

SAMUELSON MEETS DEFEAT AT LAST.

Floyd McFarland Ran Away From Him in Two Straight Heats.

WILL RIDE AGAIN ON MONDAY.

Local Man Issued Challenge, Which Was Accepted, for Unlimited Pursuit Race for $200 Bet.

Did you see the bike races last night? If not you missed a treat. It seemed that almost every race fan in town was there last evening. So great was the crowd that all the seats were taken, and three hundred or so fans crowded into the enclosure and made a rush for the band stand. It is estimated that more than 5,000 persons were at the track.

And they got their money's worth. The weather was delightful, the music as good as any we have heard there this season, and the program one of the best yet arranged by Manager Harry Heugren, and he has given many good ones. Of course, interest centered in the race between Floyd McFarland and W. J. Samuelson, and it was a race for $200 bet. There was absolutely no chance for anyone to intimate that it was not "on the square." Each man was determined to win.

As other riders in the past have been made to appear as though they were standing still in races with Samuelson, Utah's champion, so was Samuelson made to appear in the race with McFarland last night.

The local man was beaten, and beaten decisively. The race was won by the three mile heats, but the third heat was not run. It was unnecessary. McFarland took the first and second heats. In the first heat he dropped out at the completion of the fifth lap and Samuelson jumped in the lead. He tried to watch McFarland, but the latter was content to trail along behind until the bell rang. When they less than half way home Samuelson made the jump of his life and tried hard to prevent the lanky Californian from going to the front. But it was no use. Suddenly McFarland's elongated form was seen to shoot out, and when he went around the corner he had stopped riding. McFarland won by a good margin.

In the second heat, the visiting one displeased the crowd, but just what the fans were angry in a mystery. When Palmer left them, McFarland ran up the bank and offered Samuelson the lead. The latter declined, thank you, and then the crowd jeered at McFarland.

This was not just. He was out to win the race and had a right to make the time that he did. He took the lead, smilingly, and Samuelson looked into his rear wheel. That is all he could do. McFarland increased his speed. Samuelson made a hard kick to go around but failed. McFarland simply put on a little more steam and again crossed the time winner.

In the first heat, the world's record of 1:24 was beaten by the time of 1:24.43. This will go down as the record for open race, again.

At the conclusion of the race, Samuelson challenged McFarland to an unlimited pursuit race for a single lap of $200. The Californian accepted the deal and agreed to meet Samuelson next Monday night.

A summary of the events follows: Match race, mile heats, best two in three, between McFarland and Samuelson. McFarland won in two heats. Time 1:24.43 and 1:24.43. A. M. Childs won. Time 2:26.25.

AMERICAN MARATHON RACE.

Thomas J. Hicks Defeats World's Finest Runners at St. Louis.

FIRST OF THE KIND HERE.

Another Native Son Defeated Foreigners by Coming Home Second—Fred Larg Disqualified.

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—The Olympic Marathon race, the third foot race contest of the kind ever held and the first ever held on American soil, participated in by 31 men classed among the best runners of the world, was won today by Thomas J. Hicks, of Cambridge, Mass., who is the first American to win this event celebrated on the revival of Olympic games. Albert J. Corey, of Chicago, a native born Frenchman, crossed the goal line second, and A. L. Newton, of New York city, crossed third. The distance of the race was 26 kilometers, equal to 24 miles and 1,500 yards. The distance was run in the officially announced time of three hours, twenty-eight minutes and fifty-three seconds. Corey, therefore, was the first American to win this event.

The first Olympic Marathon race was held at Athens, Greece, in 1896, and won by Louis, a Greek, in two hours and twenty minutes. The race was held in 1900, and won by Teato of France in two hours and fifty-nine minutes. The winner of today's race received a cup presented by President Francis of the exposition and an Olympic champion's medal, the second a silver medal and the third a medal of bronze.

Forty runners had been entered in the race, but only thirty-one took part. The race was run on the city streets, and the course was over the country roads. Long roads were run on the city streets, and the course was over the country roads. Long roads were run on the city streets, and the course was over the country roads.

