The valuable team belonging to Spencer Clawson, which strayed from Brighton several weeks ago, was recovered last week. Mr. Clawson's natural course was to advertise the missing animals in the "Semi-Weekly News." A farmer at the lower end of this county found them roaming about the country and he and his wife decided to consult the same paper, so that it did not take long for the horses to find their owners.

Mrs. N. W. Sandhede passed away at St. Mark's hospital yesterday as the immediate result of an operation that was performed on her last Tuesday. She rallied encouragingly from the operation, but complications ensued with the fatal result. A general meeting of citizens will be held in the office of the First ward meeting house next Tuesday night, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the matter of the removal of the Utah Central track from the city, and North South street and along the canal. It is hoped that there will be enough present interested sufficiently in the matter to settle it once and for all. The Colorado and Rio Grande tracks have been agreed to be removed to the tracks for $2,000. The City Council has appropriated $5,000, and citizens have raised $2,000. The problem to be settled now is to raise the balance.

A party of young people, composed of E. Smith of No. 225 south Twelfth street, Miss Smith, the two Misses Olsen and a young man whose name is not known, were the unwilling participants in a runaway yesterday afternoon. They were returning from Parley's canyon, when the horse broke, the horses took fright and broke into a run at the top of their speed. The wagon tongue presently struck a live object in the road, and the entire party was hurled to the ground. Miss Smith leaped from the wagon while the horses were running and sustained a badly sprained ankle. The other members of the party escaped with slight bruises.

MINISTER'S HOUSE ROBBED.
Several Hundred Dollars' Worth of Jewelry Stolen from Rev. G. Bailey.

While Rev. George Bailey of the Westminster Presbyterian church was preaching in his church last evening, some bold thief who apparently understood the situation well, entered Mr. Bailey's residence and helped himself to whatever struck his fancy. He gained entrance to the house through a window, and after lighting a lamp went through the house at his leisure. He secured Mrs. Bailey's purse containing three or four dollars and also some small change from the children's purses. Two gold watches, two plain gold rings and two diamond rings were also stolen. The house was ransacked from top to bottom and when Mr. and Mrs. Bailey returned home the rooms presented the appearance of having been struck by a cyclone. The thief made his departure without leaving his card and the police will undoubtedly be at a loss to locate him.

ANOTHER BURGLARY.

L. B. Rogers' House Entered Early Yesterday Morning.

Early Sunday morning the residence of L. B. Rogers, No. 876 south, West Temple street, was entered by a burglar who secured a $60 watch and a pair of valuable cuff buttons. The thief made considerable noise and aroused the members of the household. He escaped through the window he entered.

HE USED A GUN.

Claus P. Madsen Shoots at Boys Who Make Fun of Him.

About noon yesterday Claus P. Madsen, a carpenter, 65 years of age, who resides at 735 east, Third South street, created a small panic at the corner of C and Fourth streets by firing several shots in the direction of a crowd of boys. Madsen was driving along in a wagon to which was attached a critter that in some ways resembled a horse when a gang of boys began to make fun of the outfit. One of the boys yelled "whoa," and the animal stopped. Madsen became enraged at this and drew a gun from his pocket and fired. The boys thought the gun loaded with blanks and fled. Madsen then learned that the gun was in a condition for business by the whistle of bullets, and they ran down the street with Madsen after them. Madsen shot at the boys as they ran into his rig and drove west. Two of the boys named Shoberidge mounted their wheels and while one followed Madsen the other went to the station and informed the police.

Patrol Driver Cannon soon overhauled Madsen and took him to the station, where he was locked up on the charge that he carried a loaded weapon. Last evening a $50 bond was furnished by A. L. Fekstad and C. G. Madsen.

Madsen says he shot merely to scare the boys who, he said, have abused him on numerous occasions. The boys said they never saw Madsen before in their lives, and that he shot directly at them.

Brinton, by his attorney, H. A. Smith, at once served notice of an appeal and a bond of $100 was furnished, and Brinton was released.

MORMONISM IN BOSTON.

Elder Ephraim Jensen Talks Interestingly of the Work There.

LIBERAL PEOPLE

Most of the Difficulty is Caused by Sensation Hangers and Newspapers—Elder Talmage's Comments.

The services in the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon were presided over by President C. W. Penrose and opened by the choir and congregation singing the hymn commencing, "Praise to the man who communed with Jehovah."

Invocation was offered by Elder James C. Woods.

The services were continued by the choir singing the hymn which begins as follows: "Great God Indulge my humble claim."

