THE SUIT AT LAW.

THE MATTER OF CONTEMPT.

ANSWERS OF THE EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEE-IN-TRUST.

FOLLOWING is the full text of the answers of the executors of the B. Y. estate, and the Trustee-in-Trust for the Church, as filed in the Third District Court yesterday afternoon, too late for publication in our issue of last evening:

In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of Utah Territory, County of Salt Lake.

Emeline A. Young, on behalf of herself and the heirs at law and legatees and beneficiaries under the last will and testament of Brigham Young, late of Salt Lake County, Utah Territory, deceased, plaintiff, vs. George Q. Cannon, Albert Carrington and Brigham Young, executors of the last will and testament of Brigham Young, late deceased, and John Taylor, John Sharp, Edward Hunter, Horace S. Eldredge, George Goddard, Leonard W. Hardy, Theodore McKean, Jos. C. Kingsbury, Angus M. Cannon, defendants.

TERRITORY OF UTAH, } ss.
County of Salt Lake. }

This respondent, John Taylor, in response to the proceedings commenced against him and others, as in contempt on the 12th day of July, A.D. 1879, will state that he has not, in deed, word or intent, committed any contempt of the court or its orders made herein, nor has he in any manner treated said orders of the court with disregard; but, on the contrary, with all due diligence and dispatch, he has in good faith attempted to comply with said orders, as appears from the correspondence with W. S. McCornick, one of the receivers appointed by the court in the above entitled suit, copies of which from said McCornick to this respondent, and from him to said McCornick, receiver aforesaid, are hereto attached as part hereof, marked "Exhibits Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5." Respondent will state that, whilst he is not a party to said entitled suit, in his official character of Trustee-in-Trust for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and which church is also a domestic corporation, but not made a party, although it is the beneficiary and he its Trustee-in-Trust, yet without said corporation being made a party, or he, as its Trustee-in-Trust being so made, or without said corporation or he as its Trustee in-Trust, being before the court in said entitled suit, or the court having any jurisdiction over said corporation or its Trustee-in-Trust, the said court or its judge did issue an order of injunction enjoining and restraining him as Trustee-in-Trust, or otherwise, from doing the things therein specified, and did appoint receivers to take possession of the property as therein designated, as will appear from said orders herein referred to as part hereof, and which things he has studiously refrained from doing, and has done nothing in contravention thereof; but has in all things, so far as he could, complied with the requests and demands of said McCornick, receiver as aforesaid. He has had no correspondence either written or verbal, with the other receiver appointed by the court, Mr. Shaughnessy, nor indeed has he yet been informed that Mr. Shaughnessy has executed bond or been qualified as directed by the court. This respondent further alleges and states:

I.—As to the personal assets received from the executors, he will state that the financial operations of the Church, through its various departments and ramifications, are large and somewhat complicated, and that he has but little personal knowledge thereof but depends upon the proper authorities of the various departments for correct information, and that owing to this, and the absence of some of the proper authorities he was necessarily delayed a considerable time in the ascertainment of the condition of the personal assets received by him as Trustee-in-Trust for said Church, from the executors of the last will of Brigham Young, deceased, and that when he had received this information, with due dispatch he informed the said receiver, McCornick, the next day by letter, dated July 9, 1879, copy of which is "Exhibit 5." He says what remained on hand of the said personal assets as set out in "Exhibit B" of the respondent's answer to said entitled suit, and which answer with the exhibits, particularly "Exhibit B," are referred to as part hereof, was on July 9, 1879, delivered to said McCornick, as receiver as aforesaid, and his receipt therefor taken, a copy of which is made a part hereof, marked "Exhibit 6." He cannot hand over the other portions of said personal assets because they had been converted to the use of the Church, and passed out of its hands before the granting and issual of said injunction orders, etc. But if required by the court, a bond, with good surety, to pay any judgment which may finally be rendered in behalf of the plaintiffs, will be executed. He says the notes of the Washington Factory for $60,000, received from the executors, has been paid and expended in the building of the St. George and Manti temples. One hundred thousand dollars of the capital stock in Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution has been deposited with the Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Company as collateral security for the liabilities of the Trustee-in-Trust, due it for $25,000; and $18,000 of said stock has been deposited with Edward Hunter as collateral security for a note held by him against the Trustee-in-Trust for $6,000, besides interest thereon. The $80,000 in stock of the Salt Lake Gas Company has been used and consumed in the payment of the acceptances of the said testator Brigham Young, as Trustee-in-Trust for sterling exchange on account of foreign immigration carried on by the Church. Sixteen of the Utah Southern Railroad bonds of $1,000 each, have been deposited as collateral security with Mrs. Barratt, to secure in part, a note held by her of the Trustee-in-Trust for $30,000. The other four of said bonds have been sold for supplies for public hands, working for the church on its public works. The remaining part of said personal assets named in said "Exhibit B," to-wit: Capital stock in the Provo Woolen Factory, nominal, $50,000; capital stock in the Salt Lake City Railroad Company, nominal $50,050, have been delivered to said McCornick, receiver, as per his receipt of July 10th, 1879, copy of which is made part hereof, marked "Exhibit 6." The desk, secretary and portraits, furniture and library in the office, and mentioned in "Exhibit B," of defendant's answer, are and ever have been the property of the Church, but were included in the deed for the offices as part of lot 1, block 88, plot A, Salt Lake City survey, as set out in said "Exhibit B," but did not enter into the consideration of the $7,000 therein set out, but were included merely through prudential motives and for which no demand has ever been made.

