To nine parts of this add three parts of boiled oil and one-fifth part of litharge. Continue the heat with stirring until a thorough union of the ingredients is effected. Apply the mixture hot or somewhat cooled, and thinned with a small quantity of banzole or tur-

sand pounds in boring, the problem might practicably be solved at once. It is held that coal exists there because the coal field of Bristol is geologically identical with that of eastern Belgium and Westphalis, from which it is reasoned that a paleozole ridge connected the two districts. Already it has been shown that for 250 miles along the continental end of the line coal exists, for the coal has been actually worked. Traces of it have been found all along the Channel and North Sea President adds a suggestion, that in coast from Ostend to Boulogne.

About 150 miles of the line remain sible duties devolving upon the London, and since Londoners annually pay $25,000,000 for the carriage of their fuel, to say nothing of what they pay for the fuel itself, the proposed boring has a marked economical side.

sible duties devolving upon the commissioners, their compensation should be increased from $3.000 to not less than $5,000 per annum, as this would, in his opinion, secure a higher grade of ability in the persons sons secured, and thereby tend to more refrectually carry out the law. Referred.

It is said that Wm. H. Vanderbil has declared he will do no business nor have regard for the stock mar-ket until after the funeral of his brother. The worst feature of to-day's developments, says the Post, is that it shows how dependent the course of general speculation in the Stock Market still is on certain in-dividuals. The prices a few weeks ago were rammed down below what they should have been by individual influence, and have been raised since largely because a stronger phase of largely because a stronger phase of individuals combined against the former. In neither case were values taken as much into account as they should have been, but it is kazarding little to say values have been more regarded in the recent recovery than they were in the extreme depression witnessed three weeks ago.