Elder Ephraim Jensen, recently returned from a mission to the Eastern States, was the first speaker. He said that he was very glad to again mingle with his friends in his mountain home. Elder Jensen entered the missionary field about two years ago, working in the vicinity of Boston. He determined to travel without purse or scrip. Jensen had instructed his disciples to do. The Lord had given him great strength in this and had sustained him. The speaker was called to labor in Boston, where he found many broad minded men and women. The difficulty, said the speaker, between the Latter-day Saints and the people has largely been brought about by the middle men, who work in the middle of the great bulk of thinking men and women in New England take what fifth-rate preachers, sensation producing men and sensational newspapers spread about. Elder Jensen related his experience in Boston in relation to his being prohibited from preaching on Boston common. There were many people who were put out about it as they believed in free play and giving all an opportunity to be heard. During the ten days that his permit to speak on Boston common was suspended, a great deal of agitation arose. The mayor, however, was very fair, and as soon as he learned that he was under a misapprehension in regard to what the Latter-day Saints were preaching, he renewed the permit. The speaker mentioned a meeting in Fremont temple in which Josiah Strong, the great leader of the Christian Endeavorers, and Eugene Young denounced the Latter-day Saints. The latter while attempting to malign the leaders of the Church was stricken in the pulpit and had to be carried off. His place was taken by a man who had studied Utah and he proceeded to eulogize Utah and her people in the most glowing terms, characterizing Salt Lake as the Eden of the world.

Elder Jensen related the visit of Rev. Nutting, formerly a minister in Salt Lake, to Boston, at which time that churchman, in a public meeting, opened his eyes to the fact that the leaders of the Church were the biggest liars in the world. The speaker showed the weakness of Nutting's position by asking him a few questions at the close of his address. The congregation unanimously voted to give Elder Jensen an opportunity to present his side of the question the following Sunday, but the minister would not permit it. Elder Jensen closed by quoting a few words from Josiah Quincy in the prophet Joseph Smith as one who had exercised more influence over his fellow men than any other American.

The choir sang the anthem, "From Afar, Gracious Lord."

Elder James E. Talmage was the following speaker. He said that when he found it rare nowadays that when it is said to be a miracle of gold, the crowd of agnosticism is becoming more and more in this day. It is a great thing to be able to say, "I believe in God. It is only a bit of truth, it is worth saying."

The Latter-day Saints more than any other people possess earnestness and sincerity. Men do not die for errors; they are not so eager to become martyrs that they give up their lives for a falsehood. The speaker related an interesting incident recently in another life, with a gentleman of high education and culture. The latter had named an Elder on a street in his native city preaching and he stopped to hear him. The man gave utterance to a number of things, but he spoke not so much from the lips as from the heart, and his words appealed not so much to the ears as to the heart, and this man had received an impression that compared his feelings towards the Latter-day Saints.

The speaker said that he had little patience with a man who rejected the measure of truth that had been given to him in mercy, because he could not see everything. He does not know how the flesh of the peach or the ruddy red of the apple has been brought forth by the rays, yet he is willing to plant his trees and eat the fruit that grows upon them. Elder Talmage declared that the thinking men of the world are beginning to pay attention to the Latter-day Saints. We now see in part, and prophecy in part, but we will soon possess a fullness of knowledge when the perfect day has been ushered in. The enemies of this church are engaged in promulgating the Gospel, said the speaker. The ground is being torn up by the blows of falsehood. Thousands are being awakened from their lethargy, and their hearts are being turned to this Church through the efforts of those who are endeavoring to overthrow the work. The speaker closed by earnestly admonishing the people to maintain their unity and their faith.

The choir sang the anthem, "As the Dew from Heaven, Distilling." The solo was sung by Miss Lucile Perron in her well known excellence of voice and style.

Brigham Young was pronounced by Elder Brigham Young.

TRIP UP CITY CREEK.

Mayor and Councilmen Do Not Favor Building a New Reservoir.

