FUN ON THE EXCHANGE.

All a Row Cliffe or Deck, the Brokers Thoroughly Enjoy Themselves.

ROSER-MAHON THE ONLY SELLER TODAY

Diamond Vein Coal Denied by David Keith—Bullion-Beck Shaft—The Bromide Incorporated.

There was more fun than a box of monkeys in the pit of the exchange today at the opening of another week's business. Hill, himself the very essence of humor and originality, was rallied on his ill-luck in place of Charlie Bowers, who was absent. Mr. Hill takes it all in good humor and stood a good deal of goodfellowship and in his good-natured way, so informed the gentlemen who poked an occasional piece of fun at the unfortunate, which created more laughter and merriment than has reigned in the pit for a good while past.

From the standpoint of mining events, the call was a howling success, but from a business standpoint it was far from a business standpoint. Operations were the only words to make use of to describe the day's work at 7½ and 7¾ cents, about 5 cents changing hands at those figures. On news that the carrots were going to be sold at 5 cent expected to result in a little and that the market would be a ready one was freely offered, but the Grand Central was quite a bit in the lead. Mr. Mason held his own in the trading, but Mr. Cowles was not very much in evidence. Colorado Point is reported to be down with lots of water and no workings under 1,000 feet. The roads were good and he experienced no double whatever.

MINING IN THE LA SALS.

Five-Stamp Mill for Miners' Basin—Results of Prospecting.

Arrangements are about perfected to put in a five-stamp mill in Miners basin. This will start on an from a claim in which Mr. Aeffle is interested.

Messrs. Loftus, Dillon, McMahon, Foster, Wilson, Meehan and Swaner are prospecting working in the south division of the La Sals. They are to Monk, to celebrate Pioneer day, on fruit and get thawed out.

Chas. Arves, an old prospector who is connected with some promising claims in the Miners basin country, is at Moab and expects to go into the mountains to look over the prospects in a few days.

The Hepburn arrastra at Miners basin cleaned up $3 in gold on the first run. It was found that the mortars leaked badly and that the tailings had been washed through. Some time has been spent in putting this in shape and it is again running night and day. The changes in construction are expected to result in the return from the next cleaning.

H. H. Wilson has bought out the interest of Dimmick and Neil in the Dutchmen group of placer claims on the Dolores and has already completed arrangements for working them. Lumber for a flume has been ordered from Grand Junction. Dan Ferrell of Telluride, an experienced placer miner, will have charge of the work. Four men are on the ground and others will be added.

Messrs. Clark, Cass, McElroy and the whole delegation of Moab prospecting in Miners basin in the middle division of the La Sals were down for Pioneer day. The section they are interested in has not attracted as yet as much attention as other parts of the mountains, but the latest returns from camps on the large bodies in many claims indicate that it is sure to take a jump to the front in the next few weeks. There are large bodies of free milling ore body that assays better than $15 per ton showing in every face and.

Hon. John A. Marks, who has visited nearly all parts of the mountains this season, says he likes the appearance of the Miners basin section the best of the mountains. He has made a location there and will start development work at once.—Grand Valley Times.

New Jigging Plant.

A new concentrating or jigging plant is being erected on the site of the old Crescent concentrator, which was destroyed by fire last fall. The plant is designed for temporary use only and will, in connection with, be equipped with Cornish rolls and four steam jigs.

Thos. M. Metzger is managing the erection of the plant and will, it is said, run it after completion. Several thousand tons of Crescent lease ore are on the platforms adjoining the new mill and this will be worked up as ready to run. It is also understood that the mill will handle custom ores and do a general sampling business.—Park Record.

Golden Gate Mill Enlargement.

At the local office of the De La Mar saloon, it is given out that work on the Golden Gate mill enlargement is progressing very favorably and that steel for the buildings and tanks will commence to arrive in a day or so. The office knows nothing of the rumor concerning Mr. Cohen's retirement, and as that gentleman is now in British Columbia along with his bride, and will not return for a week, he himself could not be interviewed. It can be said, however, that a month ago Mr. Cohen was very indignant at the report, and emphatically denied that there was any truth in it.

PROVO, UTAH, AUG. 1, 1898.

Cedar City News.

Hansen, the mercantile bank robber, was shipped from the county jail here today to the penitentiary. Mr. Hansen's many friends in this county regret the sad termination of his career, but the showing he was able to make in his own behalf was most discouraging. There was pleasure manifested when the news that a bond had been found to hold the Quinn and the Smith Peacock and a load of ore was now being shipped from the former. Hope that ere long a higher percentage of copper than ever before had been struck in Search of.

"The work that is going now in the Seven Devils," said Mr. Hutchison, "will make that camp one of the best in the country in the next two years or it will demonstrate that it is merely a surface proposition. The shooting was done, however, in such a manner as to discourage those who are operating there. On the contrary, it is very flattering, and if the ratios hold out as good as is established the Seven Devils will become one of the great copper producers of the west."

Mr. Hutchison said the statement that the Seven Devils country was a difficult place to travel in were not correct. The roads were good and he experienced no trouble whatever.

Joseph Hutchinson of the Trade Dollar mine in Silver City is in the capital, says the Idaho Statesman. He has just returned from the Seven Devils country, which so favorably impressed him that he will return as soon as he attends to some business matters at home. He will go over to Silver City today.

