FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 17.—Many petitions were presented from railroad companies against a reduction of duty on steel rails.

The bill providing for the celebrating of the hundredth anniversary of the recognition of American Independence by a national exhibition at New York in 1883, was placed on the calendar.

Salisbury presented a minority report of the committee on elections in the Ingalls' case. The report finds bribery and corruption was employed to secure Ingalls' election, but there was no evidence that Ingalls authorized such improper acts or that they secured his election.

Cameron, of Wisconsin, presented a minority report signed by Hoar, Logan and himself, concurring in that part of the report which exonerates Ingalls, but expressing the opinion that when the report states corruption was employed, it should in justice state what was proved, that such means were employed in opposition to his election; report ordered printed.

Randolph introduced the following amendment to the bill for the relief of Fitzjohn Porter: Strike out all after enacting clause and insert—that the President is hereby authorized to nominate, and by and with the advice of the Senate to appoint Fitzjohn Porter, Colonel of infantry in the army of the United States, his commission to bear date January, 1863, with the pay and emoluments of that rank from that date till he shall be relieved according to law or as hereafter provided for.

SEC. 2. That at any time after granting such commission it shall be lawful for the President to place said Porter on the retired list of the army on the pay of a retired colonel of infantry; ordered printed and tabled subject to Randolph's call.

Logan submitted the following:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be authorized to equip and furnish a vessel for the purpose of conveying to Ireland such contributions offered and other supplies as are furnished in the United States for the relief of the suffering in Ireland.

Gordon gave notice that to-morrow he would move that the doors be closed and that the Senate proceed to consider the motion of Davis to reconsider the vote to appoint a special committee on inter-oceanic canal.

Saulsbury stated that during the recent investigations held before the committee on privileges and elections, a question arose as to what extent telegrams could properly be used in evidence and the committee had instructed him to report the following:

Resolved, That telegraphic messages and copies of records of the same in the possession of telegraph companies, their officers or servants, are not privileged by law from production and examination on proper process before a committee authorized to send for persons and papers.

Resolved, That an order for the production of such documents ought to be so regulated by sound discretion as to protect the privacy of communications not related to the matter under investigation, especially that the authority making such order ought first to be satisfied that the message sought is, if obtained, likely to be material to the pending investigation, and the order ought as far as practicable, to describe with reasonable certainty the particular message or messages required. Ordered printed and laid on the table.

By Hoar—I understand these are reported as resolutions which have governed the action of the committee for the information of the Senate and the public and not for adoption by the Senate.

The bill authorizing the Secretary of the Interior and Secretary of the Treasury to employ additional clerks to facilitate the transaction of pensions and other business was taken up.

Beck said the commissioner of pensions had no right to anticipate the action of Congress as he had in employing extra clerks.

Wallace said the appropriation had not yet been executed, and the law was not violated.

Kirkwood asserted that 200,000 claims are pending, and every member of Congress is overwhelmed with protests from his constituents against the unreasonable delay.

Saulsbury pleaded economy.

Voorhees thought it misapplied economy, where hundreds of people to whom pensions were justly due are waiting and dying without a settlement because Congress was stingy. The land office was in the same condition.

Others spoke in the same vein, and Wallace hoped this bill, which did what the Commissioner asks, would pass.

Beck paid a compliment to Secretary Thompson, who he said was the only executive officer who did not violate law.

The bill finally passed, and after an executive session the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 17.—The regular order was a motion to lay on the table a motion to reconsider the vote by which the House yesterday ordered the main question on the bill prohibiting the publication of lottery schemes in the District of Columbia. Motion defeated, 111 to 117. The motion to reconsider was agreed to.

Knott moved to lay the bill on the table; rejected. The bill goes over till next district day.

The bill for the removal of causes from State to Federal courts was then taken up in the morning hour.

Knott supported it. He instanced the great power of corporations, one of which, like an enormous octopus, stretched its monstrous tentacles into 11 States, controlled 6,000 miles of railroad, and its financial operations were second to those of the Government itself. Congress could not disturb these parasites on the body, but it ought to deprive them of extraordinary privileges. As this bill contemplated what they had in contravention the Constitution, he criticised the courts' decisions which regarded corporations as citizens. The logical conclusion from the decision was that it might become President or general of the army, but it had no soul and could not take an oath or be damned.

The bill went over.

