

the oath which says that he had resided six months in the territory and thirty days in the precinct, maintained it was absolutely necessary that it should be so. Mr. Cabell was frank enough to admit that he had not resided the required time, and that the oath had been changed to suit his particular circumstances. Will deputy registrar Kessler explain this fraud?

Another man stood in a similar position as Mr. Cabell; his residence in the Territory had not exceeded three months. Still, his name was placed on the registry list by deputy registrar Kessler.

A hackman was asked to convey four personators from the R. G. W. depot to the Fourth Precinct polling place in the afternoon. He refused, as he did not want to have anything to do with the disreputable business. He drove to the polls empty and reported ahead that the "Liberal" toughs might be appropriately received. They were brought up in an express wagon. The People's challengers worked on them. They could give no intelligible account of residence or other qualification. Their votes were not refused, but, seeing the situation, they withdrew, jumped upon a street car and disappeared.

A few minutes before the time for closing the polls two loads of "Liberal" personators were dumped on to the Twentieth Ward square. They were also from the R. G. W. depot. Several persons wearing "Liberal" badges went among them, whispering gently in their ears, giving them, it is presumed, the names of persons they were to patronize. Mr. Patrick warned the transients that if they voted they would be arrested, as they had no right to vote. One of the fellows, who was under the influence of liquor, remarked to one of the "Liberal" whippers—"I'll be d—d if I'll vote for that amount. It isn't enough." Finally the crowd left without voting. At about the same instant Judge Hoge appeared at the door of the building and said: "Gentlemen, the polls are closed."

At poll No. 2 the "Liberal" judges acted much more gentlemanly, though they caused a good deal of unnecessary annoyance. Messrs. Henry Puzey and Charles Sansom were among those challenged for having been polygamists. They offered to take the oath that they were not, but were rejected. Afterwards this decision was reconsidered, and they were allowed to vote. Other similar cases were acted on in the same way. Mr. Sansom, Jr.'s, name was spelled with a final u instead of m, and though he was known to be the proper person, he had to go down to the Utah Commission office, to the deputy registrar, and do considerable more running about before he was finally permitted to cast his ballot.

The proceedings cited at poll No. 1, show the method by which Mr. Williams received two votes more than Mr. Young, thus overturning the will of the majority of the legal voters in the fourth municipal ward with respect to him.

As the face of the returns now shows, there are returned for trustees George D. Pyper, People, and P. L. Williams, "Liberal."

FIFTH MUNICIPAL WARD.

At this district matters were quiet, though a good vote was polled. There was no show of frauds there, probably for the reason that the district is three-fourths "Liberal" and the usual adjuncts of that party were unnecessary. The result was the election of L. U. Colbath and C. E. Mitchener, "Liberals," as trustees.

Those elected yesterday, with Mayor Scott, compose the Board of Education. The political complexion is: The mayor and seven trustees, "Liberals;" three trustees, People.
