THE TROUBLE AT JACKSON, KY.

Interest in the Jett-White Trial Subordinated to That in Hearing of Hargis Brothers' Teamsters, Charged With Burning Hotel of Witness Ewen.

Jackson, Ky., June 15.—Interest in the trial of Curtis Jett and Thomas White for the alleged murder of J. B. Marcum was secondary today to the preliminary hearing of the teamsters of Hargis Brothers, arrested by the soldiers on the charge of burning the hotel yesterday morning of B. L. Ewen, the principal witness of the commonwealth against Jett and White. Many people spent sleepless night, expecting the torch to be applied to their houses next. Fourteen residences and stores, owned by those known as Cardwell-Cockerill sympathizers have been burned in Jackson since 1900 and the number of lives greatly exceeds that number.

Since the burning of Ewen's large new hotel and the rally of the Hargis faction to the aid of the men suspected of having burned it, the citizens, hopeful that when the militia arrived the intimidation would cease, now shake their heads and say the state can render no relief.

The Ewen family, including seven children, presented a pitiable spectacle today. Ewen tried to console his heartbroken wife and daughters, but their distress was growing. Kind hearted citizens, although feeling that in doing so they are risking their lives and property, have sent them clothing and bedding. They were breakfasted by the soldiers.

The jail last night was under a heavy guard. The prisoners suspected of the burning of Ewen's house were kept in the county guard house, managed so they would have no opportunity to escape. They were greatly frightened during the night, fearing a mob would

By active bidding prices were raised from $10 to $25.50 per skin with little regard to the average quality of skins brought forward. When the pelts began to arrive this year a Portland buyer took the lead against the firm of Sitka which for years had control of the trade. As a result of the rivalry in the bidding the price was jumped to $22.50 per skin to the advantage of the Indians.

San Francisco, June 15.—Pearl Vernon today surrendered himself to the police, making the third of alleged bank robbers to be behind the bars in connection with a foot race run in Golden Gate park yesterday whereby $2,000 was won. Vernon was paroled from $2,000. Grunauer, who is a merchant, some time ago met D. E. Fletcher in Chicago and a few days since Fletcher, who claimed to be a professional foot racer, arranged a match with Campbell, alias Brown. Grunauer was led to believe that Fletcher had a "lunch" and he wagered $2,500 on Fletcher. The men gathered yesterday near the park and an employee of the place who knew the racers, suspecting mischief was brewing, notified the police who arrived just as the race was finished with Fletcher as the loser. Fletcher and Campbell were arrested but Wilkerson, who was stakeholder, escaped in the brush. In Campbell's possession was $2,400 which was seized by the police.

Wilkerson today declared that he believed the race was to have been honest. He is the husband of Maude Amber, a local actress who is now suing him for divorce. He is well known on the coast, having handled the "Flooded Dee Dee" on its recent tour by shooting. He had just returned from Kansas City, where he has been for a week or more, and going to his father-in-law's house, where Mrs. Cramer, aged 20 years, committed suicide here at 10:30 o'clock this morning

The British government first made known its intention to withdraw its minister from Belgrade by later concurred with the other powers. The ministers, however, will not be considered to have relations with the present Serbian regime until the parliament at Belgrade meets.

A., contributed on the condition that an additional $50,000 be raised by local subscription. That is, out of the $50,000, the sum of $45,000 had been pledged, a great part of it being payable on demand.

The only subscription reported today, up to 3 o'clock this afternoon, was one by Senator Kearns. That was a handsome sum in the form of a check bearing the signature of Senator Kearns for $2,000. The latter's contribution, together with the $5,000 given by Hon. David Keith on Saturday, raised the sum total up to $46,000.

"Other committees are out," said "Okey," Cox to the "News" at a late hour today, "and we hope we must, in fact, secure the remaining $4,000 before midnight is the last day in which to raise the money. That is, Mr. Peabody has given a generous donation on condition that we raise the rest not later than today. When I say the rest, I simply mean the $4,000 that is lacking to make $50,000, making Mr. Peabody's gift of $25,000, plus $25,000. After that we will need an additional $25,000 for the building fund. That is for the future. What we want is $100,000 all told."

MOB BESIEGES A MURDERER

Chicago, June 15.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Pittsfield, Ill., says: As the result of a double killing committed here yesterday, Fred Mink, 28 years old, is besieged in a deserted house on the edge of town, while a mob and a sheriff's posse are seeking to effect his capture. distance away, and started toward her husband. Mink drew a revolver as she approached, and fired one shot, missing her. Then he ran from the field and disappeared in the woods nearby.

A search was instituted for Mink, and a number of people went to his home. Finding an entrance, they discovered the body of Mrs. Mink lying on the floor. She had been shot in the head and was dead when found.

The citizens organized a strong posse, heavily armed, to search for Mink and at length he was found hiding in a barn house on the edge of the town. As the crowd approached he showed himself at a window and told his pursuers that he would kill the first man that approached the house. He showed his rifle and revolver and fired a shot at one man who tried to run around a corner of the house to get at him from behind.

The sheriff insists that he will make every effort to prevent a lynching.

