

kings entertained about 30 of their friends Wednesday evening. Myron Farret, who leaves shortly for a mission to the Netherlands, was the guest of honor. Music and games were enjoyed by all. Delicious refreshments were served.

Postmaster Ciove spent a couple of days this week at the state capital.

Layton and Vivian Bonnett entertained Monday evening the Junior Sorosis in a rather unique way. First a ride on the merry-go-round was enjoyed, after which a theater party at the Rex passed another pleasant hour and the party then made their way to the Start-up Candy company, where ice cream and berries were enjoyed.

Mrs. Beulah McAdam of Eureka is visiting relatives and friends in our city, the guest of Mrs. T. A. Thurman.

Mrs. Grant C. Bagley was the hostess at a whist party Tuesday afternoon at her home. About 30 lady friends enjoyed the popular game. Red carnations were used to excellent effect. An elaborate lunch was served.

Mrs. A. L. Booth entertained a number of lady friends at her home Thursday afternoon. Miss Villate Elliott was the guest of honor. A very pleasant time was passed in music, games and social chat. A dainty lunch was served.

Miss Blanch Kirkwood has returned home from Salt Lake, where she has passed the last month at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alf Masterman.

Mrs. Flora Bonham entertained Friday evening 20 lady friends in honor of Mrs. S. H. Adams, who in company with her husband and son Harry were preparing to leave for their former home in Minnesota.

A Rag-Tag party was given Wednesday evening by Miss Florence Kroupa at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kroupa. Fun and merriment reigned supreme. Lunch was served to 14 guests.

A number of Provo ladies, among whom were Mrs. Sam Schwab and Mrs. C. O. Baker, went up to Salt Lake Thursday to attend the graduating exercises of the Groves L. D. S. hospital, the interest being centered in Miss Beulah Bachman, a Provo girl and one of the graduates.

Miss Annie Taylor and Eva Keeler entertained Wednesday evening the Jolly Twenty-four at the home of President and Mrs. J. B. Keeler. The evening was delightfully passed in games and various amusements. A dainty lunch was served.

The second of a series of parties to be given by the office staff of the Teulidre Power company was given Wednesday evening at the Mozart pavilion.

Miss Oppenheimer of Salt Lake City is visiting in Provo, the guest of Miss Zula Houtz.

LOGAN.

The A. C. Woman's club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George W. Thatcher. The meeting was strictly a business one for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year, which was carried out as follows: President, Miss Charlotte Kyle; secretary, Mrs. George Champ; treasurer, Mrs. Titee; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Fank Thatcher.

The Clio met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Fargerson. Prof. William Langton touched briefly the life of Henry James and reviewed his book, "The Portrait of a Lady." Mr. Langton gave an excellent interpretation of the author.

Miss Josie Yates entertained the Sigma Alpha fraternity with their partners and a few invited guests Monday night at 500. The evening prizes being won by Mrs. Luther A. Howell and Corlette Riter.

The third year class of the B. Y. C. entertained the sophomores, seniors and juniors Saturday night at a dancing party the hall was prettily decorated.

LACE GOWN OF FLOUNCING AND PLAIN NET.

There is always an ethereal and daintily feminine suggestion about the lace gown, and though all women love these delicate creations, the handsome robe-dresses of pattern lace are usually rather costly when of refined character. A charming lace gown has been evolved in this instance by the use of deep flouncing in combination with plain net on which rows of small crochet balls give a rich effect. Insertions of narrow lace are also introduced in the lower part of the skirt and a yoke of net and lace finishes the bodice. The sleeves, formed of the flouncing, are especially dressy and effective.

ated and refreshments were served during the evening.

Miss Myrtle Hoff entertained the Na gi Na's Wednesday night.

Mrs. Leo Campbell spent last Saturday and Sunday in Salt Lake.

Mr. Heber Carlisle Jr., left for Bear Lake Monday, where he will stay for the summer.

Mr. Everett Smith is home from Salt Lake.

Mr. Serge Ballir was in Salt Lake the early part of the week.

Miss Sarah Huntsman spent Sunday and Monday out of town.

Mr. P. K. Nebeker was in Salt Lake the early part of the week.

Mr. J. W. Morrell spent Monday and Tuesday in Ogden.

Miss Flo Gwilliams of Ogden is visiting in town, guests of Mrs. George Torgerson.

Miss May Brown of Ogden, spent the latter part of the week in town, guest of Mrs. Kate P. Preston.

LEHI.

The character ball given in the City Pavilion last Friday evening by the high school was largely attended. A spending the week with Lehi friends.