On Saturday afternoon Mayor Thompson, City Engineer Kelsey, Chairman Dooley of the board of public works, Superintendent of Waterworks Hines, Commissioner Davis, Canning, Hewlett, Robertson, Whittemore and Tuddenham made a trip up City Creek canyon and viewed the hole in the ground which was referred to by the city in 1892. It was the intention of the city fathers to make out of it a reservoir and the visit of the officials on Saturday was to ascertain whether or not it could now be turned into a combination distributing and storage reservoir at a probable cost of $40,000. City Engineer Kelsey said the excavation would hold between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 gallons of water and the success attending the east bench reservoir gave rise to the suggestion that another one of the same kind would be a good thing for the city to have. An examination of the hole, however, convinced a majority of the officials that it would not be wise to spend money on it for the purpose suggested for more reason than one. The capacity of the excavation is so small as to make it practically unserviceable as a storage reservoir, and it was concluded that the new distributing reservoir was sufficient to meet all needs for the present. Besides, the soil was found to be of such a crumbly and unstable character that the deep construction of a reservoir, no matter how deeply lined with cement, would be unsatisfactory. The prevailing opinion was the money which it would cost to build a reservoir up City Creek could be spent to better advantage by developing the source of the city's water supply, in the dredging of the Jordan river to increase the flow from Utah lake, and in building a pipeline to Big Cottonwood creek to tap the water appropriated to the city by City Engineer Kelsey in behalf of the city.

The officials made an examination of the high line and brick tanks and found them in excellent condition. Superintendent Kelsey said that the putting in of a settling tank at the intake would improve matters considerably. His views were concurred in by the Mayor and Councilmen and as the cost will not be very great it is possible that something will soon be done in the matter.

KNOWN BY MR. SMITH.

Salt Lake Preacher Acquainted With Victims of the Chinese.

The dispatch from China yesterday announcing the murder of Rev. and Mrs. D. H. Clapp, eight other missionaries, and three American children, came as a great shock to the Rev. Joel Smith, pastor of the High M. E. church of this city. Mr. Smith yesterday stated that Dr. Clapp and his wife were intimate friends of his. He stated that they were born within a radius of three miles in Huron county, O. They went to the same school, and when they grew up were eventually appointed at the same time to labor in the mission field in China under the auspices of the American board of missions. On their way through to their appointed fields in the Orient, Rev. Smith stated that they stopped over in Salt Lake for a couple of days, making the Walker House their headquarters. They labored together in China and Japan, taken all in all, Dr. Clapp labored in the Orient for sixteen years.

In speaking in regard to the sad affair, Rev. Smith stated yesterday that the murdered missionary was generally well known and well respected in the Orient, and was an earnest and conscientious worker.

SALE OF THE WATER BONDS.

A New Set of Bids to be Submitted to the Council Tomorrow.

BETTER PRICES WANTED.

Salt Lake Municipal Paper Should Bring a Good Premium on Any of the Financial Markets.

A good many citizens and taxpayers are wondering just when the two hundred and fifty thousand dollar issue of water improvement bonds will be disposed of. The probability is that a definite understanding will be reached at the meeting of the city council to be held tomorrow night. Meanwhile it is hoped that a better figure will be offered than has yet been bid for the bonds. This, yet, it is believed, will be realized. Already the New York bond investment concern of Shepard & Co., represented by O'Meara Bros., has forced the price substantially upward and the prospects are that still higher bids will be forthcoming. Certain it is that Salt Lake City bonds are a good investment and should command a good figure on the financial market of any money center of the world. The new bids which are expected will come as the result of the following report from the committee on finance and municipal laws of the mayor associated, as presented to the city council on August last:

"Gentlemen—Your joint committee of finance and municipal laws associated with the mayor, to whom was referred the bids offered for the council for the issue of bonds for water purposes would report that we have met and considered same, and believing that the bids offered were not as large as the city is entitled to receive for said bonds, and that a better price can be secured by calling for bids again, we recommend that the same be rejected, and the recorder be and is hereby instructed to return the certified checks accompanying said bids; and further, that the same committee, and the establishment of the authorized to receive new bids, to be submitted to the next meeting of the council."

FELL DOWN A SHAFT.

Teaneum Pratt Meets Death in Mine at Winter Quarters.

Teaneum Pratt fell down a shaft in No. 4 coal mine at Winter Quarters yesterday afternoon and was instantly killed. It is not known how the unfortunate man happened to fall, but it is supposed that he lost his footing while at work.

Deceased was a son of the late Parley P. Pratt, whose name is inseparably associated with the early settlement of Utah, and the establishment of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The news was a great shock to his many relatives in this city. His brother, Nept Pratt, who is employed in the office of the Improvement Era, and his family, went to Winter Quarters this morning to attend the funeral.

Deceased has been a resident of Emery county for some years, where he has engaged in farming and mining. He once owned Helix townsite, but fortune never smiled upon him for any length of time, and his industry is now left in difficult circumstances.