The House then recommended the revision of the rules.

Warren amended the substitute of Speer's amendment to rule 21, provided that it should be in order to reduce the amount of money provided by existing law, and to that extent only change the law. Rejected, 32 to 80.

The next amendment was Lowe's prohibiting partisan legislation upon appropriation bills. The bill submitted was an amendment that when an amendment is offered to an appropriation bill changing law, the retrenchment proposed shall not be by inference, but shall expressly specify the amount of money thereby saved.

Hurd spoke against preventing legislation on appropriation bills. History indicated that the provision of the Constitution which gave the House sole power to originate revenue bills had been inserted that the representatives of the people might control the purse and compel redress of grievances and the adoption of healthful legislation. It was a proper check on the President. Messrs. Speer and Warner were proposing to surrender this power, but they could only do so by a Constitutional amendment. He reviewed the advantages which had accrued to the democracy and to the nation through using this power during the extra session.

Warner repudiated this as an undemocratic doctrine that the House by withholding legitimate appropriations had the right to coerce the Senate or the Executive. Our presidents never had that power which was taken from King John, he did not propose to recognize the doctrine that all the power in this country originates with the people. They redressed their own grievances, not the Executive.

Speer offered a substitute for Lowe's amendment, that it shall be in order to strike out any amount and insert a less amount.

The Speaker sustained Blackburn's point that this had already been voted down and was out of order.

Mr. Garfield took an appeal and the Chair was sustained, 119 to 100. Several like amendments were voted down by the democrats and the House adjourned.

EASTERN.

WASHINGTON.

Democratic Convention—The Oldest Ex-Congressman — Utes Surrendered—Committee Work, etc., etc.

WASHINGTON, 17.—Notwithstanding the adverse action of the House committee to-day upon the joint resolution tendering the use of the unfinished National Museum in this city for the National Democratic Convention, the committee of Washingtonians will still urge upon the National Committee the claims of this city as the best place for holding the Convention, and the district authorities intend to offer the K street Market House, an immense vaulted structure, which would afford ample accommodations. The prospect of Washington securing the Convention seems to be increasing, as there is a strong feeling against Cincinnati of the ill treatment heretofore experienced in that city by some candidates not forward there, and as the other places prominently named for the Convention are poorly provided with hotel accommodations, or else like Chicago and Saratoga, care very little about having the Convention. The weightiest objection urged against Washington is, that to hold the Convention here while Congress is in session, would be an unpopular step in the direction of a return to the system by which the Democratic Presidential candidates were nominated in the olden times, namely, by the party's Congressional caucus.

Captain Isaac Bassett, the venerable Senate doorkeeper, yesterday received a letter from Peleg Prague, the only man now living who was a member of the United States Senate when the Captain first became an employee of that body. Mr. Sprague writes that he is the oldest ex-member of Congress now living. He was elected member of the House of Representatives from Maine in 1824 and served until 1829, when he was chosen United States Senator. After his term expired in 1835, he removed to Boston, and being appointed United States judge, in 1841, he remained on the bench till 1865 when he resigned. He is now totally blind.

The following was received at the Interior Department:

LOS PINOS AGENCY,
Feb. 17.

Hon. C. Schurz, Secretary of the Interior:

Chiefs Jack, Sowawick and Wash returned here yesterday with Douglass, Thomas and Tim Johnson. We will start with these and three additional Uncompahres to-morrow on sleighs, hoping to reach Fort Garland next Tuesday, and will proceed to Washington without delay. Matters here are perfectly quiet and peaceful, all the Indians expecting a permanent settlement of the trouble and peace. The road to Ouray and other settlements via Los Pinos is now perfectly safe, and open except where blocked by snow. The mail and teams travel it daily. Will advise further when reaching telegraphic communications.

(Signed) CHAS. ADAMS,
Special Agent.

The only matter of general interest at the meeting of the cabinet to-day, was the presentation by the Secretary of the Treasury of the report prepared by Judge French, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, relative to the existence of the cattle disease. The report is very voluminous; a history of the disease is given in detail, and legislation with a view to suppressing it is recommended. The appointment of a commission for this purpose is advocated. The cabinet after hearing the document, decided to send it to Congress without recommendation.

The convention of United States quarantine officials has been called to meet in Washington early in May for the purpose of revising quarantine rules and regulations.

