CREAT LOVE FOR DEMOCRACY.

New York, Oct. 21- Attracted by the presence of Grover Cleveland, thousands of people struggled to get an entrance to Carnegie hall tonight, where the former president of the United states made his first and only speech of the compalgo. John G. Carlisle, secretary of the meanury under Mr. Cleveland, was also a speaker, and shared with Mr. Cleveand the great burst or enthusiasm at the meeting. Long before the doors of the hall were opened, crowds surged around the outside of the building and sithin 10 minutes after the doors had been thrown wide to the public every ssat in the big auditorium was taken, while corridors and afsles held their geres. Several hundred were unable n gain entrance. This big Democratic rally was under the auspices of the Business Men's The auspices of the Bushless Men's Parker and Davis association. Mr. Cleveland arrived at the hall shortly before sociock and immediately upon his entrance cheers burst forth, the demonstration lasting several minutes. It died out and began again with renewed vigor. With Mr Cleveland when he entered With Mr. Carvanada when he entered the hall were Mr. Robb and Oscar S. Strauss. When Mr. Cleveland saw that Chairman J. Hampden Robb's efforts were fruitiess in quieting the demon-stration, he arose and held up his hand for silence, but the people could not content for two full menutes after quieted for two full minutes after-

The former president was made chairman of the meeting, and accepting the chair, he said:

MR. CLEVELAND'S ADDRESS.

There are at least two reasons why I am gratified by the opportunity to participate in this occasion. It permits me to breathe the pleasant atmosphere resolute and harmonious Democra-and, in addition, it allows me to mest face to face in such an atmos-phere those who largely represent the husiness interests of the city of New York and who, besides, are patriotic nough to recognize the obligation they ove to their country as well as to their business.

It would be strange if I did not recall at this moment with deep sensibilithe days in the past and the previ-us support of the business men o

New York, and if I did not remember in these surroundings the sustaining power of their approval and confidence amid the perplexing labors of high offiial duty. You will not, I know, acthat I am with those tonight who demand of me no explanation or apology for the manner in which I have served other my party or the business inter-ests of my country, and who will neither discredit nor distrust me when I aves my intense anxiety for the sucin the pending political cammign of the principles and nominees of from the rich man's table. the reunited Democracy. ATTACHED TO HIS PARTY. "My attachment to the party which my early allegiance has but intensi-fiel with rassing years, because I have found in the principles from which genuine Democracy has derived its life and vigor, safe guidance and constant inspiration when as a public servant 1 owed to my fellow countrymen patriolic effort and unsparing devotion to the people's interest. But the principles and best traits of the Democracy reach their highest importance and value at than lukewarm in the cause, TRUSTS STILL FLOURISH. such a time as this, when our people are tempted by glittering delusions and "A party may indulge in self-con-gratulation when it has effectively dewhen they are offered the kingdoms of] the world if they will but throw them selves down and worship the god of Mammon, I believe we have fallen upon days when, more than ever, the en-fercement of Democratic doctrine and the acceptation of Democratic conservuism and steadiness are needed, if our pational greatness and the well being of our people are to be put beyond jeopardy. "It is not for me to discuss on this accasion the Democratic cread, or to deal at length with the issues involved in the present campaign. We are here to listen to one who stands in the front rank of those who expound the Demo-oratic party faith.

SOME ASPECTS OF CAMPAIGN. "There are, however, in my mind tonight some aspects and incidents of this campaign which seem to me so startling and so humiliating that they should arrest the attention of every thoughtful citizen and arouse the anx lous solicitude of every patriotic Amer-ican. In a country like ours, where parties contest for the direction of the government, we must of course expect party advocacy and honorable personal ambitions for political honors; but who, among those indulging in the farthest prospect of political campaigns, can recall one in which the advantages of the present party control have been so distinctly claimed that all the virtues, all the patriotism and all the govern-ing ability of our citizenship are found among the members of one political party, and when before have those of our citizens not among the chosen been so boldly considered as aliens in their own land, who should be cast into outer political darkness as unworthy to be entrusted with the power and responsibility of a government estab-lished by the people and for the people? When in all our history has a party so presumptuously as now claimed to he the donors of the gifts of God of when has one so persistently plumed itself upon the creation of all the prosperity that has fallen to our country's

REPUBLICAN ARROGANCE.