The starter's pistol cracked at 3:03 o'clock and Hicks sprang into the lead, with the rest following at his heels. The race ran five miles in the stadium track and then, passing through a gate, which was designated by red flags, which was designated by red flags, which was designated by red flags.

When the half-way point was reached, Hicks had become exhausted, passed in an automobile. Moller was the first man to reach the half-way point, followed by Newton, a short distance behind and closely following Newton came Hicks, running easily, and Hicks was running with mechanical exactness, slowly and with every motion of his body indicating by his regularly and apparent effort that he was suffering from fatigue. But he was still full of energy.

In answer to a question as to how he was feeling, he called back over his shoulder: "I want something to eat as soon as I get home." He maintained his pace until within two miles of the goal, when he dropped to a walk in climbing a hill—the first of the hill a crowd cheered him vigorously. Hicks, however, showed no sign of fatigue, and he broke into a race, maintaining it until he reached the entrance to the stadium track. Then, amid tremendous cheering of spectators, he doubled his pace, dashed half-way around the track and the gathering darkness crossed the tape the winner.

The crowd had scarcely quieted from its ovation when Corey, who had made tremendous headway by the roadside several miles into the stadium and crossed the line second. Again the cheering ensued, and when he had died away Newton ran to the stadium and scored as third man.

Long after night had fallen other runners struggled in the dark. William R. Garcia of San Francisco, one of the runners, was found tonight lying unconscious by the roadside several miles from the stadium. He was conveyed to the emergency hospital at the world's fair where he was restored to consciousness. The physicians state that he will probably be fully recovered after a good rest.

MUNROE HAD YELLOW STREAK.

So Says Champion Jim Jeffries of His Latest Opponent.

Champion Jim Jeffries says: "Why, he was afraid of me from the start. I could see it in his eye, in the way he shifted about, in the way he tried to hand me punches from long range which could not have hurt me if I got them full force."

"It was the easiest money I ever copied off. I never got a blow as hard as kind had a narrow escape from a shut-out today, being outplayed on the slab for the Portland team and up to the closing inning only two hits were against him. Who's To Blame

For a poor Baking? If it's the flour, it's our fault, and we will pay you. If it's your fault, don't tell your neighbors.

HUSLER'S FLOUR

It is at training quarters that they pick a favorite, and the action of Murphy in holding his man in was anything but pleasing to the victor.

Those familiar with Nelson's record know he has a style of milling worth seeing, and while they have seen the Mexican in action on many occasions, they have had no opportunity to get a line on Nelson further than his record.

Nelson has something up his sleeve for Herrera, and will not show it until the heat enters the ring and Murphy's action in holding his man in was anything but pleasing to the victor.

It is a known fact, however, that Nelson adopts an aggressive style of milling that makes life anything but one sweet song for his opponent, and at taking punishment he has not a peer in all England.

Herrera, on the other hand, is working away like a Trojan. He never holds himself back an instant, and is not afraid to show his admirers to see him work at his best, and this has been the means of drawing thousands of spectators to his quarters, where they are shown every consideration and given the best there is in the shop.

Many of those who saw Nelson work yesterday have changed their opinion as to the result of the Labor day contest, and Nelson will have as strong a following as will the Mexican.

A Letter To Our Readers.

Dear Sir: Jan. 11th, 1904
Ever since I was in the army, I had more or less kidney trouble, and within the past year it became so severe and complicated that I suffered everything and was much alarmed—my strength and power was fast leaving me. I saw an advertisement of Swamp-Root and wrote asking for advice. I began the use of the medicine and noted a decided improvement after taking Swamp-Root only a short time.

I continued its use and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured and strong. In order to be very sure about this I had a doctor examine some of my water today and he pronounced it all right and in splendid condition.

I know that your Swamp-Root is purely vegetable and does not contain any harmful drugs. Thanking you for my complete recovery and recommending Swamp-Root to all sufferers I am,
Very truly yours,
L. C. RICHARDSON.

You may have some bottle of this wonderful remedy. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp-Root. If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty cent and one dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
