Evil: Wedding Festivities Come Near Tragic Fate.

THREE HUNDRED GUENTS SICK.

The Cause Supposed to Be Food Cooked in Old Copper Boiler.

BOYTON, Mass., 14.—Over 300 persons (the night) participated in the wedding festivities of Henry Folsberg, of Worcester, and Miss Ida Sturgis, daughter of David Sturgis of this city. Fully three hundred were victims of poisoning, caused, it is thought, by eating food that was cooked in two old copper boilers.

There was no intention that anything but good would come of the festivities, which ended at midnight, but when a majority of the guests began to feel ill after the lights were put out, the trouble began to manifest itself.

Dr. David H. Druggan, who keeps a drug store, was called on to attend a woman and a child who were suffering from symptoms of poisoning. This was not the commencement, but up to 10 o'clock a very large number called for treatment.

The cause of the trouble was ascertained in several days' work in the city, every family doctor being called in to give his opinion. It was finally ascertained that the cause of the trouble was the food which was cooked in two old copper boilers.

All the parties from this city are now in a hospital in the city.
