CENSUS TAKEN IN MANILA.

Population Found to be Less Than Estimated by Spaniards.

CITY IS VERY UNHEALTHY.

peath Rate 40 Per Cent - Bubonic Plague, Berl Berl, and Smallpox are Epidemic.

[Early Dispatches.] Manlia, March 6 .- Correspondence of the Associated Press .-- The census of Manila just completed by the health department, gives the city an unpleasantly high rank among the unhealthful cities of the world. It establishes a death rate of something over forty per cent at a conservative estimate. Former estimates and censuses had always given Manila 300,000 population. This census was a careful count of natives and Chinese living in buildings and boats in the police districts of Manila, and it gave a total of 180,719, of whom 30,000 were Chinamen. There are to be added the inhabitants of several villages within the city limits, Americans and Europeans and 1,400 priests in the monasteries. From re-liable information the officials estimate their number at between fifty and sixty thousand

The deaths in Manila officially reported during the six months from July Lat to December 21st last year were 6,203, to December 21st last year were 6,203, of these 1,941 were children. Some of the principal causes were berl-berl, 570; tuberculosis, 385; bronchitis, 314; dysen-tery, 129, fevers, 287, while stomach troubles ranked high. Manila now has three disearces epidemic which would throw the average community into a panic, bubonic plaugue, berl-berl and smallpox. Berl-berl results from a diet of fish-and rice, so that whites do not fear it. Smallpox and leprosy the Phil-ippines always have and the people look upon them as a matter of course, avoidapon them as a matter of course, avoiding direct contact but hardly giving a second thought to their presence in the neighborhood. Smallpox flourishes in some parts of Luzon constantly. Haif of the natives in the country districts are pitted with it, and mothers try to get their children infected with it under the belief that it is less dan-gerous to the young. The towns along the northern coast and on the railroad between Manila and Dagupan are full of smallpox now. General Bell's famous volunteer regiment, the Thirty-sixth is suffering from an epidemic, Lieut, Toncray and Lieut, Wing, both of whom were Tennesseeans, the forof whom were Tennesseeans, the for-mer holding a commission as captain in the Tennessee volunteers, and several solders have died and there are other cases in the regiment. The easy-going natives and Spaniards paid so little at-tention to leprosy that the Philippines have never been noted for that dis-ease but there are more than a hun-dred lepers in the Manila hospital. Bubane plaque is a visitor to which Bubonic plague is a visitor to which distance lends terror. Two months ago the first case was discovered in Manila. Since that time there have been 200 cases according to the estimates of the health officers, and at least 80 per cent d them have resulted fatally xethere has been no panic, no families have fied from the city, nor has the usual routine of life in the city been The repressive measures of the health have been comparatively simple but have proved remarkably efsective considering conditions they have had to fight. Their aim has been to make the city clean and keep it clean. This is the last thing the masses of Filipinos and Chinamen propose to do unless driven to it. They don't understand it, they consider it only a form of persecution," explained Surgeon Major Ira C. D. Brown, when asked if the natives were disposed to co-operate in this work. The Pilipinos are one of the most seruptions people in the world about personal cleanliness. Their knowledge sanitation, however, was gained enirely from the Spaniards and is de The lower classes of Chinese are worse as the fact that two-thirds of the plague cases have been among them, sithough they number but a small minority of the population, tes-tifies. Most of the later cases have been in the same section of the walled city or in the Chinese quarter, near the water front. Immediately Surgeon Major Edio, the health officer, organized a force of inspectors to enforce rigid sanitary measures on everybody and the plague work was put in charge of Major Brown. It was necessary to have men who could speak the language of the people, explain to them what the in-spections meant, and direct them how to keep their premises clean, so Fili-pinos had to be enlisted. The officials have hoped that when the rainy season gets fairly under way, with a' few six-inch showers it will wash up the town so thoroughly that plague will be impossible. Already the number of cases weekly reported is decreasing.

ORGANIZE NATIONAL GUARD.

Proposition to Make State Militia a Reserve Volunteer Army.

Washington, April 1.-Representative Hay, of Virginia, one of the prominent members of the military committee of the House, has prepared a bill to create out of the militia of the several States a reserve volunteer army for use in time of war to supplement the regular service. The bill contemplates a general broadening of the basis of the National Guard, its equipment with the service rifle and its complete organization in time of war into regiments, brigades, divisions and corps with the brigades, divisions and corps with the three-battalion formation as in the regular service, and is designed to obviate the necessity of a large stand-ing army upon the expiration of the present law July 1, 1901, increasing the standing army to 65,000 and authoriz-ing the armset volunteer army to 35. ing the present volunteer army to 35,-

The bill will be introduced in the House tomorrow and receive additional importance from the fact that Mr. Hay is chairman of the Democratic caucus. The bill makes all citizens between the ages of 18 and 45 liable to military service in the volunteer army. It appropriates $4,000,000 annually for the tenance and equipment of the National Guard of the several States, and re-quires the secretary of war to keep in each State a supply or ordnance stores sufficient for ninety days' use of the National Guard of the State in the "The time has come," said Mr. Hay today in explanation of his bill, "when it is necessary to consider carefully the question of the future military establishment of the United States. A care-ful consideration of the question has led to the belief that the situation can led to the belief that the situation can be met without a resort to that worst enemy of a republic, a large and per-manent military establishment. The secretary of war has well said, 'that the regular establishment in the United States will probably never be, by itself, the whole machine with which any war will be fought "This being admitted, it will certainly not be contended that in time of peace the regular establishment will be 'the whole machine.' Conservative men will seek more means by which the regular establishment can be reduced to a minimum compatible with the requirements of the country in time of peace, and at the same time will offer some plan by means of which an efficient army can be placed in the field should we unfortunately engage in war. "The time has come when we must solve the problem of national defense, and solve it if possible in a way to prevent the creation of a large standing army. An organized citizen soldiery, in touch with the people and composed of the people, does this. The object to be obtained is to enact a law which will effectively create an organized militia which will be available at a moment's notici "The bill if enacted into law will, it Is confidently believed, go far toward solving successfully the intricate prob-lem of national defense and at the same time obviate the necessity for any increase of the standing army.