Mrs. Mary Bowden of Provo, spent the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. John Devey.

EUREKA.

The members of the N. T. A. C. club were pleasantly entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. George Shepard of this city. The club will be entertained by Mrs. P. J. Comer at Robinson next Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. James P. Driscoll, Mrs. C. C. Griggs and Mrs. Frank Garrity have been elected to represent the local lodge of Pythian Sisters at the next session of the grand lodge, to be held in Provo May 18. Mrs. Alex Blight was chosen as alternate.

Miss Etta Matthews returned Tuesday evening from a visit with friends at Nephi.

Alex McAulvey left Tuesday for Ploche.

Gottlieb Beck, who has been living at Lehi for several years, came to Eureka Tuesday for a few days' visit among old acquaintances.

E. J. Suderlund and daughter, Miss May, left for their home Tuesday after several days' visit with the family of Mr. and Mrs. George Beck.

Miss Edna Morris and Mrs. Udall, both of Nephi, were in this city this week for a visit with friends.

L. C. Doty, superintendent at the Bullion Beck mine, left Saturday for Twin Falls, Idaho.

John Adams of Salt Lake has been visiting his son, Will Adams, and family this week.

Mrs. J. C. Kirkendall of Mammoth was the guest of friends in Salt Lake City this week.

Miss Ethel Tyree of Salt Lake has been visiting her sister, Miss Bessie Tyree, this week.

Two popular young people of Eureka, Mr. Henry Schellings and Miss Sadie Spohnauer, were united in marriage at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schellings, Tuesday evening of this week. Judge D. A. Lindsay performed the ceremony. The happy couple left on the morning train Wednesday for Provo, where they will spend a few days, and then visit with relatives at Springlake villa, the former home of the bride.

Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Prouts were visiting in Payson with relatives this week.

The Mothers' club held a meeting at the residence of Mrs. S. J. Schmidt last evening, at which the following program was rendered: Talk, Mrs. R. S. Baker; talk, Miss Farrell; vocal music, Annie Cox; reading, Mrs. Nels Thompson; question box; quotations from Irving.

Mrs. J. A. Hyde and two children of Nephi, are here for a visit with Mrs. Hector Fraser.

Members of the L. D. S. Church celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of its organization in Eureka Tuesday evening, at their meetinghouse. There was rendered a very interesting program appropriate to the occasion, after which an elegant lunch was served by the ladies of the Young People's association and other members of the different organizations of the Church. A most enjoyable time was had by everyone who was present.

A joint debate was held last evening at the L. D. S. church, between the Ogden High school team and the Eureka High school team.

The Eagles will follow their usual custom and hold memorial services early next month, possibly Sunday, May 9.

Miss Katie Gillespie spent Tuesday and Wednesday at her home in Tooele.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Hicks, from Mercur, are here for a residence in this city in the near future.

Dr. John Spalding, who has been at Grantsville for some time, will take up his residence at Silver City.

George Hanson returned Wednesday from Salt Lake, where he had been for several days with John Strang.

CLUB CHAT

Next week a district federation meeting will be held at Provo, and the officers of the state federation and a number of officers of the Women's clubs in Utah, will be the guests of the Provo club women. The session will be held on Thursday, May 6.

The National American Woman Suffrage association has leased a commodious house on H street, in Washington, in which permanent legislative headquarters will be established. Cooperation of other organizations of women will be invited and the proceedings of Congress carefully watched in the interest of legislation affecting women and children. The working headquarters of the association will be continued in Warren. The Washington house will be a social center of attractive effort. Its establishment marks the fulfillment of a long-cherished project of Susan B. Anthony.

When the presidents of the nation go to Seattle, Wash., next July for the forty-first annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association, a special day-light train, on the Northern Pacific, will carry delegates and speakers from Spokane to Seattle. An observation car will be attached and steps will be made at all points desired so that Mrs. Anna H. Shaw and others may make "back platform" speeches enroute.

The Daughters of Utah Pioneers will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the Lion House and an interesting program has been arranged for the day.

The Woman's Republican club will meet next Monday, May 3, at 2 o'clock, the hostesses to be Mrs. Shill, Mrs. Lemon and Mrs. N. Jennings. A paper on "Municipal Government" will be given by Mrs. T. B. Lewis.

The Author's club held its annual federation officers and presidents' day on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Riter, and an interesting program was given, the topic of the afternoon being a talk by Mrs. Byron Cummings on matters of importance to the federation, of which she is president. A discussion followed.

