

INDIAN TROUBLE IS NOW BREWING

Reported That Utes in Great Number Are Leaving Reservation.

AND LOOKING FOR A FIGHT.

Redskins Are Armed But Trying to Keep Out of Way of Uncle
Sam's Boys.

Vernal Express: Many of the residents of Uintah county may not be aware of the fact, but it is nevertheless true, that Indian trouble of gigantic proportions is brewing. Reports have been persistently circulated here to the effect that Indians in small squads have been passing over the mountains north of Vernal almost daily. But the most sensational item of news relative to the movements of the Indians was positively confirmed yesterday by Forest Ranger Grant Carpenter. This is that a band of White River Utes, by actual count known to number 321, camped at Dry Fork Wednesday night. They observed military order, marched with scouts ahead and far behind. When they entered Dry Fork a brave rode some distance ahead, another behind, each carrying a pole about 10 feet long, with white flags waving in the breeze, evidently a token to the white people on route that they were not on the warpath.

TO HOLD COUNCIL.
The Indians were all well armed and had ammunition in abundance. They also had 1,000 head of horses and about a hundred of cattle. Their vehicles they disposed of wherever an opportunity to do so was offered. While at Dry Fork they had scouts out at the Silver Gate and all the way up the canyon as far as the Deep Creek ridge. Upon a report reaching them that the troops were following them they arranged themselves among the rocks in the foothills and put out additional guards. They informed the settlers that they are going to one of the northern reservations where a great gathering of all the Indians in the west has been arranged for, to counsel over their supposed grievances. They express freely their determination to fight rather than return.

AFRAID OF SOLDIERS.

The problem of forcing the Ashley river was a difficult one for them and upon the suggestion being made that they go by way of Vernal they said that they were afraid the soldiers would catch them in the Ashley valley, and they did not care to fight among the settlers, whom they regarded as their friends.

It is evident that they mean business, and Uncle Sam will have a good sized task on his hands in returning these Indians to the reservation. The Redskins now have a good start and are probably far across the range by this time.

We have not learned what action the government officers at the White Rocks agency and Fort Duchesne will take in the matter, but the outcome of this trouble is awaited here with intense anxiety.

They give as their reason for going that they do not want to live on the allotments among the white people, but want to be by themselves.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

George M. Davis Died as a Result of Excessive Drinking.

At the O'Donnell undertaking parlors lies the body of George M. Davis, who was found dead in the American house on Commercial street yesterday. It is not known how long the man had been dead when discovered, but he had been lying for two or three days from the effects of excessive drinking, in fact his condition bordered on delirium tremens. It was the intention of his friends to have him removed to a hospital yesterday for treatment, but death came before the body could be moved. The deceased had resided in Salt Lake for a number of years, and formerly was an express messenger in the employ of the Union Pacific. Afterwards he was an express clerk, and later engaged in mining, his holdings being principally in Idaho. It is said that in the last named line of business he brought financial ruin. He leaves a wife, three brothers and a sister in this city.

SINAI COMMANDMENTS.

Interesting Services Held Yesterday
Afternoon in Jewish Temple.

A meeting commemorative of the giving of the commandments from Sinai, and at the same time as a Memorial day service, was held yesterday in the Jewish temple. There was a large congregation present and an interesting program was rendered. Rabbi Freund delivered an address, which was listened to with rapid interest by his auditors. The speaker said in part: "This is the nation's holy day. It is a day sacred to the memories of martyrs. On both sides of the Union men were ready to sacrifice their all, their very lives, for causes which they felt to be righteous. This day recalls day wholly consecrated to thoughts awakened by such activities, it is by many desecrated by selfishness which is no wise excusable. It is too much to ask people to pause in their materialistic endeavors to learn life's essential lessons from our nation's self-sacrificing heroes. Can we not for a day at least forego those pleasures which in their boisterous way tend to drag us nearer to the brute animal in the desire only for life's material thing? Hopeful though our view may be of the progress man is making in the way of true philanthropy and altruism, he has yet to learn that the cause of selfishness is advanced with the true observance of such a day as Decoration day.

