

WIVES, MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Protest at Peace Congress. Against Continuance of Wars Among Civilized Peoples.

JAMESTOWN NAVAL DISPLAY.

One Speaker Says It May Work Harm—Our Land Falling Behind in Industrial Harmony.

New York, April 16.—The protest of mothers, wives and daughters against a continuance of wars among civilized peoples was uttered today at the fourth session of the first international arbitration and peace congress in Carnegie hall, presided over by Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer of Providence, R. I. The big hall was crowded with women gathered from many sections of the country, all wearing the white badges of delegates.

Following the morning session, at which "The Relation of Women to the Peace Movement" was discussed, there were two sessions this afternoon, one at the Hotel Astor, devoted to the "Commercial and Industrial Aspects of the Peace Movement," and at Carnegie hall, devoted to young people.

Mrs. M. Marks, president of the National Association of Mothers, presided at the Hotel Astor meeting, while at Carnegie hall, William H. Maxwell, superintendent of the public schools of New York, was in charge.

One of the notable addresses delivered at the women's meeting was that of Miss Mary F. Woolley, who declared that the naval and military display, to be made at the forthcoming Jamestown exposition, might work much harm in the minds of the susceptible youth of the country.

MARY F. WOOLLEY. "Imitation enters into the very fastness of character," she declared, "and the ideals held before the child determine to a great extent what the man will be. If we really wish to develop the spirit of mercy, rather than that of cruelty, to exalt reason more than violence, why not depict the enticing splendors of peace instead of the enticing splendors of war?"

Miss Jane Addams, head of Hull House, Chicago, received a hearty welcome. She spoke of "New Ideals of Peace," and urged the parents that women may play in bringing about a Christian unity among nations.

Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead of Boston spoke on "The History of the Peace Movement." Mrs. Ellen M. Hendon, former president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, discussed "The Home and the Economic Waste of War."

MRS. FREDERICK NATHAN. Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumers' League of New York City, took for a topic "Industry and Its Relations to Peace."

Mrs. Nathan said that we may feel to have at last begun to enter upon a new era, inaugurated by Jane Addams in her new book, "The New Ideals of Peace," the triumph of industrialism over militarism. She continued: "War is becoming too business-like for a business generation. It costs too much, not only to the conquered, but to the conqueror. In killing his enemies, he destroys, at least in part, the sources of his own wealth. Hence the necessities of industry work eternally for peace."

"Although women are rarely given a voice in the matter of deciding whether war shall be proclaimed or not, the maintenance of the family falls largely upon women in times of war. Women suffer in war as well as in peace, for that matter, from the reduction in wages and the increased taxes due to the cost of armies."

"From 1877 to 1904 the United States spent $201,000,000 for military purposes. An expenditure of $200,000,000 is now considered normal, so great has been the increase during the last few years. Yet when a bill was recently passed by Congress providing for the investigation of conditions of industry and labor which women and children in our country work, the clause providing for an appropriation for the task was deleted."

"The meeting was thrown into considerable excitement by a resolution offered by Alexander Troup of Connecticut, which called upon the chairmen and secretaries of the Republican and Democratic committees of the last national campaign to make public all their receipts and expenditures of the campaign. Mr. Troup quoted from a newspaper dispatch stating that President Roosevelt wanted the campaign books opened in the next campaign."

"I think the public wants the books of the last campaign opened," exclaimed Mr. Troup, who added that in 1904 the president indignantly denied that large sums of money had been contributed to the Republican campaign fund.

"At this moment Senator Chandler interrupted Mr. Troup. 'I think you are doing the president an injustice. I wish to appear as his defender in this respect.' Mr. Chandler explained that what the president had denied was that contributions had been made upon the strength of promises to do something. 'I accept the correction,' said Mr. Troup, 'but Mr. Chandler knew differently. He should not have deceived the president. The president claims he was in utter ignorance of what the national committee knew about.'"

Troup's resolution at first included the national committee only, but at a suggestion that this would be a partisan movement, he changed it to take in the Democratic committee. Mr. Troup wanted the resolution adopted immediately, but the executive committee held to the understanding that it should make a report at some future meeting of the association. The meeting then adjourned.

