EVENING NEWS.

Thursday . August 31, 1882.

Curious Casualties.

If there should arise some day an author or a dramatist who would present in his tales or his plays nothing but facts, he would be regarded—and justly—as a wildly sensational inventor of impossible incidents and coincidences. For, instance, it would be thought absurd to have a "heavy villian" killed off by letting a ship fall on him, as John Hart was killed last fall in the floating dock at the foot of Clinton St., East River, or to have a woman who was in the garden hanging out the clothes, crushed by a horse falling on her from an adjoining house, which was the fate of Mrs. Spier, of No. 641 Hudson Street. At Atlantic, N. J., Jacob Wagner was crushed by a horse falling into the well he was digging. On the other hand, at Levis, opposite Quebec, a farmer with his team and a sleigh loaded with cordwood fell over a cliff sixty feet high, without himself or the animals or the sleigh suffering injury. The cow of Edward Beekman, of Middleton, N. J. was a doomed animal. She had been mired, but was drawn out and placed in a straw heap to recover her strength, and a spark from a locomotive set fire to the straw, and burned her to death. Two men were mending a tank in Louisville, when a red-hot bolt dropped into a can of turpentine at the bottom and set the tank on fire. They could not agree which should climb through the exit-hole first, and both were burned to death. At Reading, Pa., John Goerner went to varnish the inside of a beer vat with a lamp in his hand, and the gas exploding blew out of the man-hole, but he was not killed. At Erie, a boilermaker, Joseph Herbe, was similarly blown out of a boiler and terribly injured; while at Bradford, while John McCleary was torpedoing an oil well, it made a flow, hurling him a distance of 100 feet and exploded the 48-pound nitro-glycerine torpedo without injuring him severely. When A. O'Connell, of Helena, Mont., fractured a rib while sneezing, a city contemporary called it "an accident perhaps without a parallel." At Indianapolis, Mary Haurehau burst her eyeball while sneezing, and over in Brooklyn officer George S. Payne yawned his shoulder out of joint. At Newark, in August last, a red-hot bar from a rolling mill machine pierced Michael McEvoy through the leg as he sprang to prevent a fellow-workman from being perforated by a bar of from another machine. At Albany, Daniel Killeen was killed not long afterwards by a similar bar entering his body while he was sleeping. As fireman Daniels was driving engine 33 out of the engine house in this city, one of the ropes by which the harness is suspended from the roof caught him round the neck, and he was with an ace of being hanged. At Ghent, N. Y., a boy driving along a tree-shaded road was caught up by a bough which ran into his thick, woolen muffler, and had an escape as narrow. So had Mr. Church, of Passaic, who drove into a hanging telephone wire. At Saginaw, Michigan, while a man was sitting in the crotch of a tree to saw off a limb, the crotch split as the limb fell, letting letting him down into the opening and then closing on him. It took an hour of chopping and prying to get him out of the trap, and several of his ribs were broken by the squeezing. A lady in Philadelphia, who leaped up to hang a dress upon a hook, caught her ring in the hook and hung there, her feet not touching the ground. A similar accident befell a Boston woman, who jumped up to light a hall gas lamp, and was hooked to the tap by her ring. Bob Johnson, of Winnipeg, going home drunk, stepped into a slough by the fence and was unable to get out before his feet were frozen into the mud, so that he perished of exposure. A priest of Puchkirken, in Styria, who had a careless habit of leaving his pen in the ink-stand point upward, pricked himself in palm of the hand and died after eight weeks of agony from blood poisoning. Mrs. Mary Ferguson, of Brooklyn, was killed in three days by a prick from a pin in the finger. A schoolgirl at Franklin, Ind., fell and put out her eye with the slate pencil she was carrying; Mary Roila, of Lincoln, Ill., fell and drove the stem of the tobacco pipe she was smoking through her tongue. Both accidents belong to a numerous and fatal class. A Cincinnati inebriate put his open penknife into his pocket, and, falling, receiving a fatal wound which he insisted had been given him by an enemy. Mrs. Crowley, was caught up in the streets of Patterson by a passing locomotive, and carried thirty miles on the cow-catcher without receiving serious injury, and J. B. Hays, a track-walker on the Geneva, Ithaca and Sayre road, was struck by a train running forty-five miles an hour without being hurt. If Philomena Lang, of Chicago, had not endeavored to pull her dog away from in front of an approaching locomotive she would not have been killed. At Niblo's Garden, Samuel Nixon, one of the soldiers in "Michael Strogoff," was shot thrice in the leg, the audience applauding his realistic writhing. At Indianopolis, Albert Mathey selected the moment at which a cannon was discharged in "The World" to peep under the door, receiving the blank cartridge in the face. At Kingston, N. Y., Master Shoot, aged 8, attempting to produce an imitation of "Zazel's" mortar act with a fire-cracker and a chair, threw himself backward out of a third-story window, and at Harrisburg, Pa., a seven-year-old boy, playing circus, stood on his head till he brought on a fatal attack of brain fever. Mr. Rhes, of Norfolk, Va., fell dead while romping with a large company of children on the sand, and the little ones, thinking the fit a part of the game, enjoyed it greatly. Dr. Rudsill, of Forsyth, Ga., bowled himself over while playing tenpins and broke his leg. A bee flew into the mouth of Mr. Van Meter, of Oroville, Cal., and stung him so that the throat closed up, and he died instantly. At Markam, in England, an owl whipped three boys who had taken her young, blinding one for life. In one street in London two children were killed by gamecocks within a month. As a Michigan youth was leading a horse by the halter, the animal sprang suddenly to one side and the jerk broke the boy's neck. In the Liverpool workhouse, Ellen Colman, aged 104, died of swallowing a pinch of snuff. Mrs. Hawes, of Leicester, while coughing swallowed two of her false teeth, and was strangled—a common accident. Thomas Clarke, of Wakefield, England, while attempting to puff a dart armed with a needle through a tube, sucked it into his windpipe and died. At Westfield, Texas, James Worseworth, caught by a terrible storm in an open field, was pelted to death by hailstones. A Cincinnati clerk, while removing an article from the shop window with a brass rod, touched an electric light wire and was hurled throught the plate-glass out upon the sidewalk. Jacob Bohrer, a brewery hand in Morrisania, turned a stream of compressed air into a hogshead of beer and the barrel exploded, killing him. A woman of Wooler, Northumberland, carrying home a fagot by a strap passed round her head, leaned the bundle against a fence to rest herself, when it slipped over and the strap strangled her—a common accident. Julia Joel, of Ennis, Tex., tried to crawl into the locked house through a window, when the sash fell on her neck and she was strangled. Mr. Terrill, of Monroe, N. C., while fencing his child's grave, tripped fell on it, breaking his neck on the rail he was carving. Mrs. Spicer, of Wellsville, Pa., caught her foot on a ragged oilcloth, and, pitching headlong upon the stove, broke her neck. Deacon Ellis, of Rumford, R. I., cut his hand while opening a bottle of communion wine in church, the wound bringeng on lockjaw. At Troy a young man set fire ta his eyeglasses, which were framed in celluloid; and finally, at Plainfield, N. J., a fireman had the side of his head crushed in by a stream of Water.—New York World.