"For us who are assembled in this sacred edifice, this is a doubly holy day. It is a day sacred to us because of its connection with the trying history of our country, and also as a holiday in our religious calendar. As Americans we revere the memories of those of our country who placed their lives on the altar of service in its trying hour of need. As Jews we treasure as our heritage in common with mankind that great revelation announced on Sinai on the day of which this one is the anniversary. As American Jews we are in accord with all patriotic and religious movements which mean the advancement of the welfare of our country and of mankind.

If there is one day which for all should be a universal holiday it is such a day as this on which was accented the need of man's observance of law. For the "Thou shalt" and the "Thou shalt not" which were uttered at Sinai should find a constant reverberation in every individual conscience. We must realize and appreciate what is real and false liberty. Liberty is freedom as far as a man is free from true liberty. The day we celebrate will be a doubly holy day when the reign of law is universal and all of us sense that deep appreciation of law which will find freedom a reality in the fullest realization of the revelation at Sinai.

There is one thing that you can bank on. The present day young women are more self-reliant and less dependent. They take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 25 cents, Tea or Tablets. Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept., 112 and 114 Main street.

WESTERN MARKET LETTER.

Special Correspondence.
Stockyards, Kansas City, Mo., May 30.—Cattle receipts from the west last week were very light, and the supply from the Panhandle fell short of the previous week also short of the corresponding week a year ago. The market here was 10 cents lower Monday, caused by a heavy run of cattle at Chicago, and Tuesday's heavy receipts, 13,000 head, put prices down to 10 cents more on plain heavy grades. Bulk of the supply came in first three days last week and the light receipts after that caused a steady market. Demand ran more to light and handy weight steers. Top western steers sold at 2.15 pounds and sold 1,023 pounds Colorado at 4.50. The top steers of the week sold at 5.50 against 5.25 previous week. Bulk of sales today at 4.25 to 5.20. Top today 5.50. The run today 9,000 cattle, market strong and active. There is a good demand for cows, which range from 2.75 to 4.25, veals strong and active, ranging from 5.00 to 6.25, stockers and feeders firmer than last week ranging from 3.25 to 4.50. The trade in this class has been dull for the past two or three weeks, and closed last week 15 to 20 cents lower. Light receipts are expected this week with strong and active market. Receipts of sheep and lambs last week were unusually light, consisting mainly of tail ends of feed lots. The market opened at 30 to 35 cents from the previous week, but after Monday lambs declined and closed the week 10 to 15 cents lower. Western lambs sold at 7.00 Monday, within 5 cents of last week's top and short westerns brought 6.00. All the red stuff has been marketed and light receipts will rule from now on, stuff will come mostly from Texas and the southwest, and the

LOWELL SCHOOL EXERCISES TODAY

They Are Being Held in the Twentieth Ward Amusement Hall.

A STIRRING CLASS MOTTO.

The School's Fine Teachers' Room and How It Was Furnished by
"Left Over" Funds.

A pleasant feature of the workings at the Lowell school is the Teachers' room on the upper corridor. This apartment is used as a resting and sitting room for the corps of teachers when not engaged in their active duties, and is well equipped for comfort. There is a fine lounge, plenty of attractive and comfortable chairs, a large table, rug on the floor, nicely curtained windows, walls colored in tints pleasing to the eye, and at one side there is a combination of pantry and kitchen for light cooking, with artistic china and cooking ware, and washing conveniences. The teachers of the school are quite proud of this room, especially on account of its origin. When the public school money ran short three years ago, and heroic public action was necessary to carry the schools of the city through the full year, the patrons of the Lowell raised more than enough to ensure this. So with the money that was left over, the committee, after consultation with the teachers, concluded to use the surplus to fit up this Teachers' room, and it has been a source of comfort ever since.

New Era Paint

Sold by the year and by the yard.

New Era Paint actually costs less to use than any other, because its high quality gives more square yards of covering surface and years of wearing service to the gallon than any other paint made.

You're wasting money when you pay a painter, say, $40 for his labor in painting your house with low-priced paint. It costs as much to apply so-called "cheap" paint as for New Era, but New Era wears about twice as long as the cheap kind.
