BIG REALTY DEALS.

Dry Goods and Clothing Stores Suffer From Storms-With the Shoe And Leather Dealers.

The local business situation for the week just closing has been given a temporary set back by the stormy and cold weather which reached a climax yesterday morning, in the descent of the marcury to 15 degrees above zero. But with the advent of more equitable weather, more satisfactory conditions are confidently expected.

The local money market is firm and healthful, with business slowly, but steadily progressing, including deposits. There is, with the approach of spring, a growing demand for money, largely for purposes of investment which indicates that people have faith in the town nd state and see a way open to makand state and see that the second state and see that the second see that the see

GOOD REALITY BUSINESS.

The real estate market has assumed more lively phase. The stormy week been a number of sizeable transactions, and transfers that were made during the winter, but for business reasons the winter, but for husiness reasons not recorded, are now being entered on the books. One of these was the sale of F. D. Cliff to Aaron Keyser of $15,000 worth of property on Fourth South street near Main; and another was that of the Metropolitan hotel corner, sold last December, from Judga Hallett to A. E. Pomeroy of Los Angeles for $106,-000. A third was the sale of $25,000 worth of property at West Temple and Market streets, made some little time

Real estate men and real estate own-ers often find it to their advantage to prevent sales being known for some little time after the actual transfer, and they are therefore kept from the public and held back from record until such times as suits the parties interest-ed. Dealers all speak hopefully of the immediate future, and at their weekly meetings and luncheous the talk, aim and purpose is to use every means within reach to advertise the town from business standpoint; and if they have not the means, to get means anyhow. It goes without saying that Salt Lake has as lively and enterprising a lot of real estate dealers as any town in the ountry Just as soon as more pleasant weather comes, and the ground dries up, they will be out and doing, and den't propose to be outdone by any-

FEBRUARY SNOWFALL.

Little Melting During Month and Much Accumulation in Mountains.

The February enowfall bulletin for February last was issued last evening by the local weather office, and reads

"Excepting over the eastern portion of the state where locally little or no precipitation occurred, the amount of snowfall throughout the section during the month was decidedly above average, particularly over the northern counties. During the forepart of the month dry and cold weather prevailed, with, at times, an almost entire absence of air movement. There was in consequence little melting, and evap-oration was at a minimum, factors that were of great importance in conserving the supply of snow already in the mountains and canyons. This snow had acquired the solidity of ice through the gradual settling caused by its c in weight, and served as a splen-did foundation for the frequent snows that came subsequently with the marked change to stormy conditions that began about the beginning of the second decade. During this period, which continued during the remainder of the month, storms were frequent and sometimes severe, accompanied in many cases by hgh winds that drifted the know considerably. Owing to the higher temperatures that obtained dur-ing the latter part of the month the snow was generally very moist, inter-spersed at times with rain and sleet. The rain, while assisting considerably in the packing process, also materially aided the melting of the snow, which, in consequence, rapidly disappeared from the fields in the lower valleys. A considerable flow-off was, however, pre-vented by the favorable condition of the soli, which was free from frost and readily absorbed the moisture."

A certain Pittsburg millionaire visited Philadelphia not long ago, and his business leading him to the splendid Academy of the Natural Sciences, he found himself walking in and out among the cases of stuffed birds. Most old people are great sufferers in Winter. They IN WINTER are seldom free from pains or ailments of some description, because they are not as able to withstand the severity of the climate, with its damp, changing

ANOTHER CELEBRATION.

If the franchise is passed there will be no further delay in the matter, so far as the lighting service is concerned. Yesterday afternoon, when the com-pany decided upon going ahead with the work, President O. H. Hewlett of the Manufacturers and Merchants' as-sociation learned of it, and telephoned at once to Sandy where the directors of the new Business Men's association were holding their first meeting. They received the news with a great amount of joy, and stated that when the car line is completed into the town, it will be the occasion of another big celebration in which the visiting Salt Lake boosters will not have to charter special train, but will receive a we come fully as marked as that given them Monday night. "This new Manufacturers and Mer-chants' association brought their wants to definite shape, and immediately after the meeting the company planed to put in power and light through Sandy as soon as the fran-chises were secured to place the poles through the streets. Our franchises now permit us to light the Salt Lake county highway from this city to sandy, so that our approach to the town is assured without securing further franchises. It will be an easy matter to run the wires over into the town, and in fact to other towns, if they signify a desire for the service."
