TORPID BOWELS and DISORDERED LIVER.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, a feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work, and are a perfect

EVENING NEWS.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

The afternoon service in the Tabernacle yesterday, which was presided over by Elder Henry P. Richards, of the High Council, opened with the choir singing the hymn commencing with

Our God, we raise to thee,
Thanks for thy blessings free.

After prayer by Elder E. Snelgrove, the choir sang

O God, th' Eternal Father,
Who dwells amid the sky.

The Priesthood of the Second Ward officiated in blessing and dispensing the Sacrament.

Elder James H. Moyle being called upon, addressed the congregation, stating in the outset that he responded to the call only from a strong sense of duty and not because he considered himself qualified to instruct or entertain the people. Attributed the request made of him to the fact that he had been absent from the Territory for some time, not as a missionary, however, but as a student attending a college. He was proud of the fact, and had not been ashamed to acknowledge it while absent, that he was a Latter-day Saint—had been born one, indeed, as his mother had before him, and that he had been reared in Utah. Such an assertion made to people of the world was likely to call forth exclamations of surprise and incredulity, as he had learned by experience; but he had not personally been ill-treated or shown any disrespect because of it. On the contrary, he had been treated with the utmost kindness and consideration by his class-mates and others, even after his religious status became known to them; which, by the way, tended more to lessen his ardor in regard to religion than persecution could have done. While he had found a strong prejudice and feeling of opposition towards the Saints and their religion and persons ready to take issue with him in argument in regard to certain principles of our faith, they were generally respectful towards him and willing to acknowledged when cornered that the Saints had been greatly wronged. The hatred for the Saints and their religion was not so intense and unreasoning in more distant places as nearer by. He had found since coming home that there were persons in our midst who were continually seeking for pretexts to call down the vengeance of the nation upon the Saints. The action of the Saints in expressing their sorrow over departed liberty in the appropriate manner in which they did on the Fourth had been made to serve as such a pretext. Much of the railing against "Mormonism" was for political effect. The Saints were not the only people whose motives had been misconstrued and misrepresented. Reformers in various ages had been served so. Socrates, one of the purest characters of whom we have any record, who refused emolument and spent his life in acquiring knowledge and imparting it for the benefit as others, and of whom Cicro said he had brought down philosophy from the heavens, was brought before the court of Athens charged with corrupting the youth. Paul declared that he and his fellow disciples were counted of the offscouring of the earth. Martin Luther and other religious reformers were vilified, persecuted and some of them put to death because of their efforts to benefit and enlighten their fellows. Morse, the inventor of the electric telegraph was regarded as a lunatic because of the theory he indulged in and subsequently developed the great benefit of the world. John Quincey Adams was brought before Congress to be censured for denouncing slavery, and now his memory is venerated by the posterity of the Congressmen who censured him. It had taken about 100 years for great truths and their expoeents to be appreciated by the world, and the Gospel as taught by the Saints seemed to be no exception to the rule.

He had heard it predicted when a boy that all the sacred provisions of the Constitution would be violated in the effort to crush out "Mormonism." Was reminded of it when he heard Senator Hoar in making a political speech declare that the "Mormons" must be extirpated law or no law, justice or no justice, and when his auditors applauded the sentiment. The spectacle of men being sent to prison for the conscientious practice of their religion, in which no one was wronged, was a further illustration of it. The claim that religion should be made to conform to men's ever changing ideas and feelings sounds strangely inconsistent, coming from men who pretend to believe in the Bible. Persecution will never have the effect of extinguishing the truth; nor will it crush out the love of liberty and respect for the Constitution from the hearts of the Saints. The fires of patriotism never burned with a more ardent flame than when the liberty, the lives—the all of a people were demanded as a sacrifice.