Another interesting meeting of Thursday afternoon was that of the Utah Woman's Press club at the Exponent office, when two Utah poets, Mrs. Ella R. Shipps and Mrs. Ruth M. Fox, were considered. Mrs. Widdowson read a paper, and Mrs. Hattie Jensen gave a talk on current events.

The Woman's club held a meeting at the home of Mrs. A. J. Johnson Tuesday afternoon, when the annual election of officers was held, and the following were chosen: Mrs. U. G. Moser, president; Mrs. C. S. Kinney, vice president; Mrs. L. S. Deane, recording secretary; Mrs. Helen S. Sanford, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. V. Taylor, treasurer; Mrs. A. J. Johnson, historian; Mrs. Helen G. Kimball, auditor; Mrs. S. A. Powers, critic; Mrs. C. W. Whitely and Mrs. J. L. Bowman are on the advisory board.

The Ladies' Literary club met yesterday at the clubhouse and Mrs. W. C. Jennings read a paper on "Anatole France," and Mrs. Bird gave a talk on "Stedman the Banker-Poet." There were a vocal duet by Mrs. Hammer and Mrs. Daly, and a violin solo by Asher Cowan.

Monday at the clubhouse and Mrs. W. C. Jennings read a paper on "Anatole France," and Mrs. Bird gave a talk on "Stedman the Banker-Poet." There were a vocal duet by Mrs. Hammer and Mrs. Daly, and a violin solo by Asher Cowan.

The American Music society held its annual business meeting and election of officers Monday evening. Mrs. Charles Read was chosen president, and Mr. Eager, secretary and treasurer. Spencer Clawson, Jr., and Miss Irma Warner will be the musical directors, and the program committee will be elected later. The next regular meeting of the society will be Monday evening, May 24.

In Woman's World.

Europe represents to the American woman a great shopping counter, a department store, at which it is always a bargain day, says Virginia Frame in the Delinquent for May. Armed with the necessary funds, however much she may have steeled herself against yielding to temptation, she is soon lulled, lured in a perfect orgy of delightful shopping. "For things were so cheap, my dear," she confesses to a friend after returning home, "I would have been a sin to leave them."

If the traveler sails on a Mediterranean steamer, a route proving popular for spring traffic, her shopping begins before she is even landed at Naples; for most of the large liners touch at Gibraltar, which picturesque little seaport, as every one knows, is a cosmopolitan town where one can "pick up" all sorts of fascinating souvenirs in the big variety that resemble the streets of Cairo at our fairs.

Then comes Naples—Naples of flowers and song, Naples of the blue waters and the pink coral. Every little window is filled with coral from the cold white beads or the palest blush tints to the rose and deep reds of pendants and chains. Veil-pins, hatpins and brooches are offered at every street corner and every church door. The shopper begins her first bargaining when she finds that the longer she hesitates the lower will be the price.

Rome is the magazine of antiquities—antiquities of a modern kind, antiquities dug up from among the old ruins, or antiquities manufactured around the corner. And what a matter so long as your purchase is beautiful, and the depressing voice of the shopkeeper assures you that she is getting one of the few real old treasures and for a price—why Madeline could never part with it were it not for the little ones at home.

The Roman canons are very lovely, and no one leaves Rome without a string of Roman pearls, pure and creamy in color and defying the unskilled eye to tell them from the real thing. The Roman pearls and shells reflect the Italian skies and flowers in their hues and will brighten the white lawn next summer and let people know we've been to Italy.

The shopper's sail from Liverpool on a steamer that touches at Queenstown. Perhaps she has saved $20 to see her through the customs and into her own home. But she had not reckoned on Queenstown, for though the steamer does not go up to the wharves, hordes of lace vendors come out to the liners in small boats with Irish lace and Irish blarney, a combination that is hard to resist. "Follow me, me, me," the landings, anyway, the shopper reflects, "and he'll not expect me to have a cent." And so as not to disappoint John, she buys just a little crocheted, a bit of Irish lace, a little Carrickmacross—and the steamer's off. There is a panic at the thought of the customs-house officials, but John is there to help her through and her best friend is at the dock.

"Didn't you love Paris?" asks the friend enviously. "And the Louvre—didn't you love the 'Mona Lisa'?"

For never in my experience in the dressmaking world has there been such a remarkable latitude in the choice of fashions opened out to women. The mediaeval and Renaissance styles meet the follies and foibles of the Directoire and Louis XVIII periods in perfect amity over the toques. A glimpse into a smart restaurant leaves one with the confused impression that some ambitious artist has tried to present the history of dress of the last twelve centuries on a single canvas.

