CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Reception This Evening to Joshua Midgley and Wife Who Were Married in the Old Council House Fifty Years Ago Today.

FOUR GENERATIONS OF MIDGLEYS.

Fifty years ago today Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Midgley of this city were married in the Old Council House that stood for so many years where the new Deseret News building now stands, the ceremony being performed by the late Ezra T. Benson. At that time they went to housekeeping in the Twelfth ward and have never changed the location of their residence. There 12 children were born to them. Of these six are living and six have passed into the unseen world. Tonight a reception of the family and intimate friends will be held at their residence in honor of the occasion, when they will be congratulated upon the happiness and success of their lives and on having reached the goal of wedded life that so few comparatively do reach. In the cut reproduced above are shown four generations of the Midgley family. They are first, Mr. Joshua Midgley on the extreme right; second, his son, J. H. Midgley on the extreme left; third, his grandson, T. J. Midgley, standing in the center, and fourth, his great-grandson, Norman, sitting in the center.

ISLAND BUFFALO HUNT.

It is Proposed to Give One to President Roosevelt.

John H. White, the owner of the herd of Buffalo on Antelope Island, has placed the same at the disposal of the president for a buffalo hunt. Mr. White announces the fact in a communication to the governor as follows:

"I am sorry the thought did not suggest itself to my mind earlier. The time necessary would be about as follows: Leave Salt Lake about 8 a. m., via the Salt Lake & Los Angeles railroad; 3:30 a. m. leave train at Culien switch; 3:30 a. m. arrive Salt Lake City. If it can be done, I believe the President would be able to see the herd. I also think it is the only possible buffalo hunt in the world that can remind him of how it used to be. Respectfully, JOHN H. WHITE."

The letter was handed over to Mayor Thompson with this note from Gov. Welton:

Hon. Ezra Thompson, City.

My Dear Mr. Thompson—Herewith find note from Mr. John H. White, suggesting a buffalo hunt for the president when he arrives here. Same is respectfully returned to you for your consideration. Very truly yours, HENRY M. WELLS.

There are 25 head of buffalo on the island, and they are as wild as their ancestors on the prairie. They are all of the same color, and are probably the only place in the land where a hunt would not be a violation of the game law. Mr. White values his animals at $1,000 per head, and would not sell them for less than $100. He has a few of the best of the breed, and his animals are very valuable. In the seven years that Mr. White has been in the business, he has sold, killed, or lost 30, and has a few left, and he is now in the business. He has a letter to the governor was private and he did not want it made public.

BALDWIN AS A FASTER.

Tried it for a Week and Then Quit Suddenly.

The fast theory in which it is affirmed that indigestion can be starved out, seems to have taken a firm hold on local sufferers from the John D. Rockefeller ailment. Several residents of Salt Lake have studied Dr. Dewey's text book on the art of existing on nothing a week with a cure for chronic stomach trouble thrown in as a reward, with the result that several have tried the fast, and have been disappointed. The latest to join the ranks of the fast abstainers was an old soldier named Charles Baldwin, referee in boxing, who has been in the city for some time. The word "fast" is used actively because up until this morning Mr. Baldwin has been eating for a week. Today, however, he broke that fast as the treatment was just a little too severe for him. He is now in the hospital, and is being treated for his ailment. According to the recognized procedure Mr. Baldwin ought to have fasted for a week, but he fasted for three or four days. However, there was a hitch in the schedule and the lawyer continued to eat an appetite and a sensation in the pit of the stomach which is usually associated only with a small boy who had been eating forbidden fruit in large and generous quantities. Consequently after a week of fast and tribulation Mr. Baldwin has concluded to change it once more from fast to food, and after first having got his commensal department in good working order, the judicious application of soft food.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP.

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, Editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of the remedy caused by the grip, only of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." For sale by all druggists.
