

JUDGE WHITAKER A VERY BUSY MAN

Police Court Docket Comprised
Forty-Nine Cases of All Sorts.

FAMILY ROWS AND DRUNKS

Majesty of the Law Brought to Bear
In Straightening Out a General
Mix-Up of Affairs.

When the criminal division of the city court was opened this morning, Judge Whitaker, presiding in the absence of Judge Diehl, was confronted with 49 cases on the docket. Of this number, 44 were city cases and the others state cases. There would not have been nearly this number but for the fact that Judge Whitaker did not see fit to hold court on Saturday and the unfortunate who were arrested Thursday and Friday and unable to furnish bail, were forced to remain in jail until it suited the pleasure of the court to hear and adjudicate their cases.

The complaints on the docket this morning were for drunks, vagrants, destroying property, disturbing the peace, immorality and petit larceny. The morning bench was crowded with nondescript individuals and nearly all had some little story to tell about being unfortunate, making a mistake and not meaning to do anything against the majesty of the law.

WHITE HAIRED OFFENDER.

Elizabeth Bradley, a trembling, white haired woman, about 72 years of age, who got into a mix-up at the Salt Palace one night last week, and who was arrested on the charges of drunkenness and disturbing the peace, was represented by Attorney Stringfellow, who pleaded not guilty and asked that the case be set for trial Wednesday. The order was made.

A MAN NAMED JONES.

A few days ago, William Jones, residing at Oakley addition, was arrested at the instance of his wife and daughter for driving them out of the house and then smashing up the furniture. He was released on his own recognizance, but on Friday he got drunk again and was once more landed behind the bars. This morning a plea of not guilty was entered by his attorney and the case set for tomorrow for trial.

Saturday night Frank Porter entered a chili parlor on State street and put a bunch of the fiery stuff on top of a load of whiskey. The mixture did not apparently improve Porter's disposition and when a colored woman entered the place Porter began amusing himself by the pastime of shying glasses and catsup bottles at the woman's head. He drew five days on the rock pile.

TEN DOLLAR SPREE.

Frank Hovey, a Mexican, was arrested at the Orpheum Saturday night for drunkenness and raising a disturbance. According to the statement made in court this morning, Hovey started out to right some imaginary wrongs and decided to use a razor to do so. He flourished the weapon a few times and made threats until he was gently gathered in by the police. Judge Whitaker fined him $10.

A LOST SHIRT.

S. B. Smith, who has on several occasions faced the court for drunkenness and disturbing the peace, was again before the bar of justice today. He was charged with disturbing the peace and Asst. City Atty. Daly informed the court that Smith went home the other night and threatened to kill his wife. This allegation was indignantly denied by Smith. He admitted that the trouble at his home was caused by a missing shirt. Smith told the court that for one whole day and night he was without a shirt and went home to get a clean article to cover his manly frame. He searched and searched for the shirt but the garment could not be found. Then he became angry and evidently concluded the missing shirt was hidden in an appearance if he cursed, threatened, swore and smashed up a few articles of furniture. Instead of the shirt coming back the police arrived and Smith was landed behind the bars. He was made a present of a meal ticket to be used at the city jail for the next 15 days.

It is understood that Mrs. Smith was most anxious that her late husband be taken care of behind the bars. She said this morning that she was in terror all the time and feared the man would injure her. She also announced her intention of securing a divorce from the man.

STARTS TO FISH.

J. Solomon started out yesterday morning to go fishing but he evidently forgot something, drank the bait, a pint bottle of whiskey that was something like prussic acid, and landed in jail. When the police searched him at headquarters they were visibly shocked and thought they "had 'em" when he pulled out of his coat pocket a double handful of worms.

Solomon couldn't remember anything about it but he will have five days in jail in which to think it over.

TRIO OF INEBRIATES.

Yon John, an Indian, Thomas Reggs and "Razor Jack" Richardson were all charged with Sunday drunkenness and each drew a fine of $5. "Razor Jack" said he was not drunk on Sunday but that he got drunk Saturday night, had a "hang-over" and mistook the last car home. It was stated in court that Richardson got the notion into his head that it would be highly proper for him to carry up the record of the case of Police Officer Carlson. He was armed with a razor but before he had a chance to perform the surgical operation upon the devoted officer, Patrolman Simpson gathered him in.