Wilson of the department of agriculture made this remark in an authorized statement today regarding the fact that there had come to his knowledge information that a number of manufacturers of foods and drugs were freely advertising that the United States government was guaranteeing their products.

SKIN DISEASE IN JAPAN

Oriental are Now Looking to America for the Cure. Remarkable Letters from Hawaii, India and Japan.

Recent investigation by science indicates that eczema and psoriasis so prevalent in Europe and America are diseases of Oriental origin. They exist in modified form in Japan, China, India and elsewhere. Throughout the Orient all kinds of skin troubles are classed with leprosy and are believed incurable. Only recently a remarkable event has happened.

A skin specialist in Chicago, having discovered the eczema germ and the true cause and cure of skin trouble, found the preparation that removed all kinds of skin diseases. The prescription is now being widely used in the United States, curing the skin through the skin by external application.

The prescription was introduced into Japan by an American citizen traveling there. Now without any solicitation, orders both wholesale and retail are pouring into Chicago from Oriental quarters asking for more of the remedy as put up in Chicago. Here are just a few of the letters, recently received from Japan, Hawaii and India:

D. D. D. Co., Chicago. Jan 18 1906. I suffered two years with eczema on the foot. Some time ago I purchased from you through my passage through your country your eczema prescription was given by a friend who cured me perfectly within a few weeks. Now as I can soon return to Japan, I shall feel very obliged if you will let me have another bottle so as to introduce your splendid prescription to many of the poor sufferers there. I very much advise you to introduce your preparation all over the East, as many such cases exist in these regions. I enclose a list of reliable firms in Japan and China that could handle your remedy. I hope that you will be able to send the medicine up to the 15th of March to Paris, as I have to catch my steamer some few days later. T. ELKEP (from Tokyo).

D. D. D. Co., Chicago. Jan 6 1906. Mr. James M. Ken of your city 4 dozen of your remedy. Please duplicate the order as per your receipt. I enclose a list of reliable firms in India and Ceylon that could handle your remedy. I hope that you will be able to send the medicine up to the 15th of March to Paris, as I have to catch my steamer some few days later. T. ELKEP (from Tokyo).

D. D. D. Co., Chicago. Jan 25 1906. I enclose letter from a friend in India which please read confidential. Will you oblige by forwarding D. D. D. Remedy for eczema's treatment to India direct. G. FREEMAN, 205 Broadway, N.Y.

Does this not tend to show how far people will look when in search of a remedy from that which is advertised? Why should you delay when the cure is so near at hand? You can get a bottle of the remedy referred to above—D. D. D. Prescription—from your drug store, and the first trial will prove to you the remarkable value of this prescription. Just as soon as D. D. D. is applied to the injured skin there is relief from that awful itch, and within a few days probably not only the itch will be gone, but there will be visible signs of an early cure. Get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription from your drug store today.

FLOODS SUBSIDING. Prevailing Cold Spell Retards Melting of Snow in the Hills. The weather man has at last come to the rescue of the submerged Salt Lake districts, and by dropping the temperature has lowered the flooded waters. The Ninth and Tenth South street canals, which were the principal sources of danger during the period of greatest distress, have now subsided. The effect has made itself felt immediately along the flooded area as the visible supply of drainage overflow is decreasing and finding its way into the regular river channel.

Such dissatisfaction is being expressed all through the south and southwest portions of the city with present drainage facilities. It is maintained that the floods never would have happened had there been proper drainage systems provided, agitation for the establishment of which has been going on for some years. It is possible that the present high water will cause a general awakening of interest in better drainage precautions, and that permanent improvements will be made to take care of surplus spring water.

SOUTH FOR BRYAN FOR PRESIDENT

Rep. Ollie James of Kentucky Says That All Dixie Wants Him to Lead Next Fight.

SPEECH BY GREAT COMMONER

At Some Time in Future Will Decide What His Place in the Next Campaign is to Be.

New York, April 16.—With William J. Bryan as the chief attraction, the Democracy of Brooklyn tonight, in observance of the anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson, engaged in an enthusiastic demonstration. The function was the annual dinner of the Brooklyn Democratic club. Mr. Bryan gave a short discourse, taking for his subject "Thomas Jefferson."

