CALL FROM SANTA FE.

Rev. Simpkin, However, Elects to Stay in Salt Lake.

Rev. P. A. Simpkin, pastor of the Phillips Congregational church of this city, has declined a call to the First Presbyterian church at Santa Fe, N. M., where former pastor Rev. W. Hayes Moore, is now pastor of the York street Presbyterian church in Denver. Mr. Simpkin was strongly tempted to return to New Mexico, which he regards as the coming country, but the ties of affection and regard for the Phillips church have become so strong that he can not now break away, and will therefore remain in Salt Lake.

Mr. Simpkin was pastor of the Congregational church at Gallup, N. M., where he was much beloved, and he has made a name for himself among the Christian people in this city. His addresses at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, are said to have more than doubled the attendance at those meetings, and the Phillips church is growing in strength and numbers.

ANOTHER UNHAPPY UNION.

Edith Lillian Mulholland Seeks Divorce From Her Husband in District Court.

Answer to Complaint Expected to be Filed in a Few Days—Married Eleven Years.

Tomorrow will be the eleventh anniversary of the marriage of Thomas A. and Edith Lillian Mulholland, but, according to the plea which the wife has filed for divorce, their path has not been entirely strewn with roses.

Mrs. Mulholland limits her complaint against her husband to the general and stereotyped allegation of "failure to provide for a year last past," but as the lady is understood to be fairly well off, her right, there are probably other reasons which are not to be paraded before the public gaze.

An answer to the complaint may be looked for from the husband before long. Mr. Mulholland is a publisher and collector for the Collier Publishing company, a large eastern concern, and his wife says that he makes from $150 to $200 a month in the book business.

COURT NOTES.

Judge Hall has authorized the county clerk to draw up a bill of sale for a small sum held in trust for the heirs of Nell Dougherty, who reside in Ireland and have proved their claim. If the money had not been claimed within five years it would have escheated to the state school fund.

In the matter of the estate of Adam Rich, deceased, Judge Hall has overruled the petition of the widow for the appointment of Lulu Rich, and appointed Ezra T. Stevenson as asked for by Dr. C. F. Wilcox, who had a doctor's bill against the estate.

Charles D. Levy was on Saturday sentenced to eighteen months in the State prison for housebreaking, of which he was convicted last Wednesday. ENTHUSIASTIC CONVERTS.

There Are Thousands of Them Who Believe as This Woman Does.

Mrs. Ira Knowlton, of Butte, Montana, is a most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as a cure for obstinate stomach trouble. She says: "I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

I was troubled with gas in stomach causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach, sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost rendered spasms of the stomach, but my medicines would not reach it and I would still be a sufferer had I not, in sheer desperation, decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I knew they were an advertised remedy and I didn't believe anything I read about them as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburgh wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her little daughter of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite and I hesitated no longer.

I bought a fifty cent box at my drug store and took two of the large tablets after each meal and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of my family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs."

Mr. E. H. Davis, of Hampton, Va., says: "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic, but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and they cure stomach trouble because they digest the food eaten and give the weak, abused overworked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

James T. Smith for the defendant. The court denied the writ.

Robert C. Bradley is still having trouble over his divorce from his wife, Florence Y. Bradley. It is over the attorney fees due Judge Bowman, amounting to $100, and of guaranteeing a bill of $75 of wages due Bradley by Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company. It was served on October 21, and on November 6, Bradley seemed to be on his way to court, but the court has now entered judgment against the railroad company.

QUIT VISITING.

Some burglar or burglars seem to have a penchant for raiding the home of Mrs. McClain 140 south Third East. Some prowler has appeared at the house several times of late and on last Wednesday succeeded in gaining an entrance and ransacking two rooms. The next night he reappeared, and was met with a revolver fusillade, and has since discontinued his visits. He did not leave his card.

VICTORY, THOUGH GAME WAS A TIE

Struggle Between Salt Lake and Ogden High School Teams.