Varied as the fashions are, all of them are conventionalized more or less, so that those of bygone days blend with the present styles into a curious composite type that is very interesting. They have all the puzzling charm of a half-remembered face that teases you with its familiarity and yet exasperates you with its strangeness.

It is the women today who make the success of the individual theater and the individual play. If any doubt as to that exists in any one's mind, witness the attendance of these very theaters when immoral plays are running. Out of six such in New York, inspected by the Delinquent, not one but showed an attendance of from one-third to one-half of women. And as these women in the great majority were escorted there as the guests of the men, either their wives, sweethearts or friends, it stands as a reason that the men would accept the dictate of the woman as to what play she would wish to see.

We repeat what Mr. Charles Burnham, president of the Association of Theater Managers, says. "No play can exist that is not patronized by women." And we add to it: No play can exist that is not patronized by good women. There are not enough of the other kind to keep any show running. If, therefore, the good women of this great country will awake to their responsibilities in this one thing, if they will themselves refuse to attend, if they will use their unlimited influence to persuade their women and men friends not to attend any show of the kind, they will drive from the stage every indecent, indecent, immoral or impure play. In that act they will be casting votes effectively for a great moral end, and will build a platform on which they can well stand and claim a right to cast the ballot on every other thing.

One line of work which women have recently taken up is accounting. They are said to be about twenty-five women engaged in this work in the United States. They have come into this field within the last two or three years and have met with unexpected success.

It is hard work, but it is far more remunerative, according to a writer in the Bookkeeper, than any other of the professions in which women have heretofore engaged. A director in a leading commercial school of New York says:

"I know of two women in well known positions who have mapped out and put into operation a complete new system of financial methods for their employers and who have even been entrusted with big funds for profitable investment and whose advice has been followed in many other important business undertakings. The number of such women who have proved their ability and liking for this responsible and remunerative work is steadily growing. It offers a splendid field for the woman who is not loath to accept responsibilities and who has a liking for the hard work it entails and who is ambitious."

SALT LAKERS IN GOTHAM.

(Special Correspondence.)

NEW YORK, April 25.—Again has Maud Adams scored in a college town. Monday, April 20, the entire "What Every Woman Knows" company appeared in New Haven, giving a performance of the play in aid of the building of the Yale theater. Miss Adams, assumed the entire expense of taking her company there, giving her services to help the college boys establish a theater on the same plan as the one at Harvard. It will be remembered that Miss Adams gave "Twelfth Night" at Harvard a year ago. The same enthusiasm was shown in Yale by the faculty and students that greeted her efforts last year in Cambridge. After each act Miss Adams was called again and again before the curtain and once she thanked the Yale men for their invitation to play for them. Flowers in great profusion were showered on her and Miss Patsy, president of the dramatic association, stepping out of a box, elected her an honorary member and presented her with a medal of the association. He also led in the cheering of three "Maud Adams" and then all joined in singing "For God, Our Country and Yale." With hurried leave taking of the Rev. and Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes, whose guest she had been, and the enthusiastic audience, Miss Adams and her company made hurried exits to reach the train, waiting for them to make the run to New York in time for the evening performance at the Empire.

Dr. Ralph Richards came in from Chicago last Monday and has been sitting friends and attending to business, necessary to his long contemplated trip to England, which began yesterday on the Baltic. Dr. Richards will confine his surgical labors entirely to the British Isles this time, not going to Vienna or Berlin until a year and a half from now, when he makes another voyage. He plans to be in late in September in time for the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Wednesday, Mrs. A. M. Durham of Beaver arrived to meet her husband, who has been studying music at the Art Institute, Eleventh and Fifth avenues, all winter. Mr. Durham has been organist and choir leader of solists in the Mutual, accompanist of solists, and all around useful man since coming here eight months ago. Now that Mrs. Durham has decided to visit New York for a month or six weeks prior to her husband's return home, the branch feel it a duty and pleasure to entertain her during her brief stay. Several social parties have been arranged for her during the three weeks at the homes of Mr. Durham's friends.

Several days ago A. C. Boyle left with a party of geologists from Columbia for a week's tour of inspection in the mining and geological field of western Pennsylvania. The party will be accompanied by a professor and expects to do some valuable work along that line before returning home.