Besides Mr. Bryan the speakers included Edward M. Shepard of New York, George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, former Gov. J. Horne Tyler of Virginia, Gov. Edwin Warfield of Maryland, Augustus Thomas, the playwright, and Congressman Ollie James of Kentucky.

Mr. Shepard praised Mr. Bryan, whom he welcomed with the words that the Brooklyn Democratic club "declared its strong and loyal hope that Mr. Bryan would lead the party in 1908." Mr. Williams, discussing government ownership of railroads, said: "I see no escape from the conclusion that if government ownership is right it should be adopted now. If regulation is wrong, it should not be attempted."

"I see no escape from the conclusion that if government ownership is right it should be adopted now. If regulation is wrong, it should not be attempted. However, that regulation was not right, not possible, and not expedient." Gov. Tyler of Virginia said the people of the south are practically united for Mr. Bryan, and that the mention of his name is as potent in flashing a magic spell of enthusiasm as it was in '96.

A message from the southern Democracy was delivered by Representative Ollie James of Kentucky, who hailed Mr. Bryan as one of the pioneers of the Democratic party, and said: "The southern Democracy tonight gathers about William J. Bryan. The Democracy of all Dixie proclaims that it wants Bryan to lead in the next great fight."

Gov. Warfield of Maryland said the Democrats of that section continued to support Bryan and that the south was for Bryan for the next presidential nomination. It was midnight before Mr. Bryan began his address. He said his desire was that the Democratic party should enter the next campaign with the strongest Democratic strength it could find in order to bring out a triumphant vote. Mr. Troup's resolution at first included the national committee only, but at a suggestion that this would be a partisan movement, he changed it to take in the Democratic committee.

Mr. Troup wanted the resolution adopted immediately, but the executive committee held to the understanding that it should make a report at some future meeting of the association. The meeting then adjourned.

Washington, April 16.—"If this outrageous misrepresentation does not cease, the department will publish a list bearing the names of manufacturers indulging in this campaign of deception." Secy. Wilson of the department of agriculture made this remark in an authorized statement today regarding the fact that there had come to his knowledge information that a number of manufacturers of foods and drugs were freely advertising that the United States government was guaranteeing their products.

The secretary said that the serial number and guaranty number required by the pure food and drug act to be placed on food and drug products were being used by these manufacturers for this purpose. "The serial number," said Secy. Wilson, "is assigned to fix the responsibility where it belongs—upon the manufacturer—and to protect innocent dealers, who have a right under the law to rely upon his guarantee. It is the guaranty of the manufacturer, not of the government."

The secretary declared every effort would be made by the department to put a stop to these statements. "I will do a little advertising myself," he said. "In behalf of the people I am growing tired of seeing these untruthful statements on the advertising pages of the magazines, the walls of the New York subway and the advertising space of the street cars of the principal cities. Manufacturers who will deceive the public about the guaranty will lie about the quality of products, and will be advertised."

He added that the law would be enforced. "The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day. Much depends on the start a man gets each day, as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand. He can't be helped with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it. A business man tried to find some food combination that would not overload the stomach in the morning, but that would produce energy. 'For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments. 'Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts. 'Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet. 'I had four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with one of sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, make a delicious morning meal, which invigorates me for the day's business.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in pgs. 'There's a Reason.'" pleas Bryanism, and declared they were not Bryanites at all, but had lived before he was born and would live after he had passed away. "Now," he added, "because the things for which Bryanism has stood have had the support of a Republican reformer, they cannot take from me any of their credit." Mr. Bryan said it was perfectly proper and perfectly reasonable for Democrats to praise the Republican for incorporating into their platform Democratic principles.

A Good Medicine For Ladies

"Before taking Cardui," writes Mrs. Mallinda A. Akers, of Basham, Va., "I had suffered, for 12 years, from female troubles, and when I was taken badly sick, six years ago, I suffered from headache, backache, and pain in my shoulder, side and limbs. I was so weak I could not stand on my feet, and suffered untold misery every month. The doctors gave me up and said there was no medicine could reach my case, unless I went through an operation. At last, I began to take Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught. Now I am enjoying splendid health and can do my housework."