SCORE, TWELVE TO TWELVE

Ogdenites Made Two Touchdowns on Flukes—Local Eleven Outplayed Them All The Time.

Though it was a tie game, the score being 12 to 12, the Salt Lake High school team out-played the Ogden High school eleven in their struggle Saturday afternoon at Walker's field, and but for a couple of flukes the visitors would have been shut out with no more show for the gate money than the gilded lobsters got in the last series of the baseball contests. The boys from the junction town played a splendid game but the locals went them several better with some to spare. It was a struggle which called for brain, muscle and nerve and every inch of ground was bitterly contested. While Ogden scored twice on flukes pure and simple, the locals had to put up a strong fight to catch up. It was no fault of theirs that the visitors crossed the goal line for it was the result of accidents.

The crowd on hand was large and enthusiastic, both teams having a small army of rooters along the side lines. They created such a unearthly din it was almost impossible at times to hear the signals.

At the west end of the field were about 300 High school girls and boys who cheered their team on with the familiar battle cry:

"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven. All good children go to heaven; When they get there they will tell How the High school played like— One, two, three, four, five, six, seven."

A feature of the event was Prof. A. J. B. The professor was a gentleman to inquire if he was not also the umpire, time keeper and general boss. When the game was about half over he conceived the idea that the reporters on the field were not doing their duty and demanded to examine their notes. When the gentleman was politely informed that it was none of his business what the reporters were doing he insisted that they take themselves off the field. Did they go? Not quite.

The game began at 3:40. Hyde kicking to Scudder who caught the oval on the five-yard line and carried it back ten yards. In two plays Scudder and Keogh advanced the ball eight yards and Lessinger attempted an end run which met with failure.

In the next play Capt. Keogh was injured and was taken from the field. His brother, J. Keogh, took his place. The most sensational play occurred early in the first half with the ball on Ogden's thirty-yard line. Lawrence resolved to try for a drop kick but an Ogden player thoughtfully obstructed the pig skin which rolled towards the Salt Lake goal. As quick as a flash Keogh shot through the line seized the ball and ran down the field with the speed of a frightened fawn. It was a great sight to see him flying over the gridiron with twenty men close on his heels yelling like so many Co-manches. Hyde seemed to be the sprinter of the bunch and closed on Keogh as the latter was within a yard of the dead line. The next moment the pair of them were doing a "stunt" with dirt that would have made an Orpheum tumbler turn green with envy. The locals made a desperate fight to hold their opponents on downs but on the third assault the Ogdenites succeeded in forcing the men over the line for the first touch down. Scudder kicked goal.

In the kick-off Ogden carried the ball to the twenty-five yard line, but lost it on downs. The locals made rapid formations and soon the ball got rolling towards their opponents' goal at a lively rate, and Thomas and Lawrence finally broke through left tackle for a touch down. Hyde kicked goal, which made the score 6 to 0.

In the beginning of the second half, Scudder tried for a drop kick. The ball fell into Lawrence's arms. He started to run, but did not go far before he was hauled to the ground. Parley made a dash for the oval seized it and rolled over the goal line. Scudder kicked goal, giving the visitors six points to the lead.

From now on until the end of the struggle the locals put up the fight of their lives, the team working as a well regulated machine slowly but surely they bucked their way yard by yard down the field. Two yards from Ogden's goal the visitors made a determined dash and nearly decided the game for downs. In the last and final scrimmage little Thomas was chucked over the struggling mass of humanity and when the smoke cleared away it was found he had made the touch down by a narrow margin. Hyde kicked goal, which tied the game.

Following was the line-up and officials:

Salt Lake H. S.	Ogden H. S.

PEOPLE WHO ARE PASSING

C. W. Aldrich, the Clear Lake editor, stopping at the White House for the present, said today, that his assistant in the promotion of immigration to Utah, C. L. Shelley, is working up a big immigration from Minnesota. In fact, he is establishing local sub-agencies to facilitate business. The next party of immigrants will be here Dec. 1.