[Exhibit 1.]

Salt Lake, Utah, June 19, 1879.

John Taylor, Esq.,

Dear Sir—You referred me to your attorneys in respect to complying with the order of the court requiring you to deliver over to me the personal assets in your hands derived from the estate of Brigham Young, deceased. I cannot apply to any other person than you for those assets, and you will please consider this as a repetition of the request for them. Hoping that by your silence or refusal, I shall not be obliged to report to the court that you decline to comply with the order, I am respectfully, yours,
W. S. McCORNICK, Receiver.

[Exhibit 2.]

Salt Lake City, Utah,
June 20, 1879.

W. S. McCornick, Esq., Receiver, &c.:

Dear Sir—Yours of 19th inst., received, contents noted. In reply, I would say that during our short interview of yesterday, I did not comprehend the scope of your demands, and hence referred you to my counsel. I now learn by your letter of yesterday that it is personal assets only that you require. Permit me to inform you that I am not aware of having any personal assets in my possession received from the estate of the late Brigham Young, having transferred them to the proper officers long before you were appointed receiver. As I am informed, those assets have generally, if not entirely, been converted in due course of business. I am inquiring into this matter, and hope to be prepared in a day or two to present to you a satisfactory exhibit of the disbursements thereof.

I am, respectfully yours,
JOHN TAYLOR.

[Exhibit 3.]

Salt Lake City, June 24, 1879.

W. S. McCornick, Esq., Receiver, &c.:

Dear Sir—On the 20th inst., I sent you a letter in answer to yours of the 19th, relative to your demand for personal assets, received in settlement of account against the estate of the late President Brigham Young. I have since then been using all diligence in the matter, by two of the committee who have those matters in charge, the other two being asent, I find it very difficult, in the absence of those members of the committee, in so short a time, to give you the information promised in my former letter; but as I am desirous to comply with the requisition of the court, and give you no unnecessary trouble, I would state I am making all arrangements possible for the accomplishment of this object. I shall be under the necessity of asking your indulgence for a short time, until this can be consummated. The bearers of this, Messrs. Sharp and Clawson, will confer with you on any subject connected herewith.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
JOHN TAYLOR.

[Exhibit 4.]

Salt Lake City, Utah,

John Taylor, Esq.,
President, &c., City:

Dear Sir—I am in receipt of your favor bearing even date, and in reply will say that, relying on your promise to use diligence in the preparation of a statement of the personal property received by you from the executors of the estate of the late Brigham Young, and appreciating the possible difficulty you may have in making such statement on a short notice, I am willing to grant you further reasonable time. Trusting that you will expedite matters as much as may be possible,

I am, dear sir, yours respectfully,
W. S. McCORNICK, Receiver.

[Exhibit 5.]

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 9, 1879.

W. S. McCornick, Esq., City:

Dear Sir—A further examination by the committee of the affairs upon which we have corresponded, enables me now to inform you that at the death of the late President Brigham Young, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was considerably in debt. A large portion of personal assets paid by the executors of his last will and testament to the Church as Trustee-in-Trust funds were used to meet these liabilities. The remainder I have on hand. They are as follows:

500 shares of Provo Manufacturing Company's capital stock.

1,101 shares of Salt Lake City Railroad Company's capital stock.

