One other great feature of our Palace Cars is a SMOKING SALOON where you can enjoy your "Havana" at all hours of the day.

FROM

COL. L. T. FOSTER,

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 10th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt that I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two veterinary Surgeons which failed to cure him. I saw one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express. I determined at once to try it and got our druggists here to send for it, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial. I used it according to direction and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt's limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles who are now using it. Very respectfully,

L. T. FOSTER.

Kendall's Spavin Cure

Is sure in its effects, mild in its actions as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargements, such as spavins, splints, curbs, ringbones, callous, swellings and any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or for rheumatism in man or for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mildly and yet certainly in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success in our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All Druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Getting Well of a Broken Neck.

About five month ago the daily press published a short item regarding a teamster named John Collery, who attempted to drive his team through a barn door, and in doing so had his head forced down upon his breast till his neck was broken. Police surgeon Stambaugh made an examenation of the injured man and found that his seventh cervical vertebra was fractured, and that the spinal cord had been stretched nearly two inches. So serious was the injuries that the reporter after chronicling the incident under the head of fatal accident, paid no further attention to the matter, and failed to enquire after Collery's condition, concluding him dead and buried. A Chronicle reporter was exceedingly surprised the other day to meet the supposed corpse near the city prison, looking remarkably well for a man with a broken neck. In a conversation which ensued Mr. Collery stated that he was almost as well as before the accident, a slight stiffness in the right side constituting his entire "unhealthfulness." After his removal to his home Collery states that he was laid flal on his back with a sort of fence about his neck and head, which kept him immovable for over two months. Both the body of the vertebra and the arching lamina were discovered to be broken, and the operation of joining them together without pinching the spinal cord where it had sagged between the ragged edges as described in one of the most difficult ever performed. For a month the patient lay on his back, and completely paralyzed in one-half his body, and but little feeling in the other. If he moved in the slightest degree during the first fortnight he could plainly feel the jagged edges of the bone grate together, and for hours after such an attempt he was content to lay on his hard bed without attempting to move a muscle for fear that the spinal cord should be crushed and his existence ended in a twinkling.

The straightest position attainable was required, and to this end Dr. Stambaugh was compelled to refuse him a mattress, forcing him to lie on a wide plank. Collery says that before his eight weeks of enforced quietness was ended he thought the board was made of adamant. The most dangerous time experienced, he says, was one day when an attendant told him that a man whose neck could stand breaking as his had was not born to be hanged. His desire to laugh was irresistible, and the shaking up his merriment gave him caused his fastenings to burst, and the fracture came near being ruptured afresh. During the next five weeks he did not move a foot from his first posture. The paralysis has now almost entirely disappeared, and Dr. Stambaugh yesterday promised him that he would be able to go to work within six months. The average fatality in cases of clearly defined fracture of the spine is estimated at 999 in 1,000.—S F. Chronicle.

Women Gaining College Honors in London.

The list of candidates who have obtained honors at the recent examinations of the Metropolitan University has been issued.

In intermediate examination in medicine no woman's name appears in either sections of anatomy, materia medica, chemistry, or physiology, but in the examinations in arts and sciences, more particularly in the sections of modern languages, women are far more successful. The critical study of their mother tongue, however, seems hardly to be so much affected by them as that of French and German, although Miss Annie Dawe, of Bedford College, and Miss Louise Brown, of Cheltenham, are in the second and third classes of honors in English. In Latin, though no feminine name appears in the first class, Miss Louisa Macdonald, of University College, heads the second, and Miss Ellen Pattison, of the same College, and Miss H. E. Macklin, of Bedford, are in the third.

In French and German, however, the ladies more than hold their own. Miss Marguerite D. M. Goldschild, of Bedford College, is first of the first division in French, carrying off also the extra prize, and in the third class are the names of Miss H. Pattison, Miss C. Rickett, of Bedford College, Miss Adelaide Klein and Miss E. Macklin, both of Queen's College, and Miss Edith M. Pope, In German again the list is headed by a lady, Miss E. A. S. Dawes, and Miss Macklin, of Bedford College is in the third class.

In the science subjects that are not strictly medical, the name of one lady, Miss Elizabeth F. Toone, appears in the third class of honors in inorganic chemistry, while in experimental physics Miss Edith Aitkin, of Girton, is in the second class, and Miss Toone and Miss C. M. Pole, of Bedford College, in the third. Honors in botany fall but to the share of two ladies, Miss Aitkin, who is in the first class, and Miss Isabel Clare Evans, of Mason College, Birmingham, in the second, while the zoological honors are all taken by men.

In the mathematical honor list the names of women do not appear, nor in that for zoology. In science generally the female students can hardly be said to be pre eminently successful, while in modern languages other than English they have secured far more than the average proportion of the honors due to their numbers.

To the doctrinaires who maintain the absolute identity of the intellectual powers in the two sexes, the publication of these results must be the reverse of gratifying; while to those who recognize the rapid perception and great intellectual acuteness of well-trained girls, the list will not be surprising. That young women should prove better linguists than men of a similar age is what every experienced educator expected. That they should not be equal to them in abstract or practical science will disappoint no one, except those crochety individuals whose conclusions can hardly be excused, even on the ground of their want of experience. — London Queen.

A Curious Needle.