MIXED SPICE.

"Circumstances alter cases" said an unsuccessful lawyer, and I wish I could find some cases that would alter my circumstances."

Fortune is said to knock once at every man's door. Not only that, but fortune seems to climb into the windows of some folks and stay with them—Misfortune.

A negro congregation at Austin, Texas, thought their pastor had their color in mind when he frequently spoke of "the powers of darkness," and requested him to stop such talk or resign.

When a young lady asked to look at a parasol, the clerk said: "Will you please give the shade you want?" "I expect the parasol to give the shade I want," said the young lady.—Ex.

"Do you believe in signs?" asked the shop keeper. "Well, I used to," said Fogg, "but since you placed in the window 'Selling for less than cost,' I have weakened considerably."—Boston Transcript.

Nellie has a four-year-old sister, Mary, who complains to her mamma, that her "button shoes" were "hurting." "Why, Mattie, you've put them on the wrong feet." Puzzled and ready to cry, she made answer, "What'll I do, mamma? They's all the feet I've got."

According to answers given by Michican candidates for school teachers' places, there had been twenty-five Presidents of the United States, the word "man" was a "maskaline noun," and the three divisions of the Federal Government were "the monarchal, aristocratical, and democrat."

Last Sunday, as an Austin clergyman was wending his way to the sanctuary, he saw a boy with a fishing pole over his shoulder, going in the opposite direction. "Don't you know your a bad boy?" "Yes, sir." "Don't your father ever punish you?" "Yes, sir; last summer he made me go to Sunday School twice."—Texas Siftings.

A young lady who has distinguished herself at the Camtridge local examination, had just been relating some astounding astronomical facts and figures. Said her cousin, who "never went in for that sort of thing, you know." I see how one can find out how large and how far away the stars are; but, by Jove, I don't quite see how they ever found out their names."

