THIRTY THOUSAND MAY VOTE.

Increase is Over Ten Thousand on Registration for County Election
One Year Ago.

REGISTRATION CLAIMS—
TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

REPUBLICAN—Chairman Devine has reports from party workers to base an estimate that of the 6,448 registered yesterday, at least 4,500 are Republicans. The balance, approximately 2,000, is divided among the Democrats and "Americans."

HERALD—Total registration, 6,450. Democrats, 4,520; Republicans, 1,011; "Americans," 1,125.

TRIBUNE—The total registration of the day was 6,464, which with the total vote registered October 15, makes a total for both days of 11,222. Of the total registration about 6,000 votes were "American" and 4,222 the votes of all other parties.

How many people will vote in the November election this year? Either moving day has come frequently and often lately, or Salt Lake is drawing new people by the car loads.

The total registration for yesterday was 6,450. On the previous opportunity to register, 4,700 names were added to the books, giving a total of 11,152. The figures are so large as to seem preposterous, except that they are verified at the registration office. For the county and state election one year ago 25,325 votes were registered, and the number registered this year is over half as large, making a total of 32,900 from which must be deducted all who have voted before and registered again for some reason, such as removal. Harry Joseph claims that most of this new registration is not representing new voters, but transfers. Chairman Devine claims that it is mostly made up of new people rushing in to build a summer Salt Lake, and that all the votes from this class are coming his way.

CRITICAL DAY.
Yesterday was a critical one in the campaign. According to the way sentiment settled after the efforts of each party on that day. The various chairmen are counting chances for victory. The organ of one party this morning refused to admit that banners, streamers, carriages or workers were out in any force from any other party. Each chairman is confident that his showing was the banner one that will gather in the votes.

Especially was the competition keen between Democratic Chairman Snow and Republican Chairman Devine, both of whom are trying for the anti-"American" vote, and hoping it will settle their way. Both claim to have it this morning, beyond the shadow of any doubt.

SOME OUTSIDE VIEWS.
In an attempt to find how people not of especial political activity look upon the election, the "News" yesterday queried a number of members of the streetcar men's union as to their views, also members of the Federation of Labor, and men encountered casually upon the streets from the morning to the evening. The fact was developed that the "American" party has made strong efforts to claim credit for the rapid settlement of the streets, but that the streetcar men remain steadfast in giving this credit to C. O. Pratt, representative of the international union. The "American" party has also attempted to subsidize the "Labor Press," but this has resulted in repudiation of the paper by the laboring element. No formal discussion or conclusions on politics have been made by this body, and its vote will scatter as individuals see fit.

REGISTRATION BY DISTRICTS.
The report on the registration of yesterday by districts is as follows:
District 1, 199; 2, 200; 3, 98; 4, 154; 5, 142; 6, 130; 7, 147; 8, 155; 9, 148; 10, 204; 11, 120; 12, 194; 13, 145; 14, 135; 15, 97; 16, 178; 17, 98; 18, 203; 19, 227; 20, 197; 21, 116; 22, 190; 23, 219; 24, 154; 25, 170; 26, 134; 27, 177; 28, 208; 29, 40; 30, 178; 31, 140; 32, 111; 33, 111; 34, 103; 35, 128; 36, 219; 37, 205; 38, 178; 39, 105; 40, 39; 41, 145. MRS. ALDER LECTURES.

Talk on Egypt Before Tourist Section of Ladies' Literary Club.

At the meeting of the tourist section of the Ladies' Literary club yesterday, Mrs. Lydia D. Alder was the lecturer, giving a reminiscence talk of her trip to Egypt, beginning with her impressions of Port Said and the Suez canal and also of a genuine sirocco of the desert, whose breath reached the party at their first entrance to the land of the Pharaohs, and whose pathway was marked by short trees and bent leaves along the way. She spoke of the immense expense of keeping the canal clear of the sand, which the sirocco winds sweep down into it, but that the modern part comes in the first visit to the towers, where in narrow streets, hardly three feet wide, swarms of native Arabs bargain with foreign tourists, and the women, dressed in a well worn by the native married women and said that the young girls on the street were not so different from the European of English customs was

Landlords Show Signs Of Reducing High Rents

Butler is not the only thing that is feeling the downward pressure due to the coming reaction against high prices. High rents are also a point where the most persistent boosting fails to get them higher.

