They consisted of 22 3/4, 8 3/4 and 6 1/4 inch, and were loaded at once with goods for Walker Bros', Butte, Montana. Not only does this sterling article beautify the teeth and prevent their decomposition, it renders the gums healthy and perfects the breath.

"A Woman and Her Child." A singular instance of superstitious belief came to light not long since, which is thus related: Going into a neighbor's house, one day last week, I found one of the children suffering from a severe cough, and expressed my opinion that it was a case in which medical assistance should be obtained. The mother of the boy agreed that it was very bad, but said that before calling in a doctor she intended to try a cure with her own hands. On being pressed to communicate the prescription, she gravely informed me that the charm consisted in HALL'S HONEY & HONEYED SOAP, and that it could be obtained of all the druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. Great saving by purchasing large size. Depot, Chilton's, 7 1/2 Sixth Avenue, New York City.

THE WORLD'S CHOICE

Compulsory evidence representing the civilizing progress of the world, applied for the knowledge of the people of Salt Lake, is now on hand. It is a better representation of the world's choice than any other. It is a better representation of the world's choice than any other. It is a better representation of the world's choice than any other.

ASK THOSE WHO KNOW. Ask your physician, ask your friends, ask your neighbors, ask those who know. It is a better representation of the world's choice than any other. It is a better representation of the world's choice than any other. It is a better representation of the world's choice than any other.

DON'T FORGET IT. If you are troubled with nervousness, are disheartened, tired of life, fear death or feel out of sorts as the saying is, you may safely conclude that you have the Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint.

The liver is very apt to become torpid. This is the case of the year, as poisons arising from stagnant water or decaying vegetation are more numerous and are through initial taken into the blood. Unless the liver is strong and active, and furnished a supply of fresh and pure blood to drive out the impurities, the above mentioned symptoms surely follow, and if not heeded, end in more terrible diseases and death. White's Great Liver Pile is different from any medicine ever compounded. Its cures are truly wonderful. Try it. Price twenty-five cents and seventy-five cents.

EVENING NEWS.

Monday, October 24, 1878.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Thermometer.—To-day, 1 o'clock p.m., the thermometer noted 61 degrees F. in the shade. Cloudy.

Going East.—Mr. James Dwyer, our enterprising bookseller, intends going east to-morrow morning for the purpose of buying his stock of goods for Christmas and New Year. He will visit the principal cities of the interior and the Atlantic Coast, and make his selections of goods in person.

Dreary.—The sky is cloudy, the air chilly, and a general dreariness predicts the close of the season. The autumn leaves cover every sidewalk and float on the bosom of every stream. Young folks should make a note of this last item. It is cheaper than going up the canyon among the poison ivy.

New Mail Route.—A new postal service has been ordered by the Post Office Department, on the route from Fillmore, via Antelope Valley and Riverside, to Frisco, Utah Territory. The distance over the road is 72 miles each way, and the mail is to be carried on the round trip, three times a week.

Tabernacle Services.—On account of the threatening aspect of the weather, there was but a moderate attendance at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon. Counselor D. H. Wells occupied the time in an interesting discourse on the early history of the Church and the principles and ordinances of the gospel.

Police Court.—James Watson, the reliable, charged with drunkenness and vagrancy, was fined $30. Al Workman, for being drunk and profane was fined $3. George Allen, on the charge of being drunk and disturbing the peace, fined $10. George Allen, for fighting was fined $5.

In Arizona.—Brother E. W. East, for many years a resident and much esteemed member of this community, who left for Arizona, with his family, a few months ago, has arrived in safety at St. Joseph, in that Territory, designing locating permanently in Arizona, as soon as he has ascertained the place of residence best suited to his taste and means.

Condolence.—We deeply sympathize with our friends Dr. O. C. Ormby and his estimable wife, in the loss of their bright boy Willie, aged one year and nine months, who died on the 13th inst. at his parents' residence in Logan, Cache County, after a severe attack of scarlet fever, his sickness lasting three and a half days. This makes the fourth child that Dr. Ormby has lost, by the hand of death, leaving him only one, who was attacked, but has been spared and healed by the power of God. We grieve with those who mourn, and trust that the providence, in whose hands are the results of all, will comfort the bereaved and cause all to be overruled for their ultimate good.

The Colletts Trial.—On Friday afternoon, the defense recalled Dr. Benedict. The size of bodies, after they had been submerged in water for ten or twelve months, could not be ascertained except by the most critical examination. To form a correct opinion, the vertebrae and the bones of the thigh and leg would necessarily be measured.

He stated, on cross-examination, that the presence of lime in the water (which would tend to produce petrification) could not possibly so preserve the body that it could be taken out.

Doctors Leach and Pike, for the defense, gave their testimony in corroboration of that given by Dr. Benedict.