Lulu Williams, Nadine Shaw and Amy Johnson, colored women of the town, charged with vagrancy and other offenses, were arraigned this morning. Attorney Stringfellow represented the accused and in the case of the Williams woman filed a motion for a change of judge, alleging that Judge Whitaker was prejudiced in the case. Newton asked that the other women be released upon $25 bail each, but the court would not listen to the motion and fixed their bonds in the sum of $100 each. The Williams woman was released on $250 bail.

John Burke, arrested Thursday night at the instance of Mrs. Alice Walker, proprietress of the Colorado House, on the charge of stealing an alarm clock, escaped prosecution on this morning when the case was called for trial. Mrs. Walker took the stand to testify that Burke stole the clock, but it soon developed that she was not the owner of the time piece and did not know who owned it. When this fact was brought out Asst. City Atty. Daly moved that the case be dismissed. The order was made and Burke regained his freedom.

THREE BOYS PLEAD.

Judge Whitaker would not permit John Moore, George Thompson and Joseph Gardner, the three youths who knocked down and robbed Bernard Muggleston Tuesday night, to plead guilty to the charge of robbery. They are charged with taking from their victim $8 and a watch. The young men admitted their guilt but declared they did not get as much as $8—only 10 cents. They wanted to plead guilty and go before the district court at once for sentence, but Judge Whitaker made a plea of not guilty entered and the case set at the foot of the state call, which means they will have to languish in the county jail until Sept. 25.

Judge Diehl will have a busy time of it when he returns. Besides the daily grind of city cases, state cases are set for every day until the last of September, and more cases are coming in each day.

FITZGERALD OUT ON BAIL

It Is Believed That Chief Wilkie and
Capt. Porter Look Askance Upon
The Evidence in the Case.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—George W. Fitzgerald, assistant treasurer of the Chicago sub-treasury at the time of the theft of $175,000 in government money 17 months ago and who was arrested yesterday charged with the crime, spent last night in jail, but was granted bail today on a $50,000 bond by Judge Chittenden. Counsel for the defendant pleaded for an immediate hearing, but the court postponed the examination until Aug. 25, to allow the state's attorney to collect further evidence.

"I have not a nickel that does not belong to me," Fitzgerald exclaimed to reporters.

He gave attorneys an elaborate explanation of the money he had used in speculation since he was discharged from the government employ. His egg speculation began with an investment of $200, he asserted, and netted $700.

ON STRAWBERRY PROJECT.

The following report of progress on the Strawberry reclamation project appears in the August 24th issue of the Reclamation Record, published under the direction of the department of the interior:

Utah Strawberry valley project (37 per cent completed).—No work had been done on the Strawberry tunnel which is 7 per cent completed. Tunnels on the lower canal were brought to 92 per cent completion during the month, and the potter transmission line to 85 per cent. The power canal diversion dam is 95 per cent completed, and steady progress has been made on the construction of the power house and the delivery of the machinery to be installed therein.

BOOSTER TRIP TO LOGAN.

The board of directors of the Manufacturers and Merchants' association will be held this evening, when final arrangements for the booster trip to Logan Sept. 7 will be made. Secy. Lon Haddock recently made a trip to Ogden in the interest of the trip, and he says Ogden is the starting point for the trip with the train to Logan. Mr. Haddock was strongly impressed with the spirit of civic improvement he found in Ogden, and was pleased to see the liberal way in which the Junction City people responded to the movements of the tidings of Utah's resources.

FIREMEN PENSION FUND

Former Chief Devine Says It Has No
Beneficiaries Until the Legislature Acts.

That former Fire Chief Vail has absolutely no individual rights in connection with the Firemen's benefit fund, and that no individual fireman has any right to claim a participating interest in the fund, or a right to vote it away to any purpose whatsoever, is the opinion of former Fire Chief Jas. Devine, under whom nearly all of the fund was collected.

Mr. Devine was asked this morning for his opinion of the proper disposition of the fund and when he was told in done with it in view of the present failure to secure an accounting by Mr. Vail, his custodian.

"I am surprised," he said, "that Mr. Vail should have the money in his pocket. I collected nearly all of that fund. There was a distinct and direct purpose in so doing, and this was to build up a nucleus for a firemen's fund, and when it was collected by all that the legislature should be appealed to for a law creating such a fund, and designating the method of its use. Until then no man individually or any claim upon it or any right to use it in his business, or to ask for benefits under it."

"There is a matter you must keep in mind in this regard. No man connected with this fire department put a single cent into that fund. No one was ever a cent poorer because it was collected. It was made up absolutely from the account and from money which no individuals had even a remote claim."

