Viceroy of India Arranging to Accompany His Wife America, After Resigning.

Washington society is awaiting the return of Daisy Leiter, who, fresh from the scene of her great social triumphs abroad, will be effectively welcomed by society here. Native breezes, it is hoped will speedily refresh Lady Curzon to her customary health and counteract the debilitating effects of tropical climate. Lord Curzon, who will succeed Lord Cromer after his term as viceroy of Ireland is completed, is preparing to go to India.

matters relating to the movement, and has also put himself in communication with the Boston Civil-Service Reform association and offered to unite with that organization together with the president of the Civil-Service Commission the officers of the National Civil-Service Reform league are all in hearty co-operation with the committee from the State federation, of which Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, of Boston, is chairman. This committee makes the excellent suggestion that no public action be taken by separate clubs without consultation with the State Civil-Service Reform association, from the competition begun last autumn by the Woman's Auxiliary, which will close early in the new year.

ART STUDENTS OF NEW YORK.

They Live Safe, Healthful Lives. Very Unlike that of Students of Paris.

The art students of New York and the life of the schools of the city is handled in an interesting manner in the January Woman's Home Companion in an article entitled, "The Girls' Art Schools of New York." As to how the young women students live the author writes as follows:

"There is no absurd dressing among the art students in New York—at least not after they have attended the classes for a day or two; and the popular notion that all art students live in dingy, barren garrets, cook their own meals by means of their oil lamps, and live generally upon the outer fringes of the city, has no ground in fact, so far as the students in New York are concerned. There are some such cases, but they are extremely rare. In the great majority of cases the students, if they cannot afford to pay for the necessities from their own pocketbooks, stay away from the city until they can borrow sufficient funds. Many girls with thin purses attend only half-day classes, and work at some commercial occupation the rest of the day. I know of several girls who do enough type-writing in the mornings to pay for their afternoon art lessons and their board besides, while numbers of students work for a salary in the daytime and attend art classes at night only.

"The art students of New York do not seek living-places in any one particular part of the town, as do the students of Paris. The various art schools are in widely separate sections of the city, and as living near to their schools means so much saved in car-fare, the girls usually live within easy walking distance of their respective classes. Possibly ninety-five per cent of the students board with private families or live in ordinary boarding houses, where they can secure fair board and room at from four dollars a week; but seven dollars a week is the average amount charged. The other five per cent of the students rent studios of their own, or more often, meagerly furnished bedrooms, and take their meals in restaurants; or else three to a dozen of them club together, rent a flat, and hire a servant to cook their meals."

Calve, the Woman.

Calve, the woman, is a topic not a whit less fascinating than her career as a prima donna. Each summer is spent at her chateau at Cavrièrre, near Aix-en-Provence, France. There is a pretty romance connected with this country-seat. When as a girl she used to walk this place each day her most daring dream was to some day be rich enough to purchase it. After success came the dream was realized. Today she spends as much time as possible there in company with her parents and brothers and sisters. To the village

A speed class in typewriting has just been organized. The first dictation brought out the fact that though no one of those forming this new class had ever had speed work before, all were able to write from forty-five to sixty-five words per minute of unfamiliar matter. One of them who had taken typewriting only three months, and who had never used a machine before, was able to write at the rate of forty-eight words per minute. Mr. Funk is therefore much encouraged.

A general mass meeting of the students was held on Wednesday morning for the purpose of discussing the advisability of giving a banquet and ball at the dedication of the new business college. It was decided by a unanimous vote to give both, the banquet on Thursday evening and the ball on Friday evening. The constantly recurring question of "Will the college boys answer the college girls?" was answered affirmatively. After these matters were discussed, President Paul was requested to speak. He detailed the efforts of the college board to secure quarters for the school and the results of those efforts; and depicted the many shifting scenes in the life of the college and the bright prospects for the future. "The college," he remarked, "is much like the Church; it is a growing animal; it cannot stand still." All the students were present and, later, all the members of the academy.

B. Y. ACADEMY.

Provo Jan. 24.—George D. Peacock, of Sterling, Saratoga county, paid the school a visit last Tuesday.

United States Bank Examiner Anderson, visited the academy during devotional exercises Monday morning.

The fourth of the series of concerts given by the music department will be held in College hall Friday, January 25th.

Apostle Lund has promised to give a lecture before the whole school, on January 26th. The students hope that nothing will prevent the promise from being realized.

All students entering a school have been vaccinated, with the exception of a few that the doctors have declared exempt.

The academy is always dear to the students, even after graduation, it seems. Miss May Ward, a graduate, is again in school and will take some special courses.

