Alleged Abductor C. M. Brown Arraigned-Two Couples Made Happy -News in Brief.

Judge Rolapp and a jury of eight men are hearing a $20,000 damage suit this week brought by M. Hughes against J. P. O'Neil, contractor, The testimony of the prosecution has been completed which goes to show that the plaintiff was employed by the defendant in his stone quarry in Morgan county in June, 1903, that the company had a careless foreman named Tom Grimes, who was looking after the raising of the large rocks, but did not use the proper grab hooks to hold them from slipping; that on the date mentioned Hughes, with a number of other employes, was raising a 1,200 pound stone when it slipped from the chains striking plaintiff on the head and back, striking plaintiff on the head and back, causing permanent injuries from which he has suffered greatly. The defense has commenced to put in its testiment, One of its witnesses called was Dr. Osgood of Morgan who attended the patient. On his being called to the witness stand Attys. Richards and Farnsworth for the prosecution objected to his testimony being taken, on the grounds that he was a physion the grounds that he was a physician hired by the defendant to care for Mr. Hughes, and that what information Mr. Hughes, and that what information he had received as to the injuries was received from Hughes while he was resting him, and for the further reason that the doctor had not obtained be permission of the patient to testly in the case, and in a recent decision of the state supreme court in the case of Munz, the court held that a physician can not be competed to testly in a case unless the consent of his Giles, on the new organ, which has been placed in the tabernacle by him.

The celebration will wind up with a dance, The children's party is now in progress and one for adults will be given in the evening to be held at the spacious assembly rooms of the Branch Normal, Our tabernacle is again open for public worship after receiving a thorough renovation and slight change in the seating arrangements of the stand. The change has added much to the appearance of the interior of the building.

The watermains of our much-talked-of water system are now all laid and the water is flowing through the same. A representative of the Intermountain Pipe company of Salt Lake City is here testing the pipes, and he reports them to be in excellent condition and but few leak-ages of any importance can be located. It is now up to our citizens to procure service pipe and avail themselves of the benefits to be derived from a modern upto-date water system.

Water for irrigation purposes is getting quite scarce, but it is expected that most if not all of the grain now growing can be matured. Furmers are busy gathering their first cutting of lucern, which is a good average yield.