Mr. Hutchinson says the developments of the copper mines of the Seven Devils are not such as to warrant the most positive statements as to the permanency of the ledges, but the showing was most encouraging. There was plenty of ore in sight and the ledges were found to hold the values that the Queen and the Bonanza had a load of ore was now being shipped from the former. While that ore is of a higher percentage of copper than is to be had over such as Search of.

"The work that is going now in the Seven Devils," said Mr. Hutchinson, "will make that camp one of the best in the country in the next two years or it will demonstrate that it is merely a surface proposition. The shooting was done, however, in such a manner as to discourage those who are operating there. On the contrary, it is very flattering, and if the ratios hold out as good as is established the Seven Devils will become one of the great copper producers of the west."

Mr. Hutchinson said the statement that the Seven Devils country was a difficult place to travel in were not correct. The roads were good and he experienced no double whatever.

MINING IN THE LA SALS.

Five-Stamp Mill for Miners' Basin—Results of Prospecting.

Arrangements are about perfected to put in a five-stamp mill in Miners basin. This will start on an from a claim in which Mr. Aeffle is interested.

Messrs. Loftus, Dillon, McMahon, Foster, Wilson, Meehan and Swaner are prospecting working in the south division of the La Sals. They are to Monk, to celebrate Pioneer day, on fruit and get thawed out.

Chas. Arves, an old prospector who is connected with some promising claims in the Miners basin country, is at Moab and expects to go into the mountains to look over the prospects in a few days.

The Hepburn arrastra at Miners basin cleaned up $3 in gold on the first run. It was found that the mortars leaked badly and that the tailings had been washed through. Some time has been spent in putting this in shape and it is again running night and day. The changes in construction are expected to result in the return from the next cleaning.

H. H. Wilson has bought out the interest of Dimmick and Neil in the Dutchmen group of placer claims on the Dolores and has already completed arrangements for working them. Lumber for a flume has been ordered from Grand Junction. Dan Ferrell of Telluride, an experienced placer miner, will have charge of the work. Four men are on the ground and others will be added.

Messrs. Clark, Cass, McElroy and the whole delegation of Moab prospecting in Miners basin in the middle division of the La Sals were down for Pioneer day. The section they are interested in has not attracted as yet as much attention as other parts of the mountains, but the latest returns from camps on the large bodies in many claims indicate that it is sure to take a jump to the front in the next few weeks. There are large bodies of free milling ore body that assays better than $15 per ton showing in every face and.

Hon. John A. Marks, who has visited nearly all parts of the mountains this season, says he likes the appearance of the Miners basin section the best of the mountains. He has made a location there and will start development work at once.—Grand Valley Times.

New Jigging Plant.

A new concentrating or jigging plant is being erected on the site of the old Crescent concentrator, which was destroyed by fire last fall. The plant is designed for temporary use only and will, in connection with, be equipped with Cornish rolls and four steam jigs.

Thos. M. Metzger is managing the erection of the plant and will, it is said, run it after completion. Several thousand tons of Crescent lease ore are on the platforms adjoining the new mill and this will be worked up as ready to run. It is also understood that the mill will handle custom ores and do a general sampling business.—Park Record.

Golden Gate Mill Enlargement.

At the local office of the De La Mar saloon, it is given out that work on the Golden Gate mill enlargement is progressing very favorably and that steel for the buildings and tanks will commence to arrive in a day or so. The office knows nothing of the rumor concerning Mr. Cohen's retirement, and as that gentleman is now in British Columbia along with his bride, and will not return for a week, he himself could not be interviewed. It can be said, however, that a month ago Mr. Cohen was very indignant at the report, and emphatically denied that there was any truth in it.

TO PAY WAR EXPENSES.

Utah's Contribution For July Amounted to More Than $45,000.

When people dance they must pay the fiddler, is a trite saying. When a million men go to war it runs into the expenses. And those expenses are usually heavy. In the contest with Spain they are decidedly so. To provide for their liquidation the special tax law was enacted. This tells upon all the people of the United States. Utah will pay a considerable sum for this purpose. The collections for this State are made under the auspices of Deputy Revenue Collector F. H. Lewis, who estimates that the stamp receipts for July will reach $45,000. To this total the banks have been large contributors, paying amounts as follows:

Deseret National bank, $1,702.
McCornick & Co., $500.
T. R. Jones & Co., $100.
Tenth Ward Savings bank, $238.
Bank of Commerce, $251.
Rio Grande Savings bank and Trust Co., $442.
H. H. Schettler, $50.
Utah Commercial and Savings bank, $462.
State bank of Utah, $238.
The Home Investment company, $50.
Knish Title Insurance and Trust company, $226.15.
Commercial National bank of Salt Lake City, $426.21.
National bank of the Republic, $447.50.
Utah National bank, $42.15.
F. E. McGurrin & Co., $50.
Barnes Bros. Mercantile company of Logan, $200.
First National bank of Provo, $188.
Provo Commercial and Savings bank, $100.
Utah County Savings bank of Provo, $100.
James Culpepper, American Fork, $50.
Mt. Pleasant Commercial and Savings bank, $100.