Apostle John Henry Smith remarked that if there was any one thing he enjoyed more than another, it was liberty—the privilege of following the dictates of his own conscience. Since his return from his mission he had been visiting among the different Stakes, seeking to encourage the Saints. His faith never was stronger than to-day. Was confident that the efforts made to hedge up the way of the Saints and bring destruction upon them would fail, and that the Lord would bring His people off triumphant. It was not pleasant to see men suffering imprisonment for conscience sake, but in view of the predictions that had been uttered he did not consider it a cause for mourning. He had been taught, and had proclaimed it to others that the Saints would meet with continued and increasing opposition, and that "the little stone cut out of the mountain without hands" would excite the jealousy and hatred of mankind, who would be able to give no reason for their feelings; and he had seen the fulfilment of that declaration. The Lord had promised to soften the hearts of the enemies of His people from time to time, that His work might spread, and this also had been done.

The principles of the Gospel were alluded to by the speaker and that of faith especially dwelt upon and illustrated by a reference to Morse, Edison and others who had labored or were at present engaged in the development of science. In speaking of the principle of present revelation, he said the God who wrestled with Jacob, talked with Abraham and Moses and made known His will to other ancient worthies could, and it was reasonable to suppose that He would, reveal His will in this age. He had found many people willing to listen to the primary principles of the Gospel, but when the principle of revelation was touched upon they were ready to reject all and even to deny or explain away the Bible, upon which they claimed to base their faith. Had thought it strange that the world could not believe in the divine mission of Joseph Smith. His works amply proved his claims to inspiration. Luther, Wesley, Knox and all the other reformers had failed to evolve from the Scriptures and the intelligence with which they were endowed a system that would compare in point of perfection in organization and in the harmony of its doctrines with that inaugurated through this illiterate boy. The superiority of the "Mormon" Church over all others in these respects had been admitted and pointed to with alarm in the halls of Congress. Joseph Smith could not have accomplished what he did without the aid of the Almighty. He knew that Joseph Smith was a true Prophet and that the doctrines taught by him were from God as well as he knew that he lived. There was no need of the Saints feeling uneasy or concerned about the outcome of the work with which they were connected. The Almighty was able to take care of his own work. Good results would yet flow from the persecution being endured. Men might be put under bonds or cast into prison, but the progress of truth would not be stayed by such means. If the question were asked if he did not hate those who sought to deprive the Saints of their rights, he would answer "No; I dare not harbor malice. I hate their misdeeds and I pity those who engage in them, but I hate none of sons or daughters of God."

The speaker alluded to the fact of his being a polygamous child and declared that he was proud of it, and said that his parents were literal descendants of the early settlers of America who had fled to this country for religious freedom. He had been taught to love his country and revere its Constitution, and felt to do so, and was also determined to be true to his religion and his God. He had been taught from his infancy that Patriarchal marriage was a pure and God like principle, and though popular prejudice had led Congress to decide otherwise it did not prove it so. The Constitution provided that "Congress shall make no law for the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." The claim that belief only was implied was preposterous. Men could not be prevented from believing what they chose, even under the most despotic governments. The remarks closed with a testimony to the truth of the Gospel and the final triumph of the work of God.

The choir sang an anthem and benediction was offered by Elder Samuel Neslen.

CORRESPONDENCE.

ANOTHER VERSION.

Dispute over a base ball game which the parties had better settle by playing Again.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 25, 1885.

Editor Deseret News:

In your issue of the 22nd inst., under the heading of correspondence, the workmen of Z. C. M. I. Shoe Factory refer to a game of base ball they played with us—workmen of Solomon Bros. and Gold. The facts in the case are these: They first sent us a challenge, which we accepted and put in an appearance on the evening agreed upon, but the Z. C. M. I. men did not come, and after awaiting on the square some time a boy was sent for them who returned and told us they were not coming. Then we sent them a challenge which was accepted. We met our fellow Knights of St. Crispin on Monday evening last, but some of our boys failed to come, and we selected two others from the field, not, however, without the consent of our opponents. They also chose one from the field because they lacked one of their nine. We fail to see where the error occurred, when both parties agreed to these arrangements. Not wishing to say any more on this subject after this date, we subscribe ourselves,

GEORGE W. CLARKE,
JOHN HOLMES,
BRIG. SOLOMON.

