

Sept. 7, 1890.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Fine Views.—Mr. C. W. Carter informs us that he secured some fine views of the city from the balcony of Gen. Smith's residence at Fort Douglas, yesterday. Also, a view of the artillery, while the guns were preparing to salute the President. They will be ready and for sale in a day or two.

Children's Sayings.—Children, it has been said, can ask questions which the keenest wit and deepest philosopher cannot answer. That is true, hardly any one will dispute. But children are also witty and philosophical, unconsciously. A little fellow of our acquaintance, not over four years old, was addressed the other day by an older sister, as follows: "Now, what'll you take to get a drink of water?" "I'll take a trip," he promptly and earnestly responded. Another boy, a year or two older, brother to the one mentioned, was intensely engaged in the action of some kernels of corn in the hopper of a mill when his sister was turning. "What are you doing?" he exclaimed, "very sedately, I'm grinding 'em." Persons who have noticed similar sights will at once perceive how accurate was the definition.

Captain Delaney's Death.—We learn from the New York Sun, of the death of Captain John J. Delaney, for 15 years connected with the mercantile firm of Dunham, Buckley & Co., 340 Broadway, New York, and well and favorably known in Utah, who was recognized as an upright and gentlemanly dealer and business friend to regret his untimely death. He was swimming in Ocean Beach, in Shark River, on the 24th ult., his wife and two children and some friends following in a row boat, when he laughingly challenged them to a race. He was an excellent swimmer, formerly a sea captain. When far from land he was discovered by the inmates of the boat to be struggling in the water. They immediately started to reach him, but before they arrived he was motionless. His lifeless form was taken aboard, and all efforts to resuscitate it were unavailing. The cause of his death is given as apoplexy. We extend our sincere condolence to his bereaved relatives and friends.

The President's Visit.—Yesterday we gave a hastily prepared account of the visit of the Presidential party to Salt Lake, but necessary omissions and details and elaborate descriptions of many things connected therewith. Among the many features worthy of more extended notice was the banquet given at the Walker House, on Sunday afternoon, in honor of the distinguished guests. The tables were set in one of the hotel parlors, and headed with an elaborate display and a sumptuous feast, one of the most magnificent ever presented in the Territory. President Hayes, his party and others, twenty-eight in all, sat at one table. The dinner was prepared under the direction of Maj. G. S. Ebb, proprietor of the Walker, and was really superb. At Fort Douglas the visitors were also received in grand style. A salute of twenty guns was fired on their arrival, they were treated to a military display by the troops, and the 14th Infantry band, under the direction of William Chase, regaled them with choice selections during their stay. After an elegant repast at the residence of Gen. John E. Smith, Commander at Fort, the party returned to the city, and as stated yesterday, took the train at 1:30 p.m. for Ogden. President Hayes and his traveling associates occupied four cars ahead, while three others behind held President John Taylor and the company of citizens a few of whom were named in last evening's News. Shortly after leaving the depot, President Hayes entered the rear cars and after politely shaking hands with all the inmates took a seat near President Taylor and remained conversing with him until the train neared Ogden. The conversation was on a variety of topics, secular and religious, mostly pertaining to Utah, and at the close President Hayes on arising to leave, shook hands warmly with President Taylor, assured him that he had much enjoyed the interview, and for himself and associates declared that the impressions received during their visit to Utah had been of the most favorable character, and as such would be long remembered. During her ride to Ogden Mrs. Hayes also left her car and entering the others at the rear held extended conversations with several of the "Mormon" ladies. Secretary Ramsey and Gen. Sherman did likewise, and each had a kind word for all. At Ogden, as the train came to a stand, a number of the leading citizens of that city came forward to pay their respects to the President, among them a man who had fought under President Hayes during the Civil War. He saluted the "General" in appropriate military style and said, "General, since we were in the war together, I have come out here and they have made a Mormon of me. Made me a Mormon right through," (slapping his breast), "right through, General." The President received him kindly, and expressed pleasure at the meeting. The farewells were soon afterward spoken, the Presidential train left for California in charge of a delegation sent from there to receive them, and the Salt Lake party returned to this city, arriving at 5 o'clock. In this connection, the courtesy and efficient management of Superintendent John Shanks should not be forgotten. On Sunday and Monday, the Presidential trains were run as special, without interfering in any way with the regular trains, and everybody was treated with great politeness by Superintendent Shanks and his fellow officials on the railroad.

The City of the Dead.—Several days ago we gave a description of the Standing Monument, newly erected in the City Cemetery. At that time it was our intention, on a future occasion, to make mention of some of the other fine monuments with which the place is being decorated. That intention we will put into effect now, having sent a reporter to the Cemetery this morning to take notes from which to construct an article.