The son of an Austin butcher experienced great difficulty in comprehending fractions, although his teacher did his very best to make him understand their intricacies. "Now let us suppose," said the teacher, "that a customer came to your father to buy five pounds of meat, and he only had four to sell—what would he do?" "Keep his hand on the meat while he was weighing it, and then it would weigh more than five pounds," was the candid response.—Texas Siftings.

A clergyman of this city was met last week by a woman who has little reverence for the cloth. "Tell me," said she, with a benignant smile, which did not, however, disguise the acidity of her question, "why you close your church in the summer? Do not your parishioners require to be protected from the evil one in the warm weather, as well as in the cold?" "Oh! bless your soul, no," was the prompt response. "The evil one never stays in town in July and August. He follows the rest of the world to the watering places."

THE CASE AGITATOR

Ahead of all Other Competitors!

SALT LAKE CITY, August 12th, 1882.

J. W. Lowell, Esq.,

Dear Sir.—The J. I. Case Agitator we bought of you last season is the best machine we ever saw or used; it will thresh more grain and thresh it better and cleaner than any other machine we have ever seen, and we can confidently recommend it to any persons wishing to purchase a good Thresher.

Yours, etc.,
G. W. LUFKIN,
W. A. BARRON.

ASHLEY'S FORK, UINTAH Co., Feb. 26th, 1882.

John W. Lowell,

Dear Sir.—The Agitator Separator and Woodbury Power that we bought of you, we can truly say give entire satisfaction. It beats anything that we ever saw to thresh and clean. We have run seven different kinds of machines, but this is the champion. The cleaning and the separating are perfect. We have not had a man find fault with it yet, and we believe that the people here will testify to our statement as being the truth. It comes as near being perfect as it is possible for a machine to be. We cannot tell you upon paper all its superior qualities or how much we think of it, but can say this, that could we not get another like it, no money would buy it.

Yours truly,
GEORGE BROWN,
S. J. CAMPBELL,
WM. P. REYNOLDS,
ROBERT BODILY.

CEDAR CITY, Sep. 23rd, 1881.

John W. Lowell,

Dear Sir.—Our machine, Agitator, is doing excellent work. Cleans the best and threshes faster than any Thresher we ever saw.

We remain,
CORRY & HUNTER.

LEHI, Utah County, February 7th, 1882.

To John W. Lowell, Esq.,

Dear Sir.—As our opinions have often been asked about the merits of the Agitator Threshing Machine we purchased from you last fall, we take pleasure in sending you the following as our experience with it. To answer the numerous inquiries, and perhaps others who would like to know, we recommend the following points of superiority over all other machines we are acquainted with—

1st.—Lightness of draft. Our team of five span of average native horses and mules, being fully equal to the work, and without crowding or hurrying them, they gave us all the speed and power we needed.

2nd.—Thorough threshing and cleaning, and that without extra effort on our part; such a thing as the sieves being crowded or clogged, or requiring the attendance of one person at the tail end of machine having never occurred or been needed.

3rd.—Lightness of wear. After having threshed 18000 bushels of grain, lucern seed, etc., the general wear on the machine being scarcely perceptible.

4th.—Lightness of running expenses. By comparing notes with our friends of other machines, we find ours have not exceeded half of theirs.

We also consider the capacity for threshing in quantity, superior to other makes of machines. Although the farms here are small, necessitating a great deal of moving, and often to distant points, yet we threshed as high as 800 bushels per day.

We also consider the Straw Stacker, End Shake, Elevator principle and many other points are all worthy of notice and examination of any and all persons who may contemplate purchasing a machine.

A. J. EVANS,
M. T. WOODHOUSE,
H. M. ROYAL,
M. B. BUSHMAN.

I have helped wear out four machines of other kinds, and I heartily endorse all of the foregoing points.

A. D. RHODES, Jr.

CEDAR CITY, March 18th, 1882.

Mr. J. W. Lowell.

We bought one of the J. I. Case 32 inch Agitator Threshers last year and consider it by far the best Thresher ever brought to this country. It runs very light, saves all the grain and is a very durable machine. We threshed grain at the rate 2½ bushels per minute.

Yours, etc.,
CORRY & HUNTER.

I also take the liberty to refer thresher men to the following reliable people who have purchased the Agitator Machines:

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister.

READ PROOF BELOW from Rev. P. N. GRANGER, Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Alban's, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming. I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.