Mr. Aldrich says the Clear Lake country is not playing second violin to any other part of the state in the matter of attracting immigrants; also, that the emigrant lake will be refilled with water this winter and there will be no more trouble with land holders up the stream diverting the water again.

J. E. Cossgriff, the well known Rawlins merchant, is a guest at the Kenyon. He says that while the conditions in that part of the state are good, they are not up to last year's record. This is due to the prices of wool and mutton being higher last fall than they are now, and it is upon these two staples that the wool or woe of the cow tributary to Rawlins depends. However, there are many shipments of muttons being made to the eastern market.

"A smelter has been built in the Grand Encampment country," said Mr. Cossgriff. "The first in the state I am told, and there is a great deal of matte being hauled to the railroad at Fort Steele, 65 miles, for shipment. Our telephone connections are now very complete east, west and south, and we find them a great convenience."

"The recent earthquakes" strike in San Francisco, has not really hurt the city," said Martin Schenck at the Kenyon yesterday. "Business there is heavier today than it has ever been before, and the commercial outlook is booming."

C. B. Hurst, treasurer of the Home Investment & Savings company of Boise, was at the Kenyon yesterday, leaving today for Chicago to take charge of the office there of the company.

Suplt. James Long, of Gold Mountain, is responsible for the story that when the recent earthquake struck Monroe, four poker players dropped on their knees and prayed fervently for help. However, they resumed the game later.

Major J. T. Van Orsdale of the Seventh United States Infantry is a guest at the Knutsford from San Francisco, east bound, on furlough. The major recently came from Fort Davies at Nome, where he was stationed for a year. "It is very tiresome up there during the long winter," said the major today, "and soldiers ought not to be kept in Alaska more than one year. It is all right for men who have interests there to remain longer, but soldiers who have nothing to do ought not to be kept in the territory over twelve months. It was three months after election before we knew who was elected President, as between Nov. 11 and February we were cut off by the ice from communication with the states. Alaska is barely scratched, and the amount of riches to be yet discovered are untold, inconceivable."

The major said Capt. Wright of his regiment, and well known in Salt Lake, where are four companies of the seventh infantry. Four companies were in Alaska, and the other four companies are in the Philippines.

Chas. J. Costello, the veteran cigar salesman, is at the Kenyon from Tampa. He says the thirteen labor agitators who stirred up the big strike there and were kidnapped, were carried off by a mob of men who have a vigilance committee, who turned them loose there and told them to get a large sized hunch on themselves. They "got," but now threaten to show up at Key West and in view of their possible appearance, a vigilance committee there is preparing to give them a reception that will not savor much of those two warm hearted gentlemen, Thomas and Jeremiah.

Dr. Charles L. Olsen of Brigham City is in town. He reports that the all absorbing topic is the east canal at the present time in Boxelder county. If the canal scheme goes through, he predicts that Brigham City will double its population within a few years.

BOARD OF PARDONS.

Frank Ewing Set Free—Goldie Brown's Sentence Commuted.

Frank Ewing was pardoned by the state board of pardons on Saturday. Ewing was convicted of three separate charges of assault at Murray last July and sentenced to nine months in the county jail. Attorney Gustin stated to the board that the man was so intoxicated at the time that he was incapable of doing any very serious bodily harm to any one.

A rehearing was granted to William Rayner, convicted on March 23, 1900, of polygamy and sentenced to two and a half years in the penitentiary. His former application for a pardon was denied.

Golden C. Brown, who was doing time for burglary, escaped, broke into a house in Salt Lake and escaped to Evanston, Wyo., with John Gray, a habitual criminal whose time was just out, where both were retaken, was also allowed a commutation of sentence, so that his time will expire on Sept. 1, 1902, instead of Oct. 23, 1903.