I will further state that any bond with any security which may be demanded by the court, will be at once executed to indemnify the plaintiffs against any supposed danger of loss by reason of the acts of the Church or its Trustee in Trust, or to secure the payment of any judgment which plaintiff may ultimately obtain by reason thereof.

Permit me to inquire whether your co-receiver, Mr. Shaughnessy, has returned and executed bond and qualified as receiver.

Very respectfully,
JOHN TAYLOR.

[Exhibit 6.]

Salt Lake City, Utah,
July 10th, 1879.

Received of John Taylor, Trustee-in-Trust, the following personal property, as property involved in the suit of Emaline A. Young vs, George Q. Cannon et al., and heretofore held by John Taylor, as Trustee-in-Trust of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, to wit:

500 shares of Provo Manufacturing Company's Capital stock.

1,101 shares of Salt Lake City Railroad Company's capital stock.

W. S. McCORNICK,
Receiver.

And as to the real estate received by the respondent as Trustee-in-Trust from said executors, no demand has ever been made of him, and he learned from said McCornick, as receiver, that he did not wish to take formal possession thereof. But that, as he is informed and believes, Wm. A. Rossiter was acting as the agent for the owners of said property in leasing the same and collecting the rents, so far as it had been rented and that said orders of injunction, etc., were made by the court, said Rossiter has been the agent for said McCornick, receiver, to lease and collect the rents thereof, at least this respondent has had nothing to do with the leasing or collecting the rents of said property, nor has he intermeddled with the same.

The Temple block, No. 87, plat A, Salt Lake City survey, (the Council House lot and Tithing Office property,) never was held by Brigham Young, deceased, as his private and individual property, but by deed bearing date November 27th, 1878, conveyed the Temple block to George A. Smith, as Trustee-in-Trust for said Church, and to his successors in office, a copy of which deed is made part hereof (Exhibit 7), and he conveyed the other pieces aforesaid by other deeds, and that said testator, Brigham Young, held it as the successor in office of said George A. Smith, until his death, without any conveyance from Smith, and for the same uses and trusts, and the legal title to which, as this respondent is advised, passed, by operation of law, to him, as Trustee-in-Trust, as the successor of said testator, but for prudential reasons it was thought best to also have a conveyance from said executors for said property, but this property has never been rented out, and not designed for rent, but for the use of the Church, as a place of worship, and it has not been deemed necessary, under the order of the court, by this respondent or the receiver, to stop the work and discharge the hands, but the work on the buildings now being erected thereon has progressed since, just as it did before said orders were issued.

[Following this is exhibit 7, being a copy of the deed from Brigham Young, sen., and Mary Ann Young, his wife, to George A. Smith, Trustee-in-Trust for the Church, which relates to the Temple Block, and is described as "all of block 87, containing ten acres of ground, as platted in plat A, Salt Lake City Survey."]

And as to the Gardo House and premises, said testator, Brigham Young, did on September 1st, 1876, in his own individual and personal right, declare a trust in writing, by way of a lease for ninety-nine years to himself, as Trustee-in-Trust for said Church, and thereafter held said property as Trustee-in-Trust for said Church and as its President and chief officer as a corporation, and this property has ever since been held and possessed as Church property during the continuance of such lease.

And respondent says that the other real estate conveyed by the executors not set out in said "Exhibit B," in respondent's answer, was held and possessed by said testator as Church property, and he is entitled thereto as the successor in office of said testator, as it was not held by said testator as his own and individual property, and said executors conveyed it in pursuance to testator's last will, which is an exhibit in plaintiff's complaint, and referred to as part of this response.

And having now fully responded to said proceedings, he prays to be discharged and that said proceedings be dismissed, and for all reasonable and legal costs.

JOHN TAYLOR.

Territory of Utah, }
County of Salt Lake. } ss.

John Taylor, being duly sworn, on his oath says, that he has heard read the foregoing response in the proceedings for contempt in the above entitled case, and knows the contents thereof, and that the same is true of his own knowledge, except as to the matters therein stated on information and belief, and as to those matters he believes them to be true.

JOHN TAYLOR.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 14th day of July, A. D. 1879.

JAMES JACK,
Notary Public.

Following is the answer of the executors:

In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of Utah Territory, County of Salt Lake:

Emeline A. Young, on behalf of herself and the heirs-at-law and legatees and beneficiaries under the last will and testament of Brigham Young, late of Salt Lake County, Utah Territory, deceased, plaintiffs, vs. George Q. Cannon, Albert Carrington and Brigham Young, executors of the last will and testament of Brigham Young, late deceased, and John Taylor, John Sharp, Edward Hunter, Horace S. Eldredge, George Goddard, Leonard W. Hardy, Theodore McKean, Jos. C. Kingsbury, Angus M. Cannon defendants.

