

THE BINGHAM CANYON RAILROAD will be found in our columns; note the hours of arrival and departure. It is a pleasant trip, and the scenery is an able manager.

At sunrise, the stars and stripes were hoisted, and the people gathered at the meeting-house, where, presided over by M. R. DeLaney, marshal of the day, and marched through the principal streets to the bower.

Meeting called to order at 10 o'clock a. m. by M. R. DeLaney, marshal of the day, and prayer, James Dalley, orator of the day, favored the people with an appropriate and interesting oration, and Caleb Orton sang, "The Standard of Zion." Next was a brief history of the Mormon Battalion by C. S. Hulet, Sen., followed by songs, recitations, dialogues, toasts, sentiments, etc., singing and benediction, which closed the forenoon exercises. In the afternoon the children gathered at the bower and enjoyed themselves in the dance, and in the evening the adults assembled at the same place and for a like purpose. All the day's exercises passed off lively and quietly.

One sad occurrence, however, was the death of a son of Elder DeLaney, which called forth the sympathies of the people for the bereaved parents.

The national birthday was celebrated here in a lively and quiet manner, with the 24th makes two of the liveliest celebrations ever witnessed in our little town.

Our meetings and Sunday schools are held regularly, with a favorable attendance, and although, on account of drought, the prospects for a bountiful harvest are not very flattering, the saints do not feel in the least discouraged.

At sunrise (says our Wales correspondent), the stars and stripes were hoisted, with firing of musketry. The citizens of the place met together in the school-house, at 8 o'clock, and formed a procession under the direction of Elder Wm. Davis, marshal of the day, and after marching through some of the streets, returned to the school-house. After singing and prayer, the orator of the day, Elder Jonathan Midgley, addressed the saints. There was occasional firing of musketry, singing and music. The Bishop, John E. Reese, having made a few closing remarks, the saints were dismissed with benediction by Elder Thomas D. Rice, until 2 p. m.

During the afternoon, there was a juvenile dance, foot-racing, etc. One of our sisters over 70 years old participated in the races. The exercises of the day closed with an adult dance at night.

The health of the people of this place is generally pretty good, although there have been more deaths here since the year began than there have been for ten years previous.

Our crops look very well.

We also learn from a correspondent at Franklin, Oneida County, Idaho, that the good people there had a grand celebration on the 24th; but we regret that space at our disposal will not permit us to do more than merely record the fact.

"Big Blunders."—As will be seen from an advertisement in another column, Dr. Talmage, the Pastor of Brooklyn Tabernacle, Brooklyn, N. Y., will deliver a lecture in the Theatre, on Wednesday evening next, entitled "America's greatest preacher and orator." The popularity of "America's greatest preacher and orator," will doubtless have the effect of drawing a good house. The press speaks highly of the Doctor's lectures, the Philadelphia Press, commenting as follows:

"He defies criticism. The attempt to do anything but listen to those sentences, now short, sharp and ringing, and now drawn out with a plainness of statement that will leave his voice as died away, to do anything but laugh at those fine bits—that delicate sarcasm, mimicry that is the perfection of acting—or to feel so very, very serious when, in a moment, you are laughing and then sober, solemn reflection—the attempt, in fine, to be anything else but in complete harmony with the speaker, and to acknowledge his absolute sway, is so vain that it needs only to be mentioned and tried to show his power."

Quite a Reception.—On Thursday night last, Bountiful gave a hearty reception to Elder Henry Rampton who has just returned from his mission to England. About half the ward and all the Sunday School children turned out to meet him at Woods Cross, an evidence of the high esteem in which Elder Rampton is held by those with whom he is associated. He has ever taken great interest in the Sunday School, and young and old of the ward felt to give him a right good welcome on his return from Europe.

Coal Monopoly.—From a Provo correspondent we learn that there is a rumor abroad to the effect that the Utah Coal Company is planning to purchase the Pleasant Valley railroad and coal mines. It comes from authority that makes it something more than a rumor. The company will be to buy the road and coal beds and then shut down on them entirely so as to keep his Union Pacific coal on the market to the exclusion of others. Well, we shall see.

The Cloud Burst.—A correspondent writing yesterday from Lehi, says:

"While passing Lehi this morning I heard a farmer say that the damage inflicted by the late storm, which was a portion of the railroad track the other day, was about $5,000. This flood must have been large, as I noted in some places even the sagebrush had been torn up by the roots as it passed."

Sunday Services.—The Sunday services of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will consist of the following: Sabbath Schools at 10 a. m. in the various wards; general meeting in the Tabernacle at 2 p. m., and ward meetings in the groves as usual.

Home missionaries will visit in the city, week to-morrow night.

W. W. Cole's Circus.—If W. W. Cole's "Big Show" does not make a big success in Salt Lake City or anywhere else, the blame cannot be laid to a mismanagement of posters. Such an array of show bills has seldom been exhibited in the city. But we believe in advertising by nothing but the truth.