On south West Temple street there are two houses side by side for rent this morning. They were also for rent yesterday morning, and for a week prior to that. In the cellar of one of them is a winter's store of coal, and the last renter visits the house daily to see if some new renter won't come along and offer to buy the winter coal. He hates to go to the expense of moving it.

The renter, however, had to move himself. The owner of the house has taken his client's good money every month for four years. At first it was a matter of $20 that he received. Then the pressure was put on and the rent went to $25. A raise in taxes sent it to $28. A paving tax sent it to $30. The fact that houses were scarce gave it a boost to $32.50.

That was the end. Last week the owner said that some reason or other would send the rent to $35, beginning Nov. 1.

The renter couldn't stand the pressure. He looked around and to his great surprise he found landlords willing to bid each other down, instead of up, to get people for their houses. When he finally made his selection it was for a rental considerably less, while the vacated house carries its "for rent" sign valiantly each morning with no takers at the advanced figure the owner thought was coming to him.

It will be interesting to watch the case and see at what figure he finally lands a man in need of a home, and after how long he will begin to figure down from the extreme standards of the past summer.

On Main street the landlords are still exacting the high tariffs of their most recent increases, but the storemen are complaining more loudly each week that they are doing all their work for the rent man, and the higher priced goods are not finding the ready market they did last spring. Notice, for instance, the prevailing tendency to put the three-dollar hats out in the windows, and retire the five-dollar article from its position of honor.

The world of labor has yet to be heard from decisively, but the destruction of the Butte market is counted on to affect this market considerably, and create a percentage of oversupply instead of the scarcity that has long prevailed.

showed them in one of the mosques, where they were told Mohammedan children used to sit or lie about on cushions leaning the Koran. Now they must have chairs and tables. They saw in the great mosque of Hassan the famous pillars which the devout Mussulmans believe came down direct from heaven and also the citadel done in alabaster, one of the most beautiful in existence.

From this spot a Napoleon soldier fired the shot which took off the nose of the great Sphinx. An interesting description was given of the university, one of the largest in the world, and which all nationalities are allowed to enter. While inside the mosque Mrs. Alder said from hundreds of students the party heard a peculiar sibilant sound which they interpreted as she believes truly, as a sign of disapproval at their presence, which their guide excused as a mere form of greeting. At noon the party were obliged to go outside the edifice as it is the sacred hour of prayer, and waited in their carriages for it to end. They saw the Greek orthodox church, erected where Joseph and Mary rested on their sojourn in Egypt, and were shown the columns where the people come for their health, the form being to squeeze a lemon so that its juice runs down the column and then to lick this from the post, the juice from other lemons serving the same purpose and if inadvertently licked up with his own. As for the condition of the people, Mrs. Alder describes it as pitiful from the civilized point of view, living as they do, in great squalor, in which, however, they seem perfectly satisfied. The party saw an unattractive picture while on the way to the pyramids, that of an over tired camel turning on its back under a too heavy load. Mrs. Alder performed, with others of her party, the feat of ascending the great pyramid, but did not enter, as the narrow way which leads into its inner chambers, is not tempting. She spoke of the theory of Prof. Seiss of Philadelphia that the great pyramid is the expression in stone of some of the great astronomical and physical laws of the planet, and says that if this be true, there exists no hint of its tradition with the people of today. With them it is the tomb of Cheops whose great wealth and power enabled him to build up this mighty personal monument.

The sight of the great Sphinx, Mrs. Alder declares, was one of the most thrilling impressions of the trip, one that must be experienced to be appreciated. Many entertaining personal incidents were contained in Mrs. Alder's talk and the entire lecture, with its illustrations by picture, and maps, was most interesting. It was given in connection with the section's chosen study for the year, which deals solely with the orient.

