Flourishing Branches in the Old Mission Field.

Aalborg, Denmark, Jan. 9.—Having completed my labors at the Scandina-vian mission headquarters, I left Co-penhagen last Wednesday, the 4th inst., on board the steamer H. P. Prior, which landed me safely in Frederikshavn, Jutland, the following morning. I pro-ceeded at once by rail to the little city of Saby, which was the home of my ceeded at once by rail to the little city of Saby, which was the home of my parents and myself in 1856, when we emigrated to Zion. Strange feelings are always awakened when one visits places associated with the scenes of childhood, and when I walked the streets and once more beheld the fa-miliar sights of the old town. I partly lived my early days over again in my mind. Most of the friends of my youth have already passed to the great beyond and others, following the exam-ple of our family, have since migrated beyond fun family, have since migrated to the great west. However, I found a few of my relatives and friends in and around Saby to whom I paid a bursted visit and around Saby to whom I paid a burried visit. On Thursday evening we held a splendid meeting in Frederikshavn in the new hall recently secured through a faithful local Elder who in erecting a house for his own use, built it large enough to contain a small hall for meeting purposes, as well as a room and kitchen for the missionaries, for which these now pay a nominal rent. Our meeting was crowded, and after the close of the services, most of the people, anxious to hear more, were unwilling to disperse, and some of people, anxious to hear more, were unwilling to disperse, and some of them remained with us till midnight, conversing about the principles of the Gospel. The hall mentioned is 24 by 18 feet, and has a seating capacity for about 150 people. The missionaries' reom is 11 by 12 feet, and four Elders are at present engaged in missionary labors in the city of Frederikshavin and vicinity. They are Hans Hansen, Jr., of Pine Top, Ariz; George C. Sor-ensen of Mt, Pleasant, James R. Peter-sen of South Jordan, and Lars H. Larthat to Aalborg belongs the distinction of possessing a grave in which the mor-tal remains of the only "Mormon" mar-tyr in Scandinavia rest. Some time in September, 1877, a young man, Carl Julius Valdemar Kieler, was killed by a mob because he was a "Mormon." He was returning home from a meeting when a rufflan ran up to him and stab-bed him in the back, saying: "Take that for being a Mormon." The young man died woon afterwards from the effects of the wound, and his grave is now car-ed for by the Improvement association of Aalborg branch. The young martyr was born in June. 1859: consequently he was a little more than 18 years old when he fell as a victim to the hatred of a bigoted mobocrat. Frederik-shavn branch dates back about 50 years, and hundreds of good and faith-ful Samts have emigrated from that branch to the headquarters of the Church. Formerly the strength of the branch was in country districts lying adjacent to the city, but now the bilk of the membership reside in the city itself, and the branch has a lively Sun-day school, a Relief society and a Young People's association. On Friday morning I continued my journey to the beautiful inland city of Hjorring, which at one time was the headquarters of Vindeyord conference, since 1968 a part of Asiborg conference, headquarters of Vindsyord conference, since 1868 a part of Aslborg conference. Here a branch of the Church was or-ganized as early as 1854 and has had a continued existence ever since, though its headquarters during the past few years, since 1900, have been in the town of Bronderslen, where a meeting hall is rented by the Elders and a Sun-day school and a Rellef society are kept in good working order. Ingelstrom presided over the meeting, and with one excep-tion, all the Elders in the conference were present, and a very enloyable time. At the present time. On Saturday, the 7th inst. I arrived in Aalborg, where I was kindly received by Elder John J. Plow-man, president of Aalborg con-ference, and other Elders from Zion. Here I found the missionaries com-Here I found the missionaries com-fortably situated in their new quarters at Nerrogade No. 13. There is a hall 35 x19 feet, with a seating capacity of about 200 on the second story of a fine building, and the Elders occupy two rooms (inclusive of the kitchen) in the story above. The evening meeting especially was crowded with both Saints and strangers, who listend with apparent delight to a long reed with apparent delight to a long re-ligious discourse interspersed with incl-dents of travel. The branch in Aalborg was the second branch of the Church organized in Denmark. It was raised up by the late Elder George P. Dykes, who accompanied Apostle Erastus Snow on his famous mission to Scandi-navia in 1850. The branch was organ-ized Nov. 8, 1850, and has ever since been one of the most flourishing been one of the most flourishing branches of the Church in Denmark Among the many who have embraced the fulness of the Gospel here and who ubsequently have figured prominently Subsequently have figured prominently in the Church is also our esteemed brother, President Anthon H. Lund, who is a native of Atiborg. At the present time the prospects for success-ful missionary work in Aalborg and vi-cinity are better than they have been for many years. The meetings are well attended, and there are many peo-ple of the better middle class who at the present time are carnest investithe present time are carnest investi-gators of the principles of the Gomel, and among the members of the Church and among the members of the Church there are quite a number of highly ra-spectable families. Besides President Plowman, the following Elders are la-boring as missionaries in Aalborg and vicinity: John Hogsted of Salem, Ida. president of the branch; Julius C. Beck of Alpine, Utah; and Fred W. Christon-sen of Holbrook, Ida. In the neighbor-ing city of Nibe, three other mission-aries from Zion are carrying on suc-cessful missionary work; they are hir-ing a hall and holding meetings, have recently organized a Sunday school and a young people's association, and it is a young people's association, and it is the intention to organize those already baptized there into a branch of the Church some time during the present month. A most successful program recently carried out by the Saints and Filders in Nika in connection with Elders in Nibe in connection with a Christmas tree has aroused the ire of the parish priest, who has challenged the Elders to a public discussion of the principles of "Mormonism," The Ellers will accept the challenge if details can be satisfactorily arranged and terms agreed upon. Elder Smith also dwelt upon the evil effects of tobacco upon the human system. He explained the use the Lord had designated if to be put to, for bruises and slek cattle, but thought, judging from the large amount of tobacco used, there must be a great many sick cattle throughout the land. Two other Elders, namely Christian P. Larsen of Center-field. Utah, and Joseph S. Hansen of Mink Creek, Ida., are laboring on the Island of Morso, with headquarters in the little city of Nykjobing. Elder Kimball cautioned the Saints against living on "borrowed light," They should live worthy of the Spirit of the Lord and act under its inspira-tion. The Lord expects His children to think for themselves. Those who live for it are entitled to revelation to guide them. He dwelt upon the principle of marriage and urged young people to prepare themselves so as to receive this prepare themselves so as to receive this ordinance at the proper age in life. They should live pure lives and then expect those whom they marry to be just as pure. Men and women who re-ject the principle of marriage cannot receive the highest exaltation in the kingdom of God, neither do they en-joy the highest degree of happiness in life. the present time consists of 41 organiz-ed branches, and that 19 Elders from Zion are engaged in missionary labors in this part of Denmark. Aalborg con-ference embraces the northern portion of the Jutland or Cimbrian peninsula, and includes districts which are inhab-lied by an honest, industrious people, who in former years were known for their hospitality to the "Mormon" El-ders, though persecution and mobbings on many occasions have also fallen to the lot of the Elders in these parts, especially in the earlier days. Thus the ter ble mobbing of June, 1851, when the hall rented by the Saints in Aalborg was almost entirely demolished, and the windows and doors on nearly all the Saints' private dwellings were smashed, will form part of the history of this mission; nor will it ever be forgotten that to Aalborg belongs the distinction of possessing a grave in which the mor-