Territory of Utah, }
County of Salt Lake, } ss.

George Q. Cannon, Albert Carrington and Brigham Young, who are three of the above-named defendants, and are attached herein for an alleged contempt of the court in disobeying an order to deliver property to the receiver in the action, now come in their proper persons, and jointly and severally make answer to the said charge of contempt, and show to the court. Each of said defendants says positively that he has not intended in any way, or in matter or thing whosoever, to disobey the said order of the court, appointing a receiver and requiring the delivery to him of the property and effects of the estate of the late Brigham Young, deceased; but on the contrary, he has intended to obey, and believes he has in fact obeyed and fully complied with the said order. And these defendants, jointly and severally, deny that they, or he, or any of them, as executors or executor, under color of said office, have or has retained their per cent. on the amount of property disposed of by them to John Taylor; or 3 per cent. on any property whatever disposed of to John Taylor in the management of said estate; or 3 per cent. on any property which they have in any way disposed of to John Taylor, or any per cent. or sum on any such property so disposed of; but these defendants jointly and severally say, that each, individually, and in his own individual right, has received from the estate one-third part of 3 per cent. on a valuation of $361,170, being the valuation on which they charged a percentage, under the will of the testator of the property by them disposed to said John Taylor as stated in their answer herein. And these defendants refer to the will of the testator, as set forth in the pleadings in this case on the record and also refer to their answer in the principal case, and ask the same may be considered in connection therewith. That such percentage was all received prior to the 31st day of December, 1878; the share of each defendant therein severed from the property of the estate, the amount charged into the account rendered to the probate court, as paid to these defendants, and each received and has appropriated and used as his own personal estate his share thereof, and the same was mingled and used with his individual funds and at the time of the appointment of a receiver therein did not exist as specie, or as a distinct fund, and was not in said estate. And each of the defendants denies that he, severally, or with any or either of his co-executors, or that the defendants jointly, as executors, or by color of said office, or otherwise, has or have retained in his or their hands, or under his or their control, any amount of the property of said estate of Brigham Young, deceased, for irregular or unauthorized expenditures, or that they, or any, or either of them, have paid about $35,000, or any sum, for the private debts of John Willard Young, or any debts for which John W. Young was liable, except some obligations of his which, for a valuable consideration, the testator, Brigham Young, had assumed and agreed to pay, and in respect to which the said John W. Young had become a mere surety, and for the payment of which property of the estate was pledged as security, or several thousand dollars, or any sum or amount, to certain or any beneficiaries under the will of the deceased, to silence objections or procure consent to the plans of administration of said estate, which the executors, or any of them, desired to carry out, or that they have paid any sum to any beneficiary, otherwise than for a just debt, or for his or her equal share in the distribution of the estate, set forth in the answer herein and authorized by said will. And the said Brigham Young, for himself, says that on or about the 19th day of June, 1879, the said W. S. McCornick made a demand on him for property of said estate, but said demand was confined to a demand for personal effects, the said receiver stating that he was in his bank and could not take charge of the realty, and that Mr. Shaughnessy, who was then and is still absent, would take charge of the realty when he came. That this defendant replied the personal property was somewhat scattered, and that it would be collected for delivery, which seemed entirely satisfactory to said receiver; that this defendant and his co-executor, Albert Carrington, proceeded to collect the personal effects and expected a further call from the receiver; and the said Brigham Young and Albert Carrington say, that on or about the 28th day of June, they heard that complaint was made that they had not complied with the order herein, and they at once sent word to said receiver that they could then deliver part of the personality, and on the same day did deliver to him the property named in the affidavit as delivered on the 28th of June; that at the same time, they explained to him the situation of the property named in his affidavit as delivered on the 12th of July; and also the situation of ten shares of Rio Virgen stock, to the effect that certificate for said stock was not in their hands, and would have to be procured from the secretaries of the various companies, and the said Mr. McCornick was asked whether he would take an order on said secretaries for the shares belonging to the estate, or whether these defendants should procure the certificate, and at the same time said receiver was informed it would take some time to get said certificate; and that the certificate for the Rio Virgen stock would have to be procured from St. George, Utah. The said McCornick replied he preferred deponents should get said certificates; that Mr. Webber, clerk of these defendants, wrote to St. George for said Rio Virgen certificate, by direction of defendants, and defendants have not yet received it. The estate had large certificates in said companies; defendants deposited the same with the secretaries, and drew for shares as needed in distributing the estates, and the amount of shares still due the estate would be evidenced by a new certificate. These defendants proceeded to procure the certificates, other than the Rio Virgen, and delivered them on the 12th, as stated in the affidavit of the receiver. That defendants have at all times been informed by said McCornick that the said arrangement in regard to said certificates was satisfactory, and no proceeding for contempt was predicated thereon; and defendants are informed and believe said McCornick and the counsel for plaintiff have also disclaimed that any proceeding for contempt was based on the non-delivery of said certificates. These defendants have not yet received the certificates of said Rio Virgen stock, but tender their order therefor, or will deliver the same when received. As to the real estate of the estate of said deceased, each of these defendants says no demand has been made therefor. That soon after the appointment of the receiver, an order of court was taken by consent, that Wm. A. Rossiter collect the rents due July 1st, 1879, and pay the same to the receiver; that said Rossiter has charge of the leases, and as defendants are informed and believe, collected said rents and paid them to said receiver, or under his order: and these defendants have in no wise interfered with the same. And the defendants, Brigham Young and Albert Carrington, say that at the time the receiver received the property turned over to him, June 28, 1879, he was informed these defendants held several notes, barred by the statute of limitations, or regarded as uncollectable and valueless, and the said McCornick replied in substance that he did not wish to be bothered with such property. The defendants bring said notes into court and offer to surrender the same.