"First there was a book we got out as a fund benefit. That brought in a good deal of money. The whole fund was the checks of people who donated of their own free will, because they liked they way their fires were handled. Besides this there were the proceeds of the firemen's games, and the department I kept this money by itself in an account under the name of 'Jas. Devine, chief,' and I even kept it in a bank separate from where I kept my personal money. The whole fund amounted to nearly $3,000 in cash value, and it should be intact today, for no one had any authority to tamper with it, nor could he get such authority."

"I don't understand what former Chief Vail means by saying he ought to be a beneficiary, and intends to submit his name, asking to be made one of the beneficiaries. There are no beneficiaries until law is made, and no one at present is a beneficiary. I never heard of a cent being distributed to anyone, and no money ever should have been paid out."

The matter of an accounting is still unsettled. Former Chief Vail refuses to discuss the matter, but says he is willing to furnish a bond for the amount of it. The amount of it is so large that a full and complete accounting cannot just at present be made.

WILL INSPECT PLANT.

L. J. Haddock and Joseph A. Silver
Leave for Louisville, Ky., Tomorrow.

Tomorrow noon will witness the departure from Salt Lake of L. J. Haddock, secretary of the M. & M. association and Joseph A. Silver for Louisville, Kentucky, where they go to inspect a $300,000 steel rolling mill plant which has been offered to Salt Lake parties at reasonable terms. The plant is capable of turning out large quantities of steel bars, channel iron and small iron shapes of various designs, and the M. & M. real estate and Commercial club associations of this city have contributed each a third of the expenses of the trip for the inspection of the plant. If things develop satisfactorily it is more than likely inducements will be offered to have the plant which employs 300 people, moved to Utah. Besides the structural steel manufactured, it is capable of producing steam, water and gas pipe up to 3 inches in diameter, and would be a welcome addition to the manufacturing resources of the state.

After leaving Louisville, Mr. Haddock will run over to Battle Creek, Michigan, to look over the cereal food manufacturing proposition.

TAKE EDWARDS TO IDAHO.

Clever Crook Who Was Trapped by Simpson Confesses to Offenses.

J. L. Edwards, a business man of Hailey, Idaho, arrived in the city this morning and brought with him a list of articles stolen from him some months ago by John Lambert, the tool thief who was cleverly trapped and captured at Murray by Patrolman Simpson about two weeks ago.

It will be recalled that the police had numerous complaints about the theft of valuable carpenter tools and that Lambert was caught by Simpson at Murray while he was trying to dispose of the stolen property. Lambert made a full confession and the tools were recovered. It was developed that the thief was wanted in Hailey for the theft of about $1,500 worth of property belonging to Mr. Edwards and on the charge of grand larceny.

According to Mr. Edwards, Lambert made a full confession and gave Mr. Edwards a list of articles of jewelry he had stolen and a number of pawned some of them in Salt Lake loan offices. Mr. Edwards was introduced to Chief of Detectives George Sheets, and an officer was sent with the Idaho man to visit the various pawn shops and locate, if possible, the stolen articles. It is understood that Lambert will plead guilty when his case comes before the court in Idaho and will receive a sentence to a term in the Idaho state prison.

JAIL MYSTERY SOLVED.

Upper Tier "Roomers" Establish Communication With First Floor Guests.

For some time the jailers at the city jail have been wondering how prisoners on the upper tier of the jail got into communication with prisoners on the lower floor. Matches, tobacco and other articles have been passed from one to another and prisoners have been able to give information to each other.

This morning the mystery of how communication was established was solved by Patrol Driver George Moore. The latter happened to be in the jail on the upper floor yesterday to a prisoner on the floor below and told him to watch from his window for a string which would lower. Moore called Jailer Ripley and sent the string appearing and at the end was attached a double of matches and a note. Just as the male prisoner was about to reach for the string Ripley let out a yell that would awaken the dead. The man didn't get his matches and note.

FUNERAL OF LARON PRATT

Veteran Printer Laid to Rest After Impressive Service Attended by Host of Devoted Friends.

The large number of relatives and friends that attended the obsequies in the Seventeenth ward chapel Sunday afternoon, and the many beautiful floral offerings in evidence bore eloquent testimony to the esteem and respect in which Elder Laron Pratt was held in the community in which he spent his life. Students of the Deaf Mute school, to whom the deceased had endeared himself in his long years of earnest labors in the Sabbath school, were present in large numbers, and showed their love in many floral tokens.

The song "O My Father," one of Elder Pratt's favorites, was the second musical number and during its rendition by James H. Nielson, it was repeated in sign language to the students of his Sabbath school by Elder Chambers.

