

SUFFERING FROM STARVATION

Cabin Tramps Cannot Live by Farming, as Before, and Have No Food.

Starvation is the lot of the tramps in the mountains. Only a few are able to live on the mountains. The rest are starving.

New York, Sept. 18.—Major Benjamin O. Davis, of the Cuban army, who arrived here from Santiago on the transport ship Victor, was at the headquarters of the Cuban army last night. He went to Cuba in April last and for a short time served as secretary to the president of the provisional government. He then joined Gen. Garcia and became his secretary. Major Davis says that the Cuban army is starving. He is about fifty miles from Santiago. In the mountains of the island, and in the town where the most starvation is occurring, he says.

According to Major Davis, the starvation of the Cuban army is the result of the Cuban government's policy. He says that the Cuban government is starving the army. He says that the Cuban government is starving the army. He says that the Cuban government is starving the army.
