vice to the young in regard to marriage. They might know from the Lord in relation to these matters, and have His blessing to follow the union. Our abundance of offspring was the cause of our enemies fear. In the days of Jesus they deemed Him of little worth, yet they were jealous of his intelligence and His power. Our doctors should be of the Latter-day Saints, that they may be enabled to administer in faith, and by the power of God, and bless the means used by their priesthoods

President Samuel Francis spoke encouragingly of our prospects; made mention of some of our present requirements in completing the Stake House, etc., reminded the Saints of the election on Monday, and the object, and briefly advised the people in regard to their daily duties.

The missionaries were thanked for their prompt and willing service; new ones appointed, notices given out, and Conference adjourned for three months. Benediction by Elder John Seaman.