The coming week sees the departure of Mrs. Nettie T. Sloan and little son, Richard, and Miss Phyllis Thatcher, her sister, for their homes in Logan, Utah. Both have finished their course in music. Mrs. Sloan has been studying piano with Joseph and vocal with Prof. Zanger. Miss Thatcher resumed her work with the violin with her old teacher, although she has been so hard at work all winter with their music. A rest of a few months is needed before Mrs. Sloan begins work in the Agricultural college. Mrs. Sloan and Miss Thatcher, although they have taken part in church exercises, always willing to lend their talents for the benefit of the mission, and their absence will be regretted by everyone. It is hoped next winter they will come back in New York in their old quarters on Morrisville avenue.

President Rich is expected this week, having been away nearly a month attending conference in Salt Lake. With him will come Mrs. Isaac Russell and baby from Ogden. Mr. Russell has been expecting his wife for the last two weeks and preparing place near One Hundred and Forty-ninth street and Riverside, neighbor to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Squires, the really delightful and healthy quarter of the city in the summer.

At today's services, Judge H. H. Rokapp of Ogden, with his wife, daughter Mabel and son Walter, were visitors. The Judge, with Elder James E. Anderson, occupied the pulpit, both giving the gathering excellent talks on the principles of religion. Judge Rokapp and family sat Tuesday on the Moltke, Hamburg-American line, for Naples, where they meet their son, Frank, who has been on a mission in Germany for three years. The party will return to America in August. While here they have made their headquarters at the "Collingwood."

Elder James E. Anderson, who has been laboring in the Rhode Island conference for the last 15 months, came down to New York to meet his wife, who arrived Friday, and who will labor in the mission field with her husband until his release. Both were visitors to church services.

Elder M. H. Gustafson of Salt Lake was a visitor to chapel services today. Elder Gustafson only arrived a few days ago, and is appointed to labor in the Brooklyn conference.

President G. S. Allen is holding meetings at Ocean Side today, where there are many members of the Brooklyn branch.

Saturday, Miss Maud Lindsay of Salt Lake arrived in the city to meet her brother, Clyde Lindsay, who has been in Germany for three years, and for the last year has presided over the Berlin conference. Elder Lindsay and his sister will make a short tour of the principal eastern cities before going home. Washington, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago, with Niagara and other points of interest, will be visited and their return to Utah will be early in June.

In this week's Life, Artist George Barratt has a double page. Clyde Squires made the trip to Wilmington with Mr. Barratt, who came up last Tuesday, and returned this evening. These young artists are close observers of Howard Pyle's criticisms and lose no opportunity of seeing and getting his valuable instruction whenever possible.

Last Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Constance and two children came in from Chicago on their way from Salt Lake, where they have been the last three months. Mrs. Constance has been visiting her family, and Mr. Constance has been in Nevada looking after his mining interests. JANET.

If you want to feel well, look well and be well, take Foley's Kidney Remedy. It tones up the kidneys and bladder, purifies the blood and restores health and strength. Pleasant to take and contains no harmful drugs. Why not commence today?—The F. J. Hill Drug Co. (The never substitutes.) Salt Lake City.

New Music, new lights, Big Time Salts tonight, begin at 8.

ARCHER AND MITCHELL, OPTICIANS are now ready to see their friends at their Optical Parlor, 212 Main.

MILLINERY OPENING

Spring and Summer Hats

A showing of the latest and pretties styles.

Prices reasonable.

Mrs. L. Morris Millinery

65 E. First South, Salt Lake and Murray.

White Star-Dominion Line
MONTREAL-QUEBEC-LIVERPOOL.
Canada, May 8, June 13, July 17
Laurentide (new) May 15, June 19, July 24
Dominion May 22, June 26, July 31
Montreal (new) May 29, June 3, Aug. 1
Ottawa May 29, July 10, Aug. 14
Vancouver May 29, July 10, Aug. 14
Lawrence route, 29 and 36 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

HAMILTON'S SMART SHOP

The White Day

Everything in LACES, NETS, MULLS, Lingerie, Embroidered and Plain Linens and Serges in DRESSES AND SUITS.

SPECIALS MONDAY

For Graduates and Brides

See Windows

SALE MONDAY

Less than Price of Lace and Materials.

Hamilton's White Monday
White Gowns, White Suits and White Hats.

CORRECT DRESS FOR WOMEN

216 SOUTH MAIN ST

Another New and Original Package

A dainty confection for dainty people

Vanilla Cream Centers
Rich Chocolate Coating
Into the coating are ground—

- Chopped Walnuts
- Chopped Almonds
- Chopped Pecans
- Chopped Coconut
- Chopped Pineapple
- Chopped Cherries and Raisins

Chop Suey is for sale at

All Drug Stores Today

25 cents

Don't "imagine" it. Buy some.