Work to improve the water supply on the national forest ranges will be started this year on the Leadville national forest in Colorado, and the Tumacacori national forest in Arizona, and before the coming of another grazing season a number of ranges will be improved very materially.

On the Leadville forest, the forest officers will clean out and protect 12 different springs and pipe the water into troughs. The work on the Tumacacori forest in Arizona will be somewhat more extensive, although it will be confined to the improvement of the supply of only half as many springs as on the Colorado forest. This method of cleaning out and protecting springs and other watering places will result in much benefit to stockmen grazing on the strips of ranges within the forest. Improvement work along the same general lines will also be begun on other national forests.

The "pure food law" is designed by the Government to protect the public from injurious ingredients in both foods and drugs. It is beneficial both to the public and to the conscientious manufacturer.

Ely's Cream Balm, a successful remedy for cold in the head, nasal catarrh, hay fever, etc., containing no injurious drugs, meets fully the requirements of the new law, and that fact is prominently stated on every package. It contains none of the injurious drugs which are required by law to be mentioned on the label. Hence you can use it safely.

PRISONERS SEEK TO PROVE ALIBI

Harper Brothers and Mrs. Armstrong Say Mistake Has Been Made.

George and John Harper and Mrs. Mary Armstrong are going to fight extradition in Colorado and have engaged counsel to represent them before Governor Butcher when the papers from Governor Cutler are presented to Colorado's chief executive to be honored. The trio is charged with the murder of Ezra Penny and his son, George Penny, eight years ago in the hills of Millard county.

Governor Cutler has issued the requisitions and Sheriff Black and W. P. Pavne of Millard county have left for Denver to bring their men back. Despite the assertions of the prisoners, Sheriff Nisbet is positive they have the right paper and will make a hard fight to bring them back to Utah for trial for murder.

WOMAN MAKES CLAIMS.
Mrs. Armstrong, according to the dispatches, declares that she is 61 years of age, and that she has not been out of Colorado for 18 years. George Harper declares that he was never in Utah, except when he passed through the state as a member of the Thirtieth United States infantry enroute to the Philippines. His brother, John Harper, is equally emphatic in his denial. They all claim to have been without the borders of Utah when the killing of the Pennys took place. George Harper claims that his attorney will be able to secure from the war department records the information that he was a member of the Seventh cavalry at the time the murder was committed and that his station was far from the place where the murder occurred.

NISBET CONFIDENT.
Sheriff Nisbet and other peace officers, despite all the assertions of the trio and their counsel, are confident that they have the right papers. They say that there is not the remotest possibility of their being mistaken and they have no doubt that they will bring their prisoners back to face trial.

UNITED STATES CREDIT ABROAD

American Products Having an Enormous Influence in Building it Up.

THE IMMENSE COPPER SALES.

Yesterday's Shipments of Copper Huge
—Tobacco and Cotton Moving
Towards Europe.

New York, Oct. 29.—The enormous influence which American products are exerting in building up a credit balance abroad has been the most significant development of the financial situation today. Reports from all quarters show that the great American staples—wheat, cotton, copper, tobacco, oil, meats—are on their way to Europe, this being the season of the year when American products are marketed abroad. The immediate effect of these shipments is to give the United States credit abroad, which can be speedily converted into cash. These natural resources of the country promise to exert even greater influence than the sale of American securities abroad. The latter have in some extent suffered discredit under recent pressure, but the intrinsic value of American staples used abroad, and their colossal aggregate for this period of the year, is beyond the reach of financial distrust.

GREAT COPPER SALES.

The foreign sales of millions of pounds of American copper yesterday was supplemented today by reports of similar heavy exports, today's shipments alone giving a foreign credit of $14,000,000. The shipment of tobacco to Europe this year promises to break all records. Officials of the American Tobacco company estimate that the year's export will exceed $10,000,000. A large amount of manufactured tobacco, which is far in excess of the amount exported last year, Europe will pay over $100,000,000 for this tobacco, and much of this money will soon be available in this market, as the contracts with European importers call for immediate payment on delivery. Reports from the south show that the cotton crop is moving toward Europe, while the west is sending grain and wheat products in the same direction.

