THE TRUE MAN. - The perfect human character, as sketched by poets, novelists, and fine writers in general, if universally imitated, would wind up the race in ten days after the supplies of life produced by imperfect characters were exhausted. Were all women to imitate the 'beautiful' specimens of feminine perfection held up to in proportion. Call and examine for yourselves. admiration, no shirt would be washed, no cabbage cooked, and the world would starve and rot in filth. The truth is, there is work to be done. Dust on the hands! Big muscular fingers! Some one must work. Many must toil. There is plenty for all to do, and no one has a right to live without doing something. And yet all the perfect (?) models are but brilliant do nothings!-Away with all your moonshine which is reflected from any body! And as man has both body and mind, with powers and faculties, the true man is he who uses both for some beneficial purpose. By so doing, alone can he develop a faithful human character, and grow up into a genuine model of Life, Truth, Beauty, Wisdom and Happiness. Thus alone can he be healthy in body, and send his blood down through healthy veins .--Thus alone can he elevate his spiritual nature to a true conception of the Infinitive Worker that constructed the Universe and is still building.

DISCOVERY OF THE TOMB OF PHARAOH AMOsis .- A letter from Cairo, in the Constitutionnel, says that the general subject of conversation in that city is the discovery which has just been made by the well known archæologist, M. Mariette. He has found at Thebes, after long and difficult researches, the tomb, still intact, of Pharaoh Amosis. The King is lying in a coffin, completely covered with gold leaf, ornamented with large wings painted on it. Thirty jewels of great value were found in the same coffin by the side of the King, as was also a hatchet of gold, ornamented with figures in lapis lazule. Some years ago, M. Mariette had a similar piece of good fortune, in finding in the tomb of Apis the jewels which now form the principal ornament of the Egyptian museum of the Louvre. The jewels of Amosis are still more valuable, from their number and quality. The discovery of a royal tomb intact is the most important one that M. Mariette has yet made in Egypt.

THE OLDEST INHABITANT .- A correspondent of the London Times calculates the age of the great California tree in the Crystal Palace at Sydenham, at about six thousand four hundred and eight years! It must have been planted, according to that, when Adam was a very small Laby, if not before. They same writer refers to another California tree, which must be at least seven thousand one hundred and twenty-eight years old. The method in which the computation was made is this: The writer took two pieces of the wood of the tree, one of the heart to order. and another of the sapwood, about an inch square each, and he counted the concentric layers, which mHE undersigned has opened, three doors north of the are supposed to indicate the annual growth. In the heart-wood he found forty-five layers to the inch, and in the sap-wood twenty-one; and as the tree is fourteen feet in diameter, ten of heart and four of sap, the result was easily obtained .-The second tree spoken of was thuty-nine feet in diameter.

A TREMENDOUS REASON .- A young physician, a recent graduate, was asked why he had not gone to see his father who had just died. The father lived in Indiana, the son in Virginia. He replied that "the immense torridity of the circumambient atmosphere had, by its condensation, so diluted the placid aqueous fluid of the enormous river Ohio, that with the most surerlative reluctance, I had to procrastinate a premeditated egress into the palatinate province, until the morbid excitement of the pericranium had extinguished the vital spark."

EVIDENTLY INSANE .- "Well you've been out to lo k at Texas; did you see any thing of our old friend-, there?" "Yes; gone deranged." "Gone deranged! Real crazy-what does he do?" "Yes, indeed; he does not know his own hogs from his neighbor's."
