AND OTHER MATTERS.

ON TUESDAY'S DAILY, APRIL 17

The Farmington Case.—Yesterday George Steed, of Farmington, was arrested by deputy U. S. Marshal Captain Greenman. Steed had been indicted by the grand jury for assault with a deadly weapon on Robert White, the alleged father of his wife. Mr. Steed was released on bonds of $1,000, for his appearance for trial.

Wants a Situation.—A lady of excellent character and affable manner, a member of the Church, is anxious of obtaining a situation in a family in this city. She would like to undertake the care of children, for which she is admirably adapted, of the lighter class of work about the household. For particulars or reference apply at this office.

Hop Raising.—Major W. Berry, an experienced hop raiser in Fenton County, New York, concluded to take up his abode in Utah, and establish the industry in which he is so thoroughly familiar in all its details. After cast about in the Territory for the best location on which to establish a hop, he finally selected Provo Bench, at three miles from that town, where he has secured 80 acres of land for the purpose. He has there already planted eight acres in hop, which he grubbed out of the bent canon with his own efforts. He asserts that Utah is the natural home of the hop, and anticipates being able to raise 15,000 pounds to a acre. Hops are now sold at 80 cents a pound, and $35,000 goes out of the Territory annually for the article. Major Berry states that there is ready market for all that can be raised, and there is plenty of room for others to engage in hop culture, being money in the land, as it would pay if the reward were only 20 cents a pound. It is an industry that will supply a deal of labor to the people. We wish the Major success. It will be years before he will get re-

The Church in Norway.—The following letter from Elder C. H. Hanson, of South Cottonwood, laboring as a missionary in Northern Norway, to Elder Andrew Johnson, has been handed in for publication:

"I arrived here in old Nidaros (Trondheim) on the 18th of November, 1882, and since my arrival have labored principally in this city. Missionaries commenced their labors here as early as 1855; which time about 400 persons have been baptized, and most of them have emigrated to Utah. The church now numbers 82 members, and are scattered over the whole of Norway. The members are of the following names: 'Stift' and 'Nord' and are in the main very poor and unable to emigrate, until they shall be pleased to put their hands through some of their friends in Zion or elsewhere. Of them are, however, as noble and noble souls as can be found here. The poor people here suffering in the extreme, as is very scarce, and when emigration can be had the pay is unacceptably low. There are several intelligent members who will be of good service to the church if they could be emigrated; and others we have an able comrade, who has no employment at present. This part of the Norwegian people has always been a hard one for brethren have frequently been exposed to much persecution. The people are very religious, and the ministers of the various denominations are very busy in their endeavors to gain converts to their different creeds. Our progress has been very much impeded through the lack of suitable missionaries, as we have often been compelled to use Danish brethren, not having had sufficient Norwegian element to labor with. There is so much difference between the Danish and the Norwegian language, spoken so far north as this, that a Danish missionary can not make himself understood by the people, not even by the members of the Church. Many years experience has taught us that Norwegian Elders are best suited to Norway, Swedish to Sweden and Danish to Denmark, for it is absolutely necessary that the principles of the Gospel be explained clearly and understandingly to the people, otherwise they will not hearken."

WANTS TO KNOW.

Editor Deseret News:

Can you tell me when the awards are to be made for the musical and poetic compositions for which the Sunday School Union devoted $200 of its funds for prizes? It seems that sufficient time has elapsed from the date allowed for the reception of the latest production to admit of the matter being fully developed ready for publicity.

INQUIRITOR.

Salt Lake, April 18th, 1883.

We have not the information at hand with which to answer the question, but perhaps the adjudication committee on the subject will kindly "rise and explain," for the benefit of "Inquirer" and doubtless many others who are probably getting a trifle impatient.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY, APRIL 18.

Ogden Mortuary.—The sexton's report of Ogden City for the quarter ending March 31st, 1883, shows that 37 deaths occurred during that period. Of these 14 were adults and 23 children; males 23, females 14. Fourteen of the decedents were non-residents of Ogden.

Fish Culture.—Dr. J. D. M. Crockwell is paying a great deal of attention to pisciculture at Clear Lake Fish Farm. His latest acquisition in that line was 350 Rainbow or McLeod River trout eggs, which he placed in his incubators and are doing well.

Deseret Hospital Association.—An annual meeting of the officers and members of the Deseret Hospital Association will be held in the Council House, in this city, on Saturday, the 12th of May, proximo, at 2 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of transacting business pertaining to the interests of the Association.