"Such arrogance is not new to the party which now seeks at the hands of the people a renewal of our gov-ernment's control. But it has so grown by what it has fed upon as now shame-lessly to assume that the time has urrived when peculiar heedlessness o duliness will permit boasting and reckless assertion to pass for truth and reason. If this assumption is justi-fied, there can be no doubt that the sober and responsible political thought and watchfulness upon which the true intent and purpose of our government depends are in grievous peril. If, on the other hand, this assumption is vi-clously unwarranted, it is an insult to American manihess which should American manilness which should arouse prompt and effective resentment

Never before have our people been belabored with party deliverances which, in every line and every word, from platform declarations to the last appeal of party advocacy, are so saturated with conceited and tiresome claims of infallibility and with supercilious disdain of all political efforts except such as are attempted under the banner of Republicanism. Shall this pass current at a time when at the parting of the ways in our nation's development we are especially called to patriotic thoughtfulness and carecontemplation of party designs and to a vigilant watch against dangers that beset us? My faith in my countrymen will not permit me to believe this, or to doubt that they will insist upon examining for themselves the accounts of party siewardship.

PROSPERITY HEAVEN'S GIFT.

They know that their country's prosperity, like the rains of heaven which freshen and beautify the orna-mental lawn and at the same time make productive the farm and garden. should be distributed among all the people in every station of life, and they will challenge the claim of a has wrought which gives to its nam pered favorites added opportunities to increase their riches, while the poor of those who toll walt like Lagarus to be fed from the crumbs which fall The party will be given just credit which, early or late, has endeavored to safeguard the soundness of the nation's currency, but the people will reject as savoring of presumption the insistence that only those belonging to one party organization can claim to be the protectors and defenders of our financial integrity: nor will they forget that the fight was hotly on when many of the leaders of the party now making such an insistence were worse ended the people in their daily life from the ratacity of trusts and com-binations which thrive as private enterprise is strangled and which grow fat as by their control of the cost of living they cause the homes of our land to grow lean; but the people will hardly approve the vociferous pride which claims that a successful attack upon the merger of the stock of cer-tain competing railroads has rescued them from their oppressors. They will not fail to observe that the huge com-binations which directly injure them still floorish used that still flourish and they may also recail the consternation among those implicated in such schemes, who one feared a general pursuit, was quieted when the soothing assurance reached them that the government did not in-tend to 'run amuck.' This item of the account will not be This item of the account will her be passed over without a reference to the platform statement thit 'protection which guards and develops our indus-tries is a cardinal policy of the Re-publican party.' Nor without noting he declaration of the candidate stand ing on this platform that the protec-tive tariff policy ought now to be con-sidered as definitely established. The juestion will be asked which are the American industries that at this time are in need of the shelter of such tariff as that now in force; and is there never to be a time when Ameri-can enterprise, American ingenuity and American opportuality will free our in-dustries from their stage of infancy nd permit American inspiration and American self-reliance to cast away the leading strings of a 'definitely establizhed' protective policy? The people know that this policy has given rise to reckless greed and to the worship of ished' gain menacing patriotic sentiment and our love for high standards of national greatness, and they know that at bea It lays burdens on the consumers of our

"With these tendencies, and these urdens in mind they all ask the party professing its anxiety to restrain or destroy harmful combinations why a protective tariff policy should be con idered definitely established which, is addition to its other sins, contributes to a situation that permits a combina-ion or monopoly to sell abroad articles of our manufacture at lower price that are exacted from our own cill zens at home. They will see the shee wrongfulness of this condition so clear. and they will so firmly believe that in this way they are made to bear tar-iff burdens in order that they may be discriminated against in favor of for-eign consumers that they will not be satisfied with the assurance that tariff has nothing to do with trusts. They will consign such an explanation to the limbo of negation, to take its place with the outworn deception that the foreign exporter pays our tariff taxes, and with two other sadly weak pretenses, one that the tariff should be reformed only by its friends, and the other that the party which believes that a protective tariff policy ought to be considered as definitely established loves reciprocity in trade

When credit is claimed for securing route for a long-desired interoceanic waterway it will not be in a carping spirit that the people will look at the incidents accompanying this achieve-ment. They do not undervalue the object gained, but they keenly appreciate the importance and value of our national honor, our national good name, and, above all, our national morality. Not even the great worth of the thing accomplished will close the eyes of the people to the fact that in reaching the results we have exhib-fied such international ruthlessness and such solfishness and international : morality as have lastingly debilitate air reputation for good faith and a tablished a precedent which in time to come may invoked to justify the most startling and reprehensible abando ment of the high ideals which ha made an example of the best ci-flication-a people happy as we are in telligently free, strong as we are serpulously just, and everywhere trusted and honored as we undeviatingly follow in the way of uprightness and rec-

