LOCAL BRIEFS.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held its monthly meeting this afternoon.

A marriage license was issued today to Ebenezer L. Cutrin, 25, and Mettie Mutt, 20, both of Bountiful.

On March 13th the Retail Clerks' association will give an elaborate mask carnival at Christiansen's hall.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson, formerly of Hereford, England, will take place in the First ward meeting house tomorrow, Sunday, at 11 a.m.

At the Y. M. C. A. tonight the Blues in the membership contest will entertain the friends of the association with a candy-pull. A good program has been arranged for the evening.

Cornelius Driscoll, a Salt Lake mining man, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the clerk's office of the Federal court late yesterday afternoon. The amounts owing to unsecured creditors amount to $7,899.28, mostly Salt Lake parties. There are no assets.

A miner named Mathew Bond was caught in a cave-in at the Silver Fork mine, Frisco, a couple of days ago, and badly crushed, his thigh and shoulders being broken. He was brought to this city yesterday and taken to St. Mark's hospital.

Landlord Mulford of the White House is going through his house. Every room in the building will be repapered and recarpeted. From the work already done it may be judged that the house will be in fine trim when the renovation is completed.

The friends of Mrs. Effie Emery of Rexburg, Ida., will be pleased to learn of the arrival last Tuesday of a fine daughter. Mrs. Emery's husband was formerly a resident of the Sixteenth ward, this city, but is now laboring as a missionary in the Southern States. Mrs. Emery was formerly Miss Lutz.

Seven boys of the ages from eight to fifteen years, were arrested last night for burglarizing the California Wine company's store room on Second South street. The boys admit their guilt and say that they have stolen in all 44 gallons of blackberry and California brandy. The lads got at the liquor by boring a hole through the adobe wall and removing the kegs. They also own up to the stealing of various small articles from houses in the neighborhood.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Katherine Oliver, who has set the local elocutionists ablaze with enthusiasm since her recital at the Congregational church on Thursday evening, visited the college class in elocution at the University under Miss Babcock. She gave several of her delightful readings before the students, who think she is perfect in her art. This afternoon Miss Oliver was given a public reception [...]

The Star of Our State Obscured by Misrepresentation.

WHO IS TO BLAME FOR THIS?

A Correspondent Says the False Reports Spread by a Certain Newspaper.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 28, 1899.

To the Editor:

Patriotism is an Anglo-Saxon trait, and had its pure conception many centuries ago when our long-haired, blue-eyed forefathers roamed the forests of Germany. Today Englishmen and Americans boast of the love of country, and for their intense reverence for national institutions, customs, and principles, England and the United States are great in the eyes of the Latin nations of the world. Here in America our love for both our national and state governments is fostered from day to day as we come to learn about the motives of our ancestors and their struggle for that most precious boon of human life—liberty.

Each and every true American loves his city, loves his state, loves his nation. He reverences all, knowing that the first two are but the smaller divisions that go to make up the whole government, and as the last is almost boundless in a sense, so his love becomes greater and greater as he learns her institutions and her people. The people of Utah are not exceptions to the rule. What man or woman, boy or girl does not love the mountains, the valleys, the lakes, and the rivers and fields that in his State there are as many chances and possibilities as he can find in any other place in the world? Is there one who is not proud of his heritage [...]

godly. Utah has the chance to become a Delos, if you will but let it.

"Remember what constitutes a State.
Not high raised battlement or labored mound,
Thick wall or moated gate;
Not cities proud with spires and turrets crowned,
Not bays and broad-armed ports,
Where, laughing at the storm, rich navies ride;
Not starred and spangled courts,
Where low-browed baseness wafts perfume to pride.
No—men, high-minded men,
With powers as far above dull brutes endured
In forests brake or den,
As beasts excel cold rocks and brambles rude—
Men who their duties know,
But know their rights, and, knowing, dare maintain,
Prevent the long-aimed blow,
And crush the tyrant while they rend the chain:
These constitute a State."

TIRED OF THE DELAY.

A Taxpayer's Views on Needed Legislation, etc.

To the Editor:

There are two things the people are getting sick of—the winter and the Legislature. The taxpayers are disgusted, not so much with the weather as with the Legislature. They have no control over the weather, but they think they ought to have some influence over the Legislature. The long-drawn out contest over electing a Senator is really wearisome and disgusting. Such things ought not to be.

Union is strength. Division is weakness. Parties might remember that the Democrats had plenty of votes, but they lost control of the United States when they split on Douglas and Breckenridge, and the Republicans won the victory by uniting on Lincoln. The war between the North and the South resulted, followed by increasing national debt, increasing taxes, and an increasing army of tramps throughout the country.

There is one thing the Legislature ought to do—abolish the poll tax in towns and cities. It is perhaps good enough in thinly settled country places, where the people are much on a level and there is very little money in circulation. But in towns and cities, where there is such a vast difference in financial conditions, to compel the poor man, who works for a dollar a day, when he can get the work and pay, to give his three dollars tax, while the [...]