E. R. SNOW SMITH, Pres.
E. B. WELLS, Sec'y.

Inroads of the Destroyer.—An obituary notice in another part of this paper tells a very sad tale, announcing the death, within a brief time, of four children, aged all the way from a little over two to eighteen years, of Swen and Sarah S. Jacobs, of Newton, Cache County. This is indeed a bereavement which makes a wide gap in one family circle, and calls for the sympathy of all who are cognizant of the case. We observed also that death has even made a still wider breach; the two children of Christian and Mary A. Nelson, mentioned in the same connection, are the grandchildren of Brother and Sister Jacobs, making the number of deaths six in all in the afflicted family.

Expression of Appreciation.—The following but expresses the facts regarding the treatment of every respectful and respectable non-"Mormon" by Latter-day saints, whose kindness and hospitality are never withheld from the distressed:

Editor Deseret News:

Permit me, through the columns of your paper, to tender my sincere thanks to the people of Salina for their kindness to me during the sickness, death and burial of my wife, daughter of A. Hamilton, of Prattville, in this county. She died on March 15th, ult.

I came to this Territory a "Gentile" and never joined the "Mormon" religion.

It is believed outside of this Territory, from what is said by those opposed to the "Mormons," that a "Gentile" has no kindness tendered him among the "Mormons" when in trouble. But I am proud to be able to say that I have found it quite the reverse in my case, and no reference was made in any shape relative to my being a non-"Mormon" or otherwise, but all the kindness and courtesy that could be expected were tendered. I am convinced, from my experience, that any and all persons, no matter of what faith or creed they may be, if they will treat the "Mormons" as they themselves would like to be treated, will find friends among them as I have done, when they stand in need of help and comfort.

Your kindness in inserting the above will greatly oblige,

Yours, THOS. F. VANCE,
A non-"Mormon."
Salina, Sevier County, Utah,
April 14th, 1883.

A ROSY PICTURE.

A CORRESPONDENT DESCRIBES A NEW COUNTRY IN GLOWING COLORS.

A gentleman writing from Dove Creek, Utah, informs us that he has been on a trip through Northern Utah and Southern Idaho, and thus describes a particular valley which seems to have struck his fancy:

"The first place of interest I observed, was Junction Valley, in Utah. This is a fertile spot of country, good for all kinds of farming and grazing purposes. It extends into the Goose Creek range of mountains. It is expansive, there being plenty of room in it for a large and flourishing settlement. There are now about thirty families settled, but this number hardly makes a showing. There are large bodies of water flowing from the mountains through the valley, enough to irrigate every foot of land, and make it 'blossom as the rose.' All this vast amount of water is at the present time wasted, and this is a shame when there are so many people looking for homes.

The stock ranges is the very best, and cattle and horses do splendidly, but sheep are the natural stock for this country. They are healthy, always in good order and appear to be particularly free from the scab. The writer of this article would say to the stockmen, both large and small, of over-crowded Utah and elsewhere to move to this country and bring their flocks and herds with them. They will find plenty of range for winter and summer, and good land that can very easily be made into splendid hay land.

This part with the adjoining city of rocks and the neighboring Raft River valley is an excellent farming country, and all the grains and crops that can be raised anywhere can be produced to perfection here. Already farmers have begun to settle here and their pleasant and comfortable homes show the great fruitfulness of the country better than I can tell it. If people are crowded and want to farm come to this country and get the very best of lands and lots of water, and good homes in a short time. The climate is mild, very even and healthy. Those who have grown up sons and daughters and want to locate them, and live near them, this is surely the place to select.

FROM THURSDAY'S DAILY, APRIL 19.

Seriously Ill.—We are pained to have to state that Brother Laron Pratt, a son of the late Apostle Orson Pratt, is dangerously ill of pneumonia. Brother Laron has been an employee in the composing room of this office for many years, and is a good and respectable citizen.

Rebate Blanks.—We are informed that the Collector of Internal Revenue has received the rebate blanks and labels for tobacco dealers who are entitled to claim rebate on tobacco tax May first. The blanks give all needed instructions. Orders will be filled as received.

A Rough Court Scene.—This afternoon attorney Dilley was before

Justice Spiers on a charge of assaulting his wife, by beating her over the head with a bottle. The accused acted in a most outrageous manner. Judge Snow, prosecuting attorney drew the attention of the Court to the fact that Dilley was drunk and had threatened him, and had repeatedly called him a "liar." The Court fined Dilley $10 for contempt and directed him to be taken into the custody of the officers until the fine was paid.

No Reporters Need Apply.—The Denver Republican of the 16th, has the following regarding John W. Young, Esq., and Le Grande Young, Esq.:

"Last evening, a reporter for the Republican sent his card to Mr. John Young, and followed the bell boy up the stairs. Mr. Young took the card, after it had been shoved under the door, and said: 'Can't see anyone; tell the reporter to wait for Le Grand, who will be here soon.' That was all; not another word would he utter. Soon the reporter rapped upon the door again, and this time was answered by Mr. Le Grande Young, who had come during the interval. The gentleman complained of being too tired to speak. It is evident they do not take kindly to interviewers."

