 prospectors bound for the Yukon gold fields. It is estimated that fully 200 men will start from Tacoma for the Yukon this spring. Several parties of miners are building small schooners to go north in. These expect to do some trading with the Indians.

H. B. Holt, a resident of Pasadena, Cal., was struck by a Santa Fe train Sunday afternoon and received injuries which resulted in his death a few hours later. Holt, who was absorbed in watching a passing Terminal train, paid no attention to the warning whistle of the Santa Fe train, which was rounding a curve. The engine threw him several feet in the air. He struck on his head and fractured the skull.

C. E. Vangoer, a locomotive engineer, died in the Receiving hospital in Sacramento Sunday evening supposedly from an overdose of opium. About 4 o'clock word was received at the police station that a man was lying on the bank of China slough, between the railroad depot and Chinatown, and the patrol wagon was sent to bring him in. He was totally unconscious, and although four physicians were in attendance, nothing could be done for him.

Twenty-five men are now engaged in the search for Mrs. A. B. Cady, the wife of a Chicago lawyer, who mysteriously disappeared Friday at Tacoma. Not a clew has been obtained so far. She drove to Friday from the residence of her father, in South Tacoma, tied her horse in the center of the business part of the city, and since that time has dropped out of sight. She was suffering from nervous prostration, and came here two months ago for her health. She often expressed sorrow that she caused the family so much trouble.

St. John, Kansas, News: The members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, assisted by quite a number of their friends, had a carpet rag sewing in their church Tuesday of last week. They intend to carpet the aisles and platform. Among the conspicuous figures there was Hon. F. W. Moseley with his little work box. The Elders, assisted by members and a few outsiders, gave an impromptu entertainment, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and recitations. All who were present report an enjoyable time.

As the result of an old grudge and too much liquor, Chris Carlson, a sailor, lies in a critical condition at his home in San Pedro, with six knife wounds in various parts of his body, which were inflicted by Charles Williams, who is also a sailor. The affray occurred Saturday evening, a short distance from the boarding house where both men are living. Both men had been drinking freely, and when they met on the street hot words ensued. The quarrel ended by Williams drawing a long-bladed pocket-knife and stabbing Carlson six times. A cut between the shoulder blades, which penetrated the lungs, will probably prove fatal.

The little town of Palermo, Cal., is much wrought up by the development last Thursday night of Mrs. Ada Snyder and Fred C. Sevy. The latter was the foreman on E. C. Potter's fruit ranch. About three months ago he hired Mr. Snyder and his wife to work on the place, Snyder to do the outside work and Mrs. Snyder to cook and keep house. Snyder discovered the criminal intimacy, and the couple left, fearing his vengeance. Sevy is a young man about 25 years of age, good looking, dark hair and eyes. He has been superintendent of the Sunday school, president of the Christian Endeavor society, and led the weekly prayer meeting.

A Juneau, Alaska, paper in its last issue received here reprints a letter from M. J. Fabey, of New Haven, Conn., who proposes to lay a telegraphic cable line to Juneau. Fabey's letter to the paper states his proposition thus: "The growth of population, the extension of mining and other industries, and the chance of trouble with Great Britain over boundary questions make it imperative that Alaska, and especially the metropolis of it, Juneau, should have telegraphic communication with the rest of the Union. I propose, if the people of Alaska subscribe $125,000, to lay a cable to Juneau by July 4th next. This sum is about one-quarter or less of the cost."

ATOHISON, Kan., Feb. 2.—A few weeks ago a story was published that the owners of gold mines at Cripple Creek had offered gold bullion in return for silver dollars, but that the government had declined the offer.

A prominent Atchison Democrat wrote Secretary Carlisle some time ago and received the following reply:

"There is not a word of truth in the statement that the owners of gold mines at Cripple Creek or any other place have offered to give the government gold bullion in exchange for silver dollars, or for any other kind of currency."
