SALT LAKE CITY SCHOOLS.

The superintendent's report of the schools at this city for the school year 1893-4 is now complete, and contains data that is of interest to all well-wishers of educational progress. The work up to the last year had been characterized by reason of a limited number of school buildings; but with the opening of such structures as the Washington, Sumner, Washburn and Jackson, the accommodations were largely increased, and the effectiveness of the school augmented. The completion, by the way, of the two buildings now in course of erection, to be known as the Ogden and the Grant, as well as of another one, will add greatly to increasing the efficiency of the system.

The school census taken in 1893 included 21,991 persons. Of this number, 10,000 were enrolled in the public schools during the year, an increase of 1,000 over the previous year, or 10.5 per cent.

There are now owned by the city district and occupied by schools, twenty buildings. The number rented and occupied by schools is fourteen, making a total of thirty-four buildings that have been used for school purposes during the year. Of the same new buildings erected, the Washington has 115, the Ogden, 100, the Jackson, 100, the Hamilton, 100, the Sumner, 100, the Washburn, 100, the Franklin, 100, the Lincoln, 100, the Bryant, 100, the total number of pupils to be comfortably accommodated in all buildings is 9,000. Had all pupils attended regularly who were enrolled, there would have been wanting for their accommodation 9,000 seats. The average number of pupils belonging during the year was 7,000 and the average daily attendance, 7,500. The per cent of pupils in daily attendance, based on average number belonging, was 97.7 per cent, based on number enrolled, was 77.2 per cent, based on the census of the year, was 31.9 per cent. The number withdrawn by reason of death, 77; the number remaining in school at the close of the year was 7,114, or 75.5 per cent of the entire enrollment. Of the whole number enrolled, the parents of 4,750 are natives of the United States; the remainder, all except fifteen, who are unascertainable, are foreign born.

The number of pupils in the school, by the members of the board was 614; by patrons and citizens, 1,919; and by visits by teachers, 4,981.