The defense then introduced the following witnesses: John Sperry, L. W. Shurtliff, John Draney, Charles Neal, and William Geddes, all of whom testified to an extended acquaintance with William Skeen, the principal witness for the prosecution; and also testified that from their knowledge of his character and his reputation, they could not believe him under oath.

James Pexton (blacksmith), sworn for the defense. Said that he had never at any time made for Timothy Foote a grappling hook, similar to the one described by counsel.

Court adjourned till Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

On Saturday morning the defense offered five witnesses, Henry Goldsmith, Charles Sperry, James Pexton, Matthew Boulger, and Richard Peay, for the purpose of impeaching the testimony of Guy Foote. The men named all testified that they were acquainted with Foote, that he bore a bad reputation among his neighbors, and that they would not believe his sworn statement.

Israel Hoyt said that in the year 1858 there were justices of the peace in Utah county; that one of the justices had his office in Nephi.

Thomas Smith then took the stand. He said that in the spring of 1856, Mr. Collett came to Fort Lemhi, above the forks of the Salmon River; that he (Smith) was there at the time; that he had been away during the summer of 1857, but when he returned to Lemhi on the 27th day of October of that year, he found Collett still there. On the afternoon of the day following, the 28th of October, Collett left for Salt Lake with a company of 10 or 11 persons. The company traveled with ox teams, and their wagons were loaded with salmon fish, provisions and bedding. Had traveled the road in the spring. Judged that considering the weather and the condition of the road, at the time when Collett left, 25 to 32 days would be required for an ox team to make the trip to Salt Lake. Heavy snow storms are experienced in that locality. Travel would therefore necessarily be delayed, as on the mountain tops the cold and snow would be impediments, while in the valleys, the roads would be muddy and broken.

Richard B. Margretis testified that he saw Mr. Collett leave Lemhi, about the 25th or 29th of October, 1857. At that time Collett's reputation was good, so far as he knew.

James Harker, after being sworn, said that Collett made the trip from Lemhi with him and some others. That they left the fort on the 28th of October, and reached Salt Lake the latter end of November, having been on the road from 27 to 31 days. Witnesses had but one yoke of oxen on his wagon, which was loaded with about 1,000 pounds of fish and other articles. The other wagons had similar loads. Snow storms were encountered during the journey; five of the men had their feet frosted in one day. Had to double teams in order to draw the wagons up steep mountains. The distance from Lemhi to Salt Lake was called 400 miles. Collett accompanied them to the centre of Salt Lake City, when they parted. Thought Collett had no team of his own; but had been traveling with one of the wagons.

Drowned.—On Saturday last, word was brought to the police station that the dead body of an old lady had been discovered in a water ditch south of the city; and Officer Alex. But proceeded immediately to the scene. The body was taken up, and an inquest held by Coroner Taylor. The following facts were developed on investigation: The name of the deceased was Jane Rickard. She was 50 years of age; a native of Portsmouth, England. Since the death of her husband, three years ago, she had been subject to fits of despondency, which sometimes were so intense, as to deprive her of proper reason. About a year ago, she took a trip to her old home in England, thinking, by the renewal of old associations, to dispel the melancholy depressing her spirits. She returned with the best company of a neighbor, unimpaired in mind.

On Friday evening last, she left the house of a friend, where she had been visiting, to return to her home in the 2d Ward. She was never afterwards seen alive; and the supposition is that while laboring under a fit of aberration, she wandered away and stumbled, face downward, into the small ditch mentioned, and was drowned. The ditch had a depth of water of only 19 inches, and the clothing of the unfortunate lady was in many places quite dry.

Mrs. Rickard was highly esteemed by all her friends and acquaintances, and the circumstances attending her death will be deeply regretted.

Accident.—Yesterday the Doctors Richards were summoned to attend upon some person accidentally injured. On arriving they found that a little son of Mr. Arthur Cushing, while playing with a giant powder cap, had blown off the end of one finger and thumb blown off. The wounds were dressed and the patient is doing well.

Third District Court.—Proceedings in the District Court on Saturday afternoon, Chief Justice Schaefer presiding:

Ann Coulam et al. vs. John Coulam et al.; order for dismissing appeal vacated.

Admitted to citizenship, John Jones and Robert Wall.

Court adjourned till this morning, at 9:30 o'clock.

This morning, in the case of F. J. Hirth vs. H. B. Clawson; case continued.

Second case, F. J. Hirth vs. H. B. Clawson; case continued.

Isaac Roland vs. J. W. Goldthwaite et al.; passed, to be taken up by argument.

Isaac Roland vs. H. Grey et al.; passed, to be taken up by argument.

James McKnight vs. Hattie McKnight; plaintiff given till October 25th, to file motion to strike out part of answer.