As the visitor enters the graveyard, at the southwestern gate, the first monument that attracts the attention is that erected by the Faust family, a massive column over 14 feet high, of polished sandstone, the die of which is inlaid with white marble, upon which are several inscriptions commemorating the death of several children. The base only is of granite. The spire is crowned with a lone urn. The whole is the work of J. H. Brown & Son, of Logan.

Continuing eastward, the Musser monument meets the eye, a neat little pillar between 7 and 8 feet in height; a marble moulded base and spire of like material, resting upon three consecutive granite blocks. Upon the marble base is the inscription: "There is sweet rest in heaven." It is the property of Elder A. Milton Musser, of this city, and was erected to the memory of his wife and four of his children.

Near the centre of the yard is a fine marble structure, resting upon two granite blocks, the whole about 15 feet in height. It is in memory of Jacob Gooding. Upon the die, which is handsomely formed, is the following, explaining its history: "This monument was erected as a tribute of respect and admiration for his character, by the officers and employees of the Overland Mail Company, of which he was superintendent."

A short distance away is a handsome little memorial, about seven feet high, having a marble die and spire, fixed upon a base of sandstone. This was erected by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Douglas, for their two children sleeping beneath. Watson Brothers were the workmen.

Somedistance removed in a northerly direction, stands a sandstone monument erected in March, 1857, by Thomas S. Williams. Underneath are resting a number of his relatives. It is a square structure, tapering from the base to the apex, elaborately made and was once very handsome. The brown colored background to the inscriptions is faded considerably now, and the four sculptured heads at the upper corners of the die have been badly defaced by the elements or the impious hand of the relic hunter. Formerly it was surmounted by some emblem or ornament, but this has entirely disappeared.

On the east side of the Cemetery, about half way between the north and south boundaries, stands the family monument of Hon. W. H. Hooper, which has but recently been placed in position. It is a massive pillar, entirely of granite, about 20 feet in height, proportionately thick at the base, and the largest on the premises. It presents a noble appearance, is entirely without ornamentation, and bears the one word "Hooper," carved in the rock in large letters near the base on the south side. It is surrounded by an iron picket fence, fastened upon a low stone enclosure, and is in the centre of a commodious piece of ground.

Near the southeast corner of the yard are several enclosures, containing a number of small stone pillars. The most slightly of these bears on the gate the name, "William Nowell." It is a veritable garden of shrubs and flowers, which bloom in beautiful profusion upon and around the graves, and over all the drooping branches of a fine weeping willow are hanging. This is quite phenomenal in this Cemetery, being the only enclosure so nicely cultivated and kept, within its walls.

Some distance to the south stands the beautiful monument erected to the memory of the late President George A. Smith. It is between 13 and 14 feet high; the polished marble spire, surmounted by an urn of the same material, rests upon a die covered with inscriptions, and this upon two consecutive bases of granite, the upper one of which bears the carved letters, "G. A. Smith."

On the marble block above are the dates and places of his birth and death, and a brief synopsis of his career; also the names of his wives, children and ancestors. On the west side, near the bottom of the marble die, are the following: "In our associations together, which have been for 42 years, I have no recollection that Pres. George A. Smith ever taught a false doctrine, or a false idea. He was a man of sterling integrity, a cabinet of history, and always true to his friends. He leaves as good a record on this side of the veil as any man that ever lived, in my opinion."—Pres. B. Young.

"A great man, has fallen, beloved and respected by his brethren and friends, and honored by the God of Israel. We sympathize with all good men in the loss of so good and great a man."—Pres. John Taylor.

On the south, east and west sides respectively, are sepulchral monuments, and a large number of the leading citizens of that city came forward to pay their respects to the President, among them a man who had fought under President Hayes during the Civil War. He saluted the "General" in appropriate military style and said, "General, since we were in the war together, I have come out here and they have made a Mormon of me. Made me a Mormon right through," (slapping his breast), "right through, General." The President received him kindly, and expressed pleasure at the meeting. The farewells were soon afterward spoken, the Presidential train left for California in charge of a delegation sent from there to receive them, and the Salt Lake party returned to this city, arriving at 5 o'clock. In this connection, the courtesy and efficient management of Superintendent John Shanks should not be forgotten. On Sunday and Monday, the Presidential trains were run as special, without interfering in any way with the regular trains, and everybody was treated with great politeness by Superintendent Shanks and his fellow officials on the railroad.

ments, but there are many beautiful graves on the premises, which at present we have no space to describe. The Cemetery is rapidly filling with fine specimens of sculptured art, and at some future time, we hope to see trees, shrubs, flowers and verdure growing there, to make more beautiful still the sacred spot where our dead are peacefully sleeping.

