DEATH OF WILLIAM J. WOOD.

Estimated Young Educator a Victim of Typhoid Fever.

Ogden, Feb. 1.—The announcement of the death of William J. Wood yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at Willard, Boxelder county, will bring sorrow to many both in Ogden and other parts of the state. He was but 29 years of age when called to answer the final summons. Besides a wife and two little children, he leaves an aged mother, five brothers, one sister and a host of friends, especially among the students of the Weber strike academy from which institution he was a graduate. Mr. Wood was a young man of ambition, having a desire to make something of himself in this life, especially in an educational line. After completing his studies at the state academy he taught school and accumulated means sufficient to erect a home on Sixteenth street and married. He had the misfortune to have his home burn to the ground, but in the face of adversity he went to the state university to more fully equip himself as a teacher and there contracted typhoid fever which laid him in bed for five weeks. He slowly recovered and three weeks ago went from Ogden to Willard to recuperate but suffered a relapse which terminated in his death. The funeral will be held either Saturday or Sunday at Willard where the burial will take place.

OPENING OF OWL CLUB.

The Owl club organized by William Weber opened its quarters on the fifth floor of the Grand Opera House building last evening with a public reception that was attended by about 200 ladies and gentlemen. The club is to be composed of the best young men of the city. It will be conducted on a strictly first class order. At the reception last evening Panton's orchestra discoursed music throughout the evening. Short addresses were delivered by Mayor E. M. Conroy and Atty. Joseph Chee, who commended highly the work of Mr. Weber in organizing such a club, which will fill a long felt want in Ogden, that of providing some place where young men can go and spend their leisure hours under a good, elevating influence. Besides well furnished parlors, reading rooms and amusement hall, a well equipped gymnasium has been fitted up in connection with the club, to which the members will have free access. Already a large membership has been enrolled.

$10,000 DAMAGE SUIT.

A $10,000 damage suit has been prepared by Magnus & Corn and DeVine as attorneys for W. S. Smith, a minor, through his guardian ad litem, R. F.

Smith, against the Union Pacific Railroad company. The complaint sets forth that Smith was employed last July as helper to bridge carpenters and mechanics. He was assigned to do a piece of work on top of a bridge and in performing the work of setting some bolts one of the nuts, with defective threads, gave way, permitting the timber to strike Smith, and he was knocked 16 feet to the ground and received serious injuries, from which he has never fully recovered, all to his damage in the sum of $10,000. The suit was filed at Morgan today.

MANDAMUS HEARING.

Last night Judge Howell heard the arguments of Attorneys N. J. Harris and George Halverson in favor of granting a writ of mandamus to compel Municipal Judge Murphy to hear the grand jury charge brought against Rose Rolley. Judge Murphy refused to hear the case because the girl claims to be only 17 years of age and remained her case to the juvenile court. The attorneys in presenting their case contended that Judge Murphy had assumed jurisdiction in cases before of other minors, viz. Lawrence Dalton and a boy named Sholl, and they could see no reason for his having refused to hear the case against the Rolley girl. J. D. Johnson represented Judge Murphy at the hearing. The case was taken under advisement by the court.

Paine, against whom suit was brought as a city councilman, charging him with collecting illegal fees from Ogden City, which suit was tried in September in the Second district court and decided against Mr. Paine, has filed a notice of appeal from the decision of the lower court to the state supreme court.

HENRY S. SERGEANT DEAD.

He Was an Inventor of International Reputation.

New York, Feb. 1.—Henry S. Sergeant, an inventor of international reputation, died Wednesday night at his home in Westfield, N. J. The United States patent office had issued to him more than 50 patents, covering for rock-drills and air compressors. His development of the drill made possible many of the great engineering features of the last quarter century.

Mr. Sergeant was born in Ohio in 1835. His inventive genius developed early, first appearing in machinery for making wagon wheels when he was 15 years of age. A governor for marine engines to prevent the racing of propellers was patented in 1862 and the United States government at once adopted it for war vessels.

Soon after the elevated railroads were built here, the company discovered that its uncanceled tickets were being used over and over. Mr. Sergeant was appealed to and the chipping boxes on the elevated and subway lines, and in the various ferry houses are the result.

MARKS OBJECTS TO OFFICIAL ACT

Salt Lake County Representative Was Followed by Sergeant-At-Arms.

ABSENT WITHOUT EXCUSE.

And When Called Back He Rises to Question of Personal Privilege to Protest Against Action.

The house decided that the members of that body may not leave their seats for any extended length of time without the permission of the speaker. The incident leading to this decision was the bringing in of Representative Marks by the sergeant-at-arms after he had answered roll call, but had absented himself for more than half an hour without leave.

Mr. Marks arose on a question of personal privilege, after being brought back yesterday afternoon, and while he apologized for his absence, he presented very much his forcible "bringing in" by the sergeant. The reason for his absence was that he was engaged as an attorney on a very important case which was being tried at the time, and his presence in the courtroom for a short time was imperative.

Several of the members took part in discussion, affirming that the first duty of any member of the legislature is to the state. The speaker announced that permission must be secured hereafter by members wishing to absent themselves from the house for more than five minutes. The proceedings yesterday afternoon were as follows:

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

A message was received from the senate, announcing that H. B. No. 1, by Nephi U. S. C. Jensen, had been amended and passed.

A second message stated that S. B. 25, by Johnson, relating to the practice of osteopathy, had passed the senate. The bill was referred to the committee on public health.

