----Martial Law in the South.

Of course the report which comes rom Washington, that the Administration thinks of declaring martial aw in the Southern States, is nonachse. We are not living in Mexin, and the Congress of 1875 did not pass the Force bill. To attempt to interfere, with federal arms and martial law, in the Southern elections would be for the republicans to give up the struggle. They would excite a storm of alarm and indignation in the North which would sweep the Northern States Mormon, against them. The trath is the republican party does not deserve to carry any Southern State, unless it be North Carolina, where the parties are very equally instched, and where the republicans are as respectable and Key to the Science of Theology has to be pumped in St. Louis and as certain to give the State a good many other cities from the neighgovernment as the democrats. They boring streams. There is no doubt might have carried a number of the other States if they had paid only a little attention to good government down there; if it had not been so long the policy at Washington to encourage and support with the federal patronage a set of graceless and unscrupulous political gamblers and adventurers, to the supply is of easy access, and the exclusion of honorable and honest works consequently are not so cost-ly as in other cities, yet Sait Lake City has its disadvantages. The number of water takers in this city are very few for the same extent of ground when compared with the works consequently are not so cost-