Present to Mrs. Hayes.—During the trip of the Presidential party from this city to Ogden, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Hayes was presented with an elegant white silk collar, by a number of the ladies of this city. The silk from which the article was manufactured, was raised by Sister Schneider of the First Ward, and the collar was made by Sister Urnschlag, of the Sixteenth Ward. It was presented with the following hastily written note, by the ladies whose names appear below:

Mrs. President Hayes:
Dear Lady:—Will you please accept the accompanying gift (the silk raised and article manufactured in this city) with the sincere respect and admiration of your "Mormon" friends, who desire to hold a tender place in your remembrance. May your future life be as happy as the last four years have been brilliant.
Sincerely yours,
EMELINE R. WELLS,
ZINA Y. WILLIAMS,
ZINA D. YOUNG,
ROMANA B. PRATT,
MARIA Y. DOUGALL.

Sister Eliza R. Snow presented Mrs. Hayes with a copy of her poems, vol. 2, also with the Prima Hymn Book, recently published.

Pleasant Gathering.—Last evening a small party of relatives and friends assembled at the residence of our fellow townsman, Charles Lambert, Esq., of the 7th Ward, to celebrate the occasion of the 21st birthday of his son David H. After partaking of a splendid supper, those who felt inclined to dance enjoyed themselves in that manner, a good platform having been prepared at a convenient spot in the garden. Others remained in the house chatting pleasantly, and the time was spent agreeably by all. The visitors departed at a late hour, wishing the young man, who has so auspiciously attained his legal majority, many happy returns of the day.

The D. O. Calder Cabinet Organ.—This is the name given to an excellent instrument manufactured in the East by special order of Mr. Calder, and for sale at his musical warehouse in this city. Experienced local professors and musicians speak in terms of high praise of the new organ. See their testimonials elsewhere. Mr. Calder warrants his organs for six years, and each instrument is upon it his name as a standing guarantee that it is, in every respect, all it is claimed to be. Remember this. While others are warranted by firms abroad, the Calder Organ is guaranteed by a home dealer well known to the people of the Territory.

Firemen's Excursion.—Parties going on the Firemen's Excursion to Logan to-morrow, are hereby notified that the train will start at 7 o'clock a.m. Arrangements have been made with the Utah Central Railroad Company whereby visitors to Ogden can make the round trip for $1.50.

Agricultural.—Send for the Fair number of the Rural New Yorker, 34 Park Row, N.Y. It is said to be the handsomest and most instructive agricultural and horticultural number ever published anywhere. It will be sent to our subscribers without charge.

Out of season.—An empty pepper box.

conferred upon tens of thousands of sufferers could originate and maintain the reputation which AYER'S SARSAPARILLA enjoys. It is a compound of the best vegetable alteratives, with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and it is the most effectual of all remedies for scrofulous, mercurial or chlorotic disorders. Uniformly successful and certain in its remedial effects, it produces rapid and complete cures of Scrofula, Sores, Boils, Humors, Eruptions, Skin Diseases, and all disorders arising from impurity of the blood. By its invigorating effects it always relieves and often cures Liver Complaints, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, and is a potent renewer of vitality. For purifying the blood it has no equal. It tones up the system, restores and preserves the health, and imparts vigor and energy. For forty years it has been in extensive use, and is to-day the most available medicine for the suffering sick, anywhere. d2sw

IT IS TRULY WONDERFUL
TO SEE what improvements now exist as compared with railway travel only a few years ago. To become convinced of this, one has only to select for his route East, the popular and well-known CHICAGO & NORTHWESTERN RAILWAY.

You are landed by the Union Pacific at R.R. in the Union Depot at Chicago. Here stands the C. & N.W. Palace Train, composed of Pullman Hotel Cars, Pullman Sleeping Cars, elegant Day Coaches, Separate Baggage, Postal Cars, etc., ready to convey its passengers through Iowa and Illinois, and into Chicago. Gliding smoothly along over the finest and most comfortable of roads, one is comfortably seated in this train, one scarcely discovers the high rate of speed which he is riding. Trains of this class are run on time, connections sure, and passengers seeking pleasure, comfort, safety and ease in traveling, will find the "North-Western" in one of the finest of the great lines of the country. To Chicago and the East, travel upon the Palace Train, and you will find it the best. Agents selling your tickets via this road, advise you to take the Palace Train, and refuse to buy if they do not read over this Road. If you wish the best Traveling Accommodations, you will buy tickets via this Road, and WILL TAKE NO OTHER.