Several favorable events marked the close of the financial day in New York. The engagement of $2,000,000 in gold by the First National bank of Chicago and of $500,000 by a Boston bank brought the total gold engagements up to the close to $20,000,000, in spite of the cancellation of an order for $800,000 by the Louisville bank. The ground was cleared for the raising of German bank rates in order to prevent American gold from draining German gold reserves. The raising of German bank rates is expected to result in a large amount of gold being sent to Germany and most of these anticipations were from other European money markets.

While money at the stock exchange was loaned during most of the day at a high rate, it fell near the close to a low rate, and the result was that dollars at that rate being made by a number of leading banks.

CALM IN BANKING CIRCLE.

Comparative calm reigned among New York bankers. They all realized that the pressure for money was not over, but they felt generally that uncertainty was at an end and they would be able to meet all reasonable demands for currency. These demands are coming in considerable amounts from the west and south in order to obtain money to move crops and it is feared that the sections where the movement is largest may be more or less hampered in their efforts to obtain funds. General refusal to pay cash for hoarding, in the west and south as well as in New York, it is believed, will prevent the undue absorption of currency and keep the money market what is available in the most effective manner. The large banks of this city are gaining deposits from the banks who have been under suspicion, and this tends to a measure to concentrate money where it can be used most effectively; but, on the other hand, it creates debit balances at the clearing-house against the banks which are loaning deposits which are not always easy for them to meet without sharply curtailing their loans, even with the assistance of clearing-house certificates.

BANK RUNS OVER.

Runs upon the banks are practically over. Persons who present large checks and ask for their payment in currency are invited to consult the bank officials. In cases where their need for currency is evidently legitimate they usually receive it in cases where it is sought for hoarding, they are usually convinced that money is better off in the bank or that they should accept certified checks for deposit elsewhere.

The arrival of nearly $25,000,000 in gold, it is believed, will considerably relieve the situation, and perhaps make call money a little lower on the stock exchange.

The decline in stocks today was generally attributed to the continued scarcity of money for speculative purposes, the refusal of brokers to make transactions except for cash, in the absence of buying interests under present disturbed conditions.

Aside from the New York conditions, all points showed a favorable tendency. In New England there was no sign of serious unrest, and the recent disturbance in Rhode Island is practically over. No failures were recorded at any point throughout the country. It should be borne in mind in this connection that there are over 12,500 banks in the United States, and that the number of institutions which have recently failed is of insignificant proportions as compared with this total. It was pointed out today that the failure of a minor bank is immediately known from end to end of the country, whereas the public overlooks the fact that some 12,500 banks are open for business.

DAVIS SHOE CO.

50 banks are open for business as usual and that not one of the really important banking institutions anywhere has shown the slightest sign of unsoundness.
On the whole, the banking community takes a favorable view of the outlook, and is practically encouraged by the large foreign credit secured through enormous shipments of American products.

The Trust Company of America, in the course of business today, received deposits amounting to $1,083,000, and paid out $478,000, making a net increase in the bank's funds of $605,000 for the day. This means that there has been an increase of $2,000,000 since Saturday night in the resources of the institution over and above what was paid out. There were 238 depositors today.

DIED IN LOS ANGELES.

Remains of Mrs. Jennie B. Thompson Will be Buried Here.

Mrs. Jennie B. Thompson, who for many years resided here and who still claimed this city as her home, died yesterday at Los Angeles. The deceased was the widow of Dr. J. D. Thompson, and mother of the late Willard Thompson. The husband died many years ago, and the son passed away at Tonopah two years ago. As both are buried here, the remains of Mrs. Thompson will be brought to be interred beside them.

Hon. Henry W. Lawrence and Dr. Thompson were intimate friends, and it is probable that the funeral of Mrs. Thompson will be held at the Lawrence residence, but particulars in this regard are lacking.