Serious Accident to a Young Lady.—Last night Miss Lizzie Chamberlain, a young lady who resides in the Eighth Ward was cleaning a pair of gloves, which were on her hands. For this purpose she used a volatile illuminating fluid, which unfortunately caught fire, burning her hands so badly that the physician called in was not certain last evening whether or not she would lose the use of some of her fingers. In any event it is thought she will not be able to use her hands for several weeks. The injury might have been much worse had it not been that, with unusual presence of mind, the young lady thrust her hands into a vessel of water, thus extinguishing the flames much quicker than they would otherwise have been put out.

Street Car Accident.—Shortly after six o'clock last night, as a car of the street railroad was traveling eastward from the Utah Central Railroad depot, when nearly opposite Meredith's store, a boy who had been hanging to the side of the vehicle lost his grip and fell off, and one of the wheels ran over his foot, crushing it very severely. We understand, however, that notwithstanding the severity of the injury, no bones were broken. From what we could learn it did not appear that any blame was attachable to the driver. In fact it is a wonder, from the way in which many children persistently climb upon the cars that more accidents do not occur. The drivers find it an impossibility at times to keep the juveniles off. We did not get the injured boy's name.

Proposed Public Building.—Last night, at the Twentieth Ward school house, there was a meeting of leading members of that ecclesiastical section of the city to take into consideration the advisability of proceeding forthwith to erect a new meeting house on the Square. The decision was decidedly and unanimously favorable to the project. The building committee are: George Romney, S. P. Teasdel and James Sharp. It was decided that the house should be built from a fund created by donations, to solicit which the following were appointed a committee, with districts assigned: W. H. Rowe, Geo. Reynolds, C. R. Savage, T. B. Lewis, G. M. Ottinger and D. C. Dunbar.

We understand the intention to be to erect a substantial building of goodly proportions, with a basement for Sunday School and Society meetings.

A Proposed Building Association.—Last night a preliminary meeting, composed of about a hundred citizens, was held in the large room of Z. C. M. I. Shoe Factory, to take steps toward the organization of a building society. Brother Francis Cope was elected chairman, and A. Parsons secretary. The primary object of the association is said to be to enable the members of the organization to obtain comfortable homes on the same plan adopted by similar institutions in England—a system of loans repaid by easy installments.

A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws. They are: T. G. Webber, William Langton, H. W. Naisbitt, Bishop James Watson, Charles W. Stayner, Francis Cope and Jno. Schofield. A. Parsons was appointed secretary for this committee.

The meeting was adjourned till next Monday evening, when it is probable the committee on constitution and by-laws will be prepared to report, and a permanent organization of the association effected. Those who are interested in the matter are invited to be present.

We are informed that the movement has been under consideration and in contemplation for several months past, but has only now taken definite shape.

UTAH SILK.

SAMPLES SENT TO THE EAST APPRECIATED BY A CULTURIST.

Some time since a number of specimens of Utah silk, among them a piece of the material from which Sister E. R. Snow Smith's dress was made, a quantity of Sister Dunyon's sewing silk, also a quantity of Sister Robinson's silk were forwarded by Sister Beebe to a lady in the East, who sent the following encouraging acknowledgment, which, by courtesy of Brother A. M. Musser, to whom it was forwarded from Provo, we are enabled to publish:

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.,
March 14, 1883.

My dear Mrs. Pratt:

Your very kind favor of Feb. 17th, is just received, and also the specimens of Utah's silk manufactures, for which Mrs. Beebe will please accept my sincere thanks. I wish the women of the rest of the country had the energy, accompanied by the real smartness that has been displayed by the women of Utah. Were they to follow the example here set before them, and display the energy shown by those producing these samples, the United States would lead the world as silk culturists and silk manufacturers. The latter we are fast coming to.

I am grateful to you for not waiting till your mother's return to send me these articles, and I beg of you and your mother both not to think me importunate or avaricious, when, like "Oliver Twist, I ask for more." Having once seen this purely American work I am very anxious to have a special collection from Utah. This present was so unexpected, so unlike what I supposed Mrs. Beebe would send me that I am very grateful, and I hope you will forgive me for presuming on your kindness by asking for more, remembering, if you will kindly do so, that I am but a young girl, struggling for a support, ambitious, and I hope, deserving.

With love and best wishes to your mother and yourself. I am gratefully yours,

NELLIE LINCOLN ROSSITER,
Silk Culturist.
