ON PRAYER.

We find the following upon an ortant subject in an exchange: Moses, and to Filiah, and to and to and to Daniel, and to Cornelius, and to Paul, are taken to heart by them as they turn to God in prayer. But believers are not ready to note and heed the various Bible warnings on the subject of prayer. "Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter anything before God; for God is in heaven and thou upon the earth; therefore let thy words be few;" "We know not what to pray for as we ought;" "Ye ask and receive not because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts;"—to these texts they ascribe less importance in considering the duties which grow out of the privilege of prayer. Nor are they quick to appreciate the lesson of the inspired declaration respecting the praying Israelites who saked this, that they might consume it upon their Bogus mileage and bogus witness fees might pass well enough as mild kinds of misdemeanors, but the fact of claiming large fees for guarding a prisoner who turned out to be a crippie of 75 winters, gives the case a phase of hamorous criminality, aurassing in chask the traditional government mule. The Herold in one sentence sums up the Governor and his following so clearly and concisely that it is worth while to reproduce it verbatim: "His attitude in Utah is carefully chosen as the representative of a principle voiced by Edmunds, and the sternoonservator of a moral sentiment which steeks to turn the Mormon kingtom into a kind of political kindergarten, where the Mormons shall pay the taxes and the Gentiles hold the offices." That is the Utah problem in a nutshell, and because the people of Utah did not kneel down and worship the splendid piece of counterfeit humanity they are to be pronounced disloyal. There is something Providential in the discovery of this fraud at so opportune a time. The millions of the East who have been taking their information about Utah from the reports of consummate hypocrites, will now see how they have been deluded. The friends of Murray say this is an old charge. Crime like wine mellows with age, and the most interesting kind of cuiprit is one with silver beard and some white locks; because these latter make a nice accompaniment to stripped garments.

that they might consume it upon their lusts: "God gave them their request; but sent leanness into their soul." Yet is quite as important to recognize the perils of lustful and unholy prayers as it is to recognize the true privilege of right-minded and reverently truthful prayers. HOMEOPATHIC HILARITY.