Health, Wealth and Happiness

Are more intimately connected with a sound stomach and good condition of the blood than most people suppose. Thin blood means weakness, languor and misery. A dyspeptic stomach means all the horrors you can think of. Brown's Iron Bitters means enriched blood, good digestion, healthy appetite, sweet sleep and vigorous strength. Mr. Henry Hallman, South 17th Street, St. Louis, says, "Brown's Iron Bitters relieved me of dyspepsia, purified my blood, and gave me an appetite." Thousands of others testify in the same way.

FOR THE BLOOD BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Combining IRON with PURE VEGETABLE TONICS, quickly and completely CLEANSES and ENRICHES THE BLOOD. Quickens the action of the Liver and Kidneys. Clears the complexion, makes the skin smooth. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—ALL OTHER IRON MEDICINES DO. Physicians and Druggists everywhere recommend it.

DR. N. S. RUGGLES, of Marion, Mass., says: "I recommend Brown's Iron Bitters as a valuable tonic in enriching the blood, and restoring all dyspeptic symptoms. It does not hurt the teeth."

DR. R. M. DEJARNETT, Reynolds, Ind., says: "I have prescribed Brown's Iron Bitters in cases of anæmia and blood diseases, also when a tonic was needed, and it has proved thoroughly satisfactory."

Mr. Wm. Sexton, 28 St. Mary St., New Orleans, La., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters relieved me in a case of blood poisoning, and I heartily commend it to those needing a purifier."

A BOOK ENTITLED THE HISTORY of the French in America, published by R. A. N. Harvey, is now ready for sale and will be delivered to the Salt Lake subscribers during the next two weeks, and its delivery to the Southern Utah subscribers will commence July 20th. The work is complete in two parts and gives a most interesting and instructive description of six years of life and travel in the Province of Quebec, and the complete history of British North America under French and English rule. Also, discusses some of the leading features of the Mormon Question, from an impartial Gentile standpoint, condemning the sectarian bias that exists in this Territory, which retards the development of its grand and unlimited natural resources. Forms a book of over 400 pages, pica type, illustrated with wood cuts. Bound in Turkey Morocco $2; Imitation Morocco $1.50; Half Library $1.25; Cloth $1.00; Paper Cover 70c. Address:

LEGAL NOTICE.

In the Probate Court in and for the County of Salt Lake, Territory of Utah.

In the Matter of the Estate of William W. Taylor, Deceased.

Order appointing Time and Place for hearing Petition for Order to Sell Real Estate.

IT APPEARING TO THE HON. ELIAS A. Smith, Judge of the said Court, by the petition of John W. Taylor, Administrator of the Estate of William W. Taylor, deceased (herein filed, praying for an order to sell real estate belonging to said estate) that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate to pay the debts outstanding against said estate, the balance of the family allowance heretofore made, and the debts, expenses and charges of administration.

It is hereby ordered: That all persons interested in said estate appear before the Probate Court of the County of Salt Lake, Territory of Utah, at the Court Room of said Court, in the Court House in Salt Lake City, on Thursday, the 30th day of July, A. D. 1885, at 10 o'clock a. m., then and there to show cause why an order should not be granted to the said John W. Taylor, Administrator, to sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased as shall be necessary to pay said debts and expenses.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published in the DESERET EVENING NEWS, a newspaper printed and published in Salt Lake County, for four successive weeks before said 30th day of July, A. D. 1885.

Dated June 26th, 1885.

ELIAS A. SMITH, Probate Judge.

TERRITORY OF UTAH, County of Salt Lake, } ss.

I, John C. Cutler, Clerk of the Probate Court in and for the County of Salt Lake, in the Territory of Utah, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of order appointing time and place for hearing petition to sell Real Estate, in the matter of the Estate of William W. Taylor, deceased, as appears of record in my office.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court, this 26th day of June, A. D. 1885.
