SIMPLICITY OF LINE FOR EVENING GOWNS.

The true beauty and elegance of the fabrics this season have impressed upon dressmakers of ability the advisability of very simple lines. Some of the latest crepes and spangled stuffs of very simple lines. Some of these a description to break them up with trimmings. This graceful gown of pastel crepe is designed along with very simple lines, and at the feet of the skirt is heavily lined with cloth to make the light fabric drag on the floor. The bodice is trimmed with an edge of the lace along the shoulders and around the short sleeves. Pockets of the crepe start from rhinestone clasps at shoulders and bust and crossing at the right side, fall in girlish folds to the knee.

In Women's World.

This is decidedly a season of trimmings, and the smart little vests that are worn with anything from a shirtwaist suit to an elaborate costume are almost a necessity. The hand-embroidered ones and those made of rich brocade and silk are far beyond the purse of many of us, and yet a vast we must have. They come in all shapes and sizes, from those that are tight-fitting to the little separate top pieces that may be tucked in any open coat. As patterns may be obtained for almost any shape, the making up of the embroidered material is a simple matter. Lichen huck, in a heavy weave, is used for the foundation, and either heavy rope silk or mercerized cotton may be used for the stitching.

The work is done by running the embroidery cotton under the threads provided in the huck to form a pattern. The heavier the embroidery cotton or silk, the more effective is the stitch, especially if a more or less all-over pattern is used.

What are the women doing in the way of household housekeeping? In Massachusetts they had nine bills before the legislature in Pennsylvania about the same number, and at least half a dozen in most of the other states—for child labor, juvenile courts, better conditions for women wage-earners, temperance.

A PANELLED EFFECT IN EMBROIDERY.

Kyolst embroidery insertion was used to make this pretty frock, which gives the effect of expensive allover eyelet work. The insertions are joined in panels, each panel being outlined with narrow Valenciennes lace. The carefully arranged of the insertion which encircles the skirt shows how every bit of the material has been used to advantage. The yoke and sleeves are full of suggestions for the use of lace insertion in combination with lace. A light and graceful look is given to the dress by the figure of lace and batiste, this feature being matched by the long sleeves of batiste alternating with the lace insertions.

lar party at their home in honor of Prof. and Mrs. Benjamin Cluff. The guests were the faculty and teachers of the B. Y. university at the time Prof. Cluff was engaged at the B. Y. U. The evening was one that will long be remembered by all present. An elaborate dinner was served.

The aged of the Sixth and Second wards were entertained Wednesday at the Grand theater and afterwards served with oranges and candy.

The Par-geet-ne-not club of the Sixth ward gave a very enjoyable character ball at the ward house Friday evening. Many unique characters were represented and a very enjoyable evening passed.

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Dunn entertained at their home Thursday evening the members of the Owl club. Cards, games and music were the features of the evening. A dainty lunch was served.

The fifty-seventh wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Farrer was fittingly celebrated at their home Wednesday evening, the children and grandchildren of this esteemed couple.

The Nineteenth Century club held its regular meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sam Schwab. After the regular business had been transacted, Mrs. John Marwick gave an excellent paper on "The Women of Ancient Greece." After recess Mrs. John Marwick continued by reading extracts from letters from Greece—some of which had been read the week before.

The Utah Sorosis met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Cordelia Lund. Prof. Lund gave an excellent lecture on "James I and Translation of the Bible." Mrs. Ina Hodson and Mrs. Lydia Holdaway were accepted as members of the club. The remainder of the time was taken up in completing arrangements for the club's annual banquet to be given March 3 at the Hotel Roberts. Club adjourned for two weeks to meet with Mrs. Dora Irvine.

CLUB CHAT.

The State Council of Women will hold a business meeting on Wednesday at the Exposition office at 2 o'clock.

At the regular open meeting of the Ladies Literary club yesterday afternoon.

One of the pleasantest social affairs of the week was the luncheon given at the B. Y. U. by Mrs. May B. West, Mrs. Badenbach, Mrs. Linford, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. W. O. Robinson on Tuesday, in honor of Mrs. Geo. Bell. Their guests were the members of the Club Circle. A pretty feature of the luncheon which was served by the domestic science department of the college, was the colonial costumes worn by the young ladies who served the tables. American Beauty roses, national colors and emblems were used in decorating the dining room and table. The place cards were extremely pretty having on them a pen picture of George Washington.

The marriage of Mr. Logan of Salt Lake and Miss Minnie Peterson of Logan was solemnized in the Logan temple on Wednesday and immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for California on a wedding tour.

500 Guaranteed Silk Petticoats for 500 Lucky Women

The sale which they ask about and wait for—being one of those splendid, good sales that make friends for the store. We wish we had a thousand of these fine, stylish petticoats. Every one would be sold by Monday closing time.

They are such beauties—the taffetta silk being of unusual merit, a first class, long wearing, lustrous, heavy taffetta silk; not a pin hole—a close weave—a better taffetta than is usually found in petticoats. The guarantee is emphatic: Should the silk split or crack within three months from date of purchase, we agree to replace it with a new skirt, provided the defective skirt is returned with the ticket. Every skirt is numbered and shows date of purchase.

Without question, this store does the biggest petticoat business in Salt Lake—no mistake in a petticoat bought at this store.

Federation of Women's Clubs; what have they to say? The ballot is not necessary in this instance to help the child. There are the women of the D. A. R. and the Civic Improvement clubs. And of the churches—schools that we have to speak of the churches last. We have asked President Roosevelt to do something to help. He stands ready to act when public sentiment demands it. We have need of women who will look into the problem of the homeless child, as we have preached it and as it is, and who will then get up and do something. There is a problem made perfectly plain in Mrs. Daggett's article, "Where 10,000 Children Wait." How long is it going to be before the women of the country—the bested strength and righteousness of America—wake up and find it out?—The Delineator.