The senate also reported having passed the following bills:

S. B. 3, by Benner X. Smith, providing for practice of medicine; committee on public health.

S. C. R. 3, by Lawrence, providing for a joint committee to investigate and report on the coal shortage.

S. B. 19, by Rasband, providing that all mines in the state shall provide for emergency escape in case of accidents and providing a penalty therefor; committee on mining and smelting.

House petition regarding high schools in the state was read and referred to the committee on education.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Reports from standing committees were submitted as follows:

From the committee on claims, H. B. 9, Robinson—Appropriating $2,000 to Lafayette Childster for meritorious service rendered the State of Utah and for permanent bodily injury sustained, recommending that it pass. The bill originally asked $7,000. Committee on appropriations.

From the committee on census, H. B. 45-47-48, pertaining to school census, recommending that they pass. Adopted.

From committee on public funds, that the report of state board loan commissioners had been examined and found correct, recommending that it be approved. Adopted.

From the committee on education—Recommending that H. B. 37, by Richards, be referred to the committee on salaries and fees. Adopted.

From committee on private corporations, H. B. 12, by Clegg, relating to surety bonds in corporations, recommending its passage. Adopted.

A message from the senate announced that S. B. 9, by Lawrence, relating to fees of jurors and witnesses had passed the senate. Referred to the committee on salaries and fees.

NEW BILLS.

The following bills were introduced:

H. B. 46, by Croft—To make the number of the defendant measure introduced by Jensen in his attempt to revive S. B. 4, relating to assault by prisoners in state prisons. Larsen's bill provides for the attendance at school by children of school age where the schoolhouse is within four miles of the child's home. The distance is now two and a half miles.

H. B. 72, by Davis, by request—Providing an annual road poll tax specifying what per cent shall be liable, and manner of collection, and extending the same; repealing certain acts relating to poll tax. Highways and bridges.

H. B. 75, by Randall—The expense of collection of municipal taxes; providing that cities of first and second class shall pay to the county in which situated one-half of 1 per cent on amount of tax collected.

H. B. 74, by Croft—To prevent the sale of cigarettes or cigarette paper and to provide a penalty for the violation of the same. Judiciary.

Croft's measure proposes to suppress the sale, giving away or furnishing by any person to any other person whatsoever of any cigarette or cigarette paper, but does not prohibit the use thereof. The penalty for violation of the act is a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500.

H. B. 75, by Dean—Compelling a plaintiff in a civil suit to file his case for trial in the county where the defendant lives, or that the contract specifies. Judiciary.

Dean's measure is aimed at the abuses practiced by certain justices in the interests of collection agencies.

H. B. 76, by Hone—Relating to taxing mines and net proceeds. Revenue. This bill provides for a tax of $25 per acre for mineral-bearing claims and $50 per acre for coal-bearing ground.

H. B. 77, by Fuller—Pertaining to ownership of maps by assessors. Judiciary.

H. B. 78, by Westphal—Relating to fish and game and providing dates when they may be killed. Fish and game.

H. B. 79, by Hone—Providing for a state license for a corporation doing business in the State of Utah. Private corporations.

H. B. 80, by Robinson—Referred back in order to complete the bill.

H. B. 81, by Clegg—Relating to seizure of property for taxes not due. Judiciary.

H. B. 82, by Robinson—Providing for payment to deputy county officers, salaries and fees.

ON COAL SHORTAGE.

The senate reported the passage of a concurrent resolution 3, by Lawrence, authorizing legislative inquiry into the causes of the coal shortage. On motion of Tolton the rules were suspended and the resolution was read the third time and passed unanimously. The speaker appointed as the house quota of the committee, Messrs. Robinson, Tolton, Hone, Barnett and Barnes. Upon request of Chairman Westphal, the public buildings committee was excused for the day.

The special order of the day, House bill 24, by Jensen, prohibiting the making or publishing of false or exaggerated statements concerning corporations, was then called. After a number of amendments were proposed, the bill was, on motion of Mr. Robinson, recommitted to the committee on private corporations.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

House bill 14, by Jackson, creating a commission to ascertain the feasibility of procuring subterranean waters for culinary purposes in dry land farming and appropriating $15,000 for the expense was read a third time, and after a lively discussion as to the amount to be appropriated for the purposes of the bill, it was made the special order for 3 o'clock today.

House bills 18 and 19 were, on motion of Mr. Robinson, sent to the foot of the calendar.

House joint memorial 1, by Thompson, requesting President Roosevelt to rescind recent order regarding withdrawal of coal lands from entry, was passed by a vote of 40 yeas; 5 absent and not voting.

House joint memorial 2, by Durlin, memorializing Congress to pass senate bill 3459 regarding civilly paying veterans, was passed by a vote of 40 yeas; 5 absent and not voting.

The house then adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock today.

LEGISLATIVE SIDELIGHTS.

A good example of modern socialistic ideas comes to Senator Johnson in the shape of a suggested senate bill. The writer is H. P. Burt of this city, and his bill is one aimed at the ancient problem of equalizing taxation for all. It should become a law, taxes would be collected by giving out to each property holder an assessment sheet, returnable by the 28th of February each year, taxes to be due July 1, and delinquent Oct. 1. No delinquent list would ever be published, and the city, county, or state could always take over a person's property by paying the assessment value on it, made by him for the purpose of taxation. Also the state could confiscate any property found in excess of that stated by the holder for the purpose of taxation. Poll tax would be no more, but a minimum tax of $1 would be levied on every voter within the state's borders, under 50 years of age. When three years in arrears, the state is to take over property without redemption, and to settle estates a state administrator is called for, with exclusive control.