A great many of the guests at the Knight's reception and banquet were students, especially such as had wives here.

"Tonight Professor Stewart of the University will address the Parent's class on 'Child Character.' Those who know the professor are expecting something good.

The first Sunday school of the semester was held last Sunday. The classes were well filled and work began in good earnest where it was left off four days previous. The delay in beginning was due to the convening of the Utah State quarterly conference, which was attended by the students.

In a meeting of the "White and Blue," board of directors, the joint editorial staff was changed. Miss Scott was appointed as editor, with Dilworth Woolley as associate editor. The editors appointed are capable of filling the places and the students are expecting some good copy locally.

The Literary society postponed its program last Saturday that the students might attend the concert which was given for the benefit of the Tabernacle choir. At its next session the society will be re-organized. A busy season awaits the organization.

"Boyhood" was the subject of the lecture delivered before the Parent's class, last Wednesday, by Professor Brimhall. Like all his talks it was appreciated. It seems to be a curious fact that a larger audience attended when President Brimhall talks, than when lecturers from different places are here.

During the holidays many students moved boarding places. This has necessitated the overhauling of the domestic rolls. In some cases new presiding officers have been appointed, and a new list of visitors and seniors will be made out. The domestic clerks do not relish the thought of the work before them, and almost wish people would not move boarding places.

Last week seemed to be a week of pain. Vaccination had reached its climax and sore arms were in fashion. About one-third of those successfully vaccinated were severely ill. Even they are by no means converts to vaccination, but agree that it may be a good thing to have. No evil effects, however, and the sickness mentioned, have resulted, and very little time has been lost in class work.

The question has often been asked why the academy submitted to vaccination when so many of its teachers were opposed to the measure. Professor Nelson, who has been counted as one of its strongest opposers, said the case presented a choice between two evils, which the least was vaccination, and the greater, disunion and want of harmony.

BEAVER BRANCH B. Y. A.

Beaver, Jan. 23.—The Academy hall last Friday evening was a perfect success. All of the students who attended expressed themselves as having had an excellent time.

Groceries, coal oil, beef, etc., etc., can be bought from the academy store now, so that students will not have to go to town to get their supplies. This is done to keep students away from the infected smallpox regions.

Tuesday morning Prof. R. Maeser took his geology class down on the creek bed to study the rock formations.

Many of the students have had colds on account of the changeable weather.

School commences 7:45 a. m. this semester. So you see, the students are out in time to get the fresh mountain breeze.

A musicale will be given next Friday evening.

The first semester's work closed last Friday, after a successful run of eighteen weeks. More good social work was done and more earnestness was manifested by the student body than has ever been noticeable before. Very lit-and planned carefully up to the point where nothing else may be done until the next day dawn.

A mother with a big family of daughters finds it necessary to do a great deal of extra worrying that she might be spared were not her daughters engaged in the cultivation of the art of not worrying. Being a neat and orderly person and careful that her family shall always appear the pink of perfection, she worries if shirtwaists and collars do not come promptly from the laundry, if the girls are not prompt to meek and a dozen other things that the girls themselves should worry about—if there is any worrying to be done, but don't do so because they have resolved that the "small affairs" of life are not worth worrying over.

It is right here that the difference between worry and forethought should be understood. Forethought words off worries immensely. There is no such thing as going through the world in a half-hearted, haphazard sort of way successfully.

Quaint Card Cases.

Two of the newest card cases are, first, an envelope of suede, or silk, or satin. This is cut square, like a letter envelope, with a broad flap folding over a point or in two rounding flaps, each buttoned down to the case itself by a cabochon stone set in gold or silver. Another is the conventional card case form, but of the finest finished leather, richly tooled in empire designs. Numbers of women who profess the full skirts, long shoulder lines and under-sleeves of 1860 and 1865, carry old-style silver-card cases of that day. The mid-century card case was made of silver, elaborately chased or in flange work that, for beauty of pattern and durability, is hard to duplicate today.

The Children's Own Room.

Every house which shelters children should have, if possible, its children's room. In this room the children should be allowed perfect liberty. There should be an opportunity to do anything from making mud pies to painting in water colors. A deep tray, lined with zinc and filled with sand, will furnish material for the mud pies, and serve to teach many a geography lesson as well. There should be tools for the boy who likes them, and a kitchen, and all that belongs to it should be provided for the domestic child. A portion of the floor should be left bare, so that roller skates need not be prohibited. There should be chairs and tables to suit the sizes of the different owners of the room, and plenty of them, so that if Jess wants to "mud pie" and Jack wants to draw, and Jenny wants to cut out dolls' clothes, all may be accommodated. A blackboard or two, some simple gymnasium apparatus, a desk or two, a set basin and faucet, and, if possible, a typewriter, will add to the value of the children's room.—Good Housekeeping.