The other musical numbers were "Night of Rest," and "We Shall Meet Before the River." The choir consisted of Messrs. Wm. Cook, James H. and David Nelson and Alma C. Clayton. "Home, Sweet Home" was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Emma Ramble, Morris, accompanied by Alvin Bessey.

Many of his associates from the various departments of the Deseret News, where he had labored as a printer for nearly 50 years, were also present. Bishop Frank S. Tingey conducted the services.

The first speaker was Elder J. M. Spauld, editor of the Deseret News, who spoke feelingly for his fellow associates in praise of the noble, honest life of the deceased, and offered words of sympathy to the bereft family.

Elder John Henry Smith, who had been associated with the deceased from his youth, spoke of the heroic life of the deceased, who in the face of almost insurmountable obstacles made a success of the great work of his life, and an honored family, kept the faith and won the esteem of all who knew him. His life was truly an exemplary one, and he was a worthy son of his distinguished father, Orson Pratt, one of the earliest standard bearers of Mormonism, and a Utah pioneer.

Elder Fred W. Chambers, superintendent of the Deaf Mute school, Ogden, spoke feelingly of the devotion of Elder Pratt, who went to Ogden every Sabbath for nearly nine years, to minister to the little unfortunates, and bring them to a knowledge of the gospel.

The pallbearers were Walter J. Lewis, George Buckle, Joseph S. Tingey, William A. Cowan, Chas. H. Hyde, and S. H. Harrow of the Deseret News forces.

The grave was dedicated by Elder Arthur S. Barnes, and the quartet sang the selection, "Nearer My God to Thee."

KNITTING WORKS FIRE.

Blaze in the Roof Causes Some Excitement Among Factory Hands.

The fire department was quite busy for a short time this morning, two alarms coming in at about the same time. The first was from Ninth North and Third West streets, where a box car on the Bamberger road was on fire. The hose wagon made the long run, but the fire was out before the firemen arrived. No damage was done, and the cause of the slight blaze was not learned.

Within a few seconds after the first alarm, word was received that the Salt Lake Knitting works were burning. Several persons turned out alarms and for a time it was thought that the place had been destroyed, and a factory is located on First North and Second West streets, and a people residing in the neighborhood became greatly excited. There were rumors of great damage and someone started the works had been injured.

The blaze started from sparks from a chimney. A hole was burned in the roof and the fire had a pretty fair start when the apparatus from No. 2 and the hose wagon from No. 1 reached the scene. The fire was quickly extinguished, however, and the employees had scrambled out of the building before any harm could befall them. The loss is estimated at only $25, covered by insurance.

BURGLARY IN OGDEN.

Mrs. J. H. Cordon's Residence Entered
And $500 in Property Stolen.

It seems that porch climbers and daylight robbers are at work in Ogden. The Salt Lake police received word this morning that sometime yesterday or last evening, the home of Mrs. J. H. Cordon of Ogden, had been entered by thieves, who made off with about $500 worth of property. An accurate list of the articles stolen was not sent to the local police, but the property consists of jewelry, silverware and clothing. The Ogden police are of opinion that the thieves came to Salt Lake for the purpose of disposing of their plunder, and officers are now at work trying to locate the property.

J. W. Lablance, the debonair Sioux Indian, who lectured at the University of Utah summer school, and who was scheduled for a series of lectures throughout the east, is now plain "Buckskin Joe." Not exactly plain, however, as he calls himself, "Mr. Buckskin Joe."

The erstwhile lecturer has descended from the platform to the hunting ground, and in a letter to Gov. Cutler he asks for permission for himself and his wife to hunt on forest reserves in Kane county, when the season shall have opened. SPRINGFIELD RIOTS.

Representative Negro Bodies Pass
Resolutions Applauding Governor.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 21.—Two representative bodies of negroes yesterday passed formal resolutions applauding Gov. Deneen for the firmness with which he suppressed the recent rioting and clearing of the colored people from the chamber of commerce and the Business Men's association in the prevention of a record of rioting and the punishment of offenders.

The meetings were the first public gatherings of negroes since the rioting. The Seventh Infantry expects to return to Chicago Wednesday if no trouble occurs Tuesday night after the negroes have been paid. For the first time since the rioting the saloons were allowed to resume business today. A dozen patrolmen were arrested yesterday for opening prematurely.

The city council will meet tonight to receive claims for property burned by the mob. A committee of appraisers will be appointed. A board of estimates places the total amount of the claims at $5,000, exclusive of the six lives, for which the city may have to pay at the rate of $5,000 each.