And the said George Q. Cannon, for himself, says that since before the commencement of the principal suit, and until the evening of the 6th of July, 1879, he was continually absent from the Territory; and each of the defendants says no demand has ever been made by the receiver, except a general demand for the moneys and personal assets of the estate of Brigham Young, deceased, and on the 12th inst., at the time property was delivered to him, the receiver said the lawyers thought there was a large amount of money. That at the same time he explained that the reason why he had not demanded the real estate was because he thought some of it was out of the city.

And these defendants, each for himself, says, that, except the ten shares of Rio Virgen stock above named, and the barred and worthless notes here produced, and except some packages of crockery in the warehouse formerly occupied by Wells, Fargo & Co., and which deponents had forgotten until this morning, and which they are ready to deliver, the property and effects turned over to the receiver, as shown by the schedules in his affidavit, constitute all the personal property, effects, assets and choses in action of the estate of Brigham Young, deceased, which was in his hands, possession, or control, or in the hands, possession or control of himself or in any or either of his co-executors, or of which he had any knowledge, at the time of the appointment of the receiver therein or at any time since; and that he has not, either by himself, or with any or either of his co-executors, at, or any time since, the appointment of said receiver, had in his possession or under his control, any other personal property, effects, money or choses in action of said estate of Brigham Young, deceased.

And defendants further show that, as executors of said estate, they each gave a bond as such executor, in the probate court, approved by the judge thereof, in the sum of $10,000.

And these defendants further say that at the time of the distribution of the estate to the heirs and devisees named in the will, as set forth in their answer in the principal suit, the appraised value of the real and personal estate remaining in their hands, and retained to support the mothers of the children of the various classes named in the will of the testator, and the reversion of which was to make good the difference between $18,000 and $21,000 distributed to the heirs, was $227,205, and no more; and in the opinion of these defendants the appraisal was the full or more than the full value thereof, and these defendants retained no other property of said estate than that named in the schedule so appraised. These defendants understand that Wm. A. Rossiter has the leases of the real estate under the order of the court, made by consent, but if any further act is required to a complete surrender of the real estate, these defendants are ready, on demand, to fully surrender the same.

THE NEW VICTOR.

SIMPLICITY SIMPLIFIED!

Improvements September, 1878.

Notwithstanding the VICTOR had long been the peer of any Sewing Machine in the market—a fact supported by the verdict of thousands who have constantly purchased it in preference to all others—a wonderful reduction of friction and a rare combination of desirable qualities, together with a beautiful specimen of mechanism, and taken with the highest achievements of inventive genius, 1878—We do confess or consign Machines, therefore, have no old cases to patch up and re-varnish for our customers.

We Sell New Machines Every Time.

Most Elegant, Simple and Easy Running Machine in the Market. The Ever Reliable VICTOR.