Although he declared at the time that the large sum was paid him by the factory, he was trumped up. It is said he has since been paying the fine in weekly installments out of his wages. He declares that the new charges are trumped up, and he will not pay the second fine. Why the union made the fine one cent less instead of an even $1,000 none in the case will explain. The complaint, asserted before the union that Richman had asked them to pay him $2 a week out of their wages. They also declared that they knew he was receiving money from other men in the shoe business, they said, told them that the money was to go to the firm.

Dr. Payne Tells His Own Story

Defendant Relates the Circumstances Leading Up to the Death of Miss Anna Hill and Scores the Police Department for Rough Treatment Alleged to Have Been Received During His Imprisonment in the City Jail.

In the Payne murder case in Judge Moore's court the defendant, Dr. E. L. Payne, was on the witness stand this morning in his own behalf and told the story of how Miss Hill is supposed to have met her death in his office on Dec. 20, 1902. During his testimony he spoke very rapidly and without any hesitancy whatever. His speech was so rapid that part of it could hardly be understood.

He scored the police department for the rough treatment he claimed to have received during his incarceration in the city jail. He said that he was denied the right to have an attorney before making any statement, that he had no place to sleep, that his meals were served to him regularly, and that on all occasions he was handled roughly while at the city jail.

Dr. Payne, who is in his opening statement outlined the defense and took occasion to charge those who handled the case for the state in its earlier stages with having deliberately destroyed some of the evidence which would have been favorable to the defendant. He stated that the medicine, part of which was given Miss Hill by Dr. Payne, had been thrown away and the chloroform bottle which he had used and which was lying on the lounge, had been destroyed. Mr. Wanless stated that Dr. Payne thought that perhaps Miss Hill had been poisoned, and that he had performed a thorough autopsy and that he was so prejudiced that he did not look for other poisons than chloroform.

Mrs. Payne and little daughter occupied their usual seats in court this morning. Prof. McKay and wife were also present.

CHEMIST HARMS CALLED.

At the opening of court this morning Dist. Atty. Elchior asked permission to reopen the state's case to introduce testimony of a chemist who was called at the time he tested his case on Saturday. Herman Harms, city chemist, was then called to the witness stand and testified as to the analysis he made of Mrs. Hill's stomach on Dec. 23. He said that he made the analysis with a special view to looking for chloroform and other volatile poisons. He said there were no signs of chloroform and several other volatile poisons. At the conclusion of Prof. Harms' testimony the state rested its case and Atty. Wanless made the opening statement for the defense.

OPENING STATEMENT FOR DEFENSE.

Mr. Wanless said in part: "Gentlemen of the jury, the defendant is not required to establish his innocence, but it is the duty of the state to prove his guilt. On the morning of Dec. 20, Dr. Payne remained at his home until about a quarter past 10 when he took a car for town. When he arrived at his office he lighted a fire and put some water on the stove to heat preparatory to the visit of a patient for whom he was looking. The case was down and he sat there for some time when a young lady, who is called in the information Miss Anna D. Hill, entered and asked him if he were the doctor.

MISS HILL'S MOVEMENTS.

"The doctor will tell you just what happened, but it seems that the young woman came into the office and passed by the doctor to the lounge where she sat down and said she was sick. Her movements indicated that she was very ill and that Dr. Payne, thinking to relieve her, removed her jacket and hat. He asked her what was the matter but she could not tell him. He asked her if she wanted a closet and she said yes. He then went to get a key. About this time the woman, for whom the doctor was looking, came to the door and he told her that a woman had come there very sick and asked her to get a key. He then went to get his key and when he returned Miss Hill seemed to be very serious.

Dr. Payne gave her some medicine which he thought would relieve her. He worked with her manfully and nobly to bring her to consciousness but of no avail. He worked with her for some time and finally, realizing that she was dying, he took her to the lounge and placed her on the floor. He then went to the closet and took out a bottle of chloroform and poured some of it over her. He then went to the door and called to the woman who was looking for him and told her that the woman had died. He then went to the door and called to the woman who was looking for him and told her that the woman had died.

WHAT MEDICINE CONTAINED.

In answer to questions put by Mr. Wanless, Dr. Payne stated that the medicine he gave Miss Hill contained strychnine, stibine and glomarine, and that it contained nothing which would have caused her death. He left part of it in a glass on the washstand at the head of the lounge.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR HER DEATH.

"Doctor," did you in any way contribute to Miss Hill's sickness or death, except as you have testified here?"

"Not at all," was the reply.

"Was that mark on the cloth found on Miss Hill's body your laundry mark?"

"No, sir."

"What is your mark?"

"Pay is my laundry mark and has been for about eight years. The mark on the cloth is not mine. I never saw the cloth on her and did not know it was on her person."

"Do you know what caused her death?"

"No, sir; I don't know. I thought maybe the candy had made her sick."

The defendant was then turned over to Dist. Atty. Elchior for cross-examination and the examination will just begin when the court took its noon recess.

The cross-examination of Dr. Payne by District Attorney Elchior, was very brief, lasting not over 20 minutes. He examined him as to the medical college he had attended and then brought out the fact that the doctor had been arrested in connection with the Annie Taylor case. On direct examination he told Mr. Wanless that the case had been dismissed.

"Was Dr. Mayo mixed up in that case?" asked Mr. Wanless.

"I think he was. I think he filed the information against me."

At the conclusion of his examination Mr. Payne was called to the witness stand. She testified that she attended to the doctor's laundry for him. She was shown the cloth which was taken
