Like the Jewish sectaries molden times, who fought each as the sun shines and justice will other vehemently, but united in a eventually rule, must reap the conraid against primitive Christianity, these modern votaries of discordant dren will learn to despise them in and clashing creeds combine to bat- time, and in eternity will curse latter days. They are at war with heritage which they might have obtle with the Church restored in the each other on doctrine, discipline and fellowship, but they meet on a if trained in the way of common platform when it comes to the Lord. We are in earnest on this putting down an obnoxious and growing Church by material force.

It is to be expected that people who have not been in Ufah and who have not investigated "Mormonism," but draw their ideas of it from hostile publications, may fall into many errors and be found opposing something which they understand nothing about. They are, to some extent, excusable for their mistakes, although to be consistent they should inform themselves from the proper source before at-tempting to oppose. But the youthful element that the missionmalicious and false assertions of such persons as Leonard, Coyner such persons as Leonard, Coyner and Barrows are inexcusable, and stamp them as without conscience and unworthy of common respect. The statements that "nearly all the offlixes are now filled by polygamists in Utah," and that "there are no free schools in the Territory," are wilfully untrue, and place the man Barrows, with the others whom we have named, on the level of Anahave named, on the level of Ananias.

There is one thing that should be noted in connection with these attacks on the Saints. It is claimed that in Utah there is a union of Church and State, and this is de-nounced by these sectarian assem-blies of priests as something to be tacks on the Saints. It is claimed broken down at any cost. Yet it is State influence which these churches desire to avail themselves of in assailing "Mormonism." It is of in assailing "Mormonism." It is faith, there might be a seeming ex-cuse for those who choose for teach-ers of the children, unprincipled and mendacious hypocrites who plot for the ruin of the fathers. But with just as good facilities within our own sphere as there are outside it, in "this," Territory, for the school-ing of our youth, and with the in-disputable evidences we have of the villainy and specious designs of these plous frauds, it is worse than folly, it is nothing less than wilful sin against God, the truth EVENING NEWS.