'I have ventured to suggest the misleading purpose of the vainglorlous claims made by a party organization exploitation of these claims involve. is surely not narrow partisanship which prompts me to entreat my coun-trymen to hold fast and sure their body knows were the only means by ndependence of thought and their courage in judgment; nor do I speak tained in a tone of partisanship when I beg them to remember that the true greatness and glory of our nation cannot safely rest upon wealth which finds it-way to the few at the expense of the many, nor upon such material success as contaminates the purity or blunts the potency of patriotham, nor upon ex-pansion in disregard of our national mission and intent, nor upon achieve-ments that put in question our national morality. Above all, greater than all, guarding and protecting all and foster. ing everything that American patriot ism should covet are the service and devotion to country of a sincere people who believe that, if their govern-ment is preserved in its simplicity and defended against perverting its bless ings of happiness, contentment and true prosperity will in bounteous measure visit every corner of our land.

HENRY C. LODGE REPLIES TO SENATOR CULBERSON.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 21.-Henry Cabot Lodge tonight replied to the speech of Senator Culberson of Texas in regard to a private letter written by President Roosevelt to Albert Shaw about Panauna. He said:

"Nothing could show the desperate and helpless condition of the Democraic campaign more strongly than the publication under misleading headlines of the president's letter to Dr. Albert Shaw, which was read at a public meet-ing in New York last night by Senator Culberson of Texas. The letter demonstrates, not that the president was guilty of complicity in the Panama revolution, but that he had absolutely the letter they meant. "I went to the White House, got a copy of this letter to Dr. Shaw, and with full permission took it to the sen-ate and gave it to Senator Gorman. A day or two after Senator Gorman asked me if I had any objection to his giving it to Senator Culberson. I said not the least; that the letter had been published and they could do what they liked with it. The Panama treaty went to a vote with that letter to Dr. Shaw in the possession of Democratic sena-

SENATOR LODGE IN PRAISE OF THE PRESIDENT.

New York, Oct. 21,-In McClure's for November Senator Henry Cabot Lodge gives a glimpse of President Robse-velt as he sees him. He says of him. "It would be worse than Idle for any one, no matter how intimate his knowledge, to fancy that he could de-pict a character so many-sided, so tried and tosted in such multifarious experience within the space allowed m here. His daily life does not differ h any respect from that of any othe very busy man of great energy who finds rest and relief, not only in acuve out-of-door life, but in a wide and constant reading of books-a habit, by the way, quite as characteristic as any others, but of which the newspaper pritics and humorists tell us little. "Theodore Roosevelt apprehends very quickly. When he has thought subject out thoroughly and knows what he means to do, he acts prompt-y. When, after full consideration, he has made up his mind as to what is right, he is unbending; but no man has been in the White House for many years who is so ready to take advice, who has made up his mind more slow-y, more deliberately and after more consultation than Theodore Roose-

We of the United States like to think of the typical American as a brave man and an honest man, very human, with no vain pretense to in-fallibility. We would have him simple in his home life, democratic in his ways, with the highest education that the world can give, kind to the weak tender and loyal and true, never quar relsome but never afraid to fight, with a strong, same sense of humor, and with a strain of adventure in the blood which we shall never cease to love until those ancestors of ours who_conquered a continent have drifted a good deal further into the past than is the case today. These are the qualities which all men admire and respect, and which, thus combined, we like to think pecultarly American. As I enumerate them I describe Theodore Roosevelt."

During his speech Mr. Cleveland was oudly applauded, at times being interrupted for several minutes. His state ment that there was no necessity for him to apologize for his part in the feeds of Democracy caused tremendous heers of approval. At his mention o he name of Alton B. "The Republican and Democratic parties differ upon a great many questions of legislative and administrative policy, more or less affecting the peace and prosperity of the country; but the great essential difference between them in this campaign is that we stand for obedeince to the Constitution and the laws on the part of not only public officers, but of private citizens; we stand for economy and honesty in the expenditure of public money; for a moderate and just system of taxation upon the people; for the protection of the liberties by equal and just laws fairly and impartially administered and for a strict observance of our international obligations, without regard to the strength or weak-
