Paris, June 15 .- President Carnot today telegraphed a message of sympathy to the German Emperor William, and the cabinet ministers left their cards at the German embassy.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS OF HIS DEATH. POTSDAM, June 15.—Some details are now becoming known in regard to the last hours of the Emperor. An hour after midnight the Empress dismissed the members of the Imperial family to their apartments and prepared herself to pass the night watching in the room adjoining the sick chamber of the Emperor. Dr. Hovell shared in the vigil. At this time the Emperor was in the full possession of his facuities. Shortly after 1 o'clock he wrote en a slip of paper the following questions which he handed te Dr. Hovell: "How is my pulse? Are you satis-led with it?"

He then wrote something more but retained the paper in his hand after erasing the words. Between 2 and 3 o'clock his breathing became terribly o'clock his breathing became terribly labored and some moments of struggle would ensue alternated with spasms and great distress as the hard fight with approaching death progressed. By this time his strength was seen to be waning. As soon as it became evident that the end was near the Empress caused the royal family to be summoned. At 8 o'clock all had gathered around the bedside. Dr. Koomell, the court caplain, who had been sumered around the bedside. Dr. Koomell, the court caplain, who had been summoned by telegram from Ems, did not arrive in time to administer the last sacrament. Dr Passeus therefore officiated in this ceremony. Pastor Rage was also in the death chamber during the administering of the sacrament, and indeed to within fifteen minutes before his death the Emperor appeared to be quite conscious. He showed by the expression of his eyes and by the movements of his eyelids that he still recognized all who appreached his bedside. The relatives and others and a number of officials, who had been summoned early in the merning, reached the palace before death had taken place.

BERLEY, June 15 —The Reichs Anseiger publishes a telegram from Baden stating that Dowager Empress Augusta, to whom the news of the dangerous turn which the Emperor's malady had taken had been carefully broken, immediately expressed a wish to return to Berlin. Her physicians, however, would not permit her to undertake the journey, her strength having been so evertaxed by recent events as to render her unable to stand the fatigue of the trip. COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

LONDON, June 15.-The St. James fazette says: The Emperor was a true man and the loss is very great. The new Emperor has his own ideas as to what to do or what not to do for the safety of Germany and these may have a certain importance in England. Emperor Frederick's death may suspend whatever warlike designs exist in Europe. Events will move more quickly and England must promptly decide what part she means to play in certain contingencies.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: Emperor William by his devotion to duty untiring industry and firm grasp of great ideas, showed how a king could live, and Emperor Frederick has shown the world how a king can die. No characters in history stand higher. He neither grasped the vile good in the present, nor vainly lamented the darkness of the tuture, but earnestly executed whatever was possible to accomplish in his time.

The Journal des Debats, referring to the Emperor, recalls his protest against the attributing of warlike intentions to him. It believes the protest was sincere and inspired by Prince Bismarck, and expresses the hope that William II will continue to accept the councils of the chancellor. It conciudes: As long as Bismarck lives France will not be threatened by Germany any more than it has been during the past ten weeks. the past ten weeks.

THE PERIOD OF MOURNING. London, June 15.—The Lord Chamberlain is in communication with the court at Balmoral upon the measures regarding the period of public mourning. Meantime preparations have been stopped for state balls, concerts and other court festivities. The period of mourning will be prolonged for the same time as for a son of the Queen. REGAL SYMPATHY

THE DEATH SCENE. Berlin, June 15.—About 10 o'clock the Crown Prince was called in. The Emperor's head was raised on a large pillow, his hands rested on a coverlet. the crown prince stood opposite. The Empress was seated at the foot of the Empress was seated at the foot of the bed, but later she knelt at the bedside, and remained in this position during the last hours, watching her dying husband's faint gasps for breath. During the night the Emperor had beckoned her to his side, as she bent over him he murmured a single word, then a short sentence which she alone understood. At the the foot of the bed knelt the Emperor's daughters, Prince Henry and daughters-in-law. The chaplain softly murmured the litany. Prince Frederick Charles, who had strewn the coverlet with white roses, stood with the rest of the family. At some distance were the members of the household. The servants were crowded about the doors, with bowed heads and bated breath, and from time to time the litany was interrupted by half-restrained sobs, the most heartrending sobs being those of old Wendelin, who had been the Emperor's trusted servant from his youth. He is quite prostrated, and it is not likely he will survive the Emperor long.