The sub-committee in charge of the case of Bradley vs. Stemons (Arkansas) have unanimously signed a report in favor of Stemons, the sitting member.

The House committee on manufactures have agreed to report favorably the bill prohibiting the adulteration of articles of food and drink by the use of ingredients deleterious to health, and prescribing a penalty therefor. The bill provides that any person having cause to suspect the character of any article of food or drink, may demand a sample of the same, and any dealer refusing to comply shall be subject to arrest and fine not exceeding $100.

The Senate committee on military affairs authorized Senator Maxey to report for passage the bill extending to non-commissioned officers of the army the same privileges of retirement, after 30 years of meritorious service, provided by law for commissioned officers.

In executive session, the Senate committee on foreign relations reported back the French claims treaty, with recommendation for its ratification.

Action on the various nominations for census supervisors, that were disposed of to-day, was reached after comparatively little debate on each case. The rejections were effected by strict party votes and were based by the dominant majority upon the grounds set forth in the debate last week concerning the Ohio nominations. The following nomination was confirmed: John B. Neil, District of Utah. Among the nominations of supervisors rejected was John S. Stidges, Third District of Iowa.

Memorials having recently been presented to Congress from a number of railroads for the reduction of the rate of duty on steel rails, and it having been asserted at the hearing before the ways and means committee that the reduction was demanded by nearly all the roads in the country, a very extensive counter demonstration of opposing interests was made to-day by the presentation in the two Houses of Congress of memorials from a very large number of railroad officers, protesting against the reduction as injurious to railroad interests as well as to American steel industry. The railroads represented by these officers have a total length of 15,125 miles. The representatives of the above railroad companies announced a large number of smaller petitions on the way.

Information from North Carolina is that the excitement over the election of delegates to the Chicago convention is on the increase. The friends and agents of Sherman are working with a will to secure the district delegates. Two delegates who were supposed to be for Sherman have now declared for Grant.

Acklin will not be expelled, but he probably will not venture in the House again this session.

Respecting the effort of the House election committee to unseat Washburne, of Minnesota, by overturning his majority of 3,000, it is understood that two democratic members of the committee (Speers of Georgia, and Clark of New York,) do not concur in the action of their colleagues. Speers has declined to attend the meetings of the committee, to avoid being bull-dozed, and Clark has expressed himself very decidedly against the throwing out of some of the votes which must be disposed of to get the majority for Donnelly.

Secretary Sherman has enlisted the services in his behalf of Bishop Wood, of the African Methodist Church, who is probably the most influential colored preacher in the whole south.

The House committee on ways and means to-day adopted the report of the sub-committee charged with preparing the refunding bill with an amendment that the $200,000,000 treasuey notes provided for in the bill shall bear 2½ per cent. permanent interest the same as 20-40 bonds.

The congressional printer asks for a deficiency appropriation of $450,000 the extra session making necessary a great amount of extra printing.

The foreign affairs committee to-day discussed for two hours the sub-committee's report on the Acklin affair and adjourned till to-morrow. The findings of the sub-committee are simply as to the truth of the published charges.

It is stated here by intimate friends of Senator Conkling that he intends to go to Chicago as a delegate at large from New York, and that he will there take the lead of the Grant forces.

A Novel Suit Ended.

NEW YORK, 17.—The trial of the suit, George L. Kouns & Bro., New Orleans, against Captain Otis N. Butler, formerly United States purchasing agent, to recover a bonus of $30,000 paid the government for allowing 800 bales of cotton to be put in market, ended to-day, the jury rendering a verdict of $29,839 in favor of the plaintiff. The novel question involved in the case was the construction of President Johnson's war proclamation; plaintiff claiming that the proclamation issued by the President, June 13, 1865, removed all restrictions on trade and commercial intercourse in the territory east of the Mississippi River, and made the exaction of the bonus illegal. The cotton in question came from Shreveport, in the Red River country, and a bonus of 200 per cent. was paid to Captain Butler, then purchasing agent, who turned the money into the United States Treasury.

Paper Duty.

NEW ORLEANS, 17. — Owing to the remarkable increase in the price af printing paper, the proprietors of newspapers last evening adopted the following:

Resolved, That the Representatives of Louisiana in Congress be, and are hereby earnestly requested to use their influence to have the duty on printing paper, chemicals and materials used in the manufacture thereof removed or materially reduced.