EDUCATIONAL.

LATTER-DAY SAINTS' COLLEGE.

The lectures the last two Monday evenings by Prof. Mills, on the Nephite records, were well attended, principally by members of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement association, under whose auspices they were given. Another lecture, a continuation of the series will be given next Monday evening at 8 o'clock by the same speaker on the subject of "Mormonism in America," an important subject connected with their Book of Mormon study. The public generally is also invited. The meetings are held in the assembly room of the new building, east of the Temple on Main street.

Mr. W. H. Person, typewriter expert from Denver, and manager of the western branch of a great typewriter company, paid a visit to the typewriting rooms last week. He says it is the best typewriting department he has ever seen, and is the only one he knows of in which the scientific touch method is insisted on and carried out so effectively by the use of the keyboard and of systematic instruction under a real trainer in the art. Mr. Person says the new business college is the finest home for a business school he has seen anywhere west of Chicago; that the department is a model of convenience, the ventilation and lighting of the rooms, the very best; the equipments modern and strictly first class.

Classes in physical culture to practice in the Social Hall, are being organized by Mrs. Cluff, for both ladies and gentlemen. The athletic association is also making substantial progress, and basketball practice is making good headway. The college girls defeated the girls of the Hamilton school last Monday in a well contested game.

The students held a meeting a week ago in honor of the departing missionary students, called from the college classes and about to depart on missions. Music, speeches and expressions of good will to the departing brethren were the means employed by the students of bidding their class-mates goodbye. The missionaries made short speeches and expressed their appreciation of the meeting in their honor. Those last called are Will Wetzel, Don Duncan, Edwin Butterworth, Alfred Asper, James Silver, Hyrum Bull, Thomas Toyn, Ferdinand Billeter, Israel Call, Herman Bodner and George R. Richins.

About thirty of the missionary class with President Paul and Professors Hinkley, Peterson, and McRae, and the one lady missionary student, Miss Clark, were photographed in a group yesterday, a number of them being about to leave on missions.

A speed class in typewriting has just been organized. The first dictation brought out the fact that though no one of those forming this new class had ever had speed work before, all were able to write from forty-five to sixty-five words per minute of unfamiliar matter. tle light-mindedness was indulged in, but a spirit of eager inquisitiveness prevailed. In psychology A and B, in history of education, in chemistry and, in fact, in all classes which closed with the end of the semester, the students all passed good examinations. The work accomplished, in the main, gives satisfaction alike to student and teacher.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Logan, Jan. 24.—Doctors Baker, F. Kirkson and Hodge, representing the State county and city health officers, were at the college Saturday morning and addressed the students on the subject of vaccination. They announced that the epidemic of smallpox had reached a point where it became necessary for all connected in any way with public institutions should be vaccinated, and that all students and teachers must therefore "bare their arms."

Mrs. Goodwin, the librarian, has been for several days confined to her bed with what threatens to be pneumonia. It will be some time, her physician says, before she will be able to attend to college duties.

Miss Baker, one of the instructors, has been absent all the week from her classes on account of illness. Her work is temporarily distributed among the other English teachers.

The marriage of Mr. J. E. Shepard formerly a professor in the College, with a former student, Miss Miner, was solemnized Wednesday evening at the bride's home on Second street. It was a brilliant affair. Mr. and Mrs. Shepard will reside with Mrs. Miner for the present.

At the last faculty meeting, it was voted that students who have had two full years military drill, may be excused from further work by passing an examination on what has already been done.

SALT LAKE HIGH SCHOOL.

This week finishes the first half year. Report cards will be handed to the students next week.

Mr. Howard's students are doing some very nice work in the shape of jars and vases by means of the potter's wheel.

Miss Marjorie Steelman will enter a private school at St. Paul, Minn., where she will prepare for entrance to Cornell college.

Mr. Harwood's beautiful painting, "Autumn in City Creek," has been in the shadow-box most of this week, but has been sent to Logan, where it has been loaned to the Agricultural College.

Mr. Travis took his civil government classes to witness the election of Thomas Kearns to the United States Senate Wednesday.

The classes in civics have been having a mock trial this week. Henry Burnmaster is the presiding judge.

The following visitors called at the school this week: E. W. Wilson, J. A. Augustus, Royal Milliron, Frank Foote, John Turner, Herbert Montor, Mrs. Chilcott and Miss Thenia Chilcott, Mrs. Chilcott and daughter are from Cripple Creek, Colorado.