At 11 o'clock Dr. McKenzie made a

At II o'clock Ir. McKenzie made a sign to the Empress, and fervently kissed the hand of the Emperor. At 12 minutes past, the doctor draw his watch and declared all was over. The Crewn Prince gave whispered orders to the adjutants, who left the room, and at 12:14 p. m., while silent throngs watched with bated breath, the standard on the castle was placed at half-mast. Another adjutant had s'epped into the courtyard and waved his hand-kerchief to the sentinel, and in less than three minutes hussars had mounted their horses and galloped away in all directions, taking possession of evers gate and outer door of the castle.

The effect of the Emperor's death in Berlin was instantaneous; in a couple of hours the bright summer look of the streets was changed; women appeared clad in black and men with bands of crape tied about their arms. bands of crape tied about their arms.

Many shops were closed.

Much anxiety is felt concerning the new Empress, whose confinement is expected daily. The new sovereign calls himself Emperor William II, and his consort Empress Victoria Augusta. Immediately after the death the widow folded a silk family handkerchief around the deceased's neek. William, who sobbed, piaced his father's iron cross and order of merit decoration on the chest of the deceased together with a small gold chain to which was attached a number of lockets and charms, and laid his father's sword by the side of the body. Prince Henry fetched a wreath of flowers, and after the family had kissed the face and feet of the corpse, the Prince gave his arm to his mother and led her from the chamber.

Pottsdam, June 15.—In accordance with the wishes of the late Emperor and of the Empress, the Emperor William has ordered that the funeral be held on Monday morning. The obsequies will be devoid of pomp and will be of a military character. Owing to the limited accommodations, the at tendance will necessarily be small.

A TOUCHING SCENE occurred at the bedside this morning while the Emperor's life was passing away. Bismarck had called to bid his dying master a last farewell. The Emperor was thoroughly censcious, and taking the hand of the aged chancellor in his own feeble grasp, and motioning to the Empress to draw nearer, he took her hand and joined it with that of Bismarck, thus giving a silent and pathetic tokan of his desire for a reconciliation of all differences between his wife and the prime minister.

SPAIN'S CONDOLEMENT.

Madrid, June 15.—Prime Minister Sagasta announced the death of Em-peror Frederick in Congress. Senors Canavas and Domingress eulogized the dead monarch and resolutions of sympathy were unanimously adopted. The Queen Regent sent a touching message of condoience to Empress Victoria.

> AT CHICAGO Arrangements Material Ready, New Who Will be the Chairman?

CHICAGO, June 15 .- The probability that John N. Thurston of Nebraska, would be made temporary chairman of the convention and Warner Miller of New York permanent chairman, became this evening almost a certainty. Those who were unacquainted with business, however, Mrs. Isabella Thurston had apparently settled upon Patrick Egan, ex-President of the Irish National League and a delegate ten minutes at her request, to present from Nebraska, as the most available man. One of the national committeemen remarked that the election of Egan would be a stroke of policy that would be of service to the party in the campaign and be a well deserved honor to a man who has held the position of trust that Egan has held among his compatriots. Mr. Egan was seen this

GRESHAM AND HARRISON.

At General Harrison's headquarters today it was emphatically denied that there had been any conference between John C. New said: "No conference was held and none sought for by the friends of either candidate. There is nothing to confer about. We are making no fight on Gresham and so far as we know Gresham is making none on Harrison. The business of the Indiana delegation is to carry out the instructions of the republican state convention and to do what we can to secure the nomination for Harrison. The im-pression that Indiana has two candidates is not a correct one. Gresham doubtless has many friends in the rerepublican party in Indiana, but the sentiment expressed at the county and THE VIRGINIA CONTESTS