Among the rare treasures in the possession of Queen Victoria is a very curious needle, that was made at the famous factory in Buckinghamshire. The needle is a miniature model of the Roman columns of Trajan but the scenes it depicts are not in the military exploits of Roman emperors, but some of the leading events in the life of Queen Victoria herself. There is one of special interest, representing the princess as a young maiden at Tunbridge Wells, where, in simple girlish attire, with a straw hat shading the sweet, earnest face, she is receiving the water from the hands of an old woman, to whom she seems talking very pleasantly. Another scene is the coronation at Westminister Abbey, bearing date of June 28 1833. In this scene are clearly depicted ten or twelve figures. Another scene is the queen's marriage, showing the royal bride and the prince consort, with the date, Monday, February 10, 1840. The figures in all these scenes are so extremely small that they can be scarcely made out with the naked eye, but by the aid of a magnifying glass, they appear clearly cut and beautifully distinct. This wonderful needle can also be opened, and it contains several others, all of the same form, and all are adorned with minature figures in relief—each scene portraying some notable event in the life of England's noble and virtuous queen.

The Truth About That Shell.

The story of the daring English officer who extingulshed a shell which had fallen on deck by putting it in a bucket of water has some minor inaccuracies. In the first place, no fuse could be extinguished by water; secondly, no shell would be likely to stop long enough to be picked up; finally, the Egyptians threw solid shot, but no shell at all. The facts in the case are that an English shell lodged in the tassel of the Khedive's cap, and he prevented its explosion by calmly spitting into the fusehole. Tewfik tells the tale himself, but it is Tewfikitious even for the marines.—Philadelphia Record.

Most Too Briny.

"Father," began the boy as he looked up from his First History, are silver mines very fresh?"

"Fresh! What do you mean?"

"Why, they have to put salt into 'em to make 'em keep, don't they?"

"What nonsense! I don't understand you."

"Well, I heard some men in the car say that you salted a silver mine and made a hundred thousand dollars, and I wanted to ask what that salt was for.

The way that boy was hustled to bed made him dream of cyclones all night.

THE CASE AGITATOR

Ahead of all Other Competitors!

SALT LAKE CITY, August 12th, 1882.

J. W. Lowell, Esq.,

Dear Sir.—The J. I. Case Agitator we bought of you last season is the best machine we ever saw or used; it will thresh more grain and thresh it better and cleaner than any other machine we have ever seen, and we can confidently recommend it to any persons wishing to purchase a good Thresher.

Yours, etc.,

ASHLEY'S FORK, UINTAH CO., Feb. 26th, 1882.

John W. Lowell,

Dear Sir.—The Agitato Separator and Woodbury Power that we bought of you, we can truly say give entire satisfaction. It beats anything that we ever saw to thresh and clean. We have run seven different kinds of machines, but this is the champion. The cleaning and the separating are perfect. We have not had a man find fault with it yet, and we believe that the people here will testify to our statement as being the truth. It comes as near being perfect as it is possible for a machine to be. We cannot tell you upon paper all its superior qualities or how much we think of it, but can say this, that could we not get another like it, no money would buy it.

Yours truly,
GEORGE BROWN,

CEDAR CITY, Sep. 23rd, 1881.

John W. Lowell,

Dear Sir.—Our machine, Agitator, is doing excellent work. Cleans the best and threshes faster than any Thresher we ever saw.

We remain,
CORRY & HUNTER.

LEHI, Utah County, February 7th, 1882.

To John W. Lowell, Esq.,

Dear Sir.—As our opinions have often been asked about the merits of the Agitator Threshing Machine we purchased from you last fall, we take pleasure in sending you the following as our experience with it. To answer the numerous inquiries, and perhaps others who would like to know, we recommend the following points of superiority over all other machines we are acquainted with—

1st.—Lightness of draft. Our team of five span of average native orses and mules, being fully equal to the work, and without crowding or hurrying them, they gave us all the speed and power we needed.

2nd.—Thorough threshing and cleaning, and that without extra effort on our part; such a thing as the sieves being crowded or clogged, or requiring the attendance of one person at the tail end of machine having never occurred or been needed.

3rd.—Lightness of wear. After having threshed 18000 bushels of grain, lucern seed, etc., the general wear on the machine being scarcely perceptible.

4th.—Lightness of running expenses. By comparing notes with our friends of other machines, we find ours have not exceeded half of theirs.

We also consider the capacity for threshing in quantity, superior to other makes of machines. Although the farms here are small, necessitating a great deal of moving, and often to distant points, yet we threshed as high as 800 bushels per day.

We also consider the Straw Stacker, End Shake, Elevator principle and many other points are all worthy of notice and examination of any and all persons who may contemplate purchasing a machine.

A. J. EVANS,
M. T. WOODHOUSE,
H. M. ROYAL,
M. B. BUSHMAN.

I have helped wear out four machines of other kinds, and I heartily endorse all of the foregoing points.

A. D. RHODES, JR.

CEDAR CITY, March 18th, 1882.

Mr. J. W. Lowell.

We bought one of the J. I. Case 32 inch Agitator Threshers last year and consider it by far the best Thresher ever brought to this country. It runs very light, saves all the grain and is a very durable machine. We threshed grain at the rate 2½ bushels per minute.

Yours, etc.,
CORRY & HUNTER.