PACIFIC COASTERS.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, June 15.—
The train bearing the Pacific coast delegation, representing 42 votes in all, whistled into Omaha depot in a gorgeous array of bunting, flags and campaign emblems, at 3:40 this atternoon. The local committee on reception, which was on hand, at once caught the sentiment of the coasters by planting the American flag with pertrait of Blaine pinned over the field of stars. There was a general crowding around this banner. "We are all for Blaine," was the cry and one of the delegates added, "Yes, it's Blaine or bust." The views of the delegates are that at any rate the Pacific Coast delegation proposes to make this enthusiastic Blaine boasting as nearly literally true as possible. Three things became at once evident when a spell had been made of the forty-two delegates on the train. First, That the Blaine movement, if there is to be any in the convention, can depend on the Pacific Coast from start to finish. Second, That a demand will be made that the Pacific Coast have either the temporary or permanent chairman, and that M. M. Estee, one of the delegates atlarge, is to be the man presented for this honor, and, third, that neither Sherman nor Allison are likely at any time to get any votes from the coasters at a time when these votes would be necessary to nominate. Upon these two last points there is as much unanimity as on the first. There is a disposition on the part of the delegates to hold back an expression of position on the part of the delegates to hold back an expression of opinion as to their second choice. In case Blaine is out of the race, Gresham's friends claim to have made quite an impression. Dennison, one of the delegates who is not especially bimself a Gresoam man, says that Judge Gresham might get 12 or 15 votes. Such also is the opinion of G. Gates, one of the four delegates-at large, who says unless the question of protection is considered and a strong protection is considered and a strong protection is nominated, the Pacific Coast will be in danger, and that no man who has the taint of free trade can carry the Pacific coast. "But," said Mr. Gates, "we are fighting no man and are for the best candidate and will give whoever is nominated our hearty support. As we stand now we are all for Blaine and we think he can and will be nomiham's friends claim to have made quite and we think he can and will be nominated, and we want Estee for temporary or permanent chairman."

The leading spirits of the delegation have received information from Chicago since they have started from home that there is a movement to concede the temporary or permanent chairmanship to the Pacific coast, but that no name should be presented except Estee's, for whom the entire coast will be united. Chairman Jones of the

The delegation will march from the depot to their headquarters in Chicago tomorrow, headed by a silk banner four feet wide and five and a half feet long, inscribed in large letters, "Blaine and Protection."

Colorado will act with the coast regarding the selection of Estee for temporary or permanent chairman. The fact has been telegraphed chairman Jones that the coast delegation has decided not to vote for Sherman under any circumstances, and Colorado has agreed to stand by the Pacific Coast on this point also.

of San Francisco, in conversation with an Associated Press reporter said:

ITAMAN SYMPATHY.

General sympathy for the German nation is expressed throughout Italy. King Humbert is preparing to start for Berlin. Queen Maghuerita and the Prince of Naples have sent telegrams of condolence.

YIENNA, June 15.—All papers speak in the highest terms of culogy of the many thousands of votes if not defeat. THE WEST WANTS A SILVER PLANK.

The issuing of the proclamation of William II to the nation is not expected until after the funeral.

The body reposes on the iron bed on which the Emperor expired, and only the upper half of the face is visible. On the breast lies a wreath of laurel. The hands are joined and rest on the hilt of a cavally sakes. At the foot of SPAIN'S CONDOLEMENT.

C. F. Francks, another California delegate, who agreed with Mr. Beamish, said the unification on Blaine is not so strong as it looks after all. If Indians and New York should unite on a candidate, it would have a greater effect upon the Pacific Coast delegation than anything else he could think

Several other delegates appear to bave this opinion, but it is doubtful if the Blaine grip can be broken. P. Milburn, of Monterey County,

California, says:
"Up to this time Blaine is the first choice of the delegation, and it will stand by him until it learns he will not accept. Then I think it will go as a unit for some one not yet determined upon, who must be sound on the tariff, and a thoroughly reliable republican. Mrs. Hooker entered with Secretary Fessenden and a lady friend. She spoke clearly and well, arousing laughter and enthusiasm by the offer that if the committee would endeavor to have a woman suffrage plank inserted in the convention platform she would guarantee them one hundred women speakers in the coming canvass who would sweep the republican party into power to stay as long as it pleased. The plank offered by Mrs. Hooker was received.

In regard to the delegates-at-large from Virginia, the committee voted to recommend that the delegates headed by Senator Mahone be placed on the roll and be admitted as delegates, and

THE VIRGINIA CONTESTS
at once became a matter of vigorous discussions, Lynch, colored member the conventions of th discussion, Lynch, colored member from Mississippi, Hooker of Vermont and a dozen others taking part. After nearly an hour's earnest debate Walter Evans of Kentucky endeavored to bring matters to a head by moving as an amendment to the report of the sub-committee, that the entire Mahone delegation from Virginia be placed on the roll. Speech-making continued unabated. It was fully an boar longer before Evans, proposition hour longer before Evans' proposition came to a vote. The call showed that the motion to place on the convention roll the entire Mahone delegation was defeated 18 to 12.

The claim of Dakota for 10 seats in the convention next came up and caused another lively tilt. The idea was that Dakota is rightfully a State was that Dakota is rightfully a State not a Territory and is entitled to the full representation of a State. The position did not involve the enlargement of Dakota's vote in the convention. It was not a matter of votes. The committee gave Dakota the larger number and therefore its moral support of Dakota's claim to teste-The report of the committee to pre-